We wish to express our heartfelt thanks to our many kind friends and neighbors who assisted us in our sad bereavement and to all those who contributed the beautiful floral offerings.

MRS. WM LOWRY AND FAMILY.

REBEKAHS ENTERTAIN

The Rebekahs held a very enjoyable session Friday evening. First came the election of officers for the next term which resulted as follows:

N. G.—Miss Lellah Wuertner
V. G—Mrs. Franc Gillespie
Rec. Sec'y—Mrs. Alta Lidke
Treas.—Mrs. Gwendolyn Juckett

Afterward the doors were thrown open and a large party of friends received. Floyd Juckett presided, announced a program of music and readings, also drills by the little people which was supervised by Mrs. Charles Hooten. A big pot luck supper was served by a committee whose chairman was Mrs. John H. Smith and the Rebekahs had another pleasant memory to add to the list of the orders entertainments.

George's Birthday.

The date of Washington's birthday was, according to the calendar at the time of his birth, Feb. 11. This became Feb. 22 when the Gregorian calendar was adopted in 1752. The first place to use the new date in celebrating the event is said to have been Newport, R. I. As late as 1788 Washington himself apparently used the old style in referring to his birthday. His diary for that year has this entry: "Feb 11 went up to Alexandria to the celebration of my birthday. Many maneuvers were performed by uniform corps and an elegant ball and supper at night."

Expressiveness.

"How is your boy Reub getting along with his books?"

"First rate," replied Farmer Alf Alfa. "He's learned a whole lot."

"Knows more than you do, I bet."

"I won't say that. But he kin tell me a lot of the things I already know in language I can't understand."—San Francisco Call.

He Beat Her to It.

"Belle, are you going to marry that pinhead you were with at the dance last night?"

"Yes, if he doesn't change his mind."

"Don't be too certain about it. He changed it about me, but I was about to do the same thing about him."—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

PRINCE ALBERT
TOBACCO IS PREPARED FOR SMOKERS UNDER THE PROCESS DISCOVERED IN MAKING EXPERIMENTS TO PRODUCE THE MOST DELIGHTFUL AND WHOLESOME TOBACCO FOR CIGARETTE AND PIPE SMOKERS.
PROCESS PATENTED JULY 30TH 1907
R.J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO COMPANY
WINSTON SALEM, N.C. U.S.A.
DOES NOT BITE THE TONGUE

Prince Albert gives smokers such delight, because

—its flavor is so different and so delightfully good;
—it can't bite your tongue;
—it can't parch your throat;
—you can smoke it as long and as hard as you like without any comeback but real tobacco happiness!

On the reverse side of every Prince Albert package you will read:
"PROCESS PATENTED JULY 30TH, 1907"
That means to you a lot of tobacco enjoyment. Prince Albert has always been sold without coupons or premiums. We prefer to give quality!

PRINCE ALBERT

YOU'LL find a cheery howdy-do on tap no matter how much of a stranger you are in the neck of the woods you drop into. For, Prince Albert is right there—at the first place you pass that sells tobacco! The toppy red bag sells for a nickel and the tidy red tin for a dime; then there's the handsome pound and half-pound tin humidors and the pound crystal-glass humidor with sponge-moistener top that keeps the tobacco in such bang-up trim all-the-time!

in goodness and in pipe satisfaction is all we or its enthusiastic friends ever claimed for it!

It answers every smoke desire you or any other man ever had! It is so cool and fragrant and appealing to your smokeappetite that you will get chummy with it in a mighty short time!

Will you invest 5c or 10c to prove out our say-so on the national joy smoke?

R. J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO CO., Winston-Salem, N. C.

This is the reverse side of the Prince Albert tidy red tin. Read this "Patented Process" message-to-you and realize what it means in making Prince Albert so much to your liking.

Polyglot.

Even in New York city, where notoriously all the races of the inhabited globe are cast into the common melting pot, it is not often that one sees the compositeness of the population quite so concretely illustrated as it was on a subway car the other day. On one side of the car, sitting alongside of each other, all in a row, were five men and one lone woman. According to the observant and veracious straphanger who reports the occurrence, one of the five men was reading a German newspaper, the next was absorbed in an Italian sheet, the third was occupied with an English paper, the fourth with a paper in Jewish text, while the fifth was busy with a Greek magazine. The lone woman, sandwiched in near the middle of the line, was reading a French magazine. Presumably there were some few persons in the car who were content with purely American literature, but the straphanger, who happens himself to be Irish, does not mention them.—New York Post.

The Cause of Gray Hair.

A northern woman was visiting a friend down south. One morning the northern woman, Mrs. K., was preparing for breakfast. She stopped a moment, rather alarmed at the number of gray hairs that were beginning to be sprinkled among the black. An old colored woman came into her room while she was looking at the gray locks in the mirror.

"Oh, I'm getting old, Mary!" she remarked to the colored woman, busy with her work.

"No, I'm old. I know it. Look at my gray hair. That's the best sign I know of. Gray hair means old age to me."

"Law, missus, gray hair ain't no sign of old age. That's jist a sign of worriation and a weak mind!"—Indianapolis News.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

PUBLIC MEETING

A public meeting was held at the Royal theatre last Friday evening, at which time the question of locating our school house was brought up and discussed. The two talked of sites, namely the present high school site and the Brewer foundry site was presented. The slide with the drawing lately published in the Herald was thrown on the canvas. A little hard luck was encountered as the intense heat of the light cracked it and it was hard to distinguish the lines of the drawing. The members of the Board were present. Gen'l F. B. Wood and President J. H. Smith presented the subject and answered all questions.

NOTICE OF SPECIAL SCHOOL MEETING

Notice is hereby given that a special meeting of School District No 7, in the Township of Tecumseh, County of Lenawee and State of Michigan, will be held at 7:30 o'clock p. m. on the 19th day of June, A. D. 1916, at the Grange Hall in the Village of Tecumseh, county and state aforesaid:

SENIORS RECEPTION TO JUNIORS

Shakespearian Evening at Grange Hall, Friday, June 2.

This being the triennial anniversary of Shakespeare's death, the Seniors thought it appropriate to use this occasion to advantage and accordingly sent out invitations in the form of one of the most familiar of Shakespeare's songs, "Under the Greenwood Tree" The idea was followed throughout the reception, the guests being received in a dimly lighted room, the walls and ceiling of which were banked with maple boughs and foliage to represent the 'greenwood tree' and Mid Summer Night's Dream.

At a few minutes after 8 the company were conducted into the large room which was prettily decorated in blue and white, the Junior colors the room being divided by lattice gates into several cozy booths. Here the rest of the program which was divided into five sections, was given; the third section in particular was keenly enjoyed. The program for the evening's entertainment was as follows:

I

The Midsummer Night's Dream

Overture............................Victrola
"Over Hill, Over Dale"........Victrola

II

Much Ado About Nothing

Piano duet...Mrs Wood, Mrs. Hodges
Shakespearean charades, under direction of Gordon Bachmann

Preparedness

Large numbers of native and naturalized United-statesians also including pacifists, mollycoddles, copperheads, pussyfoots and weasels, are entering our place of business daily, demanding wire screen. Although there is no sign of the fly or mosquito, these people are exercising in advance an individual preparedness. Why not provide screen for the nation before the winged pests arrive? Of course they naturally call for PEARL Screen as a matter of economical protection.

A USEFUL PAIN

Tecumseh People Should Heed Its Warning

Have you a sharp pain or a dull ache across the small of your back? Do you realize that it's often a timely sign of kidney weakness? Prompt treatment is a safeguard against Doan's Kidney Pills. Profit by a Tecumseh resident's experience.

J. B. Smith, E. Chicago St., Tecumseh says: "I was caused a great deal of suffering by pains in the small of my back. When the attacks were [illegible] When stooping, I became very dizzy and spots of fire seemed to flash before my eyes. I rested poorly and in the morning when I got up, was unrefreshed. I doctored and used remedies of various kinds, but got no benefit until I began taking Doans Kidney Pills. They made me feel like a different person, ridding me of the trouble." (Statement given December 11, 1906.)

MORE THAN FOUR YEARS LATER, Mr. Smith added: "I gladly confirm my former endorsement of Doan's Kidney Pills. This medicine never fails to act just as represented."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Smith has twice Publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props. Buffalo, N. Y. adv

ROCKEFELLER GIVES MORE TO EDUCATION

$789.980 Is Added to Gifts Already Made.

New York, June 5.—Announcement was made by the Rockefeller General Education Board of gifts to the extent of $789,980 for educational institutions throughout the country.

The largest single donation was $250,000 to Washington University, at St. Louis. This gift makes $1,000,000 appropriated by the General Education board to this institution toward a total fund of $1,500,000 to place the teaching of medicine, surgery and pediatrics on the so-called full time basis.

Coker college at Hartsville, S. C., receives $50,000; Colby College, Waterville, Maine, $125,000; Rockford College, Rockford, Ill., $75,000, and $50,000 more was voted for educational research work.

Since its organization in 1902 the board has given $18,[illegible] outright or towards funds to be raised amounting to $64,[illegible].

Red Tape in Japan.

A European resident of Japan, who lived some distance from Tokyo, was some years ago sent a tax bill for a quarter of a cent. Since it was a very inconvenient distance to the tax office he paid no attention to the bill, but after a time he received a threatening notice from the authorities ordering him to pay it. Not being allowed to pay taxes by post, he was obliged to make a journey costing several hundred times the amount of the tax to pay the bill. This quarter of a cent tax was collected three times a year, and he attempted to get rid of the inconvenience in making other journeys by paying the tax for a year in one sum, but this the authorities would not permit.—Exchange.

DEWEY URGES BATTLESHIPS

Washington, June 5.—George Dewey, the admiral of the navy and president of the general board, is keenly interested in the news of the German and British clash in the North Sea.

"The battleship, which can give and take and stand up and fight, is now, and always has been, the main bulwark of our naval strength and the main strength of any navy," said Admiral Dewey. "I hear the opinion already expressed that the North Sea fight demonstrates this. Two battleships and four battle cruisers would, I believe, be vastly superior to five, or even six, battle cruisers."

Find Three Bodies Downstream from Disaster Scene.

Greene, Ia., June 5.—Rescue work at the Packard wreck has resulted in the finding of nine bodies, eight of which have been identified. Four are known to be missing.

The known missing are: Mrs. Frances Christianson, Wesley, Iowa; Harry Farrell, Louisville, Ky.; Pearl Robinson, fourteen, Sterling, Ill., and Mrs. Williams, address unknown.

Three bodies were found downstream from where the wreck occurred Friday morning.

Searchers are devoting all of their time in dragging the creek and searching along the banks, believing that no more bodies will be found in the partially submerged coach. Many injured persons are being given treatment in local hospitals.

Historic Pavia.

Much history has been written at the quaint Italian town of Pavia, which is not so well known to the tourist as it should be. For 200 years, until Charlemagne overthrew them, it was the capital of the Lombard kings, the kings of that one time Teuton tribe of Longobardi who conquered Italy, only to be themselves slowly conquered and become Italians or, more accurately Romanized. It is they who ruled over this great fertile plain between the Alps and the Apennines. In the church of San Michele kings of Italy were crowned a thousand years ago. Here two Germans at least—Henry II. (1004) and Frederick Barbarossa (1155)—received upon their brows that "iron crown of the Lombards" which conveyed the sovereignty of Italy.—Argonaut.

Stories of "Old Q."

The "wickedness" of "Old Q." (the Marquis of Queensberry) has passed into a proverb, but two tales of his other traits may be quoted from Mrs Jerrold's "The Beaux and the Dandies." One is that he "paid a doctor to keep him well, deducting fees when he was ill, and thus when he died left his physician his creditor for £10,000," and the other that "there was a popular prejudice against drinking milk in London at this time because it was believed that the duke bathed each morning in milk, which was subsequently sold to consumers."

DEFENCE AGAINST ALL ENEMIES IS DEMANDED BY AMERICAN PEOPLE.

LANSING MAN IS TELLING HOW MOST WELCOME CHANGE HAS COME OVER HIM

B. S. Carlton, of 108 S. Chestnut Street, Lansing, tells a story which seems almost too good to be true. Mr. Carlton is a messenger in the Capitol at Lansing and is well known and has a host of friends. This is what he says:

"A friend of mine who used Tanlac gave his testmnial. I read it in the paper and it proved the means of bringing about the first relief from stomach trouble.

"I suffered especially," continued Mr. Carlton, "from pains in my stomach and bowels and from nervousness. My trouble was of such long standing that it had become chronic. I could not eat without being distressed afterwards and it was almost impossible for me to sleep nights. I was run down and weakened. I had no appetite to speak of and just had to force myself to go to the table sometimes.

"As I said, I read this testimonial given by my friend and I knew that he would not endorse Tanlac unless he knew the medicine. Therefore when I took Tanlac I was pretty sure it would help me if anything would. There is not much more to tell except that from the very start I improved under the Tanlac treatment and today I am again enjoying good health and feel fine all the time. I am glad to recommend Tanlac to anyone suffering from stomach and bowel troubles."

PERSONAL PROTECTION IS POLICY ENDORSED NOW BY QUARTER MILLION OF PEOPLE

More than a quarter of a million [illegible] thousand men and women—praise Tanlac today because Tanlac makes them better—makes them feel better, gives them more strength more energy, more vim, better nerves, super ambition, saner hope.

There are many sick people, some of them actually diseased, others simply "ailing", "not feeling well", "run down". And very often to be not feeling well, ailing, run down, is the beginning of the diseases; because weakness brings illness. The weak cannot successfully resist the attacks of disease.

These sick people sometimes get used to being sick. They get so they believe that it is natural to suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia, belching and bloating from gas, sourness and soreness of the stomach, constipation, biliousness, inactive liver, dizziness, kidney troubles, pains in the sides and back, palpitation of the heart, headaches, "ringing in the ears", weakness, nervousness, loss of appetite, sleeplessness, falling off in weight, foul breath, coated tongue and irritability. But it isn't natural and Tanlac, the new medicine, is proving that health is within the reach of all

JACKSON WOMAN HAD TERRIBLE EXPERIENCE BUT IS NOW ALL RIGHT

"I wish that every poor sufferer would give Tanlac a fair trial," said Mrs. Caroline Rhyne, of Jackson, while in conversation with the Tanlac representative at the Weeks Drug Store.

Mrs. Rhyne then went on to explain how she had been in a terrible condition from stomach trouble and nervous disorders.

"I used to suffer from backache and headaches and nervousness so badly that it almost set me wild. I had hardly any desire for food and just had to force myself to go to the table. I lost so much strength that I could hardly walk. My nerves were simply frazzled. I could not sleep at night and always woke up feeling more tired than I had been before I went to bed.

"Since using Tanlac I have entirely recovered my health," said Mrs. Ryne, "and that is why I am so anxious to recommend it to others. I now feel like a new woman. My appetite is so ravenous that I can hardly get enough to eat. No matter what I eat I do not have the slighest trouble wth my digestion. My nerves have steadied down and I sleep like a top every night. I feel better, look better, and am better since using the great medicine. I take pleasure in recommending it to everybody."

AUSTRIAN EFFORT IS HALTED, SAYS ROME

Declares Final Drive Against Plateau Has Failed.

Rome, June 5.—The maximum effort of the Austrians was made on May 30 and 31 and June 1 against the plateaus of Arsiero and Asiago. The Austrians used nine divisions of reserves. The result was disastrous to the Austrians, who suffered enormous losses.

The Italians succeeded in rapidly concentrating many new heavy guns and large masses of infantry on these plateaus against which the Austrian offensive was shattered.

The Italian counter-offensive began on June 1 on the right wing, and continues to be extended along the whole battle front. The Italian authorities have absolute confidence in the complete success of their counter-offensive, while the Austrian effort to invade Italy is regarded as a failure.

The Garden Wall.

A wall is the finest thing a man can bring to his entourage. It should be of the same material as the house—stone or stucco, or brick, or, if the house is of wood, it may be of rubbles, or it may be a graceful lattice, with a hedge planted against it. In old European gardens the wall is never forgotten. It is a part of the general plan, often containing the very house walls, always giving picturesqueness and privacy. Against it grapevines and small fruits are trained. It forms a shelter and a protection, it makes a home a man's own, and it is a convincing argument that it is built for permanency. It is looked upon as a heritage.

Walls with green things growing over them and slender gardens of old fashioned flowers creeping along them are much more interesting than fine gardens spread open, public park fashion. Who doesn't thrill at the occasional patch of color seen through a thick hedge, at the adventurous roses that clamber over a high stone wall? There is always an element of mystery, of remoteness, hanging about a wall of any sort.—"The Honest House," by Ruby Ross Goodnow and Rayne Adams.

Language of the Chest.

A doctor hears some curious noises when he places the stethoscope against your chest to test whether you are fit for the army or not. When the lungs are healthy a pleasant breezy sound, soft in tone, is heard as the breath is drawn in and expelled. If the stethoscope conveys to his ear a gurgling or bubbling sound the doctor knows that you are in what is known as the moist stage of bronchitis. In the dry stage of the same complaint the sound is a whistling, wheezy tone.

One of the signs of pneumonia is the soft crackling note that comes through the stethoscope. It is not unlike the sound that can be heard when your finger and thumb have touched a sticky substance and you first place them together and then part them, holding them close to your ear.

Doctors occasionally hear a dripping sound, and that tells them that air and water have got into some part of the chest where they have no right.—Pearson's Weekly.

He Removed the Danger Signal

Frank W. Sherman, Laconia, N. Y. writes: "I suffered with kidney trouble, had a tired feeling in my back, did not have any ambition and felt all tired out. I used Foley Kidney Pills and in a few days began to feel better, and now I have entirely recovered and have had no return of my painful symptoms."

One cannot help becoming nervous and feeling tired and worn out when the kidneys fail to filter and throw out of the system the poisonous waste matter that causes kidney troubles and bladder ailments.

Backache is one of Nature's danger signals that the kidneys are clogged up and inactive. It is often followed by rheumatism, annoying bladder or urinary disorders, puffy swellings under the eyes, swollen ankles and painful joints.

FOLEY KIDNEY PILLS
FOR BACKACHE KIDNEYS AND BLADDER
Sold Everywhere

Dangers of Draft

Drafts feel best when we are hot and perspiring, just when they are most dangerous and the result is neuralgia, stiff neck, sore muscles or sometimes an attack of rheumatism. In such cases apply Sloan's Liniment. It stimulates circulation to the sore and painful part. The blood flows freely and in a short time the stiffness and pain leaves. Those suffering from neuralgia or neuralgic headache will find one or two applications of Sloan's Liniment will give grateful relief. The agonizing pain gives way to a tingling sensation of comfort and warmth and quiet rest and sleep is possible. Good for neuritis, too. Price 25c at your druggist's. adv

How to Feel Good Tomorrow

Indigestion quickly develops sick headache, biliousness, bloating, sour stomach, gas on stomach, bad breath or some of the other conditions caused by clogged or irregular bowels. If you have any of these symptoms take a Foley Cathartic Tablet this evening and you will feel better in the morning. adv

An Ideal Spring Laxative

A good and time tried remedy is Dr King's New Life Pills. The first dose will move the sluggish bowels, stimulate the liver and clear the system of waste and blood impurities. You owe it to yourself to clear the system of body poisons accumulated during the winter. Dr. King's New Life Pills will do it. 25c. at your druggist. adv

Many Women need Help

Women are as much inclined to kidney trouble as are men, but too often make the mistake of thinking that a certain amount of pain and torture is their lot and cannot be avoided. Foley Kidney Pills give quick relief from backache, pains in sides and muscles, stiff, sore, aching joints, and bladder ailments. adv

Colds Quickly Relieved

Many people cough and cough—from the beginning of Fall right through to Spring. Others get cold after cold. Take Dr. King's New Discovery and you will get almost immediate relief. It checks your cold, stops the racking, rasping, tissue-tearing cough, heals the inflammation, soothes the raw tubes. Easy to take antiseptic and healing. Get a 50c bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery today "It is certainly a great medicine and I keep a bottle of it continually on hand," writes W. C. Jesseman, Franconia, N. H. Money back if not satisfied. adv

THE DOLLARS THAT DOUBLE THE OPPORTUNITIES

ARE THE DOLLARS YOU SAVE NOW

Don't let someone else with no more initiative than you "cash in" on the opportunities that you might seize and gain by.

It's money and credit you really need to prove yourself—and you can have both.

You're entitled to a profit from every "spare" dollar you receive—but it's up to you to get it by putting it where it's safe from the spending impulse—so it will earn interest, grow and establish credit.

A safe and profitable place is the Tecumseh State Savings Bank—and it's just as open to you as the Post Office. Every officer in the "Friendly Bank" is a courteous officer.

HAGUE PARK VANDERCOOK LAKE

Embodying in every detail the terrific game of war the sham battle, which is to be staged at Hague park, Vandercook lake June 14, will be by far the greatest water spectacle which has ever been held in this part of Michigan. The event will be staged in addition to the Big "Preparedness Day" celebration which is to be held in Jackson on the same day, thereby making a big double attraction.

In conjunction with the celebration which is to be held in Jackson on that day the spectacle to be staged at Hague Park brings to a fitting conclusion the program for the day. No expense has been spared by the management of the popular amusement resort to make the demonstration one which will long be remembered by those who are so fortunate as to see it. Hundreds of pieces of pyrotechnics will be set off during the naval engagement which will end with the destruction of a huge fort which is to be constructed on the south east shore of the lake.

In addition to the above attraction there will be a number of other special features provided for the entertainment of out-of-town visitors. Many valued improvements have been made at the resort during the past year and among the most recent additions is a large new roller skating rink which will be opened for the first time Wednesday, June 14. The Jack Rabbit ride is another of the big new attractions recently added to the park.

Special plans are being made for the entertainment of the visitors in Jackson. A gigantic preparedness parade is to be held during the early afternoon and it is estimated that fully 10,000 men will [illegible]. The parade will be headed by an artillery band in full uniform and there will be more than two dozen other bands in the line of march.

Another feature to be staged in the city during the day will be a series of aeroplane flights in which an aerial attack will be made upon the city thereby vividly demonstrating the necessity of "preparedness." A sham battle between several companies of soldiers will be another feature which should prove thrilling.

The joint celebration which is to be held at Jackson and Hague park in the interest of national preparedness will be the biggest event of its kind yet held in southern Michigan and many cities and towns in this part of Michigan have signified the intention of joining in the great demonstration.

DRUG ACT IS BADLY CRIPPLED BY RULING

U. S. Supreme Court Dwells on Law's Words.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The supreme court interpreted the Harrison federal drug act of 1914, making it unlawful for any person not registered under the law to have opium in his possession, as applying only to those who deal in the drug and not to those who use it.

As a result of the decision it is expected that the effectiveness of the law will be seriously handicapped. Scores of proposed prosecutions throughout the country have been held up awaiting the decision.

The District court held that the word "person" in the law referred to the persons who are required to register and pay the special tax in order to deal in opium, and that there was no allegation in the indictment that opium in question was to be dealt in.

LOOKS LIKE HUGHES.

As we go to press conditions look brighter for a union between the Republicans and Progressives at Chicago. Both realizing that it is hopeless to try and elect their candidate on seperate tickets are anxious to get to-gather, and have called a conference at which both parties are represented.

Rosevelts message in response to Senator Jackson's persona request that he come to Chicago and address the Republican convention in the interest of harmony had a telling effect and later in the day Republicans and Progressives appointed committees to meet in joint session in hopes that a mutual canidate could be decided upon and that a union between the two parties could be arranged.

This joint committee met later in the bay and were in session late in the evening. Their decision is anxiously awaited.

The Hughes sentiment seems to be prevailing in the Republican camp and Republicans are claiming that he will be nominated on an early ballot.

The Women are joyous over their victory in the G. O. P. Committee on resolutions [illegible] suffrage plank was ordered in the platform by a vote of 26 to 21. The report of the committee will have to be carried by the convention.

Will Justice Hughes accept the nomination is being asked on every hand. It would seem that if the Justice was set against his namebeing placed upon the ticket he would have come out of his silence and refused flatly to let it go before the convention. If he is placed upon a re-united Republication ticket by a large majority vote it is hardly possible that he would refuse so great an honor.

Tiresome.

FLAG DAY

June 14, 1916

A Proclamation by the Governor

In 1777 Congress appointed a Committee consisting of General Washington, Robert Morris and Colonel Ross "to designate a suitable flag for the nation." This Committee conferred with Mistress Betsy Ross, and afterwards reported on June 14, 1777. Congress adopted the following resolution: "Resolved, that the flag of the thirteen stripes, alternate red and white; that the union be thirteen stars, white in a blue field, representing a new constellation The stars to be arranged in a circle"

Realizing that there must be a limit to the stripes, a recommendation was adopted April 4 1818, that the flag be permanently thirteen stripes, representing the thirteen original states, and that a new star be added for each state as admitted. It was at this time that the stars were arranged in rows.

Notwithstanding the fact that the United States is one of the youngest nations in the world, the Stars and Stripes is the oldest national flag in existence This flag symbolizes the birth and progress of the greatest nation in proportion as its ideals are great and universal. The Stars and Stripes represent the highest hopes and aspirations relating to human liberty. This flag floats for all of the American people regardless of race, color or previous servitude. Absolute loyalty to this flag will ultimately command the admiration and respect of all the nations of the earth. Because the Stars and Stripes symbolize human justice, the humblest American citizen, regardless of his nationality, will gladly give his last drop of blood for its full protection.

May the time come speedily when our United States will demand that every man who seeks a permanent home in this country, get under this flag in the shortest possible time as a full-pledged American citizen or else return to the land from whence he came Enduring patriotism demands this form of loyalty.

"But the flag of the American Union, now as never before, tells of toleration and good will, of education and of industry. It has welcomed millions from all nations of the world and it was held out the equal chance to all who come under its folds. Every new star added to its blue field has told of a new state, and every new state tells of more farms cleared, more factories opened, more churches and schools set in motion, and more laws and courts to regulate them all and to assure the equal rights of everyone."

THEREFORE, I, Woodbridge N Ferris, Governor of Michigan, do issue this Proclamation and enthusiastically urge the observance of Wednesday, the fourteenth day of June, as Flag Day.

> Given under my hand and the Great Seal of the State, this sixth day of June in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and sixteen, and of the Commonwealth the eightieth.

MEAT IS BARRED TO GERMANS 8 WEEKS

Food Dictator Orders Fast to Conserve Supply.

BERLIN, GER. — Civilians in Germany must eat no meat for the next eight weeks, Herr Adolph von Batocki, Germany's new food "dictator" now holding one of the most important posts in the empire, told a press representative in a frank discussion of the food situation as he found it on assuming office last week.

This regulation, the new food minister said, should cause no alarm in Germany and no elation in the camps of Germany's enemies.

"If the coming harvest is only medium," he said, "the starvation of Germany through the British blockade is out of the question."

The "siege" of Germany, Herr von Batocki said, has just begun. The coming eight weeks may cause some discomfort to those Germans who are fond of meat. Furthermore, the meat shortage is apt to continue for at least three months, he declared frankly.

GERMAN ASKS T. R. TO RUN

Colonel Shows Letter from W. F. Zierath of Wisconsin.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y. — Colonel Theodore Roosevelt has made public a letter he received from W. F. Zierath, counselor of the State Medical society of Wisconsin, in which the latter, who said he was of German descent and a democrat, urged the colonel, if not nominated by the republicans, "to be standard-bearer of an independent party—an American party."

Zeirath said he had never voted for Colonel Roosevelt, but he hoped to have that pleasure, adding: "Your firm stand against the hyphen is not going to lose you votes."

When a search of the house for belongings of the late Mrs. Julia Stevens and Mrs. Hannah Bowen, of Hower, was made by the administrator, he found $5,485 in currency, a bank check for $1,875, and United States bonds to the value of $4,000

DOOMED TO DIE

Many Michigan people have found that the European War has raised the value of livestock—particularly horses. Therefore; it is now more necessary than ever to keep domestic animals in A-1 shape. To do this a bully liniment to use is the same kind that George Wells of Syracuse, N. Y., used. He says: "And the only medicine used on the foot after the horse had been given up to die by the veterinary surgeon, was Hanford's Balsam of Myrrh. This horse which the doctor said should be killed after it had run a nail in its foot lived to do many more hours of labor.

RUSSIANS BEGIN 200-MILE DRIVE

VIENNA ADMITS FOE GAINS

Constantinople Claims Russians Have Been Driven Back Twenty-five Miles in Caucasus—Slaughter About Fort Vaux Goes on—French Hold to Positions.

LONDON. — The Russians have begun a new offensive movement on a large scale on the Austrian front.

The Petrograd statement announces marked successes from the Pripet marshes to the Roumanian frontier, with the capture of 13,000 prisoners. Vienna admits the violent bombardment of the Austrian positions, but makes no admission of captures by the enemy.

Vienna Admits Big Offensive.

The Vienna statement says:

"The enemy's artillery in the morning entered into action on the whole Bessarabian and northeastern front. The artillery fire was especially violent on the Dniester and Lower Stripa, northwest of Tarnopol and in Volhynia, a sector twenty-five kilometers long near Olyka, under gunfire.

"The Russians made an attack with gas on the Dniester, but did no damage to the Austro-Hungarian forces. Everywhere there are signs of impending infantry attacks."

French Repulse Vaux Drive.

LONDON, ENG. — The desperate struggle of the Germans to capture Fort Vaux continues with daily renewed ferocity. The French still hold the fort, however, despite the use by the Germans of liquid fire and all their most violent resources.

The fight is raging in its fiercest intensity between Fort Vaux and the village of Damloup, where the Germans' repeated assaults were completely checked, according to the report of the Paris war office. The garrison of the fort also repulsed several storming attacks by the Crown Prince's army.

Vienna Reports Italian Defeat.

VIENNA, AUS. — Notwithstanding staunch resistance by the Italians, the Austro-Hungarian troops have made further gains in their offensive, the war office announces and took 5,600 prisoners.

Turks Drive Russ Back.

CONSTANTINOPLE. — The reenforced Turkish army in the Caucasus, which late last month began an offensive campaign, has driven the Russians back, the war office announces. The statement follows:

"On the Caucasus front in the center our troops drove back the enemy's left wing some twenty-five miles, notwithstanding unfavorable weather All attempts of the enemy to cover his retreat or to regain his positions collapsed with heavy losses under our bayonet attacks. We captured fifty soldiers, two machine guns and other arms and engineering material."

BRANDEIS NOW A JUSTICE

Recent Appointee Takes Oath of Office Before Notable Attendance.

WASHINGTON. — Louis D. Brandeis, the first Jew to sit on the United States supreme court bench, took the oath of office at noon.

A distinguished assemblage of public men, including members of both houses of congress, witnessed the administration of the oath. The ceremony took place immediately after the justices, in full robes, filed into court chamber to hand down the regular Monday decisions.

Roosevelt, Root and Others

There is a great popular demand for the nomination of Mr. Roosevelt It is natural that the politicians and newspapers opposed to him should have tried to minimize this wave of Roosevelt sentiment. A few months ago it seemed quite impossible that his name should be seriously considered in the Republican convention. If he should be nominated, it will not be due to any scheming or planning, but because of a nation-wide call that the politicians will feel obliged to heed. As the situation shapes itself and the period of the active campaign approaches, it becomes increasingly apparent that Mr. Wilson and the Democrats are not to be easily defeated. The Republicans will have to find a strong and positive leadership, and must adopt a definite and courageous platform or they will enter the contest with poor prospects of success. That there is a demand for Mr. Root is beyond doubt but when carefully tested this demand seems to relate chiefly to Mr. Root's fitness for the portfolio of State. All Republicans and Progressives alike—together with many Democrats — would heartily favor Mr. Root for his old position as Secretary of Etate. Mr. Roosevelt, as a leader of American opinion, has been more conspicuous in recent months than any other man. His general point of view concerning national issues has always been that of the unbossed mass of the Republican party. It should be said that Mr. Root, through a long period of his life, stood in New York as an opponent of boss rule, that Mr. Hughes came forward upon his merits as an intellectual and moral leader in public affairs, that Mr. Burton, Senator Cummins, and other candidates have made a like record and that there are no influential schemes on foot to select an unworthy ticket in the Republican convention. But the conditions of the world call for pre-eminent guidance in public affairs; and no party can go strongly before the country unless it can show itself capable of high patriotism, and unless it can lay aside petty things and recognize the largest issues while accepting genuine and courageous leadership. —From "The Progress of the World," in the American Review of Reviews for June, 1916.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

PREPAREDNESS DAY

Big Celebration at Jackson, Wednesday, June 14th.

Aeroplane flights, a sham battle and a gigantic parade will be among the features of the "Preparedness Day" celebration which is to be held in Jackson, Wednesday June 14, and in which cities and towns throughout south central Michigan will join. The celebration will be, without doubt, the biggest event of its kind to be held in this part of Michigan this year. Thousands of dollars are being spent to make the undertaking a success and the demonstration in favor of national preparedness will be one which will long be remembered by the people of this part of the state.

Ten thousand men will march in the parade and there will be thirty bands of music in line. Special attention to the transportation of the thousands who will visit Jackson on this date is being given by the steam and electric lines entering that city. There will not be a dull moment throughout the entire day, in fact the committees in charge are wondering how they are going to pack so many attractions into so short a time

At this time when the mighty nations of Europe are engaged in the terrible struggle for supremacy, it is entirely fitting that the people of the United States should consider the strength of their fighting forces, not with the idea of engaging in conflict, but in the interests of peace Throughout the United States demonstrations in favor of National preparedness are being held. Parades are being held in which thousands of men are marching. The opportunity of asserting their patriotism is presented the people of southern Michigan by Jackson which extends a cordial invitation to the residents of Tecumseh and vicinity to join in the demonstration to be held in that city June 14

Attractions without number have been arranged for the entertainment of the thousands of out-of-town visitors. The aerial attack upon the city will be well worth going many miles to see.

A USEFUL PAIN

Tecumseh People Should Heed Its Warning

Have you a sharp pain or a dull ache across the small of your back? Do you realize that it's often a timely sign of kidney weakness? Prompt treatment is a safeguard against Doan's Kidney Pills. Profit by a Tecumseh resident's experience.

J. B. Smith, E. Chicago St., Tecumseh says: "I was caused a great deal of suffering by pains in the small of my back. When the attacks were present, It was all I could do to work. [illegible] I became [illegible] and spots of fire seemed to flash before my eyes. I rested poorly and in the morning when I got up, was unrefreshed. I doctored and used remedies of various kinds, but got no benefit until I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills. They made me feel like a different person, ridding me of the trouble." (Statement given December 11, 1906.)

MORE THAN FOUR YEARS LATER, Mr. Smith added: "I gladly confirm my former endorsement of Doan's Kidney Pills. This medicine never fails to act just as represented."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr Smith has twice Publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props. Buffalo, N. Y. adv

HOW TO REGULATE HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

Take SAN-YAK. It prevents a bone-like harding of the arteries at ages past 50 years. DR. BURNHAM'S SAN-YAK is the sure way to prevent Paralysis and Apoplexy In its use you have prevented or cured kidney and bladder trouble. It is the greatest in use to prevent the clumsy stiff joints and muscles and for Neuritis and rheumatism and constipation. It has no parallel for quality and results.

Geo. Soper, of Quincy, says: He has been an invalid since out of the hospital three years ago. I could scarcely eat or walk. SAN-YAK has made a new man of me. I was broken out so I was not fit to be seen. SAN-YAK has cured the terrible sores in the flesh and I am free from rheumatism for the first time in years. I can do a nice day's work and not lag at the end of the day.

G. F. Walburn, Wabash engineer of Montpelier, O., says: I was saved from a dangerous operation of the bladder by using SAN YAK two years ago. He says he has not an ache or pain from rheumatism, nor lumbago since he took SAN YAK. I have friends who were cured of kidney trouble after their case was diagnosed as hopeless.

Mrs. J. B. Taylor, of Kendallville, says: I had stomach trouble for years. I was dizzy, sick and so weak I could scarcely walk. I was clumsy by swollen limbs. Since taking SAN YAK I am feeling fine. I am 70 years old and can walk a mile with any of the young folks. Before I took SAN YAK if I went any where I had to ride. I have not had a cold for two years. I have recommended SAN YAK to my friends and it is highly praised by all who have used it.

G. W. Sparks, of Montpelier says: "I took six bottles of SAN YAK about three years ago. I was suffering with great weakness due to kidney and bladder trouble. I am 73 years old and my health is fine since I took the SAN YAK. It is a wonderful regulator for the bowels."

"Corns All Gone! Let's ALL Kick!"

Every Corn Vanishes by Using Wonderful, Simple "Gets-It." Never Fails. Applied in 2 Seconds.

Isn't it wonderful what a difference just a little "Gets-It" makes,—on corns and calluses? It's always night somewhere in the world, with many folks humped up, with cork-screwed faces, gouging, picking, drilling out their corns, making packages of their toes with plasters, bandages, tape and contraptions,—and the "holler" in their corns goes on forever! Don't you do it. Use "Gets-It." It's marvelous, simple, never fails. Apply it in 2 seconds. Nothing to stick to the stocking, hurt or irritate the toe. Pain stops. Corn comes "clean off," quick. It's one of the gems of the world. Try it—you'll kick—from joy. For corns, calluses, warts, bunions.

You* Can Afford Good Light

You up-to-date farmers who own your property—take pride in your home and love your good wife and children—you should have good light.

The day has passed when good light in the farm home could be considered a novelty or expensive luxury. Nor is it a matter of big investment. Today good light is an inexpensive necessity.

Pilot-Carbide-Outdoor

have totally changed the old fashioned methods of house and barn lighting and cooking in the country home.

Hundreds of thousands of progressive farmers in all parts of the country have selected the PILOT because they were quick to recognize the value of good light—[illegible] them and their families. These country home owners—men like yourself—found they could easily afford the moderate investment for their PILOTS.

So can you afford it.

You can afford that new mowing machine, seed drill, and sulky plow. You can afford all the improvements that make your place a model farm, because they save you time and work.

Think of your good wife. She is your business partner. Her duty has been to make your home. She has done it well. She has contributed as much to your success as you have yourself.

The PILOT is going to save her a lot of hard work—dirty work—filling, cleaning and carrying lamps about the house—the meanest work a woman has to do. Think, too, what a gas cook stove will mean to her on hot days and when quick meals are wanted in a hurry.

If you can afford improvements [illegible] surely you can afford this one great improvement for your home—your wife—and your children. It is the one thing that you and your whole family will enjoy every night—365 times—every year.

Consider the PILOT from every standpoint—safety, comfort, convenience and better living. Your decision will be what 300,000 other country home owners have decided—you can't afford to be without it.

Write for illustrated catalogs and descriptive booklets giving all the facts. Find out, today, about the PILOT.

How to Get Rid of a Cold

Read how C. E. Summers, Holdredge, Neb., got rid of his cold: "I contracted a severe cough and cold and could hardly sleep. By using Foley's Honey and Tar as directed my cough was entirely cured and I give it full credit for my speedy recovery." Foley's always soothes and heals. Children love it. adv

Clear Skin Comes From Within

It is foolish to think you can gain a good clear complexion by the use of face powder. Get at the root of the trouble and thoroughly cleanse the system with a treatment of Dr. King's New Life Pills. Gentle and mild in action, do not gripe, yet they relieve the liver by their action, on the bowels. Good for young, adults and aged. Go after a clear complexion to-day. 25c. at your druggist. adv

Does Sloan's Liniment Help Rheumatism?

Ask the man who uses it, he knows. "To think I suffered all these years when one 25 cent bottle of Sloan's Liniment cured me," writes one grateful user. If you have rheumatism or suffer from Neuralgia, Backache, Soreness and Stiffness, don't put off getting a bottle of Sloan's. It will give you such welcome relief. It warms and soothes the sore, stiff painful places and you feel so much better. Buy it at any Drug Store, only 25 cents. adv

YOUR FLAG AND MY FLAG

By Wilbur D. Nesbit

FLAG DAY, JUNE 14, 1916

Your Flag and my Flag! And oh, how much it holds—
Your land and my land secure with in its folds!
Your heart and my heart beat quicker at the sight;
Sun-kissed and wind tossed, red and blue and white,
The one Flag—the great Flag—the Flag for me and you—
Glorifies all else beside—the red and white and blue!

Your Flag and my Flag! And how it flies today
In your land and my land and half a world away!
Rose-red and blood-red the stripes for ever gleam;
Sky blue and true blue, with stars to gleam aright—

Your Flag and my Flag! To every star and stripe
The drums beat as hearts beat and fifers shrilly pipe!
Your Flag and my Flag—a blessing in the sky;
Your hope and my hope—It never hid a lie!
Home land and far land and half the world around,

RESTA IS VICTOR IN CHICAGO AUTO DERBY

Chicago, June 12.—Dario Resta won the fastest 300-mile race ever driven by automobiles at Speedway Park in 3 hours 2 minutes and 31.65 seconds, a speed of 98.61 miles an hour.

Ralph De Palma had the race well in hand and started out to push the last six miles at a speed never before seen in actual contest when the old-time hoodoo which has wrested four other races from him when he was all but at the goal broke a spring on his motor and took the laurel wreath from off his brow.

Undaunted, he disconnected the cylinder affected and sped around the course on the other three and won second place and its $6,000 prize.

The 93,000 persons, who saw the race, made up the greatest crowd ever gathered for an athletic contest in Chicago since the aviation meets and greater than any actual count on any other American auto course.

BOY PROVES WHOLE SHOW

Chicago, June 12.—Oregon High school of Oregon, Ill., with its two-boy team of Sherman Landers and Frank Loomis, captured the University of Chicago interscholastic track meet on Stagg Field with 37 points.

Of this total, Landers made 26, capturing the 220-yard dash, 100-yard dash and the pole vault and placing second in the low and high hurdles. Loomis took first in the low hurdles and was placed third in the high hurdles, the short dash, and the broad jump. Loomis had been protested, but Director Stagg could find no grounds on which to bar the athlete, and he was permitted to compete.

Germans Take More Guns.

Berlin, June 12.—Violent artillery fighting is in progress on both sides of the River Meuse, north of the French fortress of Verdun, according to the German official statement. The Germans have added three cannon and seven machine guns to the booty taken by them on the east bank of the Meuse.

THIRD FORCE SENT OVER MEXICAN LINE

Horse Stealing Gang Pursued by U. S. Troops.

San Antonio, June 12.—The third American punitive expedition was ordered into Mexico following the long-expected raid into Zapata County, Texas.

The main body of Mexican bandits, probably under the leadership of Luis de la Rosa himself, crossed the Rio Grande at Hidalgo, thirty miles from Laredo. They rounded up eighty horses and drove them back across the border. No shots were fired and no casualties occurred.

General Funston, on receipt of the news, immediately ordered a cavalry detachment to pursue the bandits across the border, the third punitive expedition sent in Mexico since the Columbus raid.

FINDS COLTHURST INSANE

Jury Declares Him Guilty of Execution of Irishman Without Warrant.

London, June 12—Captain Colthurst, charged with responsibility for the unwarranted execution of J. Sheehy Skeffington, editor of the Irish Citizen, during the Dublin rebllion, was found guilty of murder Saturday night on first, third and fifth counts filed against him.

The jury, however, held that Colthurst was insane when the acts were committed. Sentence has not been pronounced.

Kazoo Newspaper Workers We-

Kalamazoo, June 12.—A newspaper office romance resulted in the marriage of Miss Pearl Bair, of Kalamazoo. Two years ago Mr. Metcalf came to Kalamazoo to take charge of the books in the Telegraph-Press office. An assistant was needed and Miss Bair was engaged as his stenographer. The association was soon followed by their engagement.

Holds Third Party Nomination in Abeyance.

WILL FIRST HEAR HUGHES

Progressive Convention Adjourns After Naming John H. Parker, of Louisiana, for Vice President—National Committee Meets June 25 to Name Leader if Roosevelt's Declination Is Final.

Chicago, June 12.—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt was nominated for president by the Progressive party at 12:35 p. m. amid cheers.

What promised to be a record demonstration for the colonel was checked by Chairman Raymond Robins and the convention proceeded to finish up its work.

Roosevelt by Acclamation.

The nomination of Colonel Roosevelt came by acclamation when the Progressives learned that the Republicans had turned down all compromise offers and were proceeding to take a third ballot. Moose leaders claimed that the Roosevelt nomination came several minutes before the Hughes victory in the Republican convention.

Roosevelt's name was offered to the Progressive convention by Dainbridge Colby of New Jersey and the only seconding speech came from Governor Johnson of California.

The convention, after the nomination, recessed until 3 p. m.

Roosevelt Declines Nomination.

When Colonel Roosevelt in Oyster Bay received notice of his nomination by the Progressive convention he telegraphed a letter to the Bull Moose party declining conditionally to head a third ticket.

He suggested in this letter that his conditional refusal to be the Progressive candidate be referred to the Progressive national committee and that if the committee should find Mr. Hughes' statement of views satisfactory his declination of the Progressive namination should be regarded definite. If the Hughes statement should be considered unsatisfactory Colonel Roosevelt said he would confer with the committee on "whatever action we may severally deem appropriate to meet the needs of the country."

Progressives Delay Action.

The Progressive national committee held a meeting Saturday night and elected officers, but did not pass on the suggestion made by Colonel Roosevelt or frame a reply to his letter. The committee adjourned until June 25 when the conditional declination of the colonel will be considered.

"It is in this spirit that we demand adequate provision for national defense, and we cond[illegible] ble neglect that has been shown in this matter of first national importance. We must have the strength which self-respect demands, the strength of an efficient nation ready for every emergency.

"We must conserve the best interests of labor, realizing that in democracy patriotism and strength must be rooted in even handed justice.

"In preventing, as we must, unjust discrimination and monopolistic practices, we must still be zealous to assure the foundations of honest business.

Must Seek Foreign Trade.

"Particularly should we seek the expansion of foreign trade. We must not throttle enterprize, here or abroad, but rather promote it and take pride in honorable achievement."

The Last Ballot.

The unofficial Hughes vote giving him the nomination was 952½ and it required only 494 to nominate. The roll call was ended at 12:39 p. m. and it showed only scattering opposition. Roosevelt had 18½ votes, Lodge had 7, Du Pont 5, Weeks, 3, LaFollette 3; not voting,1.

When the roll call finished at 12:39 p. m. the band played "My Country 'Tis of Thee," the audience rose and cheered, some of the delegates started a parade of state standards. Most of them stood silent on their chairs watching the show.

Name Notification Committee.

Chicago, June 12.—The new republican national committee held its first meeting immediately after the convention adjourned late on Saturday and authorized the appointment of a subcommittee to confer with Charles E. Hughes, the presidential nominee about the election of officers and the executive committee.

Former Senator W. Murray Crane of Massachusetts presided. The following subcommittee was appointed; W. Murray Crane of Massachusetts, Ralph E. Williams of Oregon, Alvah H. Martin of Virginia, Charles B. Warren of Michigan, John T. Adams of Iowa, Senator Reed Smoot of Utah, Senator Boise Penrose of Pennsylvania, and James A. Hemenway of Indiana. Under the rules the executive committee will consist of twelve members.

Germans To Support Hughes.

Philadelphia, June 12.—J. B. Mayer, chairman of the Chicago German conference and leader in German-American Alliance, says 95 per cent of Germans will support Hughes, many of whom have heretofore been Democrats, and gives credit to Germans for Hughes nomination.

GERMAN ATTACK REPULSED

Three Onslaughts Are Made Against Hill 304 Near Verdun.

Paris, June 12.—Three German infantry attacks against the French trenches on Hill 304 and the positions east of that elevation, in the Verdun sector, were completely checked by the French troops, says the official statement issued at the war department.

Two German detachments penetrated the French advanced trenches in the forest of Apremont southeast of St. Mihiel the statement adds, but were later ejected after hand-to-hand fighting.

Two Neutral Ships Sunk.

London, June 12.—Two neutral ships, the Norwegian steamer Prosper III. and the Swedish steamer Para have been sunk by mines. All but the first officer of the Prosper III. are said to have been lost, while all of the crew of the Para were saved.

SCHOOL MEETING CALLED FOR MONDAY EVENING, JUNE 19

There has been some little talk about town for the last few weeks in regard to the H. Brewer & Co site which has been proposed as a site for our new school. Rumor has it that a clear title of the property could not be given and that H. Brewer & Co. held possession of it on a 99 year lease.

A committee from St. Peter's parish have made an investigation and their findings are published elsewhere in this issue of the Herald Should the school district decide upon this site, a clear title could be obtained from H. Brewer & Co.

We also hear rumors that quite a number of our people do not understand that a call has been issued for a school meeting for the purpose of voting on a site This call has been published in the Herald and will be found in this issue The meeting is called for next Monday evening to be held at the Grange Hall and states that the business of the meeting is to consider and determine upon the purchase of a parcel of land commonly known as "the H Brewer & Co site."

It is your duty as a votor of District No 7 to attend this meeting and register your vote for or against this location If you favor it (yes) and if you do not (no.) Don't stay away and find fault afterwards with the decision of the majority but attend the meeting and express yourself

THIRD BARGAIN DAY

Remember that Wednesday is Bargain Day in Tecumseh. The amusement committee report that they will have a fine entertainment for Wednesday consisting of afternoon and evening performances. Three or four acts will be given which will consist of aerial and acrobatic work A band concert will be given in the evening.

These Wednesday Bargain days are growing very popular and weather permitting we expect a record breaking crowd here Wednesday.

IN JUSTICE COURT

Perry Pate was arrested Sunday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff John B. Smith Pate had imbibed too freely of his own brew of dandelion wine and was making more or less disturbance in his home. He was lodged in jail where he spent the night A complaint was sworn out Monday morning and he was brought before Justice Hosmer on a charge of drunkenness.

The court suspended sentence on condition that he pay the fine and costs amounting to $6 50, sign the pledge and agree to keep sober for one year This was complied with and he was released. The officers went to his home and emptied out about 2½ gallons of dandelion wine.

Circus Day Tuesday, June 20.

The traveling tented show is today America's most popular form of outdoor amusement and it is a perennial favorite with all classes of people. The Sun Brothers' Show for this season is a great, big, first class exhibition, with many stunning new features, fine horses, strange animals and a host of foreign and American novelty displays. The largest tents ever erected in this town are employed by this show. Everything is done for the great comfort of all visitors and seats are provided for all patrons.

The newly added trained animal tourney is this season a new attraction, and includes a bunch of amazingly trained lions, tigers, leopards, kangeroos, elephants, babboons, etc.

Two complete performances will be offered here, afternoon and night. The usual free out-door exhibitions will be given at noon-time, on the show grounds, and are free to the public.

AN EXPLANATION

A rumor having been afloat for many years, particularly among the members of St. Peter's Parish, that the parish owned the land on which the old Brewer plant stands and that H. Brewer & Co held possession of it on a 99 years leasehold, the undersigned were appointed by the vestry of the church to investigate the truth of the rumor.

Upon diligent inquiry, and rigid search of the records in the Lenawee County register of deeds office, we find that the Parish never had any claim to the property, and that the title of H. Brewer & Co to the land is vested in them in an unbroken line from the original owners of the land.

SAYS PAGE KILLED AGED MAN

Grand Rapids Youth Says Grandsire Was Murdered by Kin.

Grand Rapids, June 12.—In the superior Court, Vincent Jagge, lifelong chum of Lawrence Page, accused him of the murder of his aged grandfather, Frank M. Sprague, on January 18 last.

Jagge told how he had met Page coming from the home of his grandfather with the blood of his victim still dripping from his left hand. He told of Page reaching into his pocket and producing a watch and a diamond he had stolen from the body of his victim, and how later Page told him that he and his mother had burned his blood stained clothes and disposed of the stolen articles.

Among The Churches

BACCALAUREATE

The Baccalaureate exercises for the Class of 1916, Tecumseh High School, were held at the Baptist church at 7 30 p m. The church was prettily decorated in green and white, the class colors, syringa being used in abundance with festoons and large boquets about the altar and railings The class of eight young ladies and six young men was seated in the front pews which were marked with green and white ribbons

Rev. W. B. Hartzog preached the sermon. A Scripture lesson was read by Rev. G. W. Jennings followed by prayer by Rev. W A Rex Mrs R S Moore sang "Grass and Roses," a song adapted from an old Persian poem. She was accompanied by Miss Halladay on the piano and Leon McLachlin with the violin.

Dr. Hartzog then taking his text from Matthew 21:19, "He found nothing but leaves only," took the class back to the week preceeding the crucifixion of Christ, telling how he rose one morning early and started for Jerusalem before he had broken fast and, becoming hungry on the way he saw a fig tree and stopped to pluck the fruit to satisfy his hunger and found that the tree had no fruit, nothing thereon but leaves only, and he said unto it, Let no fruit grow on thee henceforth forever" and the fig tree withered away

The thought which Rev. Hartzog wished to impress on the class was that unless they too bear fruit, they would also wither away They had now finished their work at the High School and were in full bloom and should strive to bear fruit Every life is supposed to be fruitful, for the barren there is no place in Heaven He expressed great faith in the class of 1916 and felt that a fruitless life did not belong to them He wished them to realize the responsibilities of their opportunities to go out into life and measure up the individual work they had to do; it might seem great or small but whatever it was, to do it well. No nation in history has been allowed to live who has not borne fruit

He spoke of the training they have had. They have been watched over by competent teachers and their instruction has been good. Your education is equal to that received by Daniel Webster and Henry Clay. But few states in the Union do as much for their young people in the educational line as Michigan. Humanity is yet to see its greatest work from the people yet to be, this class you belong to He closed by saying that he wished them to remember four live principles:

1st Proper respect and reverence for the Supreme Being
2nd Stand for high ideals
3rd Stand for service in the field of human needs
4th Work and industry

LARGE CROWD ATTEND CHILDREN'S DAY EXERCISES

At Presbyterian Church Sunday Morning.

The Presbyterian church was the scene of an animated gathering Sunday morning when the Sunday school gave their annual Children's day exercises. The front of the church had been beautified with banks of flowers which lent a splendid back-ground for the happy faces of the little people.

The orchestra played the processional when in came Mrs. S. W. Anderson and assistant with the infant class who are as devoted to her as all the class have been for the past few years. Miss Edith Rector and assistants ushered in their Juniors, which by the way is becoming quite a factor in that school, numbering over 50.

The superintendent, John T. Boyce had charge and conducted the services well. At the baptismal service six children received the rite, and then came an interesting program of songs, recitations, exercises and drills, the winding of a May pole being one of the latter. Seven were promoted from the primary to the Junior department and up came a banner in the latter class "Watch Us Grow." A violin duet by Miss Hazel Roberts and Leon McLachlin followed.

The Rev. Rex talked to the little people about bad habits using the links of a chain to represent each habit and after the chain was welded together showed how it bound one by allowing a couple of boys to bind him. Then laying a handkerchief over his hands. "The clean Life"—soon freed himself—(Beating our friend "Alexander the Great" by about seven minutes). This feat was very much enjoyed by the older "boys" as well as the little people and proved a splendid way of illustrating the point of his talk.

These proved about the most interesting exercises of this nature held in this church in years and the committee having it in charge, Mrs. Emma Bailey, Miss Mildred Boyce. Mrs. S. W. Boyce and Mrs. R. M. Moiles are well repaid for their hard work.

The number of young people present was noticeable for not in years has there been such a splendid attendance of the school members.

Sunday was a typical day and was a busy one in our Churches it being Children's day. Nearly every Church in town observed the day The children were all animated and happy and each one was ready with his or her part of the program.

At the Methodist church the program as printed in our last issue was carried out in most excellent order. A feature not mentioned was the graduating of the primary classes and their reception into the order classes

The program at the Baptist church was delightfully given especial mention should be made of the motion songs as presented by the little ones of the fold, each child taking its part with perfect ease and grace.

A very pleasing program was also given at the Friends church of recitation, song and addresses.

At St. Peters Episcopal church a short service of recitation and song was given during the Sunday School hour

UNION YOUNG PEOPLE'S MEETING

The Young People's Union meeting held at the Baptist church at 6 p. m. was well attended and was a very interesting meeting. The Presbyterian orchestra added much to the beautiful service of song that opened up the meeting led by A B. Harding

At the close of this service W. B. Hartzog made the prayer and the Rev W A Rex read the scripture lesson Then followed a short program of recitation and song.

The topic for the meeting was "The Will and the Way." Rev. G W. Jennings gave a brief talk on the 'Will" showing its tendencies for good or evil and how necessary it was to strive to bend our wills in the right direction to lead us to the Way," which Rev H. L Linton pointed out in a brief earnest manner. A short season of prayer with recitations and songs and a testimony moment. After the closing song, all standing repeated the Mizpah benediction "The Lord watch between thee and me, when we are far from one another,"

Benton Harbor, June 12.—Edward Badgley, twice before committed to Kalamazoo hospital for the insane, suffered a mental relapse because of interest in the Republican national convention.

Badgley labored under the impression that he was a delegate-at-large to the convention and in an effort to "save the party" was willing to accept "any man big enough" to nominate somebody to beat Wilson.

When Editors Were Doctors.

Keene's Bath Journal was one of the oldest weekly newspapers in the provinces Known as the Bath Journal, it was founded in 1742 by Thomas Rodleley, whose portrait in wig and ruffles, by Hoare, forms a picturesque reminder of the period. His daughter married John Keene, the journal from this union passing on to and through a succession of Keenes; hence its title Keene's Bath Journal.

As was the custom in bygone days patent medicines were sold in provincial newspaper offices, and the drawers in which the pills and medicines were kept at the Journal office were there until the paper suspended. It was nothing unusual for the editor in the throes of writing his editorials to have to step down from his seat to serve a box of pills.

The pages of the Journal were for a long period largely taken up by advertisements of various "cure alls."—London Times.

Arsenic In the Hair.

New light has been thrown on the legal side of arsenic poisoning. It has been found that arsenic compounds are absorbed by the hair of living persons though not absorbed after death In the hair of man arsenic has been known to reach a concentration of one to five parts in 100,000. The deposit takes place in the hair after it has been absorbed by the abdominal organs—liver and kidneys in particular. Therefore in case of acute, quick poisoning, chemical analysis of the hair would show no arsenic, while it would be found in the liver and kidneys. On the other hand, if slow arsenic poisoning was suspected, analysis would show arsenic in the hair, but not in the liver and kidneys, and it could safely be assumed that the poisoning was not recent. The legal value of such evidence is apparent.—Scientific American.

The Stork's Lazy House Building.

The most interesting sight in the Rotterdam zoo was the stork, whose nest is set high on a pinnacle of the buffalo house. He was building in the leisurely style of the British workingman. He would negligently descend from the heavens with a stick. This he would lay on the fabric and then carefully perform his toilet, looking around and down all the time to see that every one else was busy. Whenever his eye lighted on a toddling child or a perambulator it visibly brightened. "My true work!" he seemed to say. "This nest building is mere bypaths of industry." After drinking and overlooking and congratulating himself thus for a few minutes he would stroll off over the housetops for another stick. He was unquestionably a king of the garden.—Lucas in "A Wanderer In Holland."

Pewless Churches.

There were no pews in the churches of Scotland before the reign of Charles I., and people who wished to be seated while attending services took stools with them. For the evening service the parishioners provided themselves with their own candles

Why Not Face the Facts About Armor Competition?

To the People:

The policy of the United States Government for many years has made real competition in armor-making ineffective.

The Government might have asked the three armor plants for bids and let the entire tonnage to the lowest bidder. That would have made competition effective.

The result of such a course would have been to drive two of the three manufacturers out of business, and leave the country with facilities of only one plant in time of need.

The Government in fact has always asked for bids from the three manufacturers, but no matter what the price quoted, each year's business was divided among them.

Armor makers serve but one customer—the Government, just as a public utility serves but one customer—a community.

We voluntarily agree to accept any price fixed by the Federal Trade Commission. Isn't acceptance of that offer better than the destruction of an industry built solely to serve the Government?

OBITUARY

Electa Bugbee was born near Osseo, Hillsdale Co., Mich., August 12, 1843 and died at Tecumseh, Mich., June 6, 1916, aged 72 years 9 months 24 days.

In the year 1866 she was united in marriage to James Crawford of Quincy, Mich. at which place they made their home until 1879 when they moved to Oceana Co. Mich., where they resided until the death of Mr. Crawford, February 2, 1901. To this union was born one daughter who died in infancy. In the year 1905 our subject was married to Frederick Teadt of Middeville, Mich. Mr. Teadt passed away July 23, 1913. May 15, 1914 Mrs. Teadt returned to Lenawee Co. to make her home with her niece Mrs. Ira Ashley in Tecumseh where she passed away.

Electa was the eldest of seven children born to Elias and Phoebe Decker Bugbee, five of whom are left to mourn. M. J. Bugbee of Middleville, Mich., Mrs. Hattie Owens of Adrian, Wm. H. Bugbee of Onsted, Mrs. Mary Bier of Chief, Mich., and Elias Bugbee of Dakota.

Aunt Electa was a member of the Middleville Baptist church and lived a consistent Christian life, quiet and unassuming, kind and desirous of being helpful to all. She will be greatly missed from her circle of friends and especially in the home from which she was so suddenly removed by death.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to thank all those who so kindly gave assistance and sympathy in our late bereavement; also those who gave floral offerings.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Ashley

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

HITCHCOCK NOT SURE AS LEADER

Hughes May Reject Man Who Gathered His Delegates.

TAFT IN FAVOR OF HILLES

Convention Names Justice on Third Ballot by Almost Unanimous Vote—He Resigns Position on Supreme Court Bench—Accepts Nomination in Statement Urging Preparedness.

Washington, June 12.—Charles E. Hughes, Republican nominee for president, kept the Sabbath with accustomed care. Accompanied by his daughter, Miss Catherine, he walked to his regular place of worship, Calvary Baptist Church, where his friend and pastor, the Reverend Dr. S. H. Green, preached from the text "So run that you may obtain."

Mr. Hughes is expected in New York for a series of conferences regarding his campaign.

Frank H. Hitchcock, who managed Hughes' pre-convention campaign, is looked on as the logical selection for the post, but there are rumors here that Hitchcock is being actively opposed by the Taft forces, who supported Hughes for the nomination, and as a result Charles D. Hilles may be continued as the active director of the fall campaign.

There is much speculation here as to the character of the campaign. While there will be headquarters in New York and in Chicago, it is intimated that Mr. Hughes may determine to keep up his home here and general headquarters may be established in this city.

Nomination of Hughes.

Chicago, June 12.—Charles Evans Hughes, associate justice of the United States supreme court, was nominated for president by practically a unanimous vote in the Republican convention, although he persisted to the last in his policy of silence and refusal to seek the office, and although it was not known when he was named whether he would accept or decline the honor.

Charles W. Fairbanks of Indiana, running mate of Roosevelt in the landslide of 1904, was named for vice president. Mr. Fairbanks, had already sent a message asking his friends to withhold his name for the vice-presidency, but the unanimity of the convention's demand caused the withdrawal to be withheld, and after the convention named him Mr. Fairbanks yielded and accepted.

Theodore Roosevelt, refusing to accept Hughes as the fusion nominee of the two parties, was nominated for president by the Progressive national convention, which selected as its nominee for the vice presidency John M. Parker of New Orleans.

Instantly on receipt of telegraphic notice of his nomination Justice Hughes in Washington sent his resignation from the supreme court to President Wilson, and the president quite as promptly accepted it.

At the same time Justice Hughes dispatched to the Republican convention a telegram of acceptance, in which for the first time he broke his silence and set forth his attitude on the issues of the hour. The acceptance was communicated to the convention before it adjourned.

Hughes Gives His Creed.

In his letter of acceptance Justice Hughes said, among other things:

"It stand for the firm and unflinching maintenance of all the rights of American citizens on land and sea. I neither impugn motives nor underestimate difficulties. But it is most regrettably true that in our foreign relations we have suffered incalculably from weak and vacilating course which has been taken with regard to Mexico, a course lamentably wrong with regard to both our rights and our duties. We interfered without consistency, and while seeking to dictate when we were not concerned, we utterly failed to appreciate and discharge our plain duty to our own citizens.

"At the outset of the administration the high responsibilities of our diplomatic intercourse with foreign nations were subordinated to a conception of partisan requirements and presented to the world a humiliating spectacle of ineptitude.

"Belated efforts have not availed to recover the influence and prestige so unfortunately sacrificed, and brave words have been stripped of their force by indecision.

"I desire to see our diplomacy restored to its best standards, and to have these advance; to have no sacrifices of national interests to partisan expediency; to have the first ability of the country always at its command.

"I stand for an Americanism that knows no ulterior purpose, for a patriotism that is single and complete. Whether native or naturalized, of whatever race or creed, we have but one country, and we do not for an instant tolerate any division of allegiance.

Believes in Preparedness.

"I believe in making prompt provision to assure absolutely our national security. I believe in preparedness, not only entirely adequate for our defense with respect to numbers and

"John, dear," queried the young wife, glancing up from the physical advice magazine she was perusing, "what is your idea of a perfect figure?"

DON'T MISTAKE THE CAUSE

Many Tecumseh People Have Kidney Trouble and Do Not Know It.

Do you have backache?

Are you tired and worn out?

Feel dizzy, nervous and depressed?

Are the kidney secretions irregular?

Heed the warning; don't delay—

Read this Tecumseh testimony.

George D. Chaplin, carpenter, N. Ottawa St., Tecumseh, says: "My kidneys were disordered and made me miserable. Knowing of several people in this vicinity who had used Doan's Kidney Pills with success, I got a supply of Doan's Kidney Pills at Wright & Son's Drug Store and began using them. The results were very satisfactory. I am in hopes that other kidney sufferers will profit by reading of my experience."

AFTER A RELAPSE OF OVER THREE YEARS, Mr. Chaplin said: "I willingly confirm the statement I gave befre praising Doan's Kidney Pills. They always act just as repersented."

Twice Married

But the Second Wedding Was Very Different From the First.

By WILLARD BLAKEMAN

He had various names, but none of [illegible] as The Eel. It had been given him to denote that he was extremely slippery. He had been cornered a number of times, but on each and every occasion he had slipped through the fingers of those who were attempting to hire him. He had victimized both men and women, especially winning the latter without half trying. He had married a number of them, got possession of what money they possessed and then lit out. He was a good fighter, and when he could not get out of a sheriff's clutches by chicanery he would put up a defense that had thus far saved him from conviction.

I was sheriff of Union county when one morning one of the women he had married came into town, having ridden twenty miles to bring the information that The Eel was working among the settlers about Hobson, where she had seen him, though, she having been one of his first wives and he having married so many since, he did not recognize her. Instead of making herself known to him, she had brought us the news of his presence in Hobson that an effort might be made to capture him.

It occurred to me that as one of his victims and therefore impervious to his fascinations she might aid in his capture. But it was probable that if he came into close contact with her he would remember her. I therefore proposed that she should give herself a darker complexion and wear a wig of different hair than her own. The complexion she could manage, but wigs were scarce in that country, and some other means of changing her hair must be found

She entered into my scheme heart and soul. There was a drug store in the town at which she purchased a complexion and a hair dye, and from a blond converted herself into a pronounced brunette. She was a young woman, not too old to pass for my daughter. I made up as a farmer looking for a place to settle and buy land. I provided myself with arms, but I concealed them under my clothes. I also took with me several packages of paper cut to the size and shape of a blank bill and on the top of each package placed a real bank bill. I planned that The Eel should endeavor to get these packages through my supposed daughter, and I might lay a trap to take him while he was doing so.

Belle Ashurst—that was the girl's name—and I started on horseback for Hobson one morning and reached it in the middle of the afternoon. We rode up to the tavern and my attention was attracted to a man about thirty-five years of age sitting on the porch in a chair tilted against the house, smoking a long cigar. There was nothing noticeable about him to one not used to dealing with dishonest characters, but there was something in his eye that told me at once he was our quarry

Belle and I dismounted and went into the house, where I registered as Peter Hunker of Independence, Mo Till supper time I contented myself with asking the landlord for information about the surrounding country, the character of the soil and if there was any property for sale. While we were talking The Eel came in and I told the landlord in his presence that I had $3,000 in currency with me to put into land The Eel, who was posing as Mr. Jefferson McCormick, joined in the conversation and said he knew a man who had a farm that was about to be sold out under a foreclosure of mortgage and could be bought dirt cheap. I told him that I would be greatly obliged to him for the information.

While we were talking the supper bell rang, and down came Belle Ashurst. I introduced Mr. McCormick to her, and she received him very cordially. I asked him to join us at supper He accepted the invitation, and I gave him a seat on one side of Belle, while I sat on the other side of her. I watched him when she first spoke to him, fearing that her voice would give her away. I saw him look up at her quickly, but she was so well disguised that I doubted if she had betrayed herself.

After supper we went into the lounging room, where I left Belle and Mr McCormick, while I sauntered about the town When I went back to the tavern I saw McCormack and Belle sitting together, and they had evidently got pretty thick When Belle saw me she excused herself to him and coming out, joined me. She had restrained herself very well, but she told me that her desire to lash the villain for his perfidy was so great that she was glad of an excuse to get away from him. He had used the same blandishments with which he had won her several years before

I told her that on her preserving her equanimity and playing her part well depended our securing his capture and her revenge. She promised to control herself. She had succeeded in pretending to be much pleased with Mr. McCormick. He had asked her to go for a ride with him the next morning, and she had told him she would do so provided her father would consent. I took the matter under consideration and the next morning told her she might go. I suggested that she say to McCormick that she was interested in her father's buying property and ask him to point out any that he knew was for sale.

When Belle came back from her ride she told me that her companion had made violent love to her, telling her that it was a case of love at first sight, that the moment he saw her he knew they were made for each other. She had responded so far as her indignation would permit and acknowledged that she was very much pleased with him.

Several days passed, during which I was laying a plan for The Eel's capture. I knew he was armed to the teeth and, unless I could contrive to get his arms away from him, I could not take him without a fight. On one occasion a sheriff had got a drop on him and called on him to throw up his hands. The Eel had obeyed, but had swung his right arm up so vigorously as to throw a derringer into his hand with which he had shot the sheriff. I must either kill the rascal or take him alive. If I took him alive I propose to effect the capture through the machinations of Delilah.

It was well I had announced that I had money, for I learned that McCormick had been courting another girl in Hobson, and bait was needed to draw him away from her. My funds succeeded. Belle very soon informed me that she had promised to marry him—provided I gave my consent. I held an interview with the proposer, in which I told him that Belle was the apple of my eye and I wouldn't give her to any man who couldn't give a good account of himself. But when he came to his account of himself I accepted it without asking for references and told him that I would give my daughter the money I had brought with me for a dowry and that I had plenty more in Missouri, where I had come from. I asked him when he intended to be married, and he said the sooner the better. I told him I would talk with my daughter, but she might do as she pleased in the premises.

I conferred with Belle, and it was she who laid the plan we carried out. Having been already married to him, she had no objections to marrying him again. As his wife she could the more easily enable me to land him, and she did not see how she could do so except as his wife. All possible suspicion of her or me would be averted by a marriage ceremony.

McCormick being in a great hurry for the ceremony, after pretending to demur at the suddenness of the affair I consented that it should take place at once. A justice of the peace was called in, and Belle, after embracing me while I wiped forced tears from my eyes, stood up with the man beside whom she had once stood under similar circumstances before, and the justice performed the ceremony.

As soon as it was over I wiped away some more tears, and, taking out the packages of blank paper, each faced with a bank bill, I handed them to the bride. She threw her arms around me, then, tossing the packages on a table, turned and embraced her husband.

It was arranged that the pair were to spend their honeymoon at the tavern, and the landlord had prepared the best chamber in the house for them. Belle had arranged with me that I should take position in the hall near the door of their room, and by signal she would indicate that she had secured the groom's arms. Then I was to enter the chamber with a pistol in each hand and make the capture. The signal was to be a fit of coughing on the part of the bride.

The pair had been in the bridal room for about fifteen minutes when I heard the signal. I turned the knob of the door and threw it open. The groom was standing near the door. Belle was beside the bureau on which lay two bulldog pistols, which she was examining with feigned curiosity. I sprang between her and him, a revolver in each of my hands, and told him that if he moved a finger he was a dead man. Belle took up the bulldogs and also leveled them at him.

"You don't know me, do you?" she said fiercely. "I'm Sarah Simpson. We've been married before. The first time I didn't know you. This time I know you well. This gentleman who has been playing my father is the sheriff of Union county. I saw you come into this town to play some more of your games and laid a trap for you. Reckon you won't marry any more wives."

She burst into a flood of tears, while I motioned the man to leave the room, and marched him downstairs, with a pistol pressed between his shoulders. The landlord's surprise was a sight to behold. When I told him that I had captured The Eel he swore that the villain should not leave the town alive. Rushing out, he spread the news of the capture, men came running in, and a cry was raised:

"Hang him!"

The fellow who had not hesitated to break the law so often and had defied officials, seeing himself disarmed in the face of infuriated men, some of whose relatives had been his victims, turned pale, shivered and begged for mercy.

"No mercy for you!" cried a man whose sister he had married. "You showed no mercy to any one else, and you'll get none yourself, and don't you forget it!"

He was so slippery that I was not very sorry when a posse took him out of my hands and ended his career at the end of a rope attached to the limb of a tree. Belle, or Sarah Simpson, had not made up her mind to this and begged that he be spared, but the men would not listen to her.

Her Only Criticism.

Little Dorothy not only liked her tea and coffee to have the appearance of being "real and truly," but she also liked to taste the flavor of each. One afternoon her mother took her to a friend's home, where tea was served at 5 o'clock.

The hostess gave to Dorothy what she usually gave to her own children, of Dorothy's age—viz, hot water, sugar and milk. Dorothy tasted hers politely and ate her little cakes.

"Why, Dorothy, you aren't drinking your tea, dear. Isn't it sweet enough?" asked the hostess.

"Yes, Mrs. C., it's sweet enough," replied the child.

"Then why aren't you taking it?"

"It's too dull," she replied. — New York Times.

WORE TIGHTS, BUT WINS HEART BALM

Grand Rapids Girl Swears She Was "Old Man's Darling".

Grand Rpaids, June 12.—Although Miss Mary E. Spaulding posed for a life-sized photograph in nothing but tights, and a thin pair at that, a jury in the circuit court has awarded her $2,500 heart balm against David McWhorter, a retired business man.

Miss Spaulding testified that for twelve years she was the "old man's darling," and then he threw her aside to marry a younger and fairer girl.

WOULD DIVORCE EX-CASHIER

Marshall, June 12.—Augusta Rae, wife of the former cashier of the City bank of Battle Creek, began suit for divorce here.

Her husband, Robert Rae, was arrested several weeks ago, charged with having given liquor to a young Battle Creek woman. Rae went to Canada. He was formerly a member of the Battle Creek board of aldermen.

OPPOSITION TO MARSHALL SEEN

Henry Morgenthau Starts Baker Boom at St. Louis.

WILSON TO RUN CONVENTION

McComb Presides Over National Committee for Last Time—Given Ovation—Democrats Are Angling to Get Progressive Votes—Women on Hand for Suffrage—Convention Opens on Wednesday.

ST. LOUIS, MO. — Preliminaries to the Democratic national convention virtually were completed with the meeting of the national committee, which formally selected former Governor Glynn of New York as temporary chairman to deliver the keynote speech, chose temporary officers and disposed of contests.

The retirement of Chairman William F. McCombs brought about a remarkable demonstration in the committee, which gave cheers and a vote of thanks to him. As the committeemen cheered, the delegates in the hotel lobby joined in the demonstration.

Morgenthau Wants Baker.

There was a flurry in the vice-presidential market gossip when reports got out in the Hotel Jefferson lobby that Henry Morgenthau had received a message from Jacob H. Schiff, the New York financier, to this effect: "In the interest of President Wilson it is believed important that a stronger candidate than Marshall be nominated for vice-president." When seen for confirmation of the reported message Mr. Morgenthau, who has the ear of the president, parried. "Don't say anything about that; it is too important to talk about," said Mr. Morgenthau.

Later in the afternoon Mr. Morgenthau confirmed the report that he had received a message from Schiff, and said that he (Morgenthau) would do all in his power to see Newton D. Baker, the present secretary of war, nominated for the vice-presidency. This tallied with an earlier statement by Mr. Morgenthau that he was nursing a boom for Baker.

Wilson Directs Convention.

President Wilson is directing the convention which will nominate him in the Coliseum building here and which opens at noon Wednesday.

Incoming trains bring additions to the cabinet family, who will direct the machinery. Whatever the president wants he will get. The only chance for any fireworks is on the platform and on the vice-presidential nomination. Wilson also will direct and dictate there in the final spurt.

Boosts Baker for Second Place.

Briefly summarized, here are the other developments with the delegates and big lights arriving on the scene:

Newton D. Baker of Ohio, secretary of war, suggested as a possible running mate in place of Vice President Marshall, although it is generally understood that President Wilson is committed to the renomination of Marshall.

A constitutional amendment proposed, directed against the republican nominee, by way of a resolution in the platform indorsing such a move, to prevent a justice of the supreme court from becoming a candidate for president.

Senator William J. Stone of Missouri, Wilson's choice for chairman of the resolutions committee, is here with the main platform planks. He lives in Missouri, where there is a big German-American population, and is expected to carry the convention over the hyphenated issues.

Bid for Progressive Support.

Progressive party leaders want to sit in on the platform making, with a view of rallying a part of their forces for Wilson as against Hughes. The democratic party leaders are making a bid for progressive support.

Women suffragists of all factions are driving hard for a federal amendment, granting complete suffrage. Declaration that it is a state issue is considered the test they may expect.

Non-Partisan Boosters on Guard.

A non partisan campaign committee is to be organized, with Henry Morgenthau of New York to be the chairman and have as associates Charles R. Crane, Walter L. Rogers and Norman Hapgood. They will co-operate with the national committee and appeal especially to progressives.

BRANDEIS GIVEN ADVANCE

Enjoys Distinction of Assignment and Boost on Same Day.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The resignation of Charles E. Hughes caused a rearrangement of the seats of the justices of the United States supreme court. Justice van Deventer succeeded Mr. Hughes as the fourth associate in point of service.

Justice Brandeis was assigned to the second or New York circuit, succeeding Mr. Hughes. He thus becomes qualified to sit in the federal courts in New York. Justice Brandeis is the first justice in the history to be assigned and advanced the same day.

Mrs. Anna Peeples, sixty years old, a Kalamazoo pioneer, was fatally injured when struck by a Michigan Central passenger train at a crossing.

While the younger brother went to their home at Escanaba for a fish hook, George Gustafson, aged ten, drowned in the slough at Kipling.

Doctors will examine Mrs. Eva Steenard, Kalamazoo woman, for her sanity before placing her on trial this week for the murder of a new-born babe.

The Kalamazoo Daily Telegraph Press is now being sold for one cent. This gives to Kalamazoo the first penny newspaper the city has ever had.

Captain John Oles, keeper of Thunder Bay island coast guard station, has been transferred to Hammond Bay station, succeeding Captain Joseph Valentine, retired.

TO THE TAXPAYERS OF SCHOOL DISTRICT NO. 7

The undersigned believe that the so-called Brewer site is not the best location for the new School building.

The proposition to be voted on at the District meeting June 19th, gives [illegible] location. We therefore appeal to you to vote down the proposition of authorizing the Board of Education to purchase that site.

Turn out! you taxpayers, and vote down the three-cornered, noisy, dirty, out-of-square with the world site, and also save Shawnee street from being closed.

The reasons why this street should not be closed are: First, traffic from the east and southeast will be diverted and forced to cross the railroad three times and pass the garages in order to reach the depots and stock yards.

Second, this street is the main thoroughfare, north of Chicago street, connecting the east and west part of town; also to and from the cemetery.

Third, We understand the sentiment of the Council is that if it is voted to purchase the Brewer site, they will close Shawnee street.

We think the old school site much preferable and by purchasing the space, there will be room for the new building without removing the old building while the new building is being constructed.

SUN BROTHERS.

At Tecumseh, Tuesday June 20.

Strange sights and still stranger animals will be among the many things that will beun loaded when the big show train of the Sun Brothers' World's Progressive Shows arrives in Tecumseh on June 20.

This is the date of the appearance here of this well known amusement entrprise. Long before dawn, the railroad yards will be the center of attraction for the younger generation of town and many a household will be startled from its peaceful slumbers at an unseemly hour by the tinkling of the alarm clock under the pillows of the small boy. In fact, a few comfortable beds will be left undisturbed throughout the entire night, their usual occupants preferring to remain awake and thus run no risk of missing the opportunity of witnessing the arrival and unloading of these great shows.

The Sun Brothers' Show for this season have all new equipment and brand new plethora of acts and performances in all its departments, in fact it can truthfully be said that it is an all new show. The only recognizable thing of its past seasons is the adherance to of their old time policy of never allowing at any time or place any gamblers, sure thing men, confidence games, fortune tellers, dancing girl show or anything in the nature of a roper-in-device. These issues have never been tolerated with this show nor will they ever be countenanced.

Two complete performances will be given here during their engagement and the assurance is made that both performances will be presented without any curtailment whatever. Many new and novel free outside exhibitions are offered this season and are said to be of an unusually ntertaining and "thriller" character.

"OUT OF POLITICS," ASSERTS ROOSEVELT

Ex-President Tells Newspaper Men He Has Quit.

"I want to tell you newspaper men," he said, "that it's of no use for you to come up here to see me. I will have nothing to say, I will answer no questions, so please don't ask me to. I am out of politics."

If the former president has any plans for the immediate future other than to continue his literary work he has not made them public. His secretary, John W. McGrath, has arrived from Chicago with a detailed report of the happenings at both the republican and progressive conventions.

While Mr. Roosevelt would not discuss the question, his intimates considered it unlikely that he would reconsider his conditional refusal to head a third ticket. He has not made it clear whether he will support the candidacy of Mr. Hughes.

Drowned in Town He Founded.

CHICAGO, ILL.—The body of John V. Steger, president of the Steger and Sons Piano Manufacturing company, was found in a huge reservoir in the town of Steger, Ill., near here, which he founded twenty-five years ago.

MRS. J. E. SOMERS

Lillian Alice, wife of Rev. J. E. Somers, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church at Ridgeway, Mich., and youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Dinsmore of Bay City, Mich., was born near Port Huron, St. Clair county, Mich., April [illegible] and died at her home in Ridgeway Sunday, June 11, 1916.

She was a member of a family of nine, five girls and four boys, and was the first to break the family circle by death. Her earlier years were spent in St. Clair county. When a young lady she became a teacher in the public schools and taught in the same for eight years and until her marriage to the Rev. J. E. Somers which took place at the home of her parents then living in Turner, Mich. Her husband was then pastor on the Omer and Turner charge. She began her faithful and devoted labor as a helpmeet in the work of the kingdom on this home circuit, being at first at Omer, Mich. Wolverine, Mich. was the next place of residence for two years, thence to Albion and Burlington three years where amid sacrifices and denials, she assisted her husband to get a college education. After he graduated three years were spent at Owosso and two at Grand Blanc, when she moved to the present home at Ridgeway.

Four children were born to the union, the oldest a boy, Judson aged 12, and three girls, Helen, Irene and Pauline, aged 11, 9 and 7 respectfully. Beside the husband and these children left to mourn her loss are her father and mother, four sisters, Mrs. A. Balmer of Avoca, Mich.; Mrs. N. Vogelio of Valparaiso, Ind.; Mrs. W. Farquhar of Globe, Arizona; Mrs. H. B. Hitchings of Caribou, Maine; and four brothers, Paul R. Dinsmore, of Bay City; Sam Dinsmore, Turner, Mich., George Dinsmore, Metz, Mich.; Stephen Dinsmore, Coral, Mich.

She was a great sufferer in the last months of her long, lingering illness. Her sickness and death called forth tokens of deep and true sympathy and love throughout the pastoral charge at home and also from Grand Blanc and Owosso, former charges.

Calling the children and members of the household to her bedside two days before her death, in a few moments of renewed consciousness, she spoke to them words of love and counsel and gave them a rich manifestation of true devotion to and unswerving faith in God. The end came at 10:30 Sunday.

Funeral services were held at the parsonage in Ridgeway Tuesday afternoon, June 13th, in the presence of a large number of true sympathizers throughout the charge and neighboring towns and cities of Britton, Tecumseh, Adrian, Clinton, Macon and Owosso. Relatives were present from Bay City, Coral, Avoca, Mich., and St. Mary's, Ont., Canada. Rev. D. H. Ramsdell D. D. of Ann Arbor conducted the service. The Scripture was read by Rev. G. W. Jennings of Tecumseh. Opening prayer by Rev. J. S. Steininger of Adrian. An old time friend of the family, Rev. W. H. Ward, who officiated at the marriage of the parents and baptism of all the children, gave the funeral message and spoke words of commendation. The closing prayer was offered by Rev. H. R. Beatty of Blissfield. Two beautiful solos were sung by Mrs. Marion Stone of Ridgeway.

The grave service was conducted by Rev. Ramsdell and Rev. Lyons of Clinton and all joined in singing "There's a Land that is Fairer than Day." Interment was made in Ridgeway cemetery.

GERMANS DEFEATED T. R., EDITOR SAYS

German-American Alliance Favors Hughes, at Present.

"The nomination of Justice Hughes means the salvation of the Republican party. It is a triumph of genuine Americanism over nativism. Whom the German-Americans will support depends entirely on what Mr. Hughes will say and what Mr. Wilson will do.

"Roosevelt's action is negligible. The colonel has encompassed his own defeat. His debacle proves that there is no room for the Knownothing in American politics. If the Knownothing is eliminated the hyphen will disappear also."

The Fatherland, which is published in New York, is one of the official proponents of the German-American Alliance. A committee from this alliance before the convention of last week called on Chairman Charles D. Hilles and other Republican leaders, and said that the alliance would not support Theodore Roosevelt if he was nominated by the Republicans.

BANDITS FIGHT U. S. TROOPS

Three Mexicans Are Captured; Posse Slays Three.

SAN ANTONIO. — Three of the Mexicans who raided the Columbus ranch were killed by a sheriff's posse and three captured by cavalrymen under Captain Wellborn, according to a report to General Funston from General Mann at Laredo. Captain Wellborn and the armed civilians are continuing their search for the remainder of the band. General Mann reported that the bandits were at Palafox, going from there to the vicinity of Webb where two of them fell into the hands of the troops. They moved southward toward Cactus, and there encountered the posse. None of the Americans was reported injured in the short engagement that followed.

Russ Sink Thirteen Turk Ships.

ODESSA. — The Russian torpedo boat destroyers have sunk thirteen large Turkish ships laden with merchandise off the Anatolian coast.

CZERNOWITZ IS IN SLAVS' HANDS

Russians Have Now Captured 114,000 Austrians.

STRATEGIC CITY IS TAKEN

Capital of Bukowina Is Evacuated for Eighth Time—Russians Pressing On—Are Twenty Miles West of Dubno Fortress—Advance Over 60 Miles at Points.

PETROGRAD, RUS. — One of the correspondents in the Balkans telegraphs that Czernowitz has again been evacuated by the Austrian military and muncipal authorities, making the eighth time in this war that the town has been abandoned.

Fear Attack in Rear.

The movements of the Austrian troops appear to indicate that they fear a descent of the Russians across the Dniester river, taking the city in the rear and cutting the Kolomea railroad.

The population of Czernowitz, a city formerly having 90,000 inhabitants, has been reduced to 6,000 persons, consisting chiefly of Jewish residents.

Roumania Much Excited.

Roumanian newspapers show an excited interest in the progress of the Russian offensive and those of pro-ally tendencies consider that intervention by their country in the war is inevitable. The Roumanie, a newspaper published in French, which is the secondary language of Roumania, says:

"It is obvious from the nature of the Russian offensive that the quadruple entente reveals to us the moment when we can realize our national ideals."

Two Divisions Captured.

LONDON, ENG. — The complete rout of the Austrian armies near Czernowitz, the capital of Bukowina, was announced here by the Russian embassy.

Two entire divisions, with all their generals, artillery and ammunition were captured.

The Russians are in full pursuit, the Cossacks overrunning the territory in the rear of the fleeing armies.

Czernowitz, which was the objective of the Russian drive on this part of the front, was in possession of the Russians for some time early in the war, but they were compelled to evacuate the city during the progress of the Austro-German offensive.

Demidovka also Taken.

PETROGRAD. — The Russians have captured Demidovka, fifteen miles west of Dubno.

Russian troops have approached the outskirts of Czernowitz. As they drew near, the official report says, there were numerous explosions caused by the Austrians with the city.

The statement also says that Russian troops attacked the bridgehead at Zalesczky, on the River Dneister thirty miles north of Czernowitz.

Advance 60 Miles.

The Russians continue to advance along the 250-mile line between the Pripet marshes and the Bessarabian frontier. At only one point, on the Styr, east of Rolki, have the Austro-Hungarians been able to check the Russian drive.

At some points the Russians have advanced sixty miles within the last week.

Captures Total 113,000.

The official statement follows:

"Owing to storms in south Russia and consequent temporary rupture of telegraphic communication, reports are delayed and news of our armies is restricted. Nevertheless, it is confirmed that General Brussiloff's offensive continued Monday. In many sectors of the front we are still pursuing the defeated enemy, and in some places we attacked him hotly. He counterattacked with desperation.

"The total of our prisoners now amounts to 1,700 officers and 113,000 men."

The official Russian statement of Sunday gave the total number of prisoners as about 108,000.

German Forces Rally.

BERLIN. — Russian troops attempted to advance northeast of Buczacz, Galicia, and were repulsed, the war office announces. More than 1,300 Russians were captured.

THREE WOUNDED IN FUED

MAUSTON, WIS. — John Vilas a farmer, his wife and two-month-old baby, were wounded at a neighbor's house, and a posse with bloodhounds is searching for James Kureca, whose farm adjoins that of Villas, following a quarrel between Vilas and Kureca. Mrs. Vilas told officials that Kureca stopped them as they were driving in to town and fired a shotgun four times into the wagon. Vilas is probably dying, having received most of the charge in his abdomen. Mrs. Vilas is seriously wounded in the arm and shoulder and the baby received several shots.

The shooting climaxes a feud a year old which began when Vilas' cattle broke through the line fence into Kureca's field.

A Jury in the Kalamazoo circuit court returned a verdict of not guilty in the case of Harry Irvine, former clerk of the Municipal court charged with embezzlement.

Ross Granger, 14 years city clerk of Ann Arbor, and a resident of the city during the past fifty-seven years will resign and leave July 1 to take up his residence in California.

Petitions were filed at Jackson urging an ordinance to require closing of all pool rooms, and motion picture houses on Sunday and also to prohibit the playing of ball games on the Sabbath.

J. Schmidt, 60, Bay City machinist instantly killed his wife at his home then turned the gun on himself and died immediately. A daughter, Florence, nineteen years old, saw the tragedy.

WHO CAN VOTE?

The question is being asked "Who is entitled to vote at the special school meeting to be held Monday evening?" That all may understand who are the qualified voters, we print the following:

On the question of voting school taxes, every citizen of the United States of the age of twenty-one years, male or female, who owns property which is assessed for school taxes in the district, and who has resided in the district, as above stated, shall be a qualified voter:

Provided, That the purchaser of land upon a land contract, who actually pays the taxes upon such land and resides thereon, may vote upon all questions; and where a husband and wife who own property jointly and same is assessed for school taxes in the school district, each may, if otherwise qualified, vote upon all questions, including the question of raising money. Automobiles not being assessed for school taxes, the owners thereof are not entitled to vote. Persons owning property subject to taxation, but which is wholly exempt under laws of the State, cannot vote

Those who were entitled to a vote at the recent meeting held for the purpose of voting on a bond issue for the new school are entitled to a vote at this meeting. Many have not attended a school meeting in years - make an effort to get out Monday evening. Grange Hall ought to be crowded. This is your business and you don't want to neglect it.

Great Scheme.

"What do you do?" asked the one who had been married only a few months, "when your husband comes home late at night?"

"I pretend not to notice that it's late, and pretty soon he asks me if I wouldn't like to go to the theater or somewhere tomorrow afternoon."

Two of a Kind.

"I hope you liked that pudding, Mr S.," said the stern mother-in-law. "Poor, dear Clara took great pains with it."

"Did she?" exclaimed the son-in-law, with an expressive movement of his hand on his stomach. "So did I."

Consequences.

He—My first wife never objected to wearing the same suit two seasons. In fact, she never objected to anything.

She—I suppose not. After she had lived with you for awhile she didn't even object to dying. — Richmond Times-Dispatch.

Too Simple.

Salesman—That car is simplicity itself. A baby could run it.

Pitching a Camp Tent.

The spot where your tent is to stand should be open. Have it as close to the woods as you wish, but so that the sun will shine on your tent. Sunlight is the healthiest thing in the world. It is the best disinfectant. If you pitch your tent under the thick trees there will always be an unhealthy dampness and mosquitoes will flock in. Then too, in thunderstorms there is less danger in the open than under trees. The all important reason, however, for pitching your tent in the open is the matter of health.

Do not put up the tent in a hollow. Water will lodge under it with the first shower. Set it on a little knoll. All this holds good whether you use an A tent, wall tent, lean to or any other sort of shelter. Once the tent is up in place dig a drain around it exactly under the edge of the canvas, so that all the water will run off the tent into this drain and be carried away. — Peter Johnson in St. Nicholas.

Persian Words Naturalized.

Regarding the Persian language, we all have a few words from that source in our vocabularies, although we may not be aware of our indebtedness. There are about a dozen words in the English dictionary which trace to Persia, the most common being perhaps "orange" (although this was thought by some to be derived from the Latin "aurum"—gold). "Sash," meaning a ribbon or band (the "sash" of a window is the Latin "capsa"), "shawl" and "taffeta" are other Persian words which have become thoroughly acclimatized, as have "chess," "caravan," "lilac," "dervish" and "lac," while "emerald" and "indigo," "azure," "bazaar," "jackal," "musk," "paradise" and "scimitar" have also been traced to the same source. — London Opinion.

Baring the Feet at Worship.

In India Hindus and Mussulmans alike wear both sandals and shoes (slippers) and the latter boots also, but the invariable rule is to remove them after entering a private house just when stepping on to the mat or carpet on which the visitor takes his seat. They must be cast off, the right boot or shoe first, before the worshiper enters a temple or mosque, and it is still regarded as an absolute profanation to attempt to enter either fully shod. But the domestic habit arose out of its obvious propriety, and the religious ritual of "the shoes of the faithful" now and for centuries past observed throughout Islam, can be demonstrated to have been dictated by, if indeed it be not derived directly from, the universal social etiquette of the east.

As Usual.

Ended were the gay days of the honeymoon, and the newly married couple had come back, crossing the threshold of their new home as man and wife.

Just inside the doorway the man paused, drew his bride closely to him and whispered: "This is our world darling. In it we will try to accomplish great things."

He was proved a true prophet by subsequent events.

Within three months they were fighting for the world's championship.- London Telegraph.

Clever Man.

With a sigh she laid down the magazine article upon Daniel O'Connell. "The day of great men," she said, "is gone forever."

"But the day of beautiful women is not," he responded.

She smiled and blushed. "I was only joking," she explained hurriedly.

Robert Newton, sixty-five years old, Hastings pioneer, has dropped dead of apoplexy at his home.

Did His Best.

The young politician was as obliging as possible, but there was a limit to his possibilities. When the reporter asked him what his wife would wear at the mayor's reception he assumed a confidential air.

"I'll tell you just as much as I know myself," he said. "Last night she told me she should wear white. This morning at breakfast she said she'd decided on her rose colored gown, and when I said goodby to her she had spread a gray one beside the rose colored on one chair and her black lace beside the white on another and was taking something else out of the closet. If her hair hadn't caught on a hook as she turned round I might have been able to tell you more."

The Elusive Fly.

Any one who has tried with outstretched hand to catch a fly cannot fail to have noticed its wonderful alertness in escaping. "One reason for this," explains a naturalist, "is the fact that the fly was watching the movements of its would be captor out of all or most of its 8,000 eyes. Another reason for its rapid retreat is that, instead of seeing one hand coming toward it, the fly would have seen at least 7,500 hands all looking alike and all moving down upon it in the same direction. A third reason of the fly's nimbleness is its ability to vibrate its wings nearly 700 times in a second and to travel through the air at a rate of a mile in two and a half minutes or twenty-four miles an hour."

England's Most Beautiful Village.

When Sir John Gorst succeeded his brother in his Wiltshire property he became the owner of what is held, in the west country at any rate, to be the most beautiful village in England. All visitors to Bath are supposed to have misused their opportunities unless they have been to Castle Combe, and indeed the sweet little place is so extensively visited, although it is five and a half miles from any railway, that during the summer months provision is made on the last day of the week for from 800 to 1,000 trippers. The surrounding scenery is not less picturesque than the village itself, and to those who are interested in such matters there is also the attraction of a long history. The church of Castle Combe, which is ancient, has been restored without being spoiled.—Westminster Gazette.

GREAT CHANGE IS SEEN BY SMITH

"I have suffered from rheumatism for the past two years and, at times, the pain was so bad that I could hardly stand it. I would have severe, darting pains in my back and sides and these would often keep me awake at night. In damp weather these pains would be worse and I would be all crippled up, making it unsafe for me to climb around at my work. I lost my appetite and became nervous. My system was all run down.

"I decided to try Tanlac because I had heard so many people say it had helped them. I was agreeably pleased at the quick and beneficial results I got from a few doses of Tanlac. It improved my condition at once. I am now feeling better every day. My rheumatism is much better and my whole system has been built up in every way. I sleep well. I am full of life and energy all the time."

Knew There Were Fairies.

The Woman Who Saw has a little friend with wide open eyes and long brown curls. Sometimes when the Woman Who Saw is at her little friend's house and the other members of the family happen to be out of the room—there is a chance for delightful little conferences. The Woman Who Saw always tries to make such opportunities, and she made one on her last visit.

Her little wild eyed friend had been watching for it too. In a flash she lighted upon the arm of the sofa and whispered into the ear of the woman: "Do you know, there are fairies! Because"—excitedly—"last night I made a little swing for them on my desk, such a wee little swing, out of the tiniest, tiniest pieces of sticks and cobwebs. And—this morning the swing was all broken! And that shows that the fairies swung in it last night, doesn't it?"

The Woman Who Saw longed suddenly for that volume of Hans Christion Andersen and the window looking out upon the orchard—long ago.—New York Evening Sun.

His Palindrome.

A tourist traveling with a party of friends was seized with a sudden illness and was compelled to remain for some hours in a hotel. He insisted that the others must go out and enjoy the day and said that he would spend a few hours composing a palindrome—a sentence the letters of which are in the same order whether read forward or backward.

"All right," said one of the party, "but you'll never beat the sign I saw in a country store when I was a boy and red root was in some demand:

"RED ROOT PUT UP TO ORDER."

When the party returned the sick man's face wore a triumphant smile as he handed the following lines to his friend:

To prove him to a doubting maid,
Ned a bold, dangerous task essayed,
And when he came in triumph home
She answered with a palindrome,
Ere half his fervent plea was done,
"Now, Ned, I am a maiden won."

—Youth's Companion.

Louis Werstein, Battle Creek, shot his friend W. Skinner, a young haberhasher, through the head, as the latter stepped off a train, then he went home and killed his wife and then himself. Jealousy is supposed to have been the cause of the shooting.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Bait Casting

The season is on now. You can catch Bass—if you use some of my fine baits. A few don'ts for the novice:

Don't stand up in the boat when casting. Don't cast for distance. Don't forget to strike your fish when he strikes. Don't reel to fast while fishing and don't hurry your fish to the boat—let him have his own time and way until he gets tired. Don't fail to keep your line tight. Don't get excited—what's that? Can't help it? Neither can I. JUST GO FISHING and don't forget I carry a fine line of tackle.

NOTICE TO SCHOOL DISTRICT NO 7

To the voters and taxpayers of school district No. 7; The School Board has called a meeting for next Monday night to decide one of the most, if not the most, important question School District No. 7 has ever been confronted with viz: the selection of a site for our new School building.

In our consideration of this question, let us look at the proposition fairly and without prejudice, and thus come to a conclusion that in years after we can [illegible] No. 7 made no mistake in her choice of a school site.

In the first place, we are all sorry we have not available in our village a whole block whereon we could build our fine new $75000 00 School House but as we are not so blessed, we must make the best out of what we have, and we trust, whichever site is finally chosen, that it will meet the approval of all concerned.

The building we are about to erect, will probably serve our children and our childrens children, hence the importance of looking into the future far enough, while we are considering the matter.

By way of explanation, we would like to say a word to the members of the School Board and the members of the Commerce Club relative to our present stand in this matter.

When the different sites for the School Building was first explained, a good many voters, understood that in order to use the Central School Building grounds, we would have to buy the following property to wit; Mrs. Hoag's house and lot, a part of Mr. Ed Holdway's lot, a part of Mr. Ed Gillen's lot, a part of all of C. M Gilbert's lot and Mr and Mrs. George Chaplin's house and lot.

This would necessitate an expenditure of $5000 00 or more, while in reality the facts as we see them are, and later will be shown, that we need to buy only the house and lot of Mr. and Mrs. Geo Chaplin.

To tell you how our plans were brought about, will necessitate taking you back to the beginning, and show you step by step, our method of procedure and how we come to decide on the old site we favor, and the site we believe you will favor, when it is thoroughly understood by you. Should you not agree with us when you have heard both sides of the question discussed there will be no hard feelings on our part for what the majority want we want

The matter of choosing a site as you know has been under discussion some few days, and several interested taxpayers of the district went down to look over the different sites that had been most talked of viz: Military Park, Brewer s old foundry site and the Central School Building grounds.

After looking them all over carefully, taking rough measurements of the grounds, it was the unanimous opinion of all present that the site where the present Central Building stands was by far the best.

A meeting was arranged then and there to be called later in the day and more interested voters were invited in, when the matter could be discussed more freely and ways and means devised for putting the proposition before the voters of the District, so when it come time to vote they might do it intelligently

A sketch of the present school grounds was made, showing that the New Building could be built by placing it on the south side of the present building by acquiring the land of Mr and Mrs. Chaplin which has a frontage of 100 feet by 200 feet deep. This would give us a lot 350x200 a lot ample for placing our new building on as we will attempt to show you by the plans we have drawn and will be exhibited at the meeting in the Grange Hall

The old grounds measure 250x200 feet and contains 50,000 sq. ft. while the additional purchase of 100x200 from Chaplins would add to the 50000 sq. ft 20,000 sq. ft more making our new lot contain 70000 sq ft in all

"Comparisons are odious," some one has said but to bring out what we wish too, and impress it upon your minds we want to give you the following figures and let you draw your own conclusions

We are creditably informed that the site the School Board advocates is 204x212 feet and contains 43248 sq ft while our old school site as it now stands contains 50,000 sq ft or 6752 sq. ft more than the Brewer site By purchasing the Chaplin lot we would add 20000 sq. ft. more to our old site making a total of 70000 sq ft or an equivalent of 26752 sq. ft. more than in the Brewer location. This would make the old school site practically nearly twice as large as the Brewer site.

This is only one advantage to our minds and many others might be added for instance the building could be constructed facing due west and parallel the street instead of setting diagonally as proposed on the Brewer lot and also made necessary if put on a triangular lot; again, several thousand dollars could be saved in the purchase price, again, a saving in expense of putting in walks, as the main walks on the old site are now in, again, the growing of beautiful shade trees is another important matter, again, safety first, afforded our little ones in going to and from school, if the new building was placed on the old site and last but not least the saving to the tax payers in money—but as our taxes are not very cumbersome here in Tecumseh perhaps that matter would not appeal to most of you of any great importance

Remember, fellow citizens, also if you vote for the Brewer site you are voting to close Shawnee street between the Brewer site and Military Square and further bear in mind if the village council attempt to close Shawnee street rumor has it that the matter will reach the courts

Be the latter rumor or what not, do the safe thing and vote to place the new building where it will look best, do the most good, to posterity, be away from the dust noise, smoke, and foul odor of the stock yards and avoid robbing the citizens who live in the north eastern part of town, privilege of using Shawnee street when they want too

Do you want any streets closed around your house? Think it over, vote as your best judgement directs and thus serve the best interests of your district. Your committee has no axe to grind in this matter nor no favorisin to show.

Someone has said, we want the new building placed where it will show we say we are not building a building for show but for practical every day education to better-fit our boys and girls for life work on the efficiency first plan.

The above statement does not mean that our school house won't be a thing of beauty either, but it does mean that the purpose we are spending so much money for is to better our educational facilties in Tecumseh and when we have [illegible], we have done all.

Come out, every taxpayer, and express yourself one way or the other on this important question, then after the site is chosen, don't kick.

THE COMMITTEE.

NOTICE OF SPECIAL SCHOOL MEETING

Notice is hereby given that a special meeting of School District No. 7, in the Township of Tecumseh, County of Lenawee and State of Michigan, will be held at 7:30 o'clock p. m on the 19th day of June, A. D 1916, at the Grange Hall in the Village of Tecumseh, county and state aforesaid:

That the business to come before the meeting is to consider and determine upon the purchase of that parcel of land in said Village of Tecumseh, bounded North, Northeasterly and East by a curved street commonly known as the northern extension of Ottawa street; South by Shawnee street and West by a street commonly known as Mill street, or some portion thereof, as a site for the erection of the new school house in said district; and to provide for the purchase of the same by taxation.

By order of the Board of Education of said School District.

J. H. SMITH,
Pres. of said Board.
C F. PATTERSON,
Sec of said Board.

BARGAIN DAY NO. 3

Again rain issued in our Bargain day and until sundown, one shower followed after another but the sunset was glorious and the evening proved a pleasant one Owing to the rain there was no afternoon performance and but few people came in from the country. In the evening the farmers and their familes came in town and our streets were full of people

The Milan band furnished some fine music during the evening. At 8 o'clock the entertainment began, and was certainly one of the best ever given in Tecumseh and those who stayed at home missed a great treat

The first on the program was given by an extremely fat woman and a very lean man and consisted of singing, dancing and dialogue which at times was decidedly funny and kept the crowd in peals of laughter.

The second was an acrobatic performance by a family consisting of father, mother, and two children and was very good indeed

The trapese acting was unusually good and was much enjoyed by the crowd With the weatherman on our side we hope to have a big crowd on next Wednesday

DANCE AT WAMPLER'S LAKE

The opening dance at Wampler's lake Thursday night attracted a large crowd from Tecumseh quite a number going over in autos It is estimated that about 100 couples took part in the dance and a fine time is reported

All of our Tecumseh crowd arrived home safely except one car which came to grief after they had arrived home. The accident occurred in front of Geo Sisson's at about 10:30 o'clock when the car collided with a telephone pole From reports this morning we learn that the pole is still standing, but the Ford car is somewhat worse for wear No one was seriously injured.

Come to Tecumseh Wednesday, A snappy vaudeville entertainment both afternoon and evening, also a band concert in the evening, June 21st. Bargain specials at all the stres. adv

HENRY MARSH

Duaine Service was called to Adrian Wednesday by the death of Henry Marsh who passed away at the county infirmary Tuesday. The body was brought here Wednesday and the funeral was held from the home of his nephew Harry Marsh at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon with burial on the family lot in Brookside cemetery.

Henry Marsh was born April 13, 1841, and passed away June 14, 1916. He has been a resident of Tecumseh nearly all his life, until a few weeks ago when he was taken to Adrian. He has been a familiar figure upon our streets and a faithful friend to the family of his nephew Harry where he has made his home for a number of years.

SUN BROTHERS' CIRCUS

An unprecedented attraction with the Sun Brothers' Great Tented Shows, this season, is the introduction at every performance of Herr Klotz's herd of tango and pantomimic elephants. These jungle giants give imitations of a brass band, dance the latest tangos and turkey trots, stand on their heads, play base ball and bowl ten pins; they walk ropes and perform many other equally amusing and difficult tricks. They are truthfully advertised as the most wonderful elephants today in America.

Besides, this elephantine display, the other attractions are all of a high grade character and serves to introduce the leading foreign and American artists. "Tango Bill," the $10,000 high school horse, also appears at every performance. This beautiful equine is handled and performed by Mlle. Kelland, the well known New York horse woman.

The Sun Show will exhibit at Tecumseh, June 20 presenting two complete and unabridged performances. Afternoon and night. The usual free exhibitions will be offered on the show grounds at 12:30 p. m., and this season these are again all new and of a highly original kind.

Many Tecumseh People Have Kidney Trouble and Do Not Know It.

Do you have backache?
Are you tired and worn out?
Feel dizzy, nervous and depressed?
Are the kidney secretions irregular?
Highly colored, contain sediment?
Likely your kidneys are at fault.
Weak kidneys give warning of distress.
Heed the warning; don't delay—
Read this Tecumseh testimony.

George Chaplin, [illegible] N. Ottawa St., Tecumseh, says: "My kidneys were disordered and made me miserable. Knowing of several people in this vicinity who had used Doan's Kidney Pills with success, I got a supply of Doan's Kidney Pills at Wright & Sons Drug Store and began using them. The results were very satisfactory. I am in hopes that other kidney sufferers will profit by reading of my experience."

AFTER A RELAPSE OF OVER THREE YEARS, Mr. Chaplin said: "I willingly confirm the statement I gave befre praising Doan's Kidney Pills. They always act just as represented."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Chaplin has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y. adv

A GENERAL SURVEY OF THE WAR.

Wednesday, June 7.—German official statement claims the capture of Fort Vaux six miles from Verdun.

The Russian offensive, said to be participated in by 1,000,000 troops, is still gaining in Bessarbia. In a new drive the Russians claim the capture of 15,000 men, bringing the total result of the drive to 900 officers, 40,000 men, seventy-seven guns, 134 machine guns and forty-nine bomb-throwers.

Rome reports Austrian attacks in the Tyrol checked

Thursday, June 8.—Petrograd reports further gains on the Bessarabian front extending 275 miles, in places to a depth of 20 miles. Vienna admits the Russian gain by reporting the Austrian forces have fallen back to new positions. Fort Lutsk and all the strong Volhynia positions have fallen into the hands of the Slavs. The number of prisoners has now reached over 50,000, Perograd claims.

Paris admits the loss of Fort Vaux, but claims the French still hold the approaches and outskirts to the citadel.

Berlin admits the loss of two additional battle cruisers in the North Sea battle, and declares the British lost two more cruisers not reported. Berlin states that the loss of the two ships by the Germans was withheld for "military reasons."

Friday, June 9.—Russians continue their successes in Volhynia and Galicia, breaking the Austrian front for a stretch of ninety miles, driving the enemy back thirty seven miles and capturing 14,000 more prisoners.

Germans began a general attack on the right bank of the Meuse near Verdun and pierced the French lines in one place.

Greece ordered the demobilization of the army of 150,000 under pressure by the entente allies, who threatened a blockade because of the Greek negotiations with Bulgarians and Germans.

Saturday, June 10.—The Russian offensive in Volhynia and Galicia is continuing to push westward, daily assuming new phases, with rear guard actions being fought with retreating Austrian forces. In Galicia, northeast of Tarnopol, the Austrian defense is apprently stiffening, heavy fighting being reported there for the heights, which have changed hands several times. The Russian's claim to have taken 72,000 prisoners.

The German war office announces gains southwest of Fort Douaumont and west of Fort Vaux, with the capture of 100 men and 22 machine guns.

Sunday, June 11.—The Russian drive into Galicia, which began less than two weeks ago, has assumed the propositions of the greatest offensive movement of the war. Since the Czar's army began its advance in Volhynia toward the Styr and Strypa rivers it has captured 108,000 men, the war office announces. The surrender of 409 officers and 35,000 men in fight Saturday is reported, together with thirty guns and a great quantity of booty.

The British minister to Greece in the name of the allies presented to the Greek government the demands constituting the conditions upon which the blockade will be raised.

Three German infantry attacks against the French trenches on Hill 304 and the position east of that elevation, in the Verdun sector, were completely checked by the French troops, says the official statement issued at the war department.

"BE SQUARE"

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES HELD AT THE OPERA HOUSE FRIDAY EVENING

Class of 1916, [illegible] bow as a Class at the Opera House, Friday evening. The class day exercises and the graduating exercises were merged this year.

The stage was trimmed with the class colors green and silver and presented a very atractive appearance. Branches of syringa covered the rails of the orchestra and the stage back of the foot lights. A lattice work entwined with roses and syringa made a very pleasant setting for the graduates and Supt. Reed and Rev. Hewitt and Hartzog.

The High School orchestra furnished the opening and closing numbers, which were received in a very enthusiastic manner.

The program was largely in the hands of the class and was carried out as per program which appeared in our last issue of the Herald.

While the class was only 14 in number, and one of the smaller in the High school for years, still as stated by Supt. Reed there were no blanks. Usually a class graduating has some members who have just squeezed through but we are told that through but we are told that this class graduated with good standings and honors. We will not comment on the individual papers of the class, as we print them in this issue, suffice to say we are proud of the class of 1916.

The musical numbers outside the members of the class a duet by Miss Edna Taylor and Harold Lowry was rendered in a pleasing manner and called out a hearty encore. Dauine Service appeared with a violin solo and received most enthusiastic encores, which were certainly well merited, as it was rendered as only he can render music. The invocation was given by Rev. W. A. Rex and the benediction by Rev. Hewitt.

In presenting the diplomas, Supt. Reed paid special tribute to the class and lauded them for the good work they had done.

He stated that he would not give them the advise that graduates usually received, but one point he and the class had tried to overcome but their efforts had been a failure, that point was that the class should have been twice as large.

SALUTATORY

Camilla Hayden.

Friends, we're very glad to greet you, one and all, this evening, and we wish you to feel that you are most cordially welcome on this night of nights, on this to us most important occasion. But in welcoming you we are going to ask that you be lenient and not criticize our simple attempts at the creation of literature. For if you had been watching over and waiting for a little rose-bush to develop from a seed into a budding bush, you surely would not criticize the way in which each tiny bud unfolds itself, would you? Well, we, this group of boys and girls before you, the class of 1916 is very much like that little rose-bush,-Oh, pray do not think we would flatter ourselves,-but as the rose is the culmination of a tiny seed in a beautiful flower, so is the graduation of this class, the blooming of a flower that has been germinating for twelve long years.

It was, indeed, just twelve years ago that this seed was one day carefully and tenderly placed in the warm, rich soil of that garden called Education. Let us, then, trace the progress of the child when first placed in school, as the development and growth of a seed placed in the ground. We have said a seed was placed there one day, twelve years ago, where it was left for a while to accustom itself to its new home and perchance a play with the other small seeds. It wasn't very pleasant at first, either, away down there in the dark, but gradually our little friend grew to like it, for really 'twas very nice and warm, you see and all one had to do for the live-long day was simply to eat and sleep and play. Very soon, though, after he had become thoroughly acclimated and had begun to look around a bit, he noticed that his playmates weren't quite like himself. He couldn't tell why, but they certainly didn't look the same. He looked them up and down, down and up, and all around before it dawned upon him that these other wee brown seeds had little green shoots, which seemed always to be pushing and squirming and trying so hard to climb up, up, always up. Our little seed was quite amused at first and considered it all a huge joke, but the more he looked and laughed, the more interested he became and finally he began inquiring why his friends had such funny green tails, why they were everlastingly climbing and where indeed were they climbing to? But couldn't he have some little green tails, too, and please couldn't he climb along with them?

Yes! Yes! he was assured. Of course he could! Of course he could! All the little green tails he wanted! And climb just as high he wanted! And where did they go? Ah, that was the best of all!

He was told how he would grow and grow until finally he would push his way up into the world, above the lovliest place imaginable, with green every where about him excepting o'er head where 'twould be all blue, with warm sunshine and cooling showers. And instead of being a mere brown speck, he would become a fragrant flower with a beautiful rosy face, swaying to and fro on a long slendor stem and making all happy who chanced to pass his way.

That sounded too good to be true and it didn't take our little seed very long to decide he wanted to become a flower and add his bit of beauty and fragrance to that of the world, so he began immediately to put forth little green shoots. Every day he was given a most refreshing drink of A B C's and every day Gardener fed him reading and writing and 'rithmetic. He progressed rapidly on this diet, and soon lots of green shoots appeared and climb—My, how they did climb!

After a time Gardener gave him different drink and many more things to eat by all such peculiar names as geography, history and spelling. And sometimes, yes we regret to say it, but sometimes that little sprouting seed was very naughty and would not grow at all ! and then Gardener who had several names, one Miss Cowan, one Miss Caldwell, and the one which he remembered the longest Miss Wimple, was obliged to poke the young shirker with a stick which she called the ruler and sometimes had to apply a long wiggly thing termed, 'the rubber hose.'

On the whole, however, the little seed was very good and finally one bright day, a tender green shoot pushed its way out of the darkness into the gay world above. It was all true! How lovely! and Oh, how glad he was to be here at last! All warm and green and sweet—Oh, if only he were taller so he could see more! It was a real pleasure to climb, now, for there was inspiration on every hand; the flowers beckoning and nodding their beautiful heads, the clear blue sky above, the birds twittering and caroling in the trees, the drowsy hum of bees, and too, an element of mystery which seemed to pervade all, and manifested itself in such peculiar songs as "The Forms of 'Be' Never Take an Object!"

Our wee, brown seed has become a thrifty, hardy plant, growing and broadening in the garden of Knowledge, and the broader he grows, the broader he wants to grow and the more beautiful he is the more beautiful he wishes to be, for he is coming to realize as he grows and learns and looks about him, how very trival he is in this vast garden. How many byways, paths and springs there still lie hidden, and yet how important it is that small though his part may be, and loogs about him, how very trivial ty in order not to mar the unity and beauty of the whole.

So our seed has grown into full-blown bush with fourteen opening buds upon its branches. We are that bush and we are fourteen buds ready to be plucked by you to contribute our share towards keeping this world the beautiful garden it is. And as the opening buds of the little rose-bush are so joyously welcomed and cherished by those who watched over and guarded it as it grew, so are we waiting, now, to be welcomed by you the fathers and mothers and friends, who have watched over and guarded us in our growth from the tiny seed to the flower about to bloom this evening. For 'tis with your welcome that we are ready to commence, tonight, with the song of Browning's Pippa, in our hearts,—

"The Year is at Spring,
The Day is at morn,
The morning's at seven,
The hill-side's dew-pearled;
The lark's on the wing,
The snail's on the thorn;
God's in his Heaven,
All's right with the world!"

And a right hearty and cordial welcome to you all!

CLASS HISTORY

Gordon E. Bachmann.

One score less two years ago our fathers brought forth on this continent a new class, conceived in liberty and dedicated to the proposition that they should graduate from Tecumseh High School.

For the last four years we have been engaged in a great mental struggle, testing whether this class do this, but in a larger sense we can dedicated shall long endure. We have met in the class room for this struggle and each day we have come forth victorious. We are met here tonight to dedicate a portion of that victory as the final resting place for those who gave their E's that this class might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this, but in a larger sense we can not forget, we cannot regret, we can but continue this.

The brave teachers, living and dead who taught us here, have given us marks far beyond our poor power to add or detract.

These four years are marked by many great deeds. The school will little note nor long remember what we said in them, but it never can forget what we did in them. It is for us rather to complete the unfinished task that has thus far been so nobly carried on.

It is for us rather to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us, that from these four years of tedious study we take increased devotion and we here highly resolve, "That this work shall not have been done in vain," "That this town under our inspiration have a new school system" and "That this class of 1916 shall not perish from the earth."

CLASS PROPHECY

Winnifred Mitchell.

Once upon a midnight dreary,
While I pondered weak and weary,
Over many quaint and curious volume
Of forgotten lore,
While I nodded nearly napping,
Suddenly there came a tapping
As of some one gently rapping,
Rapping at my chamber door

Then the silken, sad, uncertain
Rustling of each purple curtain
Thrilled me, filled me with fantastic
Terror never felt before.
So that now to still the beating
Of my heart, I stood repeating
" 'Tis some visitor entreating
Entrance at my chamber door."

Presently my soul grew stronger,
Hesitating then no longer,
"Sir," said I "Or madam, truly
Your business I implore,
Why do you while I am napping.
Come so gently with your tapping.
Tapping at my chamber door?"

"Don't be frightened I implore you,"
And he opened wide the door,
"I'm a prophet, nothing more"

"Prophet," I said, "Of good or evil,
Help me out of this upheaval.
Tell me, tell me what my class
Is destined for"
Quoth the prophet slowly, sadly,
While I listened very gladly.
"While you're dreaming, dreaming,
I will tell you more"

Thus spoke the prophet in a weird and dreamy voice:

In far away India lives one member of your class whose deeds of mercy have made her famous even in this country There Norma Woody will always stay for she loves her people and they in turn love her because of the wonderful teachings she has made known to them

"If she will, she will and you may depend on it;
If she won't, she won't and there's an end on it"

Jason Meads is very famous for the message he is bringing to the minds of the people of Manchester. Every Sunday morning he may be seen in his pulpit welcoming the people of his church. His strong arm upholds them and his smiling face encourages them during every trial and tribulation

"Surely he has the strength of a Samson."

Now, of the musician of your class, Camilla Hayden, there are astonishing reports Crowds of people bow before her, the wizard of the piano, but she is the same "Sunny Jim" to her old friends After extensive study abroad, quenching her desire to "see more," she has returned to America an accomplished pianist and can fairly keep her audience spell bound by the floods of melody from her finger tips She still admires curly hair but has decided to sacrifice everything for her career, and I predict even greater success for her in the future.

"To see her is to love her,
To love but her forever
For Nature made her what she is,
And never made another."

But strange to relate, Burton Garlinghouse has not developed along the lines you would expect when you consider his high school life which did not proclaim him a very accomplished athlete Now any day in the week you may see his robust figure clad in a base ball suit, ready for a fight with the Tigers He is sought after by all base ball fans and is most popular among the young ladies of New York, Chicago and all the large cities of the United States Long may he continue in his good work!

"But the wonder is that one head could contain so much"

The play which the Seniors gave, namely "Mr Bob," created a desire in the heart of Ruth Kotts which she has been able to carry out. The movies are always well attended when Kitty is on the screen for all the men fall in love with her fair beauty She is now a star in some of the best plays and is seen in all the large cities like Britton, Clinton, Macon and Dundee.

"A daughter of the Gods, divinely tall and most divinely fair"

Anyone approaching the business establishment of Lloyd Aebersold is surprised by the deathly stillness that pervades everything Entering the door one can readily see that it is a school, but it seems so strange that there is no class reciting or no noise due to the busy lips of school children. Apparently Lloyd is exceedingly happy in this sphere of work On leaving the school the mysterious silence can easily be solved for over the door is a sign reading "School for Deaf and Dumb, Prof Lloyd Aebersold head instructor"

During her entire high school life, Eunice of the flaming hair was very interested in stylish dressing She is still following up this line of work. All the ladies of the upper four hundred in New York think their gowns are not just right unless designed by Mademoiselle Orr

"Her voice is ever soft, gentle and low an excellent thing in a woman"

And the baby of the class is also distinguishing himself. True to the name of Carlyle he is turning out yards of literature each day.

"And Nature has stamped upon his brow a gentleman"

His immense work requires able help and Metta Stewart fills the position of his secretary very creditably Their business study together during their last year of high school made them congenial companions in their present work Of Metta it could be said,

Gordon Bachmann, by the strength of his strong arm, is doing immense good to humanity After careful study he has acquired the title of Dr. Bachmann and has an extensive practice in the large town of Little Hope There isn't a man, woman or child in that town who will have any other doctor do their dental work. Let us hope this overwhelming popularity will not turn his head.

"Contentment is a pearl of great price"

Meek little Mary Bloomer has changed and is now at the head of one of the leading movements of the time, namely "Swat the Fly." She travels all the time lecturing and distributing literature to further this movement and great success follows her everywhere

"She is so shy that every motion blushes at itself."

The Quaker of the class is in an interesting position for behind a huge peanut stand at Coney Island you may see the handsome figure of Parker Comfort almost completely surrounded by pretty girls for he still "loves the ladies."

"He was so gentle and the elements so mixed in him that Nature might rise up and say to all the world this is a man"

At a nearby stand is Ethel McIntyre selling chewing gum She also is surrounded by an admiring crowd but "her modesty is a candle to her merit." Her daily profits often surpasses Parker's, and after their customers have gone they usually exchange friendly words. The exciting life suits them exactly and they will probably continue it for many years jointly or otherwise.

Coming at length to the future of Winnifred Mitchell—

Then I awoke with feeling most uncertain
And I looked toward the purple curtain,
For the room was filled with stillness
Never felt before;
And I knew that I'd been dreaming,
And these thoughts that had been streaming
Could have no definite meaning
Of what our class is destined for—
I was dreaming, only dreaming,
Nothing more

GIFTATORY

Ruth Kotts

Our days are done and Commencement
Is why we are here tonight,
And these gifts we are handing downward
Before we take our flight.

I see before me a Mitchell
Gleams through the rain and the mist;
Now Gordon, I'll give this to you.
For your soul cannot resist

Lloyd, after long days of labor
And nights devoid of ease,
I'll give you "The Silent Woman"
And I know she is sure to please

I can hear the click of the keys
While Metta is at work;
She is always faithful to her job
And her work she never shirks.

Such a gift has power to quiet
The restless pulse of care;
"Babe" this is your benediction,
In the future do not despair.

When the lights go out and darkness
Falls on your machine,
Take this candle, Parker,
Your way may then be seen.

Burton, here's "Bringing up Lizzie;"
While reading we trust you'll be fair,
For there is good advice and much wisdom,
Please follow the teaching with care

Not from the grand old master,
Camilla, this gift so fine,
But surely with this iron
It will be "Curly" all the time.

I see your school in the distance.
It is located by a church
These rods, they will come in handy,
For Norma, they are made of birch

A feeling of sadness comes o'er me
When your voice I hear you strain.
Ethel, accept this megaphone
And from shouting please refrain

Oft we hear of a lamb with Mary,
'Tis a sign that she is meek;
Miss Bloomer, take this lamb, dear,
I have never heard you speak.

Your hair is thick and curly
That covers your entire head;
Jason, please take this ribbon
Tie it up when you go to bed.

Eunice, your love for the fashions
Is somewhat extreme, we'll say.
Preserve this book with greatest care,
The styles won't always stay.

Winnie, take this rope, dear,
And tie the Gordion knot,
For Gordon is a "Bachy Mann"
So tie him on the spot

And now each gift has been given
And my cares for the day are done,
So quickly I'll withdraw
With "Good Night" to everyone.

WIDOW OF ASTOR IS WED TO OLD FRIEND

Gives up Income on $5,000,000, but Still Rich.

New York, June 19.—Mrs. Madeleine Force Astor, widow of Colonel John Jacob Astor, who lost his life in the Titanic disaster four years ago, was married in Bar Harbor, Maine, to William K. Dick, vice-president of the Manufacturers' Trust company, and member of a family long identified with the sugar refining industry.

Mr. Dick and his bride will go to the west, returning in about a month, and will make their home at Islip, one of Long Island's fashionable colonies. Mr. Dick is twenty-eight years old, four years older than Mrs. Astor. They were freinds for many years before Miss Force's marriage to Mr. Astor.

Mrs. Astor, through marriage, will lose the income from a trust fund of $5,000,000, which her husband set aside for her, and also the right to residence in the Astor mansion on Fifth avenue. The trust fund and the house will revert to Mr. Astor's son Vincent, in accordance with the terms of Mr. Astor's will.

Mr. Astor is known to have settled a large sum, estimated as high as $20,000,000, on his wife at the time of their marriage. This sum will not be affected in any way by her marriage to Mr. Dick. At any rate, Mr. Dick is himself a millionaire, his fortune being between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000.

IF YOU HAVEN'T A MIND YOU CAN'T CHANGE IT.

The results of the school meeting held Monday night proved conclusivly that the people of the district did not want to purchase the Brewer site for a location of our new school. While the discussions were animated, we feel that the speakers were sincere and that no personalities entered into the proposition.

This is as it should be. A public question of this nature should be decided entirely on its merits. The Herald is decidedly opposed to dragging into this school question any personal matter against any one person or set of persons. It never helps a worthy cause but always hinders.

We feel that the school board stands ready to please the people and now that the people have expressed themselves, stand ready to call a meeting to decide any reasonable site that the people want whenever they ask for a call.

The Herald suggests that a petition be prepared at the earliest possible moment to be presented to the Board, favoring the old site with additional land, sufficient for the needs of the school.

It would be folly to build our new building on the present site without more land, so let us be liberal in this matter and provide a site that we as citizens will always be proud of, and by all means center your building in the plot of ground you purchase.

A lot 350ft. by 350 ft. would be none too large. Don't make the mistake of making it too small.

We voted against the Brewer site for the reason that the proposed site, in our opinion, was too small and that additional land could not be obtained without closing some street which surrounded it.

We have been criticised no doubt by some because we changed our minds on this site, for on the start we did favor the Brewer site, but as we studied it more it became clear in our minds that this location was too small unless a street in front or back was closed and it would be impossible for us to honestly vote for it.

The question of cost had nothing to do with our opinion as we would vote for a $5,000 or $10,000 expenditure, if necessary, to provide extra land for this new school. We are not building for a day or a year, but for 50 or 60 years, therefore we need to provide an adequate site.

If you haven't a mind you can't change it so we have no regrets in regard to our vote on the proposition. You will always find us on the side we feel that is for the best interests of Tecumseh.

Let us bury the hatchet if we have dug it up, and get down to business so that we may settle the site and build our school at the earliest possible moment.

A Japanese "Comic."

"After scanning a Japanese comic for a few minutes," says a writer in Cartoons Magazine, "one might conclude that the mystic Jap hasn't a greatly different viewpoint than other folks when his thoughts are immersed in the lighter things of life. Even the time honored, hoary jests of the papa cow and his ever readiness to resent encroachments upon his fenced domain or peace of mind find places in the funny pages of Japan's publications, as they still do in ours. Quite a typical example of Japanese comic page material, and one which uses this very theme, is represented in a strip that appeared not long ago in Osaka Puck. Two characters are used—one a fellow of the Opie Dilldock type, and the other an ordinary everyday bull. The former finds it necessary to cross a bridgeless stream. Summoning his wits to his aid he seizes a rock and hurls it at the other's head. Then, grabbing a plank and placing it across that part of his anatomy most logically open to attack, he faces the stream and awaits the impact. The force imparted by the enraged bull lifts him to the opposite bank in the twinkling of an eye. The line beneath the picture reads, 'Now I see that necessity makes invention.'"

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

Bed Sores.

During a long illness in bed the pressure upon the surface of the body is steady, and unless various parts are subjected to pressure bed sores will form from too long continued pressure upon one part. The aged are more liable to have bed sores than younger persons. Those suffering from paralysis are the greatest of all sufferers. It is important to keep the sheet smooth under the patient. A ridge in the sheet will rub a sore into the skin made tender by lying so long in the recumbent position. If the patient is heavy it is not necessary to lift him. Roll him over or ease him up with a pillow three or four times a day. An air cushion is a great protection against bed sores, as well as a resting place for the tired, fretted skin.

All parts exposed to pressure should be bathed with alcohol several times a day. When this has dried dust the locality with talcum powder.

Handsome Is That Handsome Doesn't

The idea that handsome is that handsome does has caused so much trouble ever since it was first sprung upon an unsuspecting world that it is high time it is disposed of. In the first place, if you are really handsome, especially if you happen to be a girl, you don't have to do anything else. As a matter of fact, no beautiful girl ever does anything else. It isn't necessary for her to cook or sew or even talk. All she has to do is to sit still and be loved, and the line usually forms on the right.

If you do a thing, on the other hand, the mere fact that you have done it is supposed to insure your being handsome. What nonsense! If you do the handsome thing it will never be regarded as handsome by the only people whose opinion is worth while, because with them doing the handsome is so usual that it becomes commonplace. If you are homely nothing you do will be handsome.

To do a handsome thing, therefore, always start by being handsome. Then you won't have to do it.—Life.

Quick Wit On the Stage.

Richard Mansfield created the role of Beau Brummel. W. J. Ferguson acted the valet in the original production. In the character of the valet it was Ferguson's place to hand the Beau his gloves, his stick and finally his hat. Upon the opening night he proffered the hat to Mansfield, turned the wrong way around. Had the Beau put on the hat in the way it was handed to him and strolled down Piccadilly or Bond street the faux pas might have created a scandal. When Ferguson discovered his error he turned pale under his makeup.

Mansfield was quick to grasp the situation and with one of his most courtly bows gave the hat back to the valet so that he might turn it around, which Ferguson did with pantomimic apology.

As Mansfield put on the hat and passed out of the door he whispered to Ferguson: "That's a good piece of business. Keep it in."—New York Telegraph.

Enough Said.

A railroad lawyer who has had much to do with human nature says, "Never cross question an Irishman from the old sod." And he gave an illustration from his own experience:

A section hand had been killed by an express train, and his widow was suing for damages. The main witness swore positively that the locomotive whistle had not sounded until after the whole train had passed over his departed friend.

"See here, McGinnis," said I. "You admit that the whistle blew?"

"Yis, sor, it blew, sor."

"Now if that whistle sounded in time to give Michael warning the fact would be in favor of the company, wouldn't it?"

"Yis, sor, and Mike would be testifying here this day."

The jury giggled.—Case and Comment.

Shakespeare Censored.

The dramatic censorship in England today, much as it is abused, is very mild compared to what has been known in former periods when many of Shakespeare's plays have been censored. Colley Cibber in his autobiography tells us of one master of the revels, who was responsible for the licensing of plays in his days, expunging the whole first act of Cibber's adaptation of "Richard III." on the ground that the distresses of H[illegible] VI. would remind weak people of King James, then living in France. On another occasion "King Lear" was inhibited during the illness of George III. George Colman when reader of plays banned the use of such words as "angel" and "heaven."—London Mail.

Simple Job and Fancy Bill.

"Your bill doesn't square with what you told me before I went to the hospital, doctor."

"What's the matter?"

"You insisted that it was to be just a simple little operation and there was nothing at all to be alarmed at."—Detroit Free Press.

The Professor—I'm afraid, my dear young lady, that you find statistics very dry things. The Dear Young Lady—Not always. Lieutenant Smyth told me there were 1,600,000,000 people in the world and that I was the prettiest girl of the lot.—London Opinion.

An Uncanny Custom.

CLASS WILL

Norma Moody.

Now, these are the class of 1916, they are called the tribe of dignity

First born, Norma, daughter of Moody, chief of this mighty tribe.

Then comes, Gordon, son of Bach, daughter of Man, believes that no man can live piously or die righteously without a wife

Fourth, Eunice of the line of Orr, not in the role of common men.

After these Parker, son of Comfort knows now to study, but does it not.

Next Ethel, daughter of M[illegible], son of tyre, speaks words of learned lengths and thundering sounds.

Then comes Metta, descendants of the famous Stuarts

Here appears Burton, son of Garling, daughter of House, all who look thereon wonder and his fame spreads abroad throughout the land,

Then Mary, daughter of Bloomer toils much but seldom speaks

And last, Winnifred, daughter of Mitchell, shuns those who care to dwell only in the synagague

So all the tribe are reckoned by name the number being ten and four, and behold they are put in the book of records kept by "Father Time"

The combined stature of the tribe is seventy-seven feet and one inch, the combined weight one thousand seven hundred, thirty five pounds, and the combined age, two hundred and fifty-five years.

Religion—Five Presbyterians, four Methodists, one Episcopal, one Baptist, and three of no persuasion

Talents—two musicians three orators three athletes, one minister, thirteen bluffers.

Six blonds, five brunetts, three unknown.

We, the tribe of dignity, of the high school of Tecumseh, County of Lenawee, State of Michigan, having completed our high school course, and all of fairly sound mind, do, on this sixteenth day, of the month of June, in the year of our Lord, one thousand, nine hundred and sixteen, make this our last will and testament.

We, hereby, appoint Miss Mildred Armstrong, teacher in the said high school of Tecumseh, (as our lawful executrix), and request that she fully execute all devices and requests herein, in as full and complete a manner as it is possible for her to do so.

To the youths and maidens in the halls of learning of the village of Tecumseh We do will and bequeath the following commandents.

1. Thou shalt not laugh
2. Thou shalt not smile.
3. Thou shalt have less order in the halls.
4. Thou shalt not sleep in the class room.
5. Thou shalt attend the opening exercises, but attention there is prohibited.
6. Thou shalt not study between 7 a. m. and 12 p. m
7. Thou shalt whisper incessantly
8. Thou shalt not write a pony during examinations, for cheating is the abomination of the rabbi
9. The rabbi shalt not prepare their daily lessons for their looks show forth wisdom and their tongues ask numerous questions, for verily, I say unto you, the fool can ask a question which the wise man cannot answer
10. Thou shalt tread lightly on tiptoe about the halls for verily I say unto you, a slight jar might cause destruction of the building and great would be the fall thereof.

To our rabbi Miss Nixon we, do will and bequeath a boxing glove to be used in quelling all tumult arising among the unrighteous pupils.

To the Freshmen we gladly release our claim and hand down to them the key to the interpretation of algebra

To the Sophomore's we will and bequeath the patience of Carlyle Kay and Lloyd Aebersold

To the Junior class as a whole feeling that it is necessary, we leave Parker Comforts dignity

The genius of Burton Garlinghouse of which "this class" is very proud we leave to Walter Sutton, Lester Waring

To assist the Juniors in promoting the splendid work along athletics which we have so nobly begun, we will the athletic gifts of Jason Meads to Fredie Renschler, Russell Comfort, and Paul Keyser.

By permission of the school board we have reserved for Lillian Kennedy and Ralph Cuthbert the back seat in the first row in the Senior Room.

To Doris Kloffenstein we will a private secretary, to aid the teachers in keeping account of her absenceses

One square foot of the floor, in front of the teachers desk in the assembly room here to fore occupied by Gordon Bachman, we request be rented to Harold Lowry.

To Muza Rice we give a speedometer that she might not over step the speed limit while talking

To Mr. Reed, whom we dare not forget me devise first a notebook and pencil to aid his memory, and second a bell to warm the undergraduates of his approach

To Mr Goodrich we leave the smiles and tenderheartedness of this entire class hoping that he may then be a help to any who are entering high school life for the first time

And to Miss Halladay, our ideal teacher we can only leave our regrets that we must now part.

Signed in the presence of the class of 1916, this sixteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred and sixteen.

VALEDICTORY

"The Mosaic."

In the far away land of Persia, there lived many years before the birth of Christ, Omar the son of Koharra. He was a curious mixture of the Oriental and the Greek, combining in his temperament all the mystical imagination of the former with the nobler traits and artistic tendencies of the latter. For his father was a Persian rug merchant, munificently rich even from an oriental standpoint, for he dealt only in those exquisite wares of the east which [illegible] mother was Callirhoe, a Grecian woman endowed with all the finest characteristics of her race. She had an artistic nature, was upright and loyal and a lover of truth.

Omar was an artist at heart and the creative instinct was strong within him. To him sand and pieces of broken crockery and flowers and leaves all had their possibilities, but his craving for the beautiful was never satisfied and his soul continually cried for more.

His father wished him to become a rug merchant like himself and therefore discouraged his efforts for as he said, "I desire that my son be a Persian, not a Greek." But to Omar, the handling of beautiful things was not equivalant to creating them. His greatest wish had always been to go at some time to his mother's country and study art in its different phases and this he eventually did. Old Koharra had opposed him in this but only half-heartedly when he knew that it was not only Omar's dearest ambition but his mother's fondest wish. So when Omar departed for Greece, he went, not as an outcast, but as a son in good standing with his father.

Eight years he studied industriously with the Master. He began with Geometry and all its drudgery and learned the relation of lines, angles and planes. All of this was mere foundation work but nevertheless essential; then farther on into the elements of design. Designs in straight lines, curved line designs, designs that were symphonies in color originated with him.

He progressed farther on into the world of painting and lingered there for a while. In an ordinary sort of a way, he succeeded very well at this. Portrait studies, landscapes, symbolical and mythological pictures he attempted but received no word of encouragement or praise from the Master.

Then he tried sculpture. He enjoyed this temporarily but his works seemed as dead as the marble from which they were made. He completely failed to make them live Then, too, he wearied of the cold stone and its lifelessness and at length lost interest in this also.

Then in despair, he turned to architecture. The novelty of it attracted him and for a time, he believed he had found his chosen work. Buildings of every type were designed by him: sacred temples with their slender columns crowned with magnificient capitols; gymnasia and university buildings with their severer lines; and little shrines ornamented with delicate tracery and scroll work. But even this did not truly appeal to him and was too practical to strike a responsive chord in his real nature.

Now he had practically exhausted all his resources; all this study had accomplished next to nothing and it was the custom of the Master that after eight years work under his own supervision, students should devote four more to the completion of a great masterpiece. And now Omar with all this wasted time behind him and four vague years before him wondered if he was a failure. He went on long strolls through the hills and lay for hours looking at the sky, appreciating beauty to the fullest extent but forever asking himself, "Why do my works not live like all this? Why do they seem mere dead images? Why?" But he heard no answer.

The world moved on about him; the flowers bloomed; the grass and trees grew greener and the sky bluer but still Omar was doubtful. Should he go back to the east, an openly acknowledged failure or should he remain to struggle on accomplishing nothing? The crisis in his life had come. His decision must be made.

One dark, cloudy day he was wandering through the fields. The sea and sky were an ominous gray and even the green of the trees seemed a dull lifeless brown. Suddenly black clouds began to form and the very air itself seemed to grow heavy and oppressive. Great chains of lightning flashed from heaven to earth and torrents of rain fell. Omar found refuge under an overhanging rock and throughout this terrific struggle in which earth and sky were mingled, he prayed to the Muses for inspiration. As he knelt there, his hands stretched imploringly upward, the sun suddenly burst through the clouds and its light spread over land and sea. A great rainbow arched overhead and flowers seemed to bloom spontaneously. At the same time, a light passed over Omar's face and his brow cleared. He had received his inspiration.

Then he commenced his great work. He began by making a painting of the Grecian landscape after the storm. Undoubtedly it was the best he had ever done but he did not show it to the Master for his work was only begun when the painting was completed.

Months were taken up in making a great frame, not an ordinary frame of wood or bronze but one composed of small pieces of marble intricately fitted together into a wonderful design. In it, trailing vines wound themselves around each other, and here and there among the leaves, could be seen clusters of realistic fruit. To complete only this, Omar took an entire year and even then, only the foundation was made.

He had secured the snowiest of Parian marble, quantities of flawless porcelain, delicately tinted, together with ivory, alabaster and many colored agate. Then slowly and patiently he began to fill the frame.

First a firmament of blue porcelain appeared; on it snowy clouds of alabaster stood out like great billows of pure white mist. Infinitesimal bits of color, mirculously joined together composed a rainbow such as was never seen outside of its natural setting. Then the sea, with its multi-colored reflection of sky and and clouds, deepened by dark green shadows, was gradua[illegible] created under the touch of the artists fingers. Rolling hills of agate and mountains topped with snow of Parian marble appeared upon the horizon. [illegible] day by day, laurel shrubs and palms grew in the fields and on the hills and mountain firs and cedars relieved the bareness of distant slopes. And now the blossoming began; delicately carved pieces of colored alabaster were gradually transformed into luxuriant tropical flowers. Finally, to add a touch of civilization and a suggestion of divine power, on the summit of a green hill, appeared a sacred shrine of purest white ivory, half hidden by thick foliage.

Thus the second and third years passed and the major part of his task was completed. No one besides himself had seen his work and he had confided to no one its nature. It was beautiful, marvelously beautiful but still something was lacking. Omar realized this and as he thought about it, he perceived that it was dead, that it lacked brilliance and life. To this end, he secured diamonds, pearls, amethysts and emeralds and other precious gems of the east and prepared to complete his work.

Tiny seed pearls and diamonds he ngeniously inserted into the sea so that it now looked, not like a sea of painted sea, but like a sea of real water, caught when it was covered with white-caps after a cummer storm and miraculously solidified. Diamond dust sparkled on the crests of the mountains and strips of silver reflected the transcendent splendor of the sun's rays from their summits. Emeralds freshened the green of the trees and topazes and amethysts enhanced the brilliancy of the flowers. Finally, little strips of pure wrought gold and silver, slipped in here and there, perceptibly brightened the appearance of the work and gave it unity.

But Omar did not rest even now. He carefully removed every speck of dust and foreign matter from the surface and spent hours smoothing polishing and perfecting it. Not until midnight of the last day of the fourth year did he lay aside his tools and cover his masterpiece with a curtain of cloth-of-gold. The test was at hand. After another day had dawned and before another sun had set, he would know of his success or failure.

At length, morning came and with it the master. Omar led him into the room where he had worked and seated him before the curtain. Then he said, "Oh great Master, even as the earth, the sky, the trees, the flowers and the living beings of the universe all live their own lives and are separate units in a perfect whole, thus in my work, pieces of marble, porcelain and precious stones have joined themselves to form a perfect work at art. And to the Muses from whom my inspiration came, I have dedicated my work and called it, 'The Mosaic.'"

Just at this moment, the rays of the sun fell with dazzling brilliance on the curtain of cloth-of-gold. Omar pulled the cord which held it and it fell away.

The Master was silent, and Omar wondered if it was after all, as he had feared, a hopeless failure. He dropped his eyes in humiliation. Oh, if the Master would only speak! Anything but this silence. Finally, unable to endure it longer, he looked up to discover his fate, whatever it might be and found the Master's kind gray eyes upon him.

"My son," he said, in a voice trembling with emotion, "you have done a great work but your work is not yet finished. This is only an experiment, a mere beginning. The best of your life lies before you. You have done well, exceeding well, but it is now your task to do better."

All of us, in passing through twelve grades of school have encountered many things far from pleasant. Like Omar, we have failed in some things and have been disappointed in others, but we have succeeded, and have completed one mosaic, called fundamental education; and now, classmates, let us look forward to the building of the great mosaic of life, of which this day marks but the Commencement.

"WORK IS EASY FOR ME NOW"

Saginaw Man Has Found New Health in Great Remedy, Tanlac.

"Stomach trouble caused my whole system to become run down. I lost weight and energy. I suffered from indigestion a great deal. I did not sleep well and would often wake up with a sort of dull headache, which would last all day. Everything I ate would ferment on my stomach. Some days I would just feel 'all in.'

"A friend advised me to try Tanlac, the new medicine, and I got a bottle. Since using the medicine I feel much better in every way. I can now eat what I want without being distressed and can sleep like a top. I have a good appetite and more real energy than I have known in years. I can endorse Tanlac highly."

The Portuguese Rebanadas.

A dish as much eaten by the Portuguese as mince pie by Americans is the rebanadas. It is of Moorish origin and is easily and quickly prepared, as befitted the habits of a nomadic race. Thick slices of bread are soaked in new milk, fried in olive oil and then spread with honey and eaten hot. The result is something delicious, and those who have once tasted the rebanadas will want to taste it again.

Cal, Miss Edna Bryan, Grand Rapids; Misses Ruth Keeney, Edyth Rector, and Grace Gillespie and Mrs F G. Lewis were the Tecumseh guests.

PAST OFFICERS OF THE MONDAY CLUB ENTERTAINED

Mrs. J. D. Shull entertained fourteen ladies at a 1 o'clock luncheon Saturday at her home on East Chicago St The ladies attending were past officers of the Monday Club A profusion of peonies and roses filled the rooms.

The guests were seated at small tables which were centered with baskets of roses. A four course menu was served.

JUST MOTHS.

It was our privilege to call at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Burridge one morning last week and see the many moths and cocoons they have in their collection. Until one has been there they can have no conception of the wonderful work of preparing these butterflies as they emerge from the cocoon for their final mounting and framing. Later they are shipped to various schools and colleges where they are used as aids in studies along this line, others are shipped to art stores where they are used for trays that are so popular at this time.'

We sat for over an hour, while Mrs. Burridge told us of the work and of the many lessons to be learned, as the developement of these spring insects proceeded. As she traced the analogy of insect life and the human life, one could but feel that the one Great Power held us all in his keeping and watched our development from the chrysalis state until death claimed us all.

It would do one good to call and see this display and Mrs. Burridge would make you very welcome.

BREWER SITE LOOSES.

By Vote of 284 to 76.

Last evening at one of the largest and most exciting school meetings held in Tecumseh in years, the proposition of purchasing the Brewer site lost by a vote 284 to 76 By 7 30, the hour called for the meeting, the Grange Hal was filled to overflowing. Many had to stand in the hall outside as all available room inside was taken.

At about 7:45 President J. H Smith of the School Board called the meeting to order and had Secretary C. F. Patterson read the call, after which a sworn statement was read setting forth the legality of the call President Smith then left the meeting open for discussion. Remarks were made by several both for and against the purchase of the Brewer site. Those who took part in the discussion were Gen F. B Wood, Dr L. G. North, Robert Moore, J H Smith and Dr. E. E. Hendershott. Drawings were exhibited showing the locations favored.

The discussions were spirited but courteous. The architect, who drew the tentative plans for our new school building, was present and was called on to speak, but as a great many opposed it, Chairman Smith refused to call on him Long before the vote was called for, it was quite evident that those present were very largely opposed to the site proposed as remarks about the hall indicated clearly how the majority felt.

After the discussion was closed the chairman appointed F. J Temple, Geo. Rathbun and C A. Slayton as tellers and the vote was taken The result as above stated stood 284 "No" and 76 "Yes," a total of 360 votes.

U. S. Forces Withdraw.

Brownsville, Tex., June 19.—Having accomplished its object, the dispersing of Mexican bandits, who Friday night made raids on Texas ranches and attacked a detachment of the Twenty-sixth infantry, east of San Benito, Texas, and upon promises of the Carranza commander at Matamoros that he would run down and punish the outlaws, the fourth American punitive expedition to enter Mexico has been withdrawn. There were no American casualties.

One bandit was killed and two wounded when bandits attacked the American rear guard at Tahuachal ranch, ten miles from Matamoros, just as they commenced their withdrawal to the American side of the river. It was reported to Fort Brown that the dead bandit wore a Carranza soldier's uniform.

Americans on Guard.

Columbus, N. M., June 19.—Reports reaching here from the Pershing punitive expedition in Mexico indicated there were no serious developments Saturday night and Sunday morning.

Army officers here say that if General Trevino is in earnest General Pershing will not be caught unawares. Preparations have been made for any emergency.

VON MOLTKE DIES AT DER GOLTZ MEMORIAL

Rose to Highest Military Position in German Army.

Amsterdam, June 19.—Lieutenant General Count Helmuth von Moltke, chief of the supplementary general staff of the army, died of apoplexy during a service of mourning in the reichstag for the late Field Marshal von der Goltz, according to a telegram received from Berlin.

General von Moltke was born May 23, 1848, in Gersdorf, Mecklenburg. He became a cornet on April 1, 1869. In 1870 he was promoted to be lieutenant and took part with distinction in the war against France, being decorated with the iron cross of the second class. His promotion through the grades had been steady since that time.

He was appointed chief of the general staff Feb. 16, 1904, and served in that capacity until late in 1914.

THREATEN NEW RAIL STRIKE

2,600 Milwaukee Employes Are Behind the Latest Demands.

Sioux City, Ia., June 19.—More than 2,600 telegraphers and station agents on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad have voted nearly unanimously to strike if the company again refuses their demands for shorter hours and increased pay.

The whole Milwaukee system would be affected. Another conference will be held with P. C. Hart, general manager of the Milwaukee system in Chicago on Monday.

200,000 Autos Licensed in Illinois.

Springfield, June 19.—The number of automobile licenses in Illinois reached the 200,000 mark, which is 50,000 more than the licenses issued at this time last year. Just before the doors of the automobile department of the secretary of state's office closed, Dr. C. S. Drake, secretary of the State Board of Health, received license No. 200,000.

St. Louis, June 19.—Mayor Kiel tossed Reverend Benjamin G. Shaw of the Metropolitan A. M. E. Zion Church into the swimming pool at the church grounds to formally open the negro swimming season in St. Louis.

As Reverend Shaw weighs more than 200 pounds, the mayor's job was not an easy one. Numeroous members of the Zion A. M. E. Church attended.

Some Riddles.

What is that which is put on the table, cut, handed round, but never eaten? Answer.—A pack of playing cards.

Why are the banknotes better than gold coins? Answer.—Because when you put a banknote in your purse you double it and when you take it out you find it increases.

VERDUN BATTLE SHOWS NO GAIN

Paris and Berlin Reports Show Hot Fighting.

HEAVY ATTACKS REPULSED

Fighting Is Fiercest About Thiamont Farm Where German Assaults Against New French Positions Are Beaten Back—Berlin Claims Teutons Retook Small Trench from Foe.

Paris, June 19.—Several attacks by the Germans on the new French positions in the Dead Man Hill region, northwest of Verdun, were repulsed, the French maintaining their recent gains, the war office announces.

The Germans suffered heavy losses in futile attacks on French trenches in the Thiamont sector to the east of the Meuse.

Oust French from Trench.

London, June 19.—The chief fighting on the Verdun front last night shifted to the sector around the Thiamont farm, where the French made a heavy attack Saturday night, but failed to advance and were thrown out of a trench they had captured by a German counter attack. Heavy artillery action in the region of Hill 304 and Mort Homme is also reported in both the German and French official statements received.

Unusual activity on the part of the aviators of both sides is revealed in the official reports. The destruction of three French machines is reported in the Berlin statement, while Paris reports bringing down seven German machines and doing considerable damage by aerial attacks at various points.

Germans Claim Success.

Berlin, June 19.—The German official statement says:

"Western front—On the right bank of the Meuse a French attack on German positions in Thiamont wood broke down. A small first line trench taken by the enemy was cleared.

"A French biplane was brought down near Lassigny. In the region of Bezange La Grande two French aeroplanes were shot down. Eastern front—General von Linsingen repulsed Russian attacks on the Styr on both sides of Kolki. Between the Kovel-Lutsk road and the Torya sector our troops captured eleven Russian officers, 3,446 men, one cannon and ten machine guns.

GIRLS TESTIFY IN ORPET CASE

Eighteen of Marion Lambert's Friends Aid State.

Waukegan, Ill., June 19.—Eighteen 18-year-old girls were called into the murder trial of Will H. Orpet here to testify for the state to impeach the testimony of Josephine Davis, who asserted that Marion Lambert, Orpet's alleged victim, had threatened to take her life because of Orpet's lost affections. These girls had attended Miss Lambert's eighteenth birthday party on Feb. 6, three days before Marion was found dead in the Helms Woods near Lake Forest.

The testimony of the witnesses corroborated that of the dead girl's mother, who had testified that her daughter was of a sunny disposition and that she had never given any intimation that she contemplated suicide.

MILITIA OF U. S. ARE CALLED OUT

145,000 State Troops to Be Sent to Border.

NAVY BEING RUSHED TO COAST

Telegrams Are Sent to 48 Governors —Volunteers May Also Be Called— Militia Mobilization Said to Have No Reference to Gen. Pershing's Expedition.

Tucson, Arizona, June 19.—General military authorities have seized the Southern Pacific Railroad of Mexico system and cut all telegraph wires at the border, according to private advices here.

Washington, June 19.—The navy department announces that additional ships will be sent to the west and east coasts of Mexico.

Admiral Winslow, in command on the west coast, has been ordered to make selections of additional ships and to send them to various ports on the west coast.

Secretary of the Navy Daniels and Admiral Benson, chief aid for operations of the navy department, will confer and select the ships to be sent from the Atlantic coast.

None of the battleships will be sent at present, although it is expected that within a month the whole Pacific fleet and the whole Atlantic fleet will be seen on the Mexican coasts.

Washington, June 19.—President Wilson has issued an order calling out the militia of all the states for duty on the Mexican border. Secretary Baker issued a statement about 5:30 o'clock, after a lengthy conference with the president, saying the immediate mobilization of all the National Guard had been determined upon.

This will bring out 145,000 men to reinforce General Funston's border forces. This is the minimum strength but as the militia now numbers only 129,000 it will be recruited up to 145,000.

Mr. Baker's statement said the call for the militia is wholly unrelated to General Pershing's expedition and contemplates no additional entry into Mexico except as may be necessary to pursue bandits who attempt outrages on American soil.

The call was officially announced at the close of a conference between Secretary Baker and his staff that lasted all day.

Present at the conference besides the secretary were Major General Hugh L. Scott, chief of staff, and Brigadier General Alfred Mills, chief of the division of militia affairs.

The Illinos and New York Guardsmen will be the first to be sent to the border, as their officers volunteered the services of their organizations.

A call for volunteers also is contemplated, it is understood. One report is that this phase of the situation was considered at the conference of the general staff.

Telegrams Sent Governors.

The official statement issued by Secretary Baker says:

"In view of the disturbed conditions on the Mexican border and in order to assure complete protection for all Americans, the president has called out substantially all state militia and will send them to teh border wherever and as fully as General Funston determines them to be needed for the purpose stated.

"If all are not needed an effort will be made to relieve those on duty there from time to time so as to distribute the duty.

"This call for militia is wholly unrelated to General Pershing's expedition and contemplates no additional entry into Mexico except as may be necessary to pursue bandits who attempt outrages on American soil.

"The Militia is being called out so as to leave some troops in the several states. They will be mobilized at their stations, where necessary recruiting can be done."

At six o'clock, half an hour after Secretary Baker's statement was made public, it was officially announced that telegrams had been dispatched to the governors of the forty-eight states embodying the president's call for immediate mobilization.

Mobilization, war department heads said, would be speedy.

In many states, including New York, Illinois, Massachusetts, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, Ohio and others recruited to full strength, troops will be moving to mobilization points within a few hours.

Officials Perfecting Details.

Feverish activity was manifested at the war deparment throughout the day with secret conferences, uninterrupted only by luncheon, between Secretary Baker, Generals Bliss, Scott and Mills. Before Mr. Baker departed for the White House, Brigadier General M. M. MacComb hastened to the war department with "war plans."

A large force of officials was called to the department to perfect the details for transporting the troops. Telegrams from General Funston poured into the department saying the situa-

The Ideal "Cottage For Two."

The proverbial "cottage built for two" is a place of much economy of space and much expense of temper, time and toil. The architect whose field lies among country mansions laughs at the "toy house" idea, and the smugly satisfied city dweller, from his ill lighted and excessively cramped apartment, finds a theme for many jokes in "the cottage built for two." But every day in every little hamlet and big town sane young people are demonstrating the truth that the little house well planned, with abundance of sunlight and fresh air and with absolutely practical arrangement of rooms and full equipment of modern conveniences, is not only a possibility but also a most satisfactorily proved fact.—Raymond Comstock in Countryside Magazine.

Where Women Rule.

Near the Cape of Shima, in Japan, there is a village the name of which in Japanese means "The Settlement of Nymphs." Woman in this village is the predominant partner. The chief industry is pearl fishing, and it is the women who are the fishers. The men stay at home and do the housework.

He Removed the Danger Signal

Frank W. Sherman, Laconia, N. Y., writes: "I suffered with kidney trouble, had a tired feeling in my back, did not have any ambition and felt all tired out. I used Foley Kidney Pills and in a few days began to feel better, and now I have entirely recovered and have had no return of my painful symptoms."

One cannot help becoming nervous and feeling tired and worn out when the kidneys fail to filter and throw out of the system the poisonous waste matter that causes kidney troubles and bladder ailments.

Backache is one of Nature's danger signals that the kidneys are clogged up and inactive. It is often followed by rheumatism, annoying bladder or urinary disorders, puffy swellings under the eyes, swollen ankles and painful joints.

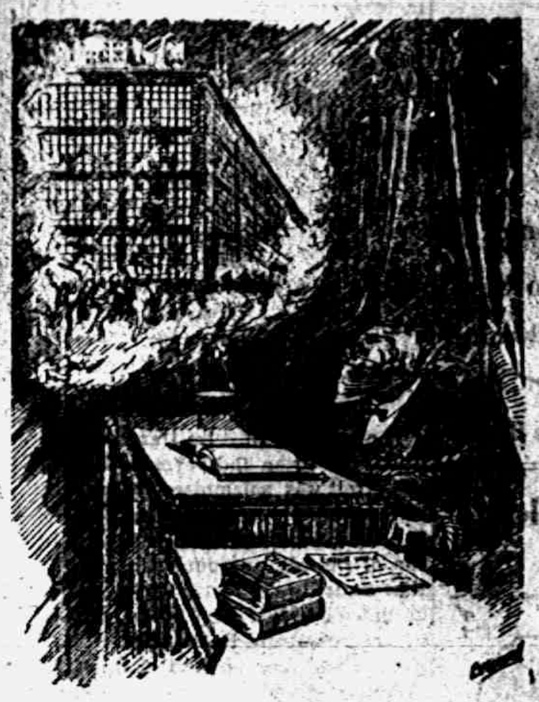
Robbing the Courts

The Vicious Anti-Injunction Proposal

TAKE the protection of the law away from the employer's property! Make it possible to destroy the employer's factory and his goods if he does not accede to any demand made upon him! Tie and gag the circuit judge to prevent him from coming to the assistance of workers upon whom felonous assault is being made! Mob the employer and all his defenders, but do not let the law intervene! These are the preachments and the demands of organized labor in Michigan today.

A referendum petition is being circulated throughout the state for a constitutional amendment taking away from the judges the right to issue an injunction in labor disputes. Were this amendment to become part of our constitution, it would be imposible for the employer to appeal to the court for protection, though a mob of strikers were assaulting his workmen, preventing the employment of other help, destroying his property and ruining his goods. The amendment would make it impossible for him to stay the hand of the mob until such time as an amicable agreement could be entered upon or the difficulties adjusted.



Organized labor would have it that a private individual, apprehensive of injury to his property or person, might avail himself of the protection of an injunction; but if an employer, in dispute with his men, no matter how imminent the danger to his life, limb or property, this prohibitory protection should be unavailable.

The injunction, admits organized labor, makes it possible for the employer to hire whom he will; conduct his own business as he deems best; operate his own factory as he thinks it should be operated; exercise his rights as a freeborn American citizen. Such is the complaint of organized labor against the law.

Counsel for organized labor even goes so far as to preach the vicious doctrine to the militant union, that in substance the law as administered today compels a man to work for whatever wage an employer wishes to pay him; compels him to work against his will; compels him to submit to any and all conditions his employer may take a notion to impose upon him. Note for instance the statements of one Maurice Sugar, who is a lawyer, according to Detroit Labor News. In a recent address to the Detroit Federation, he said:

Probably 999 out of a thousand men in Michigan today think that the workingmen have a right to strike, but he hasn't. The law of Michigan doesn't give him the right to strike. No law taking that right away has been passed, but the courts have made it.

It makes no difference if the picketing done be ten or a thousand feet away. If it comes to a show down it will not matter if the picket is five miles away if it is necessary to beat the strike.

In striking labor can only win by violating the law. As a lawyer I'm not supposed to say you should break the law, but I want to see labor win.

Let's assume that violence is used in a strike. Is one not entitled to twelve men or must he sneak up to one man—a judge.

The courts are the law bulwark in this fight and they'll construe laws they are to decide unless we make it absolutely clear that they can't issue injunctions.

Much of the viciousness of this preachment lies in the fact that the lawyer must have known, or at any rate should have known, that he was dangerously misleading his hearers. He must have known that he was falsely interpreting the law. He should have known that he was inciting his hearers to lawlessness and disregard for the very courts that have time and time again conserved the interests of the very men to whom he was preaching.

There is absolutely not a word or suggestion in the laws of the state of Michigan that prevents any man or body of men from quitting work in any shop or plant anywhere in the state. The law does, however, seek to protect the employer against the violence of an aggregation of men who see fit to leave his employ.

There is absolutely nothing in the laws of Michigan that prevents one man from seeking to dissuade another from continuing in a certain man's employ, provided he does so by peaceful and lawful means. The law does, however, prohibit a set of men from intimidating one who wishes to continue his employment, assaulting him and perhaps taking his very life.

The laws of the state of Michigan give the employer the right to hire whom he pleases, just as they give the workman the right to choose his employer and place of employment. The law does not countenance violence during a strike or at any other time, and if organized labor adherents are guilty of using violence, should they have the right to demand that they be exempt from the law on the ground that it is their employer's property at which they are directing such violence?

If a court admonishes a man or body of men to cease using violence, destroying property and assaulting workers, and the injunction is disregarded, should it be necessary for that court to call in a jury of twelve men to pass on the guilt that is admitted? But, says Mr. Sugar, it is not a question of guilt; the guilt is self-evident. The proposition is to so fix the law that such violence cannot be interfered with.

The ranks of organized labor are filled in the main with honest, conscientious, industrious, patriotic workmen. In their very hearts the vast majority of these men have a deep respect for the majesty of the law and for the property rights of an individual, be he an employer or not. The deplorable thing is that they will listen to unscrupulous agitators; that they permit themselves to be led by men who are no respecters of law and order and who preach violence and spread discontent.

In the ranks of organized labor in Michigan today are thousands of men who if the nation issued a call to arms to avenge the wrongs committed against American citizens on American soil by the Mexicans, would lay down their tools and take up arms in defense of their flag. Yet the Labor News deliberately insults their intelligence and belittles their patriotism, and also insults the colored men who have enrolled for service under the stars and stripes, by publishing this statement:

African troops are marching into Mexico. Will this be the beginning of a war of conquest? A cry is already going up for the annexation of part of Mexico. Who wants it? Otis, that "grey wolf," that notorious open shopper of Los Angeles, and his pet son-in-law, Chandler.

It is time that organized labor threw off the galling yoke.

MEXICO KNOWS STAND OF U. S.

President Tells Why Troops Will Remain.

PERSHING KEEPS AFTER THEM

General Refuses to Halt His Bandit Chase—Report Made on Trouble at Mazatlan—Mexican Story Says Jap Started It—One U. S. Boatswain Gravely Wounded.

COLUMBUS, N. MEX. — General J. J. Pershing, American expeditionary commander, has cavalry detachments operating south and west of the Namiquipa base in pursuit of bands of Mexican maurauders, according to several apparently reliable reports here.

It was asserted that General Pershing received reports of the presence of the bandits almost simultaneously with General Jacinto Trevino's warning that any movement of the American troops other than toward the border would be considered a hostile act.

Pending advices from General Funston, it is said, he gave no orders to give chase until late Sunday.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The appearance of the American mailed fist in the Mexican situation, with President Wilson's call for the mobilization of 100,000 National Guardsmen of all states for service on the border, was followed quickly by developments of a warlike nature. Chief of these were:

The American reply to Carranza's last note on withdrawal of the United States forces was finished and was en route to the de facto government before night.

10,000 Words in Reply.

In clear, unmistakable language, the note declines to withdraw the American forces and answers Carranza's misstatements of fact and points to many incidents which make it imperative that the Pershing expedition remain. The message is 10,000 words or more.

Unofficial reports from Yucatan said all Americans had been warned to leave there, as a state of war existed, and that refugees were being taken on board a warship.

Put New Law Into Effect.

Secretary Baker took steps to obtain from congress leave to put in effect at once a provision of the new army law, which ordinarily would go into operation on July 1, to permit the sending of militia forces into a foreign land. This was described officially as a precautionary measure.

Tells of Mazatlan.

The embassy communications have brought the Washington government its first news of trouble at Mazatlan, latest radio advices from Admiral Winslow on the Pacific coast making no mention of it.

According to the Mexican version confusion followed an attempt to land marines from a warship, there was an exchange of shots and two American officers were arrested and held until explanations had been made. The embassy presented a report from the military commander at Mazatlan, General Mazto, telling of the incident, accompanied by instructions from the Mexico City foreign office urging that the Americans be kept aboard their ships.

General Mazto's report said the men landed at Mazatlan were marines, but as the gunboat Annapolis, the only ship known to be there, has no marines, it is presumed that bluejackets were involved.

Japanese Starts Fight.

The Mazto report told this story:

A boat from the warship approached a Mazatlan wharf and was warned to keep off until permission to land could be obtained from the military authorities. It went back to the ship and several hours later returned with its crew armed. The officer in command was told permission for landing had not been given and an argument ensued. A crowd of soldiers and civilians had gathered on the wharf and in the midst of the discussion a drunken Japanese fired a shot at the Americans, who promptly replied with a volley into the crowd.

Carranza soldiers returned the fire and the boat withdrew, leaving behind two officers who were arrested. Explanations then were exchanged by the commander of the warship and the Carranza general and the American officers were released.

Boatswain Wounded.

WASHINGTON. — Admiral Winslow, at San Diego, reporting on the clash between American seamen and Carranza soldiers at Mazatlan Sunday, said Boatswain's Mate L. M. Laughter was gravely wounded and Ensign O. O. Kessing and Assistant Paymaster Andrew Rowat were taken prisoners by the Mexicans. The admiral made no mention of the subsequent release of the officers, as announced to the state department by the Mexican embassy.

Order Americans Prisoners.

GUAYMAS, MEXICO. — According to reports, Mexican authorities have ordered all able-bodied Americans taken prisoners and intend to disarm all foreigners in the Yaqui valley.

A GENERAL SURVEY OF THE WAR.

Thursday, June 15.—Berlin admits the loss of a converted cruiser in the Russ attack in the North Sea. The Russian report says the crew of the cruiser was captured, and that a destroyer and two other vessels were sunk.

In their offensive on the eastern front the Russians are apparently making steady headway. Last reports place them just across the border some fifty miles north of the city of Lemberg. In Bukowina, Czernowitz, the capital, is apparently cut off from all communication but the south.

Friday, June 16.—The Russian capture of an additional 100 officers and 14,000 men was announced by the war office. The Russian successes in the offensive along the southern front are continuing, the statement declares. Czernowitz is officially reported captured.

The French report the capture of two thirds of a mile of trenches at Dead Man Hill and 200 prisoners.

It is reported in Athens that the Bulgarians are withdrawing the majority of their forces from Saloniki to the Roumanian frontier.

Rome claims an Austro-Hungarian attack on the Estago plateau with 18,000 men repulsed.

Constantinople reports the British repulsed at Kut and Petrograd reports the ejection of a Turk force from a captured town in the Caucasus.

Saturday, June 17.—Czernowitz, the capital of Bukowina, has been almost destroyed in the fierce battle that has been raging there, according to advices received at Petrograd, and the Russians assert that the Austrian forces are being fast enveloped and cut off from their Bukowina army.

On the western front the Germans violently shelled French positions in the Dead Man Hill setion and incidentally made hand grenade attacks in this vicinity which Paris declares were futile.

Rome announces an important success northeast of Asiago, in the Trentino, where several positions at the head of the Frenziela valley were captured.

Sunday, June 18.—After five days of hard fighting in the suburbs and on the River Purth, General Lechnitzky, commanding the Russian armies, has finally entered Czernowitz, the capital of Bukowina. The capture is an important one as it entails the command of several railway lines.

The Austrians are maintaining their original plan in pressing their offensive in the Trentino and have not withdrawn troops from that front because of the Russian offensive in the east, it is declared in the Italian official war office statement.

The French at Verdun held to all gains and repulsed several violent German assaults.

ALUMNI

WITH OUR ALMA MATER ONCE MORE

Tuesday, June 20, 1916.

The dear old dame, she calls to us,
And we her children gather,
From far and near, to meet her here
In spite of wind or weather.

And answering her call Tuesday a goodly company of her children, gathered at Oddfellows hall, for a glad reunion. A feeling of sadness mingled with our pleasure, as the classes were called for the march to the dining room. The class of '66 had one representative, '67 has only three living and only one responded to the call, '68 had four present and so on down until the later years when the younger members who had escaped the flight of time responded to the call more numerously, and the tables were filled with bright and smiling faces, glad to meet each other once more.

A selection by the orchestra and piano duet by Mesdames Wood and Hodges were first on the program, after which a two course dinner was served in a most perfect manner by the young men of the junior class. The tables were decorated with baskets of peonies, syringas and roses, which with the snowy napery, the glass and silver presented a beautiful appearance.

A piano duet by Camilla Hayden and Burton Garlinghouse of class of '16 was charmingly rendered and given an encore, to which they responded in a very pleasing manner.

The President Mrs. Naomi North Williamson class of '97 then welcomed the guests and in her own happy way, she said in effect as this was the tricentenary of Shakespeare, it was most fitting that we should respect his memory and the program of the afternoon would be along this line. She then introduced the toastmaster, Charles Patterson, who in a very witty speech accepted the position and kept up a running comment on various men and things illustrating with anecdotes and stories the subject of the several toasts as they were called, Mrs. Grace Heck Moore, class of '99, sang "Should he Upbraid" from Shakespeare and responded to an encore, in her own bright way.

A welcome to the class 1916 was given by Miss Alice Wimple, who most of all the teachers held them dear as she had watched their progress closely since they left the 8th grade.

Mrs. Mary Kriedler Smith of '06 then gave a solo from "As You Like It", "It was a Lover and his Lass" and an encore which were much enjoyed by all.

Gordon Bachmann in a few well chosen remarks then responded to the welcome to the class of 1916.

Leon McLachlin accompanied by Miss Hazel Roberts on the piano, gave a Tone Poem from King Lear and Cordelia, which was exceptionally well given and received hearty applause and an encore to which he responded.

Lynn Hoag '08 had "Pills" for his, being a prospective medic, he handled his subject as no dubt he will handle the article itself in a very successful manner both from the medical product and the human pill. We wish him all manner of success in his chosen work and expect to hear great things of him in the future.

Mrs. Ada Peters Mumford, '76 one of our dear old graduates whom we all love to hear, sang two Shakespearian selections and a most exquisite encore.

A genuine treat was given us when Prof. Kellogg, one of our old teachers was called upon to tell us, "Why Shakespeare?" giving a fine talk on Shakespeare, his times, and his wonderful work, which has been of aid to preachers, statesmen, orators and ot people in every walk of life. He spoke feelingly on meeting so many of his former pupils and of the school life and its influence on the future success or failure of the pupils, as they improved or neglected their opportunities.

There was but one failure on the whole program, Royal DeWolf being unable to be present.

President—Asenath Hosmer, '87.
Vice President—R. K. Anderson, '91.
Second Vice President—Thos. Elliott Jr., '09.
Secretary—Ruth Keeney, '05.
Treasurer—Dale Hodges, '11.
Members of the Advisory Board—May Woodard Keyser, 89; Franc Snell Gillespie, '92; H. R. Conklin, '94; Lena Smith Jones, 01; Mary Snedicor, '07.

President, Mrs. Williamson made as fine a closing speech as the hour of closing drew near.

A movement was started among the members of the Alumni relative to the purchasing of a plot of land of George Harriott to be presented to the High school for an Athletic Park. The project met with a great favor and a petition was passed around soliciting subscriptions for the same, and met with wonderful success at the meeting, and at last reports many were being added to the list on the street.

Demands Petrolite Apology.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — A second note to Austria-Hungary regarding the attack by an Austrian submarine upon the American tank steamer Petrolite was coded at the state department for immediate transmission to Vienna. It is understood to demand an apology for the attack and reparation for the damage.

CHAUTAUQUA

The dates set for the Tecumseh Chautauqua are fixed for July 26 to 31. This year we are to have the Coit-Alber Chautauqua with us and the program will be a strong one. Our readers will be kept posted through the columns of the Herald. Adrian has had the Coit-Alber Chautauqua for several years and has been more than pleased with the course given.

A committee of Tecumseh's business men, in the face of a bad season last year, have guaranteed this Chautauqua for Tecumseh this coming year and in doing so they believe that Tecumseh people will come to their support and help make this Chautauqua a success. If you have enjoyed the Chautauqua the past two years and want it next year, be sure and buy a course ticket and get out and boost for the Chautauqua. The price of a course ticket is fixed at $2.00

GALLIENI SLAIN BY TRAITOR

Army Officer of High Rank Said to Have Killed Savior of Paris.

NEW YORK, N. Y.—The death of Gen. Joseph S. Gallieni, former minister of war of France, was due to a murderous attack by a French army officer of high rank under charges of treason, and not to natural causes, according to stories told here by passengers arriving on the French liner Lafayette. Gustave Heslouin, an attache of the French war office, here for the second time on a government mission, would neither affirm nor deny the tale.

General Gallieni's assailant was arrested, the Lafayette's passengers said, and his fate is unknown. He had been summoned before his chief, it is reported, to answer the charge of having negotiated with the Germans for the surrender of a fortress at Verdun.

THE CIRCUS

The Sun Bros. gave two shows here Tuesday afternoon and evening. They arrived in town early in the morning and a crowd of early risers witnessed the unloading of the show. There was no street parade given as such is not their policy, but a free show was given on the grounds in the afternoon. They were located in the Athletic Park.

The impression that we received by the appearance of the teams and bunch of laboring men connected with the show, we frankly confess, was not very favorable. We were told by representatives that it was almost impossible to get this help as no sooner had they secured the men than they left at the next town, the demand for help all over the country being great.

We were not disappointed but were highly pleased with the performance given in the evening. It was of about 1½ hours duration and every act was clean and many new to us. There was not a dull moment from the time the performance started. Their trained elephant act and educated seal act were the best we have seen in any circus. Many difficult aerial acts, tumbling and balancing acts were performed by high class people. One act in particular, the "topsy turvey man," who balanced on his head, jumped on his head and slid down an inclined plain on his head, was wonderful. The work of the clowns however, we considered below par.

Taking the show as a whole, it was worthy of better support and those who saw it would welcome a return of Sun Brothers' show.

TEUTON PAPER FOR HUGHES

THE HAGUE, HOLLAND. — The Cologne Gazette, a semiofficial German government organ, directly challenges the democratic candidate for President, Woodrow Wilson, saying: "Since Colonel Roosevelt seems to stay out of the fight and as Wilson and Hughes appear to have about equal chances, the German-American vote might play a decisive part in the great contest. They should not forget this, for they now have an opportunity of paying back Mr. Wilson for his one sided neutrality and his fierce attack on their loyalty to America. Some time ago when there was possibility of Colonel Roosevelt's being nominated Wilson still flattered Germany and the Germans in America while referring to his good intentions as a possible mediator. Now that Roosevelt stays out Wilson takes part in an anti-German preparedness demonstration, thereby letting his mask fall and showing his real face."

Secretary Daniels Says Movement Is Precautionary to Aid Refugees.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Secretary Daniels has ordered seven destroyers and nine other small war vessels to Mexican waters to join units of the Atlantic and Pacific fleets already stationed on the east and west Mexican coast.

The secretary described the movement as "precautionary." The vessels probably will be used to bring home American refugees should an emergency develop.

RUSS TRAP BIG AUSTRIAN ARMY

General Pflanzer's Forces Are Facing Serious Peril.

ONLY FLIGHT CAN SAVE THEM

Slavs Are Now Marching Toward Lemberg—Germany Officially Admits That Russ Offensive at Kovel Was Only Partially Halted—Tageblatt Prepares Public for New Retirement.

PETROGRAD. — Eighty thousand Austrians, cornered by cossacks in the lower reaches of the Carpathians face immediate capture unless they make a precipitate retreat, according to dispatches received here. The force was trapped by the Russians as a result of the fall of Czernowitz.

It is possible that this force is a portion or all of General Pflanzer's army, which according to other dispatches has been isolated after being forced to retire from Czernowitz.

Part of this army retired westward toward Kolomea and Kuty and the remainder southward in the direction of Dornavatra, telegraphs Reuter's Petrograd correspondent.

Berlin Admits Russ Not Halted.

BERLIN. — Admission that the Russians in their offensive opposite the railroad center of Kovel are making progress is made in the official statement of the war office. The statement declares General Linsingen's forces defending this portion of the line have only "partly repulsed" the Russian attacks.

Germans 17 Years Old Called.

LONDON, ENG. — Dispatches from Berlin quote the Lokal Anzeiger as announcing that Germans seventeen years old have been called to the colors.

Prepare Teutons for Bad News.

LONDON, ENG. — Heavy fighting between the Russians advancing toward Kovel and the Germans under General von Linsingen is reported by the Berlin Tageblatt's correspondent at Austrian headquarters, according to an Amsterdam dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company.

The Russians are in superior numbers, and the dispatch asserts that the Tageblatt account of the fighting is worded so as to prepare Berlin for the news of another Teutonic retreat.

The Tageblatt says that the Austrians have taken up fresh positions between Czernowitz and the Dniester where they are awaiting further Russian attacks. In the middle Stripa sector, on the direct line to Lemberg, the German general, Count von Bothmer is reported to be maintaining his resistence against heavy pressure by the Russians.

Italians on the Offensive.

BERLIN. — Italian troops are on the offensive in many sections of the front, but are being held in check by the Austrians, the official statement issued in Vienna says.

Earl Longford Is Killed.

LONDON, ENG.—It is announced officially that Brigadier-General Earl Longford, previously reported wounded and missing, has been killed on the Gallipoli peninsula.

REPUBLICANS TO RALLY

It seems altogether fitting that all Republicans and all true American citizens should at this time rally to the support of our standard bearers and candidates, Chas. Evans Hughes and Chas W. Fairbanks, president and vice-president elect of the United States of America.

Therefore the call comes through the officers of the Lenawee County Republican McKinley Club for all vice presidents of said Club to meet at Adrian, at the Gregg Hotel, on Thursday, June 29th, at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon to make arrangements for holding a McKinley Club banquet, setting date of meeting, appointing officers and committees, and to make full arrangements for the greatest Republican Rally Lenawee County ever had.

Now, Fellow Republicans, get busy and COME.

Yours for action,

BOYD—CURTIS

The marriage of Miss Hazelle Estelle Curtis of Adrian and Seymour R. Boyd of Detroit was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. S. Curtis, Tuesday, Rev Edward Simpson of Detroit pronouncing the words that made these two one. They were attended by Miss Hazel Boyd, a cousin of the groom, and Robert Curtis. Mrs. Fred Dickinson played Lohengrin's Wedding March and Fred Dickinson sang "O, Promise Me" during the ceremony. After a wedding breakfast the bridal couple left on a short wedding trip and will be at home to their friends after August 1st at 142 Merrill Avenue, Detroit.

Seymour Boyd is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robt. M. Boyd of Adrian, but the family formerly lived here and Seymour was one of our Tecumseh boys. The best wishes of his many friends here are extended to him and his wife.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

THE FEAST IS ANNOUNCED

CHAUTAUQUA booklets announcing the 1916 program are ready for you. It's a great program they tell about, and a reading of the booklet will make your mouth water in anticipation of the feast which is announced.

Great music is in prospect--Lauritano's Orchestra, The Concert Favorites, the Elmer Crawford Adams Company, the Lyndon-Gordon Company--all kinds--all good--topped off and rounded out by Chautauqua's premier offering--Leonid Samoloff, world-famous Russian tenor of the Metropolitan Opera, and assisting artists.

Great entertainment, too--Marlo, master magician, and his great company, the play, "Publicity;" Garnet Cox, delightful reader; Chronophotographs, and other novelties.

Get a program booklet and read every word of it. It is worth reading.

GUARDSMEN TO STAY IN REGULARS' RANKS

President Issues Order Holding Men In Nation's Service.

CHICAGO, ILL. — No National Guardsmen, officer or private, can be relieved of service during the life of his present commission or enlistment except by order of the president, according to a change in the army regulations made by the war department as the nation's militia was preparing to be sworn into the federal service.

A telegram was received by Major General Thomas H. Barry, commander of the central department of the army at Chicago to that effect.

This means, for instance, that a member of the Illinois National Guard who has served one year of his three-year enlistment must remain a soldier in the regular army for the next two years, unless the president issues special orders to the contrary.

WEDNESDAY BARGAIN DAY A BIG SUCCESS

Were you in Tecumseh Wednesday? If not you have missed one of the rare treats that is coming your way. Your neighbor was here, ask him what he thought of the entertainment Wednesday morning dawned dark and cloudy and the weather seemed uncertain as the night before we had received our usual downpour, and it looked very doubtful whether we would be able to get our usual Wednesday crowd, but as the day lengthened the weather strengthened.

Quite a good many of our friends were in for the afternoon performance.

Early in the evening our streets began to fill with people and one of the largest crowds we have had this season, if not the largest witnessed perhaps the very best entertainment ever given in Tecumseh.

About the platform on the four corners of the town, and reaching well back in the block on all sides was packed, the crowd of people and automobiles and rigs lined the streets for two blocks,

Manager Mack of Detroit of the Booking Agency who furnishes Tecumseh with its attractions was in town and took personal charge of the entertainment and making the annoucements form the stand Manager Mack certainly made good with this attraction, as he promised the Amusement Committee that he would give Tecumseh one of the best shows obtainable

The show of Wednesday evening if seen in Detroit or Toledo would have easily been worth an admission price of a dollar and you would have felt that you had your money's worth

The entertainment opened with a selection by the Tipton band and during the intermission between the acts also, everyone being pleased to hear this band again,

The first act consisted of a slack rope performance by the Falidinos and was without exception one of the finest acts of the kind on the road. In the 2nd act Leonard and Lewis appeared in their wonderful head balancing act the skill strength and cleverness of these two artists alone was worth a trip of 30 or 40 miles to see.

In the [illegible] Macphail and the Vigar sisters gave a clever entertainment, MacPhail with the bagpipe and the Vigar sisters with Scotch dances and sword dances. One interesting item about Macphails is that he expects to leave for the front in a short time with a Windsor Scotch band. The last number, the Great Webber, a double voice entertainer, Webbers performance was something new as he sang equally well as a man or woman, shifting from the male to the female voice in the course of a song and did equally well in both He played his own accompaniments on horn and violin, and danced while he playe and sang.

The program except the first act was repeated much to the delight of the audience. Mr Mack announced that next weeks entertainment would be equally as good.

The merchants were all kept busy and report favorably. A cordial invitation is given to all our friends in the country to visit Tecumseh Wednesdays and get acquainted with us. Do your trading here and take in the big show. Our stores are the best, our prices are right and we want you to make Tecumseh your town

The program for next week will consist of good band music, Santell Brothers in their great musical act, Night Hawk and his band of Indians in an Indian special act, Roma Duo and clever singing, banjo and musical act, also an acrobatic act. Our Wednesday bargain days are attracting attention all over the country and we are getting enquiries about them from Chicago and other cities. They want to know how we did it Come to Tecumseh next Wednesday and let us show you.

WORK THAT TELLS

Plenty of It Has Been Done Right Here In Tecumseh.

To thoroughly know the virtues of a medicine you must investigate its work. Doan's Kidney Pills stand this test and plenty of proof exists rihgt here in Tecumseh People who testified years ago to relief from backache, kidney and urinary disorders now give confirmed testimony—declare the results have lasted How can any Tecumseh sufferer longer doubt the evidence?

Mrs. Sarah E. Austin, Pearl St, Tecumseh, says: "I suffered from distressing symptoms of kidney complaint for more than a year. When some one told me that Doan's Kidney Pills were good in such cases, I got a supply at Wright & Son's Drug store. They helped me immediately and I used them until well."

No Kidney trouble since: Over two years later, Mrs. Austin added: "I have had no need of Doan's Kidney Pills or any other kidney medicine since my former endorsement I can still recommend this medicine highly."

For Tired Women With Aching Heads

"They help me so much and I find relief as soon as I begin taking your Foley Kidney Pills." Mrs. Frank P. Wood, Morrill, Maine, R. F. D. No. 2.

Sometimes it seems as if you can't stand the pain across your back. It is just making your life miserable and robbing you of all energy and strength. When you are constantly tired, head always aching, nerves "on edge," kidney action painful and burning, then is the time to start in at once on Foley Kidney Pills.

They strengthen the weak, ailing kidneys, improve their action, enable them to throw off the poisons that cause your trouble. Your nerves grow peaceful, sleep becomes sounder, nervous headaches disappear. As Mrs. Wood says: "I find relief as soon as I begin to take your Foley Kidney Pills." Be sure you get the genuine Foley Kidney Pills, for they are purely medicinal and contain no harmful drugs.

NOT TWELVE STATES READY TO MUSTER IN Company of Oregon First--Iowa and Wisconsin Follow.

Washington, June 26.—The militia of less than a dozen states, according to reports received by adjutant general of the army, will be in shape to be mustered in before the end of next week.

The first organization mustered in to date, as far as the war department has been advised, is Company M of the Third Oregon infantry, which took the oath Saturday. The rest of the Oregon militia was qualified before night. Company M went into the service with three officers and 142 men, or only eight men less than the maximum war strength of an infantry company.

South Dakota reported that its militia would not be ready to go in "for a few days." Ohio will swear in Wednesday. Washington state's militia was reported as scheduled for muster on Sunday, and that of Iowa on Monday. The Missouri and Wisconsin troops began to muster in Saturday.

As soon as the various organizations are mustered in the departmental commanders will notify General Funston of the number and type of troops sworn in, and Funston will designate the organizations he wants and the point to which they will be sent on the border.

CHICAGO DRILL TEAM WINS

Indianapolis, Newton, Kan., and Kansas City Get Other Prizes.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 26.—The drill team of Englewood commandery No. 59, Chicago, won first prize a $5,000 libation set, in the competitive drills held here in connection with the thirty-third triennial conclave and grand encampment of the Knights Templar of the United States.

Other awards announced follow: Second prize Lectura, value $3,000, won by drill team Newton commandery No. 9, Newton, Kan.; fourth prize, cup, value $1,000, drill team Oriental commandery No. 35, Kansas City, Mo.

TAFT UPHOLDS WILSON STEP

We Must Maintain Order, Protect Border, Former President Says.

Plainfield, N. J., June 26.—The duty of the United States in Mexico is clear, former President Taft said in an address to a chautauqua audience here on "Our World Relationships." This duty is to go on.

While deploring the possibility of war, which he said would be long and attended with great loss of life, Mr. Taft said, "We must maintain the honor of our country; we must protect our border."

Death of German Hero.

Berlin, June 26.—Details of the last flight of First Lieutenant Immelmann, the famous German aviator, contained in letters from the front published here, shows that he was killed in a combat with a British flier, which was one of a group of three Immelmann engaged.

Strikes Out Dependent Provision.

Washington, June 26.—Senators blocked the consideration of the Hay resolution passed by the house and obtained an amendment in committee striking out the provision to pay the dependent families of national guardsmen who are sent to the border or into Mexico.

$1,000,000 IS LOST IN KALAMAZOO FLOOD

Kalamazoo, June 26.—Kalamazoo has emerged from one of the worst floods the city ever experienced to find that nearly $1,000,000 damage had been done in less than five hours.

Not only is the damage more extensive than first believed during the early hours of the morning, but there is danger of still greater loss as the Kalamazoo river is rising rapidly and the crest of the flood is not expected for another day.

The damage up to the present time was created by Little Portage Creek, which flows under the Bryant Paper company's mill and through one corner of the city to the river.

The loss to the Bryant Paper company alone is estimated at $500,000.

REPENTS SHOOTING HIS KIN

"Throw Those Guns Away" Says Man Who Wounded Grandson.

Lansing, June 26.—"Please throw those two guns into the river," said John J. Deacon, who shot his sixteen-year-old grandson, Clifford Deacon, of Grand Rapids, in the shoulder, while under the influence of liquor.

Deacon had been released on bail by Justice Charles F. Haight, and had reference to the rifle with which he had done the shooting and to a revolver found in his room. Deacon insisted that he had no intention of hurting Clifford.

Gets Taste of War at Start.

Owosso, June 26.—Leo Houghtaling, a recruit of Company H, Thirty-third infantry M. N. G., was unable to accompany his comrades to Grayling because while crossing the street he was struck by an automobile, knocked down and rendered unconscious, and while prostrate was run over by another car dislocating his shoulder.

Tauscher Placed on Trial.

New York, June 26.—Hans Tauscher, representative in America of the Krupp gun works, was placed on trial in the U. S. district court charged with complicity in the plot to blow up the Welland canal.

BRITISH OPENING BIG GUN ACTION

Artillery Activity Extends Along Western Front.

Berlin, June 26.—The British have developed pronounced artillery activity along the portion of the Franco-Belgian front they hold from La Bassee Canal to the Somme, the war office announces. The British fire continued uninterruptedly all Sunday night.

Violent engagements north of Verdun resulted in the Germans repelling all attempts by the French to regain their recently lost ground.

Paris, June 26.—Counterattacks by the French Saturday night north of Verdun resulted in their regaining some lost ground, the war office announces. Portions of trenches west of the Thiamont redoubt were taken and hand grenade fighting resulted in some progress being made in the village of Fleury. A German attack in the Deadman Hill region was repulsed.

THREE PATRIOTS HARD HIT

Barrett O'Hara, Col. Foreman and Judge Landis Tax "Slackers."

Chicago, June 26.—Lieutenant Governor Barratt O'Hara was penalized 50 per cent this year for neglecting to file a personal property schedule. The lieutenant governor filed no schedule last year. This year the board of assessors assessed him on $1,200 worth of personal property, and then, because he had filed no schedule, added $600 to the sum he was to be assessed upon.

Colonel Milton J. Foreman of the First cavalry, who paid no personal property tax at his home last year, was assessed on $3,000 worth of personalty. Federal Judge Kenesaw M. Landis also was penalized 50 per cent. For failing to file a schedule the assessors, having assessed him on $1,200, raised the figure to $1,800.

POPE DEPLORES HOSTILITIES

Rome, June 26.—Pope Benedict held a lengthy conference with the Spanish ambassador. It is reported that he discussed the advisability of asking King Alfonso of Spain to mediate between the United States and Mexico.

His holiness views with the greatest regret the possibility of war between the two American republics.

Federal Reserve Grows.

Washington, June 26.—The total gold reserve of the federal reserve system increased about $6,000,000 during the week ending June 23, according to a statement of the banks' condition.

Kalamazoo's First War Bride.

Kalamazoo, June 26.—Miss Nellie Klop is Kalamazoo's first "war bride." The young woman was married to Leonard Moelhart, a member of Company C, Twenty-second regiment, just before the troops left for the north.

Stoker Stabs Deckhand.

Calumet, June 26.—Fred Cording, a deckhand employed on the steamer W. A. Rogers, was stabbed in a fight with a stoker aboard the ship near Portage entry. The assailant leaped overboard, swam ashore and escaped.

Former Traverse Chief Killed.

Traverse City, June 26.—Charles Carsten, former chief of police of Traverse City and for three years on the Grand Rapids force, was shot and instantly killed in Cleveland, while on duty as railroad detective.

DYING CAPTAIN TELLS OF FIGHT

Morey Orders Men to Leave Him in Desert.

HURRIES THEM TO PERSHING

Some Hope Held Out That Act of Self-Sacrifice May Not Yet Be in Vain—Return of Searching Cavalry Is Not Yet Due—Two American Cattlemen Are Killed.

El Paso, June 26.—General Pershing at Colonia Dublan transmitted to General Funston at San Antonio an official report of the Carrizal fight written by Captain Lewis S. Morey, Troop C, Tenth Cavalry, the only officer not killed outright in the Mexican ambush.

Captain Morey is believed to be dead now. He was wounded in the shoulder. The report was written after the officer had fallen from exhaustion on the desert.

The three negro troopers who accompanied Morey were ordered by the wounded officer to abandon him and make their way back with the report and save their own lives if possible.

Orders Men to Save Selves.

The few facts gleaned from the Pershing report here make a story of self-sacrifice almost without parallel in the history of the American army.

The detaoils are not made clear, but it is believed that Captain Morey and the trio of negro troopers were driven back into the Mexican desert where there was no water. The little band was on foot, and the officer finally grew so weak from loss of blood that he could proceed no further, and dropped.

When he was revived, the troopers were ordered to abandon him and save themselves, being held only long enough to get a written version of the encounter.

Relief Army Saves Men.

The report, as obtained here, indicates that the troopers were picked up by the relief column of the Eleventh Cavalry. They were unable to do more than give the general direction of the location where they had abandoned Captain Morey.

The statement in the report that Morey is believed to be dead is accepted as meaning that searchers have failed to find him dead or alive.

No additional facts are obtainable here.

Morey Writes Letter While Dying.

San Antonio, Tex., June 26.—The account of the Carrizal fight by Captain Morey, written while dying, and sent to Funston by Pershing, indicates that the Americans moved forward before the Mexicans fired. Morey was hidden in a hole, 2,000 yards from the fight scene when the letter was written. Lieutenant Myers sent the report to Pershing.

Still Hope for Morey.

Field Headquarters, Mex., June 26—Captain Morey and twenty of the men with him at Carrizal are still not heard from, but hopes for their return have not been abandoned, as the cavalry sent to their relief is not due back yet. A motor train also has been sent out to meet him.

Two Americans Slain.

Douglas, Ariz., June 26.—William Robertson and Tom Snyder, American cattlemen, have been killed by Mexicans southwest of Nacozari, Sonora, according to the statement of military officials from Agua Prieta.

Officials at Arispe have telegraphed General P. Elias Calles confirming the death of A. R. Dickson, a British subject who was wounded in the fight with Mexican cowboys in which Jim Parks, an American prospector was killed.

Prisoners Sweep Streets.

El Paso, Tex., June 26.—Refugees say that all of the American prisoners held at Chihuahua City, except one, who is wounded, are forced daily to sweep the streets of the city. They say throngs of Mexicans have gathered and watched them at work, but that so far as they know the prisoners have not been molested by the mobs.

A train of thirty-eight cars carrying foodstuffs, military supplies, a large number of Mexican refugees and about 300 soldiers have left Juarez for the interior. Private advices received from Chihuahua City say that the five employes of the Alvarado Mining and Milling Company at Paral who recently were reported to have been in hiding in the hills near the city had reached the state capital safely.

JAPAN AND RUSSIA AGREEING

They Are Deciding on Plan to Protect Interests in China.

Tokyo, June 26.—It is learned on good authority that Japan and Russia are making favorable progress toward the conclusion of an agreement for protection of their mutual interests in China. The understanding is based on the principle of preserving the integrity of China.

According to a published report, the pending agreement contemplates a conservative, peaceful and efficient adjunct to the existing alliance between Japan and Great Britain.

FORD TO BUILD NEW PLANT

Manufacturer Denies Latest Vile Slander Reflecting on Patriotism.

Detroit, June 26.—Henry Ford, the automobile manufacturer, announces that he is to erect an $8,000,000 plant to manufacture automobile parts. The plant, which will have its own blast furnaces, will be in River Rouge, a suburb on the Detroit river.

Mr. Ford denounced a published report that employes of the Ford Motor company who j in the National Guard will not be given their jobs back when they return to Detroit. He said only thirty-seven of his employes belong to the state troops and "that when they come back it certainly will be without prejudice."

WAR COUNCIL IS HELD ON MEXICO

Wilson Confers with House and Senate Leaders.

LANSING DENIES ULTIMATUM

Washington, June 26—Ranking Democratic and Republican members of the senate and house foreign affairs committees were summoned to a White House conference at 8 o'clock, and it was understood the advisability of a joint session of congress to hear a statement by the president was under consideration.

Denies Sending Ultimatum.

Secretary Lansing was with the president nearly half an hour. Returning to the war department for a conference with Secretary Baker, Mr. Lansing made it plain that the United States had not sent an ultimatum to the Carranza government demanding the release of the seventeen American troopers captured at Carrizal and placed in prison at Chihuahua City.

He would not say whether any inquiry had been made regarding the captured troopers or whether a request for their release had been made.

Three more navy vessels have been ordered to Vera Cruz by the navy department. The destroyer Reid left Key West at night, and the destroyer Flusser sailed the next day. The gunboat Dolphin will leave Guantanamo, Cuba, during the day.

Secretary Baker late in the day said no new orders for troop movements had been given. No further information had come from General Pershing, he said.

Mexican Agent Released.

Columbus, N. M., June 26.—Samuel L. Sandoval, Carranza consular agent on the border, taken into custody here four days ago by officers of the state department in connection with a suspected violation of United States neutrality laws, has been released. The American authorities announced there was no evidence to warrant his being held.

Mexico Accepts Mediation Offer.

Washington, June 26.—Eliseo Arredondo, General Carranza's ambassador here, announced his government had accepted in "principle" the offer of the Central and South American republics to mediate between the United States and Mexico.

Mr. Arrendondo said, however, that so far he had received only a preliminary expression on the subject from Mexico City, and was expecting definite instructions.

Secretary Lansing's attitude is understood to be that there is nothing that could be properly submitted to mediation in the differences between the two nations.

The secretary declined to say what his course would be if a formal mediation proposal were made.

Carranza Would Treat.

Mexico City, June 26.—The report that General Carranza had rejected offers of mediation between Mexico and the United States proffered by Costa Rica and Salvador is untrue. An official declaration at the foreign office reiterated the gratification which the Mexican government feels for the kindly attitude that Latin-American republics have taken toward Mexico in the present situation.

TO KILL ARMED AMERICANS

Circulars Issued Across Border Say State of War Exists.

Brownsville, Tex., June 26.—Circulars were distributed in Matamoras, opposite here, declaring that the latest crossing into Mexico of American troops near here has been construed as a declaration of war against Mexico on the part of the United States.

The circulars are signed by General E. P. Nafarrette, commander of Mexican forces in the state of Tamaulipas. The circulars, dated June 17, declare a state of war exists between the two countries. The circulars declare all Americans found in Mexico with arms will be executed, but Americans pursuing peaceful occupations south of the Rio Grande and who are not armed would be protected.

ROCK ISLAND NEEDS HELP

Machinists and Toolmakers Wanted at Government Arsenal.

Chicago, June 26.—Word was received in Chicago from the government arsenal at Rock Island that there are many jobs open there for machinists, particularly in the field artillery departments. Toolmakers also are needed.

At the office of Charles J. Boyd, general superintendent of the Illinois free employment bureau in Chicago, it was said that the bureau probably could supply the demand.

SOO PAPER IS SUPPRESSED

Editorial Calling on Canada to Quit War Brings Penalty.

Sault Ste. Marie, June 26.—Because N. O. Smith, former member of the Ontario parliament, published in this week's issue of his paper, the Sault Express of the Canadian Soo, an editorial under the caption "No More Canadian Soldiers for Over-Seas Service. This Young Dominion Has Done Enough," the postoffice has refused to carry the papers through the mail and it is rumored that the publication of the Express is to be suppressed indefinitely.

He declared that Canada is sacrificing more than her share.

Teacher Bobs Girl's Hair.

Owosso, June 26.—A primary school teacher with the assistance of another person, is alleged to have bobbed off the golden curls of the five-year-old daughter of Mrs. Lavina Millman to "improve the child's appearance," and the mother indignant, has retained consel and threatens a damage action.

"TO SEE THE BOYS OFF"

Saturday morning down town Chicago street, was decked with flags and bunting and our G. A. R. men gathered together, to pay their respects to the members of Co. B., who passed through on the train to Grayling. It was a bright beautiful morning and every thing looked gay, but underneath all was a feeling of sadness, for these boys who are called to scenes of warfare. To the older ones, who remembered the days of the Civil war, and how 54 years ago we sent our boys to fight for their country and their homes. To these this day had a deeper meaning for they remembered how many brave boys never came back, but paid with their life blood for the peace and plenty that have been ours to enjoy. The prayer will be voiced by many hearts. "Spare us another such warfare, and may our boys come home unscathed, and the peril that threatenes now, be averted."

But, if they must fight, may they go forth to conquer. Among those who went from Tecumseh were Clarence Abersold, Floyd Willnow, Wilfred Mills, Fred Steinhoff, Clare Dickinson, Fred Holmes, John J. Furse, James Boyd and Daniel Reed. The best wishes of their friends in Tecumseh go with them, wherever their lot may be cast.

Tecumseh furnished a full quota of men for the Civil war, she sent out a company for the Spanish war, and if needs be she would soon recruit a company for present emergencies. Many of our boys have enlisted in Adrian and others are waiting and ready when the call comes. All over the country, men and women have shown their loyalty and gathered along the line to pay tribute to those who have gone forth to warfare. Adrian is the first city in the State to start a fund for the care of the families of their soldiers.

WHY THE INFIRMARY?

We understand that Richard Woodcox has been taken to the County Infirmary, at his fathers request, to be left there, as long as his support is arranged for. If this is the case we feel that it is a grave mistake.

This boy is by no means a fit charge for the Infirmary. He is bright and capable of making his own way through life and what he needs most at the present time is proper training. Will he get this at the Infirmary? Why not try and make a good citizen of him instead of a pauper and a charge against the community? If it is possible to get him placed in the Coldwater School, it would be infinitely better, as here he would receive proper care and be obliged to attend school so long as he was in the school and when he left he would be placed in a good home and be under the supervision of the state authorities. Be fair with the boy; his future is at stake.

A Nigerian's Aspiration.

An advertisement by an English firm recently appeared in a London daily newspaper for an experienced youth for their office in London. Among the replies received was one from northern Nigeria as follows:

"Having seen your name and address I am more than please to ask for a berth in your office. And also as you state in the paper that you want a good and experienced youth in your office which I beg to office myself in the post. I learn typewriter, but have not yet completed it. Shorthand I have learn, and I can write, but not so fast as a man who can write 100 words in a minute.

"If you want me kindly let me know, and if not let me know same.

"I am a Gold Coast youth of sixteen years.

"I hope you will not fail to do the same.

"Expectantly awaiting to hear from you as timous as ever."—London Spectator.

Desperate Diet.

It is amazing what people will eat at a pinch.

A recent arctic explorer seriously advised the wearing of skin clothing in preference to woolen simply and solely because, if the worst came to the worst, one's outfit could be stewed for a meal or at any rate given to the dogs!

Well, when a man finds enjoyment and a sort of inward satisfaction in a stew made of his vest, his shoelaces and his sledge gear, he must be pretty "peekish," and when he gets back to civilization he will make a model husband, never likely to turn up his nose at cold mutton on washing days.

The bishop of Yukon thinks nothing of eating his boots. He had probably declared he was ready for that operation many a time when he was a boy, but he has actually done it since he came to man's estate—in his case the great gold field of arctic Alaska.—London Answers.

JOHN McINTYRE TAKES PART IN BIG CHALMERS DRIVE-AWAY

Pulling out of Detroit shortly after 12 o'clock last Thursday noon, John McIntyre reached Tecumseh Thursday evening after a fast run in one of the new 1917 Seven-Passenger Chalmers Six-30's

Mr. McIntyre was one of 50 dealers of the L. J. Robinson Company, Detroit and Michigan distributors of Chalmer's cars, to take part in the biggest drive-away of quality cars that has ever left the motor metropolis.

Lined up in front of the handsome new salesrooms recently erected for the Robinson Company on Woodward avenue, the big delegation of Michigan dealers headed by a mounted platoon of police and a brass band, paraded through the down-town section of Deroit for over an hour. Each dealer was at the wheel of a brand new seven-passenger Chalmers and the parade was one of the longest motor pageants seen for years in Detroit.

Immediately following the parade, the dealers returned to the Robinson salesrooms, placed their baggage in their cars and started out over various routes leading out of the city. Mr. McIntyre made the homeward journey without trouble of any kind and is enthusiastic over the coupling up of the 3400 R P M motor and the new seven-passenger body design.

The two days' meeting at Detroit was marked by a program of interesting events that kept the dealers busy every moment of the time. Arriving in Detroit on Wednesday each dealer registered at the Hotel Pontchartrain and later checked in at the L. J. Robinson place of business. Inspection of the new 1917 models followed later in the morning and contracts for the coming year were signed.

At 2 p m Wednesday the dealers were taken in motor cars for a trip through the plants of the United States Tire Company and the Chalmers Motor Company. A big banquet at the Hotel Pontchartrain in the evening numbered among its speakers Hugh Chalmers, President of the Chalmers Company, C A. Pfeffer, Vice-President and Ass't General Manager, Paul Smith, Vice President of the Selling Division, Harry Newman, Milwaukee, Wis, Chalmers distributor, and L. J. Robinson. A cabaret and entertainment featured the dinner.

Thursday's program included business sessions in the morning followed by the parade and drive away.

LEWIS A FAKE.

"Capt." Stanley Huntley Lewis, who will be remembered by many as being in Tecumseh as an army officer and advertising "The Battle Cry of Peace" has fallen sadly from grace. He was forced by Recruiting Officer P. D. Foster of Detroit to remove the captain's bars from his uniform or take the alternative of 90 days in the guard house, for impersonating an officer of the M N. G. He admits that he is a private, but records do not show his enlistment.

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

Sleeplessness.

The inability to sleep is frequently caused by nervousness—the strain of the day's work. Fatigue, too, keeps one awake, for many there are who are too tired to sleep. If the food eaten during the day has been insufficient one should eat sandwiches of bread and cheese or ham and drink a glass of hot milk at bedtime. Sometimes an apple or two or some figs or raisins will be enough to satisfy the craving (unrecognized) for food. Drinking water is needful, too, to promote the absorption of the food. Two or three glasses of either hot or cold water at bedtime will be of service.

Restlessness or nervousness is always relieved by a hot bath before going to bed. This, too, takes away the tired feeling.

The night clothing should be loose at the neck and wrists and roomy, and none of the daytime garments should be worn to bed.

CELEBRATED BIRTHDAY

The home of Mr. and Mrs J. W Owen was a very happy one Sunday as a number of their children were home to celebrate their mother's birthday. Those present were Mrs Nina Welliver of Dayton, Ohio, Mrs. Metta Stofflett and Miss Ada Owen from Ann Arbor and Miss Jennie Owen of Jackson. Each one came laden with gifts for the day.

After a fine dinner had been served, they all motored to Clayton, to the home of another daughter. Mrs Olcea Bovee. Mrs Fred Heidel of Ann Arbor was also of the party.

SPECIAL SCHOOL MEETING

Notice is hereby given that a special meeting of School District No 7 in the Township of Tecumseh, County of Lenawee and State of Michigan, will be held at 7:30 o'clock p. m on the 7th day of July, A. D 1916 at the Grange Hall in the Village of Tecumseh, County and State aforesaid:

That the business to come before the meeting is to consider and determine the purchase of lands adjoining the site of the present High School grounds in said District, enlarging the same, and to provide by taxation for any purchase directed by such meeting.

More Appetizers.

Dr. Wilfred Grenfell, the Labrador physician, tells the following amusing story about one of his trips on a komatik, or dog sled.

He and his guide were on the way to a distant village, where a small boy was reported to have "found himself in his stomach," which means in the semi-Chaucerian dialect of Labrador that he was afflicted with indigestion. The guide "cleft the split" (split the wood) and prepared the luncheon of steaming tea and pork buns, one of the few natural foods that really does not freeze.

"Where," inquired Dr. Grenfell, "are the compressed food tablets? I gave you a month's supply this morning."

"Oh," answered the guide impassively, "I ate them after breakfast," and he hungrily bit into his pork bun.

Events That Pass Us By.

We can be but partially acquainted even with the events which actually influence our course through life and our final destiny. There are innumerable other events, if such they may be called, which come close upon us, yet pass away without actual results or even betraying their near approach by the reflection of any light or shadow across our minds. Could we know all the vicissitudes of our fortune life would be too full of hope and fear, exultation or disappointment to afford us a single hour of true serenity.—Hawthorne.

Favorite Son.

"Are you a favorite son of your state?"

"No," explained Senator Sorghum. "I don't believe I care to be. A favorite son is too liable to be regarded by outside observers as a pampered pet who might be all the better with an occasional licking."—Washington Star.

The Last Word.

Hubby (with irritation)—Why is it that you women insist upon having the last word? Wife (calmly)—We don't. The only reason we get it is because we always have a dozen arguments left when you stupid men are all run out.

BLIND, BUT KEEPS UP WITH SCHOOL MATES IN STUDIES

If you were blind and only 14 years old, do you think you could complete successfully with the pupils in your grade who have two good eyes?

That is what little Teresa Train, has done. She is a pupil in Jefferson school and although she has been blind all her life she is on the same par in her studies as the other children in her grade, the fifth.

At the mid-year examinations last month she made such a high score that she earned the special commendation of R B. Irwin, supervisor of classes for the blind in Cleveland, and also that of School Superintendent William B Guittea and the Toledo board of education.

Had High Grades

Her grades were: English 98, spelling 100, arithmetic 70, geography 99, and physiology 88.

She took the regular fifth grade examinations under the direction of the regular teacher of that grade. She is now learning to use the typewriter and soon will be able to type her written work so it can be corrected by the teacher upon the same basis as that on which her classmates work is judged.

In addition to her proficiency in school work, she is exceedingly clever with her hands. A pieced block made by her and used in a quilt displayed at the Lucas county fair, earth much praise. The quilt was composed of 12 blocks, made by the pupils of the fifth grade, and Teresa's was said to be the best of the lot. She also is able to play many different selections on the piano.

Braille System Used

In her studies, Teresa is taught by the Braille system which employs raised dots instead of letters, and orally by her teachers and classmates. The latter take much pride in aiding her and vie with each other in reading lessons to her.

In a late issue of the Toledo Blade appears the picture of little Teresa Train, a grand niece removed, of Miss Lucy Train and the following clipped from the paper will show what she has accomplished, though blind all her life.

MRS. HARRIETT MINOR

Mrs. Harriett Minor died at the residence of Mrs. Edwards on South Evans street at 2:30 p. m. June 26, 1916. Her maiden name was Harriett L. Bond.

She was born Nov. 12, 1831, at Albany, N Y., removing to Detroit with her parents when 16 years of age. She related that she became an active Christian at the age of 12 and united with the First Baptist church in Detroit, later being a city missionary in that city.

She was united in marriage to C M. Minor Oct 28, 1875, soon after removing to Tecumseh. Mr Minor died April 1, 1895, aged 79 years.

Mrs. Minor reached the age of 84 years, 4 months and 14 days. She was a very faithful member of the Baptist church here.

The funeral will be held at the chapel of the Baptist church at 2:30 p. m., her pastor Rev. W. B. Hartzog officiating. Her burial will be in Brookside cemetery.

GEORGE BURROUGHS

George Burroughs, who has been in failing health for several years, passed away at his home Friday evening at 11:30 o'clock at the age of 73 years.

His early life was spent in Tipton and his whole life has been spent in this vicinity except for the years spent in the Civil War, being a member of Co E, 18th Mich. Infantry. His comrades of the regiment, H. W. Stevens, J. M. Ingersoll, Hiram H Westcott, Ransom Mills, Wm. Smith and J. C. Critchett, bore him to his last resting place with the G. A R. as escort.

He leaves to mourn his loss, his widow, Alice Ellsworth Burroughs, two brothers, David of Battle Creek and Wilson of Tipton, and three sisters, Sarah Burroughs of Tipton, Mrs Garrett Lee of Tecumseh and Mrs Eliza Robinson of Butler, Ind.

The funeral was held from the home Monday afternoon, Rev W A. Rex officiating. Burial in Brookside cemetery.

MELVIN HAIGHT

Melvin Haight passed away Thursday evening at the age of 73 years. He came from near Mason about three weeks ago to stay with his niece Mrs. E. D. Brown for awhile, being in very poor health. He had been up and around the house as usual up to Thursday morning when he had a fainting spell, but nothing serious was anticipated until evening when he sank rapidly.

Of his immediate family Mrs Lydia Coryell, a sister, is the only one left, a wife and daughter having preceeded him to the Better Country.

The funeral was held Sunday afternoon, Rev. G. W. Jennings officiating. Burial on the family lot in Brookside cemetery.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to extend our heartfelt thanks to the friends and neighbors who so kindly assisted us during the sickness and death of our brother Joseph Mellon, also the minister for his words of comfort, the singers and those who brought flowers.

Quality First

They're Ready—

3400 r. p. m. Chalmers 1917
Five and Seven Passenger

I just came back from the big Convention in Detroit.

Last Thursday Robinson's show-room was ahum with bustling Detroiters. They were buying the 1917 Chalmers.

Chalmers Dealers were there from every town in Michigan. Hugh Chalmers talked to us. He told us about the new 1917 seven passenger; how they had taken the 3400 r.p.m. principle as a 1917 platform.

He said, "We are going to stand pat on the five passenger. With a million miles of 99.21 per cent perfect service behind her, there's no fault we could find in her anatomy."

After I took the wheel of the new seven passenger I got Robinson in a corner. "I want one of each model to take home with me," I told him.

"You'll have to wait," he said. "We can't get them from the factory fast enough. We're behind on Detroit deliveries."

But I insisted. Finally he agreed to take two off his floor. And that's why I can show them to you now.

Drop in and see these cars. I'll put you back of the 3400 r.p.m. engine and you'll say, "She's the smoothest thing on four wheels."

There's a pair of them: the seven passenger which sells for $1280 and the five passenger which remains the same, $1090.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

D. T. & I.

Included in a large amount of new equipment now being added by the D. T. & I. Railroad is a consignment of six monster freight engines, each weighing 245,000 pounds, and representing the latest type produced by the American Locomotive works. One of these monster consolidation locomotives is now in active use and the other five will be delivered within a short time.

In addition to the new locomotives the D. T. & I. has purchased and placed in service, 100 automobile cars, 100 box cars, 40 coke racks and 16 refrigerator cars, all of the latest type. The new euqipment added, in addition to the overhauling of other equipment and making extensive track repairs, was made necessary by a greatly increased business and in order to insure the same prompt service which the D. T. & I. has been giving its patrons and shippers all along the 425 miles of road.

"I HAVE REGAINED FORMER ENERGY"

Mrs. Hackley Comes Out Strongly In Favor of Tanlac.

Mrs. Addie Hackley, of Mattawan, Michigan, writes

"Tanlac has given me the first relief from stomach trouble and nervousness I have known in eight years. My nerves have been in a terrible condition and the least little excitement would upset me badly and cause me great distress. I hardly knew what it was to get a good night's rest. My stomach became disordered and my digestion impaired. I lost my appetite and the sight of food would sometimes nauseate me. I was depressed and melancholy.

"After reading about Tanlac I decided to try it and got my husband to get me a bottle in Kalamazoo. Since using the medicine regularly I feel like a different woman. My nerves are steady and my stomach is in good condition. I have a good appetite and good digestion. I have regained my former energy and ambition. I am glad to praise Tanlac for it is a good medicine for all."

Tanlac may be obtained at the store of B. J. Pulver. adv

WHY IT SUCCEEDS

Nothing can be good for everything.

Doing one thing well brings success.

For weak or disordered kidneys.

Here is Tecumseh evidence to prove their worth.

E. C. Brisbin, farmer, N. Democrat St., Tecumseh, says: "I began to suffer from kidney complaint twenty years ago and the medicine I took brought me only temporary relief. Often my back ached intensely and the secretions from my kidneys were irregular in passage and highly colored. Doan's Kidney Pills went to the seat of the trouble and did me much good."

NEARLY THREE YEARS LATER Mr. Brisbin said: "You may continue to use my name as a reference for the merit of Doan's Kidney Pills. Whenever I feel in need of a kidney medicine, I take this remedy and it acts promptly and effectively."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Brisbin has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y. adv

San Francisco's Natural Harbor.

San Francisco has the advantage of a natural deep water harbor. The bay of San Francisco is one of the few very great harbors of the world. Of those otherwise so situated as to become great commercial ports it is perhaps comparable only with the harbors of Sydney and Rio Janeiro. There are seaports whose commerce enormously, for the time being, exceeds that of San Francisco, but for the most part their harbors are very costly works of art. The Lord never made them.

Harbors can be made anywhere on a seacoast with money enough, and where the situation of the country demands a harbor where none naturally is the man made harbor has to serve the purpose, and it really does very well.

But such harbors require continual tinkering, and as the city grows more land must be dug out, and the money is often hard to get. Happy is the commercial people which is so fortunate as to live by one of the great natural harbors of the world.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Electric Current.

One of the simplest electrical devices known to the average person is the incandescent electric lamp. According to the Electrical Experimenter, if we could obtain a sufficient number of these lamps of the twenty watt size and string them along a wire line from the earth to the moon, the lamps being fifteen inches apart, the amount of current necessary to light them would then represent the amount of power generated by all the dynamos in the United States, which in their entirety have an output of about 20,350,000,000 watts per hour.

For another illustration we might stretch a line of two conductors fifteen times around the earth and place on this 1,000 watt lamps, 100 feet apart The power required to light this gigantic line would also represent the electrical energy produced by these ever humming dynamos.

Ways of the Burman.

The Burmese are a fascinating people. Unlike the native of India, a Burman can laugh and enjoy a joke. I have seen a native of India smile. I have never seen one laugh, whereas the whole idea of the Burmese, as a race, would appear to be to enjoy themselves and make the best of a short life and try to make it a happy one. The men are sportsmen, and if they are lucky enough to make money they spend it. Their chief amusements are horse, or, rather, pony, racing, cock fighting and gambling, and they will back their fancy with their last coin On the other hand, they are lazy and indolent and as soldiers or policemen utterly untrustworthy, but brave and fearless of death.—From "And That Reminds Me."

Mimics Among Birds.

Birds, from the ostrich down, are imitative. The ostrich, where he lives alone, is silent, but in a country where lions abound he roars. Why? Because for centuries, admiring the lion's roar, he gradually learned to roar himself. Among small birds, buntings imitate pipits, and greenfinches imitate yellowhammers. They seek their food in the winter together, and they gradually steal each other's calls. The jay is an insatiable imitator. Some jays will include in their repertory not only the cries of songs of other birds, but also the bleat of the lamb and the neigh of a horse. Even the nightingale imitates. In a nightingale's song it is sometimes quite easy to detect phrases he has borrowed from other birds.

The Thing to Do.

The youngster had just been told the story of Daniel in the lions' den, and the question had been put to him:

"What do you think Daniel did the very first thing when he found he was saved from the lions?"

The child reflected a moment and then replied, "I suppose he telephoned home to his wife to tell her he was all right."—New York Times.

What Mexico Was Once.

There was a time when the United States was not so large in area as Mexico. The empire that Spain claimed included Texas, California, Arizona and New Mexico and other western lands, even before Louisiana was bought.

In the days before this country acquired Texas and before other areas had been bought Mexico and the United States were of about the same size. The Mexican boundaries have shrunk, those of the United States have expanded. Now Mexico has only about one-fourth of the area of the United States.

Mexico today contains about 765,000 square miles. It is as large as Great Britain, France, Germany, Austria and Ireland. But the five largest states of this country—Texas, California, Montana, New Mexico and Arizona—exceed all Mexico in area. The border between this country and Mexico is about 1,800 miles long and for 1,400 miles is easily crossed at most seasons. —Philadelphia Ledger.

Shoplifters In Europe.

In America and England it is usually the independent undertaking of a single sneak thief. But in European cities this sort of larceny is carried on by organizations of thieves directly under the control of some receiver of stolen goods. The thefts are not done in a haphazard manner, as with us—that is to say, the taking of any convenient article on the chance that it can be disposed of. Under the foreign system the "fence," or receiver of stolen goods, furnishes these thieves with a list of the articles that he can handle with the greatest facility and the largest profit. They go out to the shops to find precisely the articles their employer wishes. In one city alone the profits of a little group of these thieves, thus organized and working under a fence, amounted to over $40,000 in one year.—Saturday Evening Post.

When to Bend Your Knees.

Here is a hint for you. In case you should happen to be caught in a falling elevator bend your knees. One day an elevator in a sixteen story building became disabled and fell from the seventh floor to the basement. There were seven passengers in the car. Alive to the danger, the car operators shouted: "The car is going to fall! Turn your backs to the door and bend your knees!" Six of the seven passengers obeyed and escaped injury, although the car landed with a crash that sounded all through the building. The seventh rider failed to obey the order and suffered fractures of the right thigh bone and of the right knee and lacerations, because he was facing the door and the broken glass showered upon him when the car struck.—New York Letter in Pittsburgh Dispatch.

Hotel Insurance Against Robbery.

At a well known hostelry in Venice it is the practice to charge guests 25 centimes per diem for insurance against fire and robbery, the amount covered for this premium being 1,500 francs. This is a very convenient arrangement, as robbery is far from uncommon in Italy.—London Truth.

Billy, Do.

As William bent over her fair face he whispered, "Darling, if I should ask you in French if I might kiss you, what would you say?"

There Was a Postscript.

A dentist had a patient with whom he had for years a friendly as well as a professional association, and when the patient called in to have a tooth extracted he was cordially received.

"Will you give us a song?" the dentist suggested.

The patient instead gave a dramatic description of his recent dental pain and ended with an impassioned plea for instant extraction of the offending tooth.

"No, no!" said the dentist. "You're run down, my boy! Go and walk in the park for an hour."

"Won't do me any good," pleaded the sufferer, but the dentist insisted, and round the park the obedient patient went. When he came back he was duly anaesthetized, and the deed was done. When he was leaving he shook the hand that had cured him and asked

"Why on earth did you send me walking round the park?"

"You were run down and nervous, the dentist replied. Then he added with a grin, "Besides, I'd no gas when you came!"

A Submarine Water Supply.

In the Persian gulf, about twenty miles from the Arabian coast, is a group of islands the largest of which is called Bahrein. This island, which is twenty miles in length and ten in width, is low and sandy in most places but here and there an oasis rich in date palms dots the island with spots of green. "The Mountain of the Mist," in the center, rises to the height of 400 feet. The 8,000 people who live in Manomeh, its largest town, are mostly Arabs of the fanatical Wahabi sect Fish and seaweed are their chief food and the only fresh water they have to drink is brought from springs at the bottom of the sea. The natives, with goatskin bags, dive to the bottom and holding the openings down upon the bubbling spring, swim to the surface with their bags filled with sweet water. The extensive pearl fisheries, for which the islands have always been famous, is their one great industry.—Christian Herald.

A Grand Rout.

It is not always the largest foe who can make the greatest disturbance and cause the most confusion. In his "Hunting Grounds of the Great West" Richard Irving Dodge tells of a little incident of the Mexican war which proves that it is quality, not quantity which is most effective.

While General Taylor's little army was marching from Corpus Christi to Matamoras a soldier on the flank of the column fired at a bull. The animal charged, and the soldier, taking to his heels, ran into the column. The bull undaunted by the number of the enemy, followed him headlong, scattering several regiments like chaff, and finally escaped unhurt, having demoralized and put to flight an army which a few days after covered itself with glory by victoriously encountering five times its number of human enemies.

How They Say It In South America.

The mission schools in South America yield a rich harvest of mistakes in English, such as are always imminent because of the close similarity between Spanish and English. The consonants "b" and "v" in Spanish are practically interchangeable. A teacher, having given some dictation to her class, was therefore not so astonished as amused to have it come back to her:

Then give to the world the vest you have,
And the vest will come back to you.

The same teacher has kept a collection of some other slips which need no explanation. "I don't could." "A pigeon with a rag tied round its paw." "My father is very thick." "My watch is not well; it is anticipate." "I have to wash my hair very often because it is so fat."—New York Globe.

Not With Malice.

"Look here," said the head of the firm, "I want to give you a pointer."

"Yes, sir," the office boy respectfully replied.

"If I hear you humming any more popular songs around here I'll discharge you."

"All right. I don't do it no more. I wouldn't of done it this time only me lips is sore and I can't whistle."—Chicago Herald.

Remembrance.

"Every time you see a pretty girl you forget that you are married," his better half complained bitterly.

"On the other hand, my dear," he replied sadly, "nothing brings home to me the fact with so much force."

Real Envy.

A considerable mingling of social classes occurs in our hill village, writes a correspondent, owing to the townfolk's practice of renting summer cottages in our midst and living there neighborly with the real working people for whom the places were built. In one such case the resident from town was an unmarried lady; the "genuine" cottager next door had a husband who, to put it mildly, was notoriously no blessing to her. Making a friendly call one day the wife was greatly impressed by the pleasant air of comfort and well being achieved in a cottage otherwise the duplicate of her own. She looked round with a mildly envious air and earnestly remarked, on a little sigh, "Ee, Miss X—, you ought to be 'appy—no 'usband nor nothin'."—Manchester Guardian.

LEGALIZING VIOLENCE

The petitions now being circulated by organized labor asking that the constitution of the state be amended so as to take from the courts the power to issue injunctions in labor disputes is one of the most arbitrary and revolutionary moves ever made in a democratic country in time of peace. The suspension of the writ of [illegible] would be fraught with no more danger to the rights of citizens that the depriving of certain classes of our people of the right to seek this remedy to prevent the destruction of their property and the ruin of their business. It is the most radical kind of class legislation because it seeks to deliver up one class of our citizens, bound and helpless, to the tender mercies of another class.

We might look upon this move with more or less complacency if the evil was to affect only the class at which it is aimed, but the evil effects from such legislation will touch every citizen of the state. We cannot isolate such a vicious principle. Sooner or later the whole people, who pay all the bills in the end, will taste the bitter fruit, and it is better that they should realize this before putting their hands to a petition which is bound to handicap their commercial activities, work disaster to their industries and open the door to a whole flood of vicious legislation. If the fundamental law of the state is to be changed so as to deprive the manufacturer of the power to protect his property by injunction it will pave the way for an orgie of disorder and destruction against which the local authorities will be powerless.

Organized labor may deny that it intends either disorder or destruction, but the very fact that it is asking that the legal restraints upon such action be removed proves the case against it. If a business man's property is threatened with destruction at the hands of disgruntled employees or anyone else is he not entitled to the entire force of the commonwealth to protect it? If organized labor does not intend to coerce the employer by threatening the destruction of his property why is it making such strenuous efforts to deprive him of the legal protection which he has had since the foundation of the republic? The motive behind all this activity is too transparent to deceive any citizen who will acquaint himself with the facts.

It is time that the people realized that they have to pay, in the final accounting, for all labor disputes, strikes, lockouts and boycotts. This fact is unescapable. Have the people of any city in this state so many factories that they can afford to open the doors to fire and destruction? Are we not all vitally interested in the payrolls of our factories? Are we not all affected adversely when those payrolls dwindle or disappear? Can we afford to place our factories at the mercy of those who respect not the personal or property rights of another? The vast majority of our workingmen are orderly and law-abiding citizens, but there are, unfortunately, too many to whom the destruction of property appeals as the best arguments which can be used in the settlement of labor disputes. Before our citizens give encouragement to this movement they should consider the patent fact that organized labor would not ask for this power if it did not intend to use it.

U. S. ARMY OPEN TO BOYS

Lads of 18 Years Can Now Join Uncle Sam's Fighting Force.

CHICAGO, ILL.—Rush orders from the war department slashed to bits the age restrictions for enlistment in the United States army and opened government forces to hundreds of thousands of adventure-loving youths. Any youth of 18 can now join the army without his parents' consent. The former limit was twenty-one. And boys under eighteen can enlist if their fathers consent.

The orders were telegraphed by Adjutant General Henry P. McCain at the national capital. They were received by Captain F. R. Kenney, who is in charge of army recruiting in this part of the country.

MUSTER IN TWO REGIMENTS

First and Second Illinois Infantry U. S. Fighting Units.

CAMP DUNNE, SPRINGFIELD, —The first and Second infantry, Illinois national guard, became fighting units of the United States for service in Mexico by means of federal muster. This hastened process places the two regiments in readiness for the order to leave for the border.

Federal muster of the Second Infantry as a result of urgent orders from Major General Barry to rush all available troops into government service began immediately following the work of the First.

ROME ITALY.—The capture of a dozen Austrian positions on a wide front was announced in a supplementary official statement, reporting the Italians making amazing progress in their new offensive.

ANXIETY OVER HETTY GREEN

Son Says Illness Is Not Serious, but Age Brings Complications.

NEW YORK, N. Y.—The condition of Mrs. Hetty Green, the "richest woman in the world," was described at her home here as very favorable. Denial was made that she was suffering from a stroke of paralysis. Colonel Edward H. R. Green, her son, said that the illness was not serious, but that those attending her realized that any indisposition in a woman of her age, might develop, although no immediate danger was foreseen at this time.

CELEBRATE
The Glorious Fourth
COME TO JACKSON

The city of Jackson promises the finest celebration in the state with a program of sports, a gorgeous automobile parade, many bands of music and a stupendous display of fireworks in the evening.

Jackson Invites You
And Everything Is Free

See the competitive drills by cadet companies; see the exciting and amusing races and contests; climb the greased pole; catch the greased pig. See the unveiling of the new soldiers' monument. Come to Jackson and see a real old-fashioned celebration of Independence Day.

Plan Now To Spend the 4th at Jackson
The Livest City in Michigan.

HAGUE PARK WILL HELP JACKSON CELEBRATE THE FOURTH

To amuse the public and do the job successfully presents a big problem but the management of Hague park has arranged a program for its 4th of July celebration which it believes to be far superior to any yet served up to its many thousands of patrons. From early in the forenoon until late in the evening there will be something doing every minute.

Commencing at 11 o'clock in the morning a barbecue (roast ox) will be served. Orders have already been placed for 10,000 buns which will be used for the sandwiches which will be served free of charge to all patrons Roast ox will be served all day and during the evening.

In the morning will be a balloon ascension with parachute drop and another exhibition will be given during the afternoon. The big feature of the day, however, will be staged on the lake in the evening when, from a mammoth raft in the center of the lake hundreds of dollars worth of fireworks will be set off. While the fireworks program is at its height the big balloon will make a trip into the heavens and a large display of fireworks will be touched off at a height of many hundreds of feet. Cutting loose from the balloon the aeronaut will drop through a shower of fire into the lake.

The above are only a few of the many attractins which will make the day one long to be remembered at Hague park. There will be dancing both afternoon and evening and the roller skating rink will be open throughout the day.

CARPATHIANS FAIL TO HALT RUSSIANS

Forces of Czar Drive on Toward Hungary.

LONDON, ENG. — Russian troops have broken through the fastnesses of the Carpathian Mountains and are sweeping down upon the plains of Transylvania. All Hungary is menaced and the danger to Budapest is greater than at any time since the war began, according to dispatches from Petrograd.

With the capture of Kimpolung the last of Bukowina came under Russian control on Saturday, and an advance of six miles to the west of Kimpolung, with the capture of positions near Pezoritt, is announced.

The Russian advance into the Carpathians, though started several days ago, has apparently proceeded with unexpected success. Recent reports from Vienna indicated that the southern portion of General Pflanzers' defeated army had retreated to positions commanding practically all of the chief passes of the mountains and would desperately resist a further Russian advance.

Though official report of the Russian entry into Transylvania is lacking in details, it indicates that the advance was made at a point close to the Roumanian border, and was pushed with such fury that the Austrian defense was totally broken and routed, at this point at least.

Tiemmen Schepel, 19 years of age of Holland, is a year older than his grandmother. Schepel's grandfather, who is seventy-five years old, recently married a girl of eighteen.

RESOLUTIONS ON THE DEATH OF MRS. J. E. SOMERS

CAPTAIN MOREY IS RESCUED BY JENKINS

U. S. Dead at Carrizal Estimated at 23.

FIELD HEADQUARTERS, MEX. —Twenty-three American soldiers are known to have lost their lives on the battle field at Carrizal, according to a report to General Pershing from Major Jenkins, commanding the Eleventh cavalry column, ordered to scour the country in that vicinity for survivors.

This report told of the rescue of Captain Lewis S. Morey, after he had made a daring stand in the face of heavy sacrifices in an effort to save the lives of his men. Major Jenkins said he had evidence that nine American troopers, in addition to those previously reported dead, had been killed.

A note found on the body of Captain Charles T. Boyd, the American commander who lost his life in a charge on the Mexican machine gun trench, proved that General Felix Gomez, the Mexican commander, invited them into the town of Carrizal, and that he had refused and afterward conferred with Gomez outside the town. Neither the note book of Captain Boyd nor that of Captain Morey, both of which were recovered, threw new light on the clash, according to the report.

Westinghouse Electric Will Care for Employes in Guard Service.

PITTSBURG, PA. — The employes of all Westinghouse companies and branch factories, wherever located, who are members of the national guard of the various states, will receive their salaries in full until Jan. 1 and probably longer, according to an official announcement just made here by E. M. Herr, president of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company.

Greece Would Borrow Money.

ATHENS. — The first action of the new cabinet formed by M. Zaimis after assurances had been given the entente powers of the intention of the government to proceed as quickly as possible to satisfy the demands made upon Greece was the opening of negotiations for an Anglo-French loan with which to tide the country over until elections are held.

A GENERAL SURVEY OF THE WAR.

Wednesday, June 21.—Russian forces which crossed the River Styr west of Kolki have been driven back across the river, the Germans taking 1,000 prisoners, the German war office announces.

The Russian war office announces that the number of men captured by the Russians in the offensive in Volhynia and Galicia up to Thursday of last week was 172,484.

Thursday, June 22.—Pressing forward ten miles in twenty-four hours, Russian forces which crossed the River Sereth captured the railroad town of Radautz in Bukowina, twenty-five miles south of Czernowitz, the Russian war office announces. The Russians took 1,022 prisoners and three machine guns.

The repulse of heavy attacks by the Russians against General Count von Bothmer's forces north of Przewoloka was announced by the German war office.

Reports have been received in London that a serious uprising against the Turks is in progress in Arabia and that the rebels have captured the Holy City of Mecca.

The Greek government has acquiesced to the demands of the allies in full. A new cabinet is to be formed with supporters of Venizelos as members.

Friday, June 23.—While the Russian advance in Southern Bukowina continued steadily with the capture of three more villages and the German counter drive north of Lutsk claimed further successes, 100,000 German reinforcements from the western front were reported on their way to check the Slav offensive.

The Petrograd war office announced the capture of three villages west of Radautz, thirty miles south of Czernowitz. Eight hundred prisoners were taken.

A powerful offensive movement was launched by the Germans in Champagne and three strong infantry attacks were delivered on a 1,200-yard front at Maison de Champagne and Mont Tetu.

The French war office stated that all were repulsed.

Saturday, June 24.—The official statement of the Russian general staff says the town of Kuty, just across the Galician border, has been captured and that virtually all the important towns in Bukowina are now in Russian hands.

After capturing Thiamont, a fortified position north of Verlun, they continued their advance until they had taken a part of the village of Fleuey. They were soon ejected from the latter point, however, by a fierce counter attack.

Four hundred persons lost their lives, according to reports, when the Russian passenger steamer Mercury was sunk in the Black Sea by a mine. The total number of persons abroad the steamship was approximately 550

Sunday, June 25.—Occupation of the entire Austrian Crown Land of Bukowina is announced from Petrograd. The possession of the province was completely by the capture of the town of Kimpolung, in the southern part of Bukowina, at the foot of the Carpathians. More than 2,000 prisoners were captured.

Violent attacks on the Austro-German forces in Volhynia have been repulsed Berlin reports.

The British have developed pronounced artillery activity along the portion of the Franco-Belgian front they hold from La Bassee Canal to the Somme, the war office announces.

Counterattacks by the French Saturday night north of Verdun resulted in their regaining some lost ground, the war office announces.

THE SCHOOL SITE.

A special meeting of School District, number 7 is called for Friday evening, July 7, to be held at Grange Hall. The business to come before this meeting is to consider and provide for the purchase of additional land about the present school site.

The majority of the voters seem to favor the old location with additional land added. The Chapman property is considered necessary by most voters and in our mind it would be foolish to consider it at all without it. Shall we purchase more than the Chapman property?

This is a question, Mr. Voter, for you to decide before July 7th. The Herald would like to see this building placed on a plot of ground worthy of the building. We will have more to say about the school site in our next issue.

CHAUTAUQUA NOTES

Chautauqua patrons will hear a throughly good musical organization on Opening day, when Signor Lauritano's Orchestra with Gaetano soloists, will appear. Lauritano's great organization won continental fame before coming to this country a number of years ago and have repeated in America the triumphs won abroad.

Little Miss Inez Lauritano, who will appear with her gifted father, Signor Lauritano, leader of the great orchestra which appears at the opening of our Chautauqua, is a musical prodigy. She is but seven years of age and has been playing the violin since she was three years of age. Lyon & Healy, the celebrated musical instrument manufacturers, were so impressed with her abilities that they presented her with an exceptionally fine instrument which she will use in her solo appearance with the orchestra.

An interesting feature of the concerts to be given by Signor Lauritano's Orchestra, at the Chautauqua will be the use of a specially designed harmonizer, from the Mason & Hamlin studios. By the use of this great instrument twelve players produce the effects common to great symphony orchestra.

Card of Thanks.

I wish to express my thanks to the friends and neighbors for the kindness and sympathy during the illness and death of my husband.

To the members of the G. A. R. those who furnished autos and the beautiful flowers.

Mrs. George Burroughs.

DER TAUSEND SCHON

A rose, a rose, a lovely rose,
There's not a flower so sweet to me
I watch it bud, and when it blows,
I pluck it with a childish glee;
But when I put it to my nose,
I find a thorn I didn't see.

But not so with the Thousand Beauties a most wonderful pink rose, that proves its name by the many blossoms that bloom upon the bush; not a thorn to pierce one, but just lovely roses shading from deep pink to pure white in the same bunch.

Mr. George Merritt was in the office Wednesday morning and told us of this rosebush, and invited us to call and see it, which we did, and words fail us to tell of its exquisite beauty.

He gave us two long branches which were just a mass of bloom. Mr. Merritt has also some fine crimson ramblers the baby rambler, being in full bloom, and the later one full of buds. these will soon be in their glory. We felt well repaid for our visit both by the kindness of Mr Merritt and the wealth of roses that we saw.

JACKSON TO CELEBRATE THE FOURTH

Jackson, the scene of a most successful municipal celebration of the Fourth of July a year ago, extends an invitation to the people of Jackson county and vicinity to join with it in a real "old fashioned" observation of the national holiday. Thousands of persons participated in the big celebration last year and it is proposed to make the coming demonstration the greatest event of its kind yet held in Jackson.

There will be plenty of entertainment and because of the length of the program the celebration will start early in the forenoon and will conclude in the evening with a gigantic display of fire works on the fair grounds.

It will be a municipal celebration from start to finish. A general committee from among the citizens has been appointed to take charge of the various departments of the program for the day and nothing will be left undone to make it the biggest event of its kind to be held in southern Michigan this year.

Several bands have already been engaged and there will be music from early morning until late in the evening. Early in the afternoon there will be a huge street parade. Last year the decorated automobiles which appeared in line constituted a feature which received much favorable comment and particular stress is to be placed on this department of the parade this year. Prizes are to be awarded in the various divisions of the parade and competition will be open to residents of Jackson and surrounding counties.

Evevry effort is going to be made to entertain the children, the committees in charge being particularly anxious to please the younger generation. To this end a lengthy program of contests for boys and girls is being arranged and some very attractive prizes are offered the successful contestants. Last year many of the prizes were carried away by boys and girls living outside of Jackson and no doubt they will figure largely in the competition this year.

MOCK TRIAL

Judge—Martin Wilson

Lawyers for the prosecution—Elmer Hendershott, John Whelan

Lawyers for the defense—Clement Bramble, Walace Peters

Jury—Hettie McClue, Estella Miller, Sarah Toland, Julia Snell, Franc Richart and Mana Walker

Prisoners — Frank Poter, Will Harding

Officers — Charlie Bean, Jesse Coller

Clerk—Charlie Patterson

Witnesses for the prosecution—Ellis Walker, Harry Dunn, Frank Bowlsby, Grant Hanford, Mary Wood, Anna Robbins, Lelia Doty.

Witnesses for the defense—Will Aten, Florence Shepard, Vincent Chapman, Ella Church, Finley Deuel, Mr. Wyrill and Miss Kahler

Critic—Louise Hialey

Note—We have not been able to discover what the verdict was, but knowing the character of the prisoners, we have no doubt they served time, as Potter is a college professor and Harding a Congregational minister at the present time, and a brother of Arthur Harding.

SPECIAL SCHOOL MEETING

Notice is hereby given that a special meeting of School District No. 7 in the Township of Tecumseh, County of Lenawee and State of Michigan, will be held at 7:30 o'clock p. m. on the 7th day of July, A. D 1916 at the Grange Hall in the Village of Tecumseh, County and State aforesaid:

That the business to come before the meeting is to consider and determine the purchase of lands adjoining the site of the present High School grounds in said District, enlarging the same, and to provide by taxation for any purchase directed by such meeting.

BARGAIN DAY

One of the most perfect days of June greeted as Wednesday and everyone rejoiced for so far Bargain days have mostly been rainy days.

There was a fair attendance for the afternoon, but when evening came the crowd was immense, and the business houses were kept busy until a late hour On the street there was not even elbow room and autos and teams were stowed away in every available place on the roadside.

It was estimated that there were between four and five hundred autos in town and hundreds of rigs. The entertainment both afternoon and evening was one of the best ever seen in Tecumseh.

And, as we passed through the crowd we heard on every hand expressions of praise for the program. The Clinton band was with us, and gave a tip top program.

The entertainment opened with a musical act with banjo accompaniment by the Roma Duo whose voices showed exceptional tone and quality, they gave several selections to the delight of the crowd.

The next came an acrobatic act by Cregg and Cregg. The Cregg's showed a great amount of pep and some clever head balancing and muscle work.

Next Black Hawk in Indian songs and dancing Last came the Santell Brothers in a musical act with accordion and violin and they certainly made their instruments speak.

We are unable at this time to give the program for next week but the committee has been informed by Manager Mack that he will have a strong bunch of entertainers here for next Wednesday.

For band music we will have Adrian's famous Imperial band. If you have not heard them you don't want to miss them. Our merchants are well pleased with the success of their undertaking and they deserve your support on these Bargain days

As we are giving you unusually fine entertainments gratis

We noticed in the crowd people from Brooklyn, Lake Ridge, Milan, Cone, Saline, Ridgeway, Britton, Blissfield Ypsilanti, Adrian, Tipton, Holloway and Clinton.

There were about thirty couple at Harriott and Collers dancing party which proved a very attractive part of the evening's entertainment and was much enjoyed. Next week will be extra music and a general invitation is extended to all Besure and hit the trail to Tecumseh next Wednesday evening, where a hearty welcome awaits you.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

COMING SOON SERIAL STORY

"THE TRANSFORMING PASSION" BY DR. W. B. HARTZOG

It has been our policy from time to time to publish a serial story in the columns of the Herald, and we now take pleasure in announcing that we will publish the first installment of a serial in our next Friday issue of "The Transforming Passion"

This story is of local interest from the fact that the author, W. B. Hartzog is a resident of Tecumseh, pastor of the Baptist church, and while the names of the characters are fictitious, yet the scene of the story is laid in Tecumseh and vicinity.

We are sure that our readers will look forward with interest for the first issue as every one will want to read Dr. Hartzog's story. Watch for the first chapter.

BUSINESS MEN'S BAQNUET

62 Men Present.

The business men's banquet, held Thursday evening at Wampler's lake, was a very pleasant affair The former banquets have been held at the Barrett House, but not being able to be entertained there at this time, arrangements were made with Mine Host Nisle to have it at 'The Farm "

Over sixty of the business men left town about 6 o'clock and had a delightful run to the lake The banquet was served at about 8 o'clock consisting of a three course chicken supper.

The banquet was followed by a business session. F. S Anderson called the meeting to order and stated briefly some of the questions up for consideration R. S. Moore was made chairman of the meeting.

Our Wednesday Bargain Days were the first subject brought up and there was an almost unanimous opinion that they were a big success The question of handling the crowds which gather on our streets Wednesdays was discussed and many good ideas were brought out. A rising vote was given the committee in charge for the successful manner in which they have handled these events.

The coming Chautauqua was next discussed. Dr. Hartzog made a strong plea for the support of the business men and the majority expressed themselves as willing to help push The question of a Chautauqua for the season of 1917 was left open until after the coming Chautauqua was over, to be brought up and disposed of at the next meeting

The last subject up for consideration was the school site The matter was discussed quite freely, some expressing themselves in favor of providing ample grounds about our new school. The meeting adjourned however, without any definite action on the matter.

The trip home was very pleasant and Tecumseh was reached about 11 o'clock, everyone grateful that they had escaped the rain which fell in torrents later in the night.

HENRY L. JONES

Another of Tecumseh's pioneers has passed to the great majority, and again we are called upon to consign to the silent tomb, one who for many years has been a familiar figure upon our streets, Henry L. Jones passed away Wednesday forenoon, at the age of 75 years

Mr Jones has been in poor health for a number of years with heart trouble, but was confined to the home but a few days when death claimed him. For a number of years he has cared tenderly for the one who is left to mourn his loss, for her life seemed to be drifting away until very lately. It has been her's to rally, and care for him during his last sickness

Mr Jones was for over thirty years in the express business and at one time run a restaurant, but in the later years has been engaged in real estate busines which he managed until the time of his death

He was born at Allen Prairie, Michigan, June 22, 1841 eldest son of Rev. and Mrs Jonathan Jones, and came to Tecumseh in 1863. He was united in marriage to Sarah L. Edgerly in 1880. She, with a granddaughter Mrs Bornritter of Toledo, and two sisters, Mrs. Harrison Wilson and Mrs Comstock of Franciscoville, Ind., and brother Chas. Jones of Wolcott, Ind., are left to mourn his loss

The funeral was held this afternoon at the home under the auspices of the Masonic fraternity of which he has long been a member Burial in Brookside cemetery

MRS. FARWELL

Mrs Farwell passed away at the home of her daughter Mrs. M. C. Tenny in Brownville at 11:30 Thursday evening.

As we go to press no arrangements have been perfected, but the body will be taken to Quincy for burial Monday morning The other daughters Mrs. Monroe and Mrs. Routsen are residents of Tecumseh.

MRS. B. J. PULVER ENTERTAINS AT 1 O'CLOCK LUNCHEON

A very delightful social occasion was the 1 o'clock luncheon party at the home of Mrs. B. J Pulver Thursday. The guests were seated at eight small tables which were placed in the living room and on the porch. A three course luncheon was served. In the center of each table was a crystal basket filled with bachelor buttons. Bridge was the game for the afternoon. Miss Ethe Garlinghouse receiving the honors.

NOTICE

The call for a special meeting of District, No. 7 has been changed from the evening of July 5 to July 7 on account of Gala day.

CLASS RE-UNION

Way back some thirty-five or forty years ago, a class of young girls was organized in the Methodist Sunday schol with Mrs. Helen M. Griswold as teacher and for years was known as "Helen's Babies" in their social gatherings. After many years with our beloved teacher, she was called higher, and in our grief we felt that her place could never be filled. Our next teacher was Mrs. Leman Barnes but she too was taken from us by death and again we wondered who could fill the gap, but fate was very kind, and our dear friend Mrs. Hurry has more than pleased us by her loving care, and helpful teaching, and we earnestly pray that she may be spared to us for many years.

Wednesday afternoon we met for our annual re-union, at the pleasant home of Mrs. M. E. Ide, with a goodly company, about forty being present. A short business meeting was called and the following officers elected for the coming year.

President—Mrs. A. J. Biglow.

Vice-President—Miss Emma Rogers.

Secretary and Treasurer— Mrs. Will Waldron.

A most delightful social afternoon was passed with reminiscences and general conversation. The ages of the class past and present ranged from 50 years to 78, but there was not an old person present, for though many wore the insignia of age, a crown of grey hair, yet every heart was young for they had all learned the lesson that a smile and a pleasant word are proof against the flight of years.

A bountiful picnic supper was served and as the twilight shadows fell the class departed to their homes with the memory of another pleasant meeting to cheer them on the way. The out of town guests were Mrs. Hamilton of N. Y., Mrs. Della Harmon, Kalamazoo, Mrs. Emma Ford, Blissfield, Mrs. Beri VanNess, Tipton, Mrs. J. J. Neeley, Detroit and Miss Margaret Ide of Los Angeles, Cal. With the exception of Mrs. Hamilton and Miss Ide these were all the members of the class.

PIONEER PICNIC

Bring your baskets and join in the big pioneer picnic at Adams Park opposite the East Branch school, July 4. The park will be decorated with flags, and chairs and tables will be provided The crowd will gather about 10:30. and dinner will be served at noon.

After dinner there will be a brief program. Mrs. Margaret Kidman will give a reading Dr. Hartzog will speak on General J W. Brown, founder of Tecumseh Talks on old times by Minor Davidson, H. C. Conklin, Horatio Keysor and others.

PENNY SOCIAL

The members of the Queen Esther Circle had a very pleasant meeting Tuesday evening at the M. E. church parlors where they held a penny social, charging one cent for entrance, and a cent each for the dishes used and the refreshments bringing the price to 10c per guest

The tables were beautifully decorated with flowers, roses and immense bowls of pond lillies being used. Sandwiches, coffee and doughnuts furnished the bill of fare

A candy booth was also an attraction by it neat appearance and a fine display of candies which also drew on the purse for more pennies

After this a short program was given the young ladies realized nearly $8 The money thus earned is to be used to purchase a scholarship in the Ellen Stark Food Home in San Francisco

MISSIONARY SOCIETY OFFICERS ELECTED

The annual meeting of the Woman's Home Missionary society of the M. E church was held at Mrs Fred Rosacrans' Thursday afternoon for the election of officers which was as follows:

President—Mrs Alva Waring
1st Vice Pres.—Mrs. G W. Jennings
2d " " —Mrs. Fred Rosacrans

WHY IT SUCCEEDS

Nothing can be good for everything.

Doing one thing well brings success.

For weak or disordered kidneys.

Here is Tecumseh evidence to prove their worth.

E. C. Brisbin, farmer, N. Democrat St., Tecumseh, says: "I began to suffer from kidney complaint twenty years ago and the medicine I took brought me only temporary relief. Often my back ached intensely and the secretions from my kidneys were irregular in passage and highly colored. Doan's Kidney Pills went to the seat of the trouble and did me much good."

NEARLY THREE YEARS LATER Mr. Brisbin said: "You may continue to use my name as a reference for the merit of Doan's Kidney Pills. Whenever I feel in need of a kidney medicine. I take this remedy and it acts promptly and effectively."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Brisbin has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y. adv

You Women In Hot Country Kitchens

These modern conveniences have been made expressly to save your time and labor and to increase your comfort and pleasure in your daily work.

A Real Gas Cook Stove—as convenient as gas stoves used for cooking in practically every city home in the world. Like city gas it does away with the bother and work of handling coal, wood and ashes. You have a fire that is always ready—lighted instantly, and which can be controlled to give a large or small amount of heat by a turn of the valve.

A Self-Heating Flat Iron—always hot. A convenience which cuts the work of ironing day in half—enabling you to do better work in quicker time and with greater comfort. No hot stove—no roasting kitchen—the heat is all concentrated in the iron itself.

Pilot-Carbide-Outdoor Lighting and Cooking Plants

bring these conveniences to country homes. In addition they supply the house, barns and outbuildings with an abundance of safe, bright, convenient light. The Pilot is supplying this up-to-date service to hundreds of thousands of other farm homes. To secure the same conveniences for your home will require only a moderate investment well within the means of every home owner.

He Removed the Danger Signal

Frank W. Sherman, Laconia, N. Y., writes: "I suffered with kidney trouble, had a tired feeling in my back, did not have any ambition and felt all tired out. I used Foley Kidney Pills and in a few days began to feel better, and now I have entirely recovered and have had no return of my painful symptoms."

One cannot help becoming nervous and feeling tired and worn out when the kidneys fail to filter and throw out of the system the poisonous waste matter that causes kidney troubles and bladder ailments.

Backache is one of Nature's danger signals that the kidneys are clogged up and inactive. It is often followed by rheumatism, annoying bladder or urinary disorders, puffy swellings under the eyes, swollen ankles and painful joints.

ITALIANS CAPTURE AUSTRIAN TRENCHES

Attacks Indicate Weakening of Dual Empire.

Rome, July 3.—Infantry attacks in the Arsa Valley with the artillery shelling Fort Pobbachio are reported in the official statement.

The Austrians were driven from their trenches north of Pedescola and between Sies and Monfalcone. In the latter engagement 198 prisoners were taken.

London, July 3.—Italian gains made at several points northwest of Trent, in the Cheese Valley and the dispersal of Austrian concentrations in Lagarina Valley are considered indicative of the further weakening of the Austrian offensive due to the withdrawal of soldiers to meet the Russian offensive. In the last few days the Austrian afficial reports have not claimed gains on the Italian front.

TWO ILLINOIS UNITS OFF

Third and Fourth Regiments Leave Springfield for Border.

Springfield, July 3.—Two more regiments of infantry has been rushed out of here, bound for the concentration camps at San Antonio, Texas.

The units were the Third and Fourth Illinois regiments, made up of men from the country towns of the north and south of the state. Brigadier General H. R. Hill went with the First Battalion.

U. S. Dock at Seattle Burns.

Seattle, July 3.—Fire completely destroyed pier 11, known as the Oriental dock, at the foot of Virginia street. The pier is used by the United States army quartermaster department as the wharf for the cable steamer Burnside.

MEXICANS FIRE ON U. S. TROOPS

Snipers Opposite Nogales Shoot for Twenty Minutes.

DARKNESS HIDES ASSAILANTS

Americans Return Fire, but Patrol Guards Are Unable to Tell Whether It Was Effective—Another Punitive Expedition Crosses Border After Bandits.

Nogales, Ariz., July 3.—Mexicans, believed to have been Carranza soldiers, fired about sixty shots at the American guards on this side of the line. The firing commenced about 12:45 a. m. and was kept up about twenty minutes.

The snipers were stationed to the southwest of Nogales station. No casualties are reported from this side. The guards returned a few shots, but in the darkness had to fire at random and claim no hits. According to reports so far procurable they saw none of their assailants.

A few nights ago General Calles' men smashed all the street lights on the Nogales, Sonora, streets, adjacent to Nogales, Ariz., so that soldiers could see across into the Arizona town, which is well illuminated, without themselves being visible in the darkness.

Again Chasing Bandits.

San Antonio, July 3.—American troopers are again across the Rio Grande, bandit chasing. Captain Leroy Eltinge, in command at Fabens, Tex., crossed the river at 5 o'clock Sunday evening with a detachment of his troops of the Eighth Cavalry in pursuit of the eight Mexicans, who raided a ranch near Fort Hancock and made off with a number of horses.

General Bell at El Paso reported this fifth punitive expedition to General Funston. No information has come from Eltinge since he and his men forded the river.

General Funston said that unless Eltinge found a good trail and had prospects of coming up with the marauders, he would return to the American side at once. He said it was not the intention that this little expedition should remain long on Mexican soil.

Eltinge had orders from Brigadier General Bell to be careful to avoid contact with the Carranza forces.

GERMAN SECOND LINE IS BROKEN

Fricourt Falls in Great Drive of the Allies.

FRENCH CAPTURE TWO TOWNS

9,500 Prisoners Are Taken by French and British—German Statement Admits Allied Gain, but Says Losses Are Heavy—Friese and Mereaucourt Wood Taken by French.

London, July 3.—Furious German counter-attacks failed to halt the French and British on the second day of their offensive. The Berlin official report admits gains of the allies both north and south of the River Somme. The German stronghold at Fricourt was taken by the British, and the French have captured a stone quarry, heavily fortified, east of Curlu.

Peronne, another German stronghold and an important base, is threatened by advances both from the north and south.

South of the Somme the French have penetrated the second line of German defenses, capturing the village of Franz and the Mereaucourt woods, according to the French official report issued at midnight. A footing was gained by the French between the River Asservillieres.

During the two days' advance the French have captured 6,000 and the British 3,500 prisoners.

The British and French advance is aimed at Peronne, both from the north and the south. This city is an important base.

French Advance Continues.

"To the north of the Somme the fighting continued to our advantage throughout the day in the region of Hardecourt and Curlu. East of Curlu we have captured a quarry, which had been powerfully organized by the Germans.

"To the south of the Somme we have gained a footing at numerous points in the scond German line, between the river and Assevillieres. The village of Fraz fell into our hands, together with the wood of Mereaucourt, farther to the east.

"The number of unwounded prisoners captured by the French troops Sunday and Monday counted to date, is more than 6,000, of whom 150 are officers. We have also taken a number of cannon and a great deal of war material. Thanks to our complete and efficacious artillery preparation and also to the elan of our infantry, our losses were very small.

"On the front north of Verdun there were no infantry actions during the day. The bombardment continues actively in the region of Hill No. 304 and the sectors of Fleury and Damloup.

"Our aviators caused three captive balloon to catch fire in the region of Verdun. Sergeant Chainat brought down his fifth German machine, which was smashed by its fall near Peronne. During the nights of July 1 and 2 one of our air squadrons dropped forty-eight shells on the railway station of Longuyon, eight on the station of Thionville, and sixteen on the station of Dun. Another squadron threw thirty-five shells on the station at Brieulles.

"During the day twelve of our aeroplanes bombarded the station at Amagne-Lucquy. Sixty shells were thrown on the buildings and railway tracks. A train was destroyed.

Berlin Admits Somme Retreat.

"The Germans threw some heavy caliber shells in the direction of Nancy. Others were fired a little later against the Belfort region.

"About 3 o'clock in the morning a squadron of German aeroplanes dropped a number of bombs on the open city of Luneville. We have taken note of this for reprisals."

The British official report follows:

"Substantial progress has been made in the vicinity of Fricourt, which was captured by our troops at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Up to noon the following day 500 more prisoners had been taken in the operations between the Ancre and the Somme, bringing the total up to 3,500, including those captured on other parts of the front Sunday night."

The Berlin official statement follows:

"Western Theater—The great Anglo-French offensive in massed attack which had been extensively prepared for months past, began Sunday on a front of twenty-five miles after strong artillery and gas preparation of six days on both sides of the Somme and Ancre Brook. From Gommecourt as far as the region of La Boiselle the enemy obtained no advantages worthy of mention and lost heavily.

"On the other hand, he was successful in penetrating several points in the first line trenches of our division in the region abutting on both banks of the Somme and was able to advance. This division had to be with Knife Duels in Mexico.

A duel between cattle herders on the Mexican plains is about as savage and deadly a manner of fighting as one could possibly imagine. Each opponent extends his left arm, and a third party who has been selected to act as referee binds their wrists together with a thong of rawhide. He then places a knife in the right hand of each, and the fight is on. Needless to say, it does not last long. Every stab may be calculated upon to do damage, and it often happens that both duelists receive fatal wounds. Yet, in spite of the severe rules of the game, there are men who become experts and terrorize a whole neighborhood. They pride themselves on being able to strike so quickly and so surely that they can kill an opponent with the first blow and get away unscathed.—Exchange.

31ST AND 32D MAY GO SOUTH AT SAME TIME

West Michigan and Detroit Regiments Equally Prepared.

Camp Ferris, Grayling, July 3.—With the Thirty-first and Thirty-second regiments mustered into the United States service, indications are that both will be dispatched to the Mexican border together, so far as transportation facilities will permit.

Major F. L. Wells, federal officer who has charge of the arrangements for preparing the Michigan troops for the United States government service, declared that there was little difference in the extent of preparedness of the two regiments. Members of each have undergone physical examinations and the Thirty-second has an edge on the Detroiters in that all its members have taken he anti-typhoid treatment.

Major Wells said that all equipment will be checked over before the move south will be begun. This he said will take probably three days.

That the trip to the border will not be begun for several days, is also indicated by the fact that all the sleeping cars which were sidetracked here have been sent back to Chicago. However, it was stated by General Kirk that they are subject to return at a moment's notice.

DENTIST WILL WED CO-ED.

Miss Winnifred Bush Engaged to U. of M. Graduate.

Howell, July 3.—Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Andrews Bush of Howell announce the engagement of their eldest daughter, Miss Winnifred Irene, to Dr. Ernest Allen Ross of Hanover.

Mr. Ross is a graduate of the class of 1916, U. of M., and received his degree as doctor of dental surgery this week. Miss Bush was a former student at the State Normal college at Ypsilanti, where the romance originated.

CARELESSNESS KILLS FIVE

Kerosene, Gasoline, Dynamite Figure in Mortality List.

Lansing, July 3.—Careless use of kerosene, gasoline and dynamite and fires caused the death of five persons and injured eleven others during June, according to the report of the state fire marshal.

Five children between two and six years of age were seriously burned. Five public buildings were burned or destroyed, four hotels and one schoolhouse, entailing a loss of $110,000.

Belding, July 3.—The first triple wedding ever held in Belding was solemnized when three sisters, Fanny M., Francis E. and Pearl Edna Devault, became the brides of Myron J. Wiggins, William E. Sower and Cuy Hubbard respectively.

Savant Becomes Benedick.

Grand Rapids, July 4.—Professor Albertus J. Rooks, head of Calvin college, and Miss Grace Costing, of Grand Rapids, were married at the home of Miss Costing by Rev. William Stuart, of the La Grave Avenue Christian Reformed church.

Tuscola Slayer Paroled.

Lansing, July 3.—Governor Ferris has paroled James Lawson, sentenced from Tuscola county, March 20, 1897, to serve a life sentence at Jackson prison for the murder of James Brown, a farmer residing in Tuscola county.

Tax Payers Slow, City Borrows.

Albion, July 3.—Because Albion people have been slow in paying up their taxes, the city treasurer has been forced to borrow $3,000 from local banks.

Auto Injuries Prove Fatal.

Hastings, July 3.—As result of injuries received in an auto accident Orville Hyde, fifty years old, a resident of Morgan, died in the Hastings hospital.

Summer School Enrollment Heavy.

Ypsilanti, July 3.—The summer school enrollment at the Normal is a record-breaker. Thursday, June 29, it was 1,872, while one year ago it was 1,471.

Foresters' Session Ends.

A FLOATING FORTUNE.

The Right Kind of Whale Is Heavily Freighted With Wealth.

First let us dispel the popular idea that a whale is a fish. It is not a fish, but an animal. It feeds its young with milk. And even though it lives in the water it can be drowned. A fish extracts oxygen from the water and takes it through its gills. But the whale has to rise to the surface and get a supply of oxygen from the air. When it does this it spouts water to make room for air, and the fishermen say, "There she blows!"

A whale has a large, flat tail, about eighteen feet across. Every fish has an upright tail. That is because fish need their tails only to act as rudders. But a whale, when he needs oxygen, has to beat down the water and get to the surface in bounds. That's the reason his tail is flat.

The baleen, or whalebone whale, carries all the whalebone in his mouth. It hangs down from his upper jaw in a vast network. He eats the smallest sort of jellyfish, etc. Having no teeth, he swims right into a shoal of things that form his food, and the network of whalebone acts as a huge fishing net. Whalebone is worth $10,000 a ton, and one whale may carry one and a half tons of it. Besides whalebone, we get tons of oil from the whale. It is used for ointments and very fine candles. And from a certain species of whale we get ambergris, which is worth from $10 to $30 an ounce. The whale is a floating fortune.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

TWO INTERPRETATIONS ON LETTER OF VICTIM

Suicide Threat or Fear of Death Given Words.

Waukegan, July 3.—A letter from Marion Lambert, the Lake Forest high school girl for whose alleged murder Will H. Orpet, university student, is on trial in the Waukegan criminal court, in which the young woman forecast her own death, caused a sensation. The letter was written to Erwin Franklin Clow, a Deerfield school student, who took the stand and identified it as the same received from Marion Lambert the Monday after Thanksgiving.

In the note there occurred one phrase which the state and defense both consider from different points of view to be fraught with deep significance.

The defense insists it is a threat of suicide and such a point is in Orpet's favor, while the state points out that Marion was to meet Orpet on the following Tuesday and that she already had learned to fear death at his hands.

RIOTING OVER LIEBKNECHT

Ten Are Shot and 50 Arrested—Berlin Square Is Guarded.

London, July 3.—Ten persons were shot and fifty arrested in the pro-Liebknecht riots in Pottsdammer Platz, Berlin, the Amsterdam correspondent of the Central News telegraphed. Most of the participants were socialists. A guard has been thrown about the platz to prevent similar demonstrations.

The correspondent also asserted that thirty socialists organizers who participated in a hunger parade in Liege, Belgium, were arrested and taken to Germany.

AUSTRIANS DIE IN WRECK

200 Soldiers Killed After Russians Remove Rails from Tracks.

London, July 3.—The death of 200 Austrian soldiers in the wreck of a military train is reported in a Reuter dispatch from Petrograd. The train was carrying part of the retreating Austrian force from Gurahumora, in southern Bukowina.

Oil Output 140,000,000 Bbls.

Washington, July 3.—The quantity of petroleum marketed in the United States during the first half of 1916 is estimated by John D. Northrop of the United States geological survey at 140,000,000 barrels.

LA FOLLETTE LOSES WATER FLOW FIGHT

Senate Drops His Amendment Limiting Drainage.

Washington, July 3.—The conferees on the river and harbor appropriation bill agreed to eliminate the Clarke-La Follette amendment affecting the Illinois deep waterway scheme and the sanitary district of Chicago.

The measure, carrying appropriatons in excess of $40,000,00, will be reported to both houses of congress this week with the recommedation of the conferees that it be sent on to the president.

When Senator La Follette heard that his amendment limiting the flow of water the sanitary district can take from Lake Michigan to 250,000 cubic feet per minute, had been beaten, he announced he would fight the conference report in the senate and attempt to get instructions to the senate conferees to insist upon its adoption.

WHICH SHALL IT BE?

At the coming school meeting July 7 you voters of District Number 7 will be called upon to vote on the proposition of providing additional land to be purchased through taxation and to be added to the present site. The question is how much land the district wishes to purchase and how much land can be secured.

The Chapman lot to the south and the Hoag lot to the east can be purchased. The back of lots owned by Holdway, Gillen and Gilbert which would be necessary if the Chapman and Hoag lots were secured to square up the lot probably can be purchased.

The Herald feels in providing a site for our new school we should do so with an eye to the future. It is far easier to provide ample land at the present time than it would be at some future time. Many say "Buy the Chapman property now and later if we feel we need more land we can purchase more." This later time will in our minds never come. If you want the largest property vote for it now.

We feel that it would be money well invested to acquire the larger property and all would be better satisfied when the building is up. Don't make the mistake of building on too small a lot provide plenty of land about your school. You wouldn't think of building a $75,000 home unless you had plenty of land about it. Do as well by the district as you would for yourself.

Michigan state laws do not compel you to provide a large site for your school, but it won't be many years before the state will require it. Many states are compelling school districts to provide ample room for their schools. Let's get ahead of the law in Tecumseh.

The Chapman lot, plus the Hoag property and the additional land to square the lot, would give us a lot practically 350 x 266. The Chapman property added to the present site would give the district a lot 350 x 200. Which do you want? Provide ample room by purchasing the larger lot.

When Tea Was Dear.

Those who grumble at the price of tea should turn for consolation to the records of its price in early times. At its first introduction into England, about the middle of the seventeenth century, tea fetched anything between £6 and £10 a pound, and though a fall in price quickly took place the East India company still had to pay over £4 for the two pounds of tea which it presented the king. However, even thus it is doubtful if the tea merchants got very fat, seeing that the importation of some 4,000 pounds in 1678 was enough to glut the market for some years.—London Chronicle.

Ancient Corfu.

The island of Corfu claims a maritime history antedating that of Athens. According to tradition, this was the land of the Phaecians, and here Ulysses landed in the course of his wanderings, and on this sea shore that delightful story had its setting, which Homer tells, of how the hero received much needed hospitality and kindness at the hands of Nausicaa, the daughter of King Alcinous—perhaps the most beautiful episode in all the "Odyssey." Indeed to this day two islands close to the shores of Corfu dispute the honor of being the ship of Ulysses turned into stone.

Salting a Census.

Ernest Edgren, formerly commercial agent for a railroad at Nanking, China, and later with the Pacific Mail company at Hongkong, is thus quoted in the Kansas City Star:

"No one knows how many people there are in China," he said. "The census figures say 400,000,000, but that is a guess. No census ever has been taken. The government arrives at its population figures by an old method. It has a monopoly on salt. By estimating the average per capita consumption of salt and dividing the total consumption of salt by that figure it is able to make a fair guess."

Effect of Cold on the Senses.

An explorer who took part in an antarctic expedition states that the most remarkable effect of the cold which he noticed was the loss of sense and touch in the fingers. It was almost complete.

"Suppose you wanted to look for a knife in your kit bag. You would put your hand in and feel round for it, and you would actually have it in your hand and not know. It was the same with everything we handled. We saw that we picked it up and saw that we held the article; we could not feel that we had it."

He added that it was not possible to shave, because the skin became irritated and sore, while if the beard became too long it became moist and then froze into a block. The only thing to do was to keep the beard and mustache clipped close.

Ax Head Money.

In olden times money was sometimes made in the shape of ax heads. So that if a man wished to buy a house he would offer for it so many gold axes, so many silver axes and so many bronze axes, just as we today deal with gold, silver and copper money. Dr. Schliemann found many of these silver axes in the ruins of Troy, and bronze ax heads have been found in many old ruins. After the ax head had disappeared as actual money the memory of it was preserved in the coins of Tenedos, which bore the figure of an ax head. Dr. Gotze also suggested that the "wedge of gold" which Achan stole from the spoils of Jericho and for the stealing of which Joshua had him stoned to death was a specimen of the ancient ax head money.

America's Largest Snake.

The largest American serpent is the anaconda, which may attain a length of thirty feet. It inhabits tropical America and is a handsome animal, with dark round spots scattered over its whole body on a groundwork of rich brown. It is very fond of water and haunts the banks of rivers, lakes and streams, there lying in wait for any deer or peccary which may come to the margin of the water to drink.

Nature Worked Backward.

The following is an interesting instance of the reversal of the ordinary course of nature that cost an English market gardener dear:

Watercress is eagerly devoured by caddis worms, and caddis worms are a favorite food of trout. The trout in turn have a voracious enemy in herons, which catch the fish after they have grown fat on caddis worms. Now, in the case referred to, it happened that a large grower of watercress had three-quarters of his crop ruined by the ravages of caddis worms. On investigation it was found that the trout, which ordinarily protected the plants from the worms, had been devoured ahead of time, so to speak, by a flock of hungry herons, which, in thus reversing the course of events, had brought disaster to the owner of the watercress.

Finnish Grammar.

Finnish grammar is of a difficulty absolutely repulsive. None of the other languages of the same group is half so hard. Hungarian—nay, even Turkish, despite the vexatious initial impediment of the Arabic alphabet—is easy in comparison. The syntax is at once provokingly elaborate and perplexingly obscure. It possesses fifteen distinct cases and twenty-four differentiated infinitive forms; but, on the other hand, there is no real distinction between nouns, adjectives, adverbs, prepositions, infinitives and participles, so that the student must not be startled by finding infinitives regularly declined like nouns and nouns taking upon them degrees of comparison like adjectives.

Result of an Accident.

Accidents are not always misfortunes. Chemists discovered by research the process of making artificial indigo, but it was only when a thermometer broke in the solution that they found out how to make the indigo cheap enough to be commercially valuable. The mercury so increased the yield of a certain acid that the process was cheapened sufficiently to make artificial indigo less expensive than natural indigo.

Short Lived Joy.

Wife (who last week quarreled with her husband and now seeks him among his companions at the inn)—Can you forgive me, Edward?

Husband—Well, you used me very badly, but let it go. Yes.

Wife—How I thank you for taking me back! And now you're coming straight home with me! What business have you sitting here till 11 at night?—Fliegende Blaetter.

How Could She?

Mistress—Did you see if the butcher had pig's feet? Maid—No, ma'am, I couldn't; he had his boots on.—Chicago Herald.

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

After Effects of Grip.

The state board of health is advising grip sufferers to live out in the open air as much as possible in order to get rid of that pernicious disease, which, as Mr. Dooley says, makes you sick six months after you get well. "The after effects of grip," says a recent health bulletin, "is usually the worst part of the disease, and it is just this for which fresh air is both a preventive and a cure. Grip sufferers usually feel that cool moving air would be the death of them, but the trouble is they are not on good terms with fresh air and can't appreciate its good qualities. They need to cultivate its acquaintance by living in it every day, walking in it and sleeping in it at night. The saddest story connected with grip," says the bulletin, "is not that a person has the grip now, but a later story that not infrequently follows—'He never got over the effects of grip,' or 'His grip went into pneumonia or tuberculosis.' Only fresh air, sunshine, rest and good food taken in time will prevent this sad story."

CHAUTAUQUA

July, 26, 27, 28, 29, and 30.

A meeting of the guarantors and others interested in the coming Chautauqua was held Friday evening at the Tecumseh State Bank. The advertising manager for the Coit-Alber Chautauqua was present and went over the work to be done here for the sessions which begin July 26 and last through five days.

An organization was effected and the officers and committees are as follows:

Manager—Dr. W. B. Hartzog

Treasurer—G. E. Nemire.

Advertising Committee—F. S. Anderson, F. S. Turner, C. H. Williamson, Percy Bowen and Wade L. Jones.

Ticket Committee—Guarantors and others to be named later.

Folders are here and may be secured from officers or any member of the committees. For the present buy your tickets at either bank. A strong program has been secured for this year and our friends are requested to purchase their tickets early. The price for a course ticket has been placed at $2.00 for adults and $1.00 for children.

Descriptive booklets are here, brim full of information, giving the program and other information for which you are looking.

A big feature of this year's Chautauqua is the Junior Chautauqua. There will be something doing this year for the "kiddies." Every town which has a Coit-Alber Chautauqua this year has a Junior Chautauqua. The Junior season ticket is $1.00. All children 14 and under are admitted on a Junior ticket to both the Adult and Junior Chautauquas. A specialist trained for Junior work will be in charge. It promises to be a great affair.

Boost for the Chautauqua and help make this year a big success. We need your help. For further information 'phone to Dr. Hartzog. No. 118, 2 rings. Don't forget the date, July 26.

CHAUTAUQUA NOTES

You'll be interested in the chronophotographs to be shown at the Chautauqua. These will picture our home folks. They will be pictures taken by a staff photographer of the Coit-Alber Chautauquas, and will show the opening day parade, points of interest about the town, etc. One of their chief charms will be their entire informality. You'll enjoy seeing yourself on the screen.

Roselth Knapp Breed, the reader, and impersonator with the Elmer Crawford Adams Company, one of the attractions at the Chautauqua has won the title of the leading humorist of Boston. She has the happy faculty of making folks laugh with her impersonations, which are never overdrawn, but are so true to life that they are universally commended.

Garnett Cox, of Boston, is the clever entertainer whose readings will add charm to the work of the Boston Comedy Players. Miss Cox will be heard here at the Chautauqua.

FUNERAL OF H. L. JONES

The funeral of Henry L. Jones was held from the home Friday afternoon, Rev. G. W. Jennings officiating. Mrs. E. C. Heilman and Miss Mabel Ager sang two selections "Rock of Ages," and "Nearer My God to Thee." The Masonic fraternity attended in a body and conducted the services at the grave.

The bearers were J. R. Nyland, A. C. Aylesworth, John H. Smith, Homer Whaley, Thomas Boyd and Clare Gillespie. There was a large number from out of town to pay their last respects to their departed friend.

Federal Inquiry or Railroad Strike?

Faced by demands from the conductors, engineers, firemen and brakemen that would impose on the country an additional burden in transportation costs of $100,000,000 a year, the railroads propose that this wage problem be settled by reference to an impartial Federal tribunal.

With these employes, whose efficient service is acknowledged, the railroads have no differences that could not be considered fairly and decided justly by such a public body.

Railroads Urge Public Inquiry and Arbitration

The formal proposal of the railroads to the employes for the settlement of the controversy is as follows:

"Our conferences have demonstrated that we cannot harmonize our differences of opinion and that eventually the matters in controversy must be passed upon by other and disinterested agencies. Therefore, we propose that your proposals and the proposition of the railways be disposed of by one or the other of the following methods:

1. Preferably by submission to the Interstate Commerce Commission, the only tribunal which, by reason of its accumulated information bearing on railway conditions and its control of the revenue of the railways, is in a position to consider and protect the rights and equities of all the interests affected, and to provide additional revenue necessary to meet the added cost of operation in case your proposals are found by the Commission to be just and reasonable; or, in the event the Interstate Commerce Commission cannot, under existing laws, act in the premises, that we jointly request Congress to take such action as may be necessary to enable the Commission to consider and promptly dispose of the questions involved; or

2. By arbitration in accordance with the provisions of the Federal law" (The Newlands Act).

Leaders Refuse Offer and Take Strike Vote

Leaders of the train service brotherhoods, at the joint conference held in New York, June 1-15, refused the offer of the railroads to submit the issue to arbitration or Federal review, and the employes are now voting on the question whether authority shall be given these leaders to declare a nation-wide strike.

The Interstate Commerce Commission is proposed by the railroads as the public body to which this issue ought to be referred for these reasons:

No other body with such an intimate knowledge of railroad conditions has such an unquestioned position in the public confidence.

The rates the railroads may charge the public for transportation are now largely fixed by this Government board.

Out of every dollar received by the railroads from the public nearly one-half is paid directly to the employes as wages; and the money to pay increased wages can come from no other source than the rates paid by the public.

The Interstate Commerce Commission, with its control over rates, is in a position to make a complete investigation and render such decision as would protect the interests of the railroad employes, the owners of the railroads, and the public.

A Question For the Public to Decide

The railroads feel that they have no right to grant a wage preferment of $100,000,000 a year to these employes, now highly paid and constituting only one-fifth of all the employes, without a clear mandate from a public tribunal that shall determine the merits of the case after a review of all the facts.

The single issue before the country is whether this controversy is to be settled by an impartial Government inquiry or by industrial warfare.

Legend of Hapsburg Castle.

According to legend, the ancient castle of Hapsburg, overlooking the Rhine, was founded in 1020 and was without surrounding walls for defensive purposes, a strange omission in those warlike days. A friend coming to stay at the castle so greatly deplored the absence of the usual defenses that its lord declared that before sunrise on the following morning his stronghold would be surrounded by impregnable walls. Naturally the visitor smiled and did not believe that this thing could come to pass, but in the early morning he was awakened by the lord of the castle, who bade him look out upon the walls. He had kept his promise, but in an unexpected way. Instead of seeing a surrounding wall made of stone, the visitor saw an unbroken circle of the lord's followers, all in their armor and bearing weapons. And it has since been the boast of the Hapsburgs that the family's devoted subjects were sufficient defense in no matter what emergency.

Phil May's Habits.

The all night and next day habits of Phil May, the artist, have furnished material for many a story. Joe Tapley, the singer, said that he came across May one night and heard that the latter had not been to bed for four nights and days. He remonstrated, and May said: "Never mind, Joe; we'll make a bargain. Don't you lose any sleep on my account, and I'll promise that as soon as I feel tired I'll go to bed!"

South American Hats.

Throughout the West Indies, Central and South America the native women make wonderful straw hats. The Dutch island of Curacao, near Venezuela, is famous for the exceptional women's straw hats that are there produced. Porto Rico and Cuba make excellent ones from the leaves of the palm, while Ecuador, Panama, Honduras and Peru are noted for their Panama hats.

While wealthy men have been known to pay as high as $100 for a Panama hat, such prices are decidedly unusual. Hats of the best quality, pliant and flexible so that they may be folded and carried in the pocket without injury, can be purchased for from $2 to $40, depending upon the shrewdness of the buyer and the financial needs of the maker or seller. Women and children, owing to the deftness of their fingers, make the best hats, and but few men are engaged in the industry. No factories exist for their production. As the hats are finished they are either traded to the village storekeeper for necessaries or sold to the native buyers, who send them in lots of fifty to a hundred to the merchants at the port.—W. E. Aughinbaugh in Leslie's.

Gold Beetles.

Remarkable gold beetles are found in Central America. The head and wing cases are brilliantly polished with a luster as of gold itself. To sight and touch they have all the appearance of metal, and each is worth from $25 to $50.

The Name Cuba.

Cuba is the name by which the island was originally known to the Lucayan Indians, who were with Columbus when he discovered it. One of its villages or cities was called by them Cubanacan, and it is reported that from the similarity of sounds Columbus, still supposing himself to be on the coast of Asia, imagined that this must be a city of Kublai Khan, the Tartar sovereign celebrated by Marco Polo. The survival of the original name for Cuba is a remarkable instance of persistence, as the island has been baptized and rebaptized many times since its European discovery. Columbus first called it Juana in honor of Prince John, the son of Ferdinand and Isabella. After Ferdinand's death it was called in his memory Fernandina. Subsequently this name was changed to Santiago, after St. James, the patron saint of Spain. Still later it was named Ave Maria in honor of the Virgin Mary. But none of these names held, and the Indian name is still preserved.

SMALL BOY HURT

EUGENE VAN WINKLE HIT BY AUTO—DRIVER DID NOT STOP

Child Had Shoulder Blade and Arm Broken

A short time after the electric storm Sunday afternoon, little 5 year-old Eugene VanWinkle and his sister Leoni, children of Mr and Mrs Ernest VanWinkle, were on the Brownville bridge when an automobile struck the little boy. inflicting painful injuries The driver did not stop to see what damage had been done, but bystanders got the number of his car.

Another car stopped and took the child to his home. Owing to the storm the telephones were out of commission and a doctor could not be reached until George Church drove his car over to town and got Dr. North.

On examination it was found that the shoulder blade was broken also one arm just below the shoulder The doctor made the little fellow as comfortable as was possible and at last reports he was bright and cheerful.

How any man with a grain of feeling in his make-up could go on without finding out how badly the child was hurt passes understanding.

Banquet Held at Gregg Hotel Adrian Friday Evening, June 30.

A company of 55 Alumni former student and present students of Michigan Agricultural college enjoyed a banquet at the Gregg hotel Friday evening at which President Frank Kedsie of the college was guest of honor and principal speaker. A permanent organization was formed to work in the interests of the college and make the banquet an unusual affair.

Arrangements for the banquet had been in charge of Mrs. C B Coffeen.

At 7 o'clock the company was served to a four course banquet in the dining rooms of the hotel.

Warren Shepard of Rome, as toastmaster, took charge of the program which followed the banquet

Athol Brainard of Springville talked on, "The Starter," Alton Bennett on "The Tank", John D. McLouth of Addison on, "The Spark Plug", Marion Henzst of Adrian on, "The Radiator" and Miss Louise Halliday of Clinton on, "The Reflector"

The toasts furnished much merriment and contained many tributes to the Alma Mater

Dr. Kedzie gave an informal talk on "The Relation of the Agricultural college to the Farming Community."

He declared it was the mission of the college to serve the people of the state and efforts are being made constantly to render it a more valuable asset in this particular. He also spoke about "Military Training" preparing boys for time of war. Several from the M. A. C. have gone to Grayling,

Many toasts were given to H. B. Eaton of Tecumseh, of the class of 1865, oldest alumnus present and Professor Humphrey of Wisconsin University.

C. L Coffeen was elected president of the association Miss Louise Halliday, vice president, Miss Jessie Illenden secretary, treasurer

College songs and yells were given on post cards to each student there.

Those present were Horace Eaton, D T Dall, Everett Case of Tipton, Ed. Sales, Russell Hall, Roy Cadmus, Jimmie Waldron, Harold Halliday, Agnes McIntyre, Anna Carson, and Mr. and Mrs. Athol Brainard of Springville.

WOULD CONNECT CHICAGO WITH NEW YORK

The Type Used in One Year to Publish Endorsements of Doan's Kidney Pills

Of the many kidney remedies on the market today, none other is recommended like Doan's Kidney Pills. Thirty-five thousand benefited people gladly testify in the newspapers of their own towns. Forty-five hundred American newspapers publish this homeproof of Doan's merit. The type used in one year to tell this wonderful story would make a solid column of metal twice as high as the world's highest mountain. Placed end to end the lines of type would raech from New York to Chicago. These miles of god words told by 35,000 tongues sound glad tidings to any Tecumseh sufferer who wants relief from kidney and bladder ills. Here's a Tecumseh case. Don't experiment. Use the remedy endorsed by people you know.

Henry Kempf, carpenter, Kilbuck street, Tecumseh, says: "My kidneys were not doing their work as they should and I was suffering from a lame and aching back. I got a supply of Doan's Kidney Pills at Wright & Son's Drug Store and it did not take them long to remove the trouble."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Kempf had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

LURING AN AUDIENCE.

Just a Little Twist in a Shakespeare Title Did the Trick.

There was once a traveling theatrical company, so the tale of venerable age and long improbable veracity goes, that was booked to play in a town a melodrama considered as suitable to the prospective audience. By accident the necessary scenery and costumes were sent ahead to the next stopping place, which was the capital of the state, where a Shakespearean play was to be presented at the governor's special request, and the costumes and accessories for the Shakespeare performance were the ones that arrived. There was no time to right the mistake, but there was time to rush a new set of posters advertising the new play.

"Come one, come all!" they invited the public. "Do not miss the opportunity of a lifetime! The great comic, historic, romantic, emotional drama 'As You Like It, or the Wrestler's Sweetheart!' as triumphantly performed before the queen of England at the Globe theater, London, with the distinguished author in the cast!"

Naturally the public inferred that this interesting performance had taken place before Queen Victoria during the last London season rather than in the presence of good Queen Bess some 300 years before. Naturally also the gymnastic suggestions of the ingenious subtitle were not lost upon them. They turned out in force. The town attended almost to a man. They did not think much of the melancholy Jaques, but they would have endured him another seven ages for the sake of Rosalind!—Youth's Companion.

drawn from the heavily shelled first line into a position arranged for checking an advance from the first to second lines. The materials in the first which could not be moved were rendered useless.

"There were many artillery actions and minor attacks on the adjoining front west and southwest of Tahure, in which the enemy had no success.

"On the left bank of the Meuse at Hill 304 trench sections were captured and a hand grenade attack was repulsed.

"East of the Meuse the enemy, strongly reinforced, repeated his attacks Sunday and Monday on Froid Terre Hill, especially under our curtain of fire.

Anonymous Shakespeare.

Margaret Anglin had been playing Viola, Katharine and other Shakespearean heroines in the great theater at Melbourne, Australia, which had been crowded to the roof at every performance. But the time came to move on to a smaller city with a less sophisticated population, and her manager was assailed by doubts. He did not think Shakespeare would do. He proposed confining the repertory to modern plays. When she remonstrated he explained:

"They want to laugh."

"Then why not 'The Taming of the Shrew?'" Miss Anglin suggested.

He hesitated. Despair had him, but finally he replied, "Oh, well, we'll try it, but we mustn't let them know who wrote it."

"I had forgotten this incredible remark," says Miss Anglin, "until I arrived in the city to play, and there, to my horror, everywhere advertising was displayed announcing blithely that Miss Anglin would appear in a comedy, 'The Taming of the Shrew, by Immortal Bard.'"—American Magazine.

Our Mexican War.

Our Mexican war grew out of the annexation of Texas by the United States. Texas, having seceded from Mexico in 1836, was annexed to the United States in 1845. A dispute as to the boundary followed, and border trouble led up to the war. There had previously been outrages on Americans in Mexico and insults to the flag. President Polk in his message of 1846 said "The files and records of the department of state contain conclusive proof of numerous lawless acts perpetrated upon the property and persons of our citizens by Mexico and of wanton insults to our national flag." Other presidents had referred to these outrages and Polk declared that "the history of no civilized nation in modern times has presented within so brief a period so many wanton attacks upon the honor of its flag and upon the property and persons of its citizens as have been borne by the United States from the Mexican authorities and people."

The Tale of a Dime.

The woman slipped a dime into the glove on her left hand. She would be at the subway in a moment, and the dime so placed would facilitate matters. As she entered the station the ring of a coin as it struck the pavement reached her ears. She saw a dime rolling at her feet.

A fat man also heard and saw it. Both stopped to pick it up. She was first. His hand only fanned the dust from the sidewalk.

"I beg your pardon," he said as he straightened up, rather red in the face.

"Not at all," she said. "I thank you for your courtesy." Then she hurried downstairs.

Seated in the train, her gloved hand involuntarily went up to her hair. A dime dropped into her lap. Then she understood.—Youth's Companion.

Infinitives Fearlessly Split.

The English of Henry James is remarkable not only for adverbs, but like Robert Browning's, for infinitives fearlessly split. Most people split them by wedging in one word only, an adverb. But Henry James split one infinitive, at any rate, by four words interpolated, thus: "I have already missed my time to so much even as name properly," etc. Nor did he hesitate to stop upon that half of the infinitive which closes so many women's pretty phrase in accepting invitations. "Oh, thank you; I should love to." Henry James wrote. "We can't not accept this, and little enough on the whole do we want to." "Can't not," by the way, is very common in French, and other peculiarities of James' style also are Gallicisms.—London Chronicle.

Maddening Barrier.

"Is there anything between Jennie and young Jones?"

"Nothing that I know of except poverty."—Baltimore American.

He Removed the Danger Signal

Frank W. Sherman, Laconia, N. Y., writes: "I suffered with kidney trouble, had a tired feeling in my back, did not have any ambition and felt all tired out. I used Foley Kidney Pills and in a few days began to feel better, and now I have entirely recovered and have had no return of my painful symptoms."

One cannot help becoming nervous and feeling tired and worn out when the kidneys fail to filter and throw out of the system the poisonous waste matter that causes kidney troubles and bladder ailments.

Backache is one of Nature's danger signals that the kidneys are clogged up and inactive. It is often followed by rheumatism, annoying bladder or urinary disorders, puffy swellings under the eyes, swollen ankles and painful joints.

The Social Scale.

Any one having acute information as to what the social scale is will kindly communicate with this office instanter Although a favorite expression in the best of authors' families, diligent research fails to reveal its true character, its limitations, denotations and connotations. The dictionary is very painstaking in telling us what scales are—not only scales in general, but numerous varieties of scales in particular. It is similarly minute in defining the word social, but there is never a hint as to what the social scale is. How is it established? It must measure something in connection with society. But what is its unit of measurement? Is it dollars per stratum, ancestors per century, shirt sleeves per generation. idleness per family or what?

Without these and other accurate details we must all remain at sea. Many of us at this very moment may think we are ascending the social scale when we are really traveling rapidly in the other direction.—Life.

A Fine Talker.

"I like the looks of this parrot," said the lady who had stepped into the bird store. "Is he a good talker?" The proprietor replied that the bird was an excellent talker, and it was evident the customer was favorably impressed.

"What is your price for him?" she asked.

The man had noticed the rich apparel worn by his customer, and he judged that there was a chance to make a little "easy money" at the expense of one who would never miss it.

"Ten dollars," he said, with just the slightest possible hesitation.

"Five dollars, madam," instantly croaked the parrot.

"He certainly is a fine talker," she said, "and he also seems to have good sense. I am willing to take him at his own valuation. Do I get him for that?"

"You do," answered the bird man sadly.

That Last Word.

"I can't understand why men should complain about their wives having the last word. I never objected to mine having the last word."

"You don't?"

"Not a bit. I'm always thankful when she gets to it."—Boston Transcript.

THE TECUMSEH STATE SAVINGS BANK

WELCOMES SMALL AMOUNTS?

Many people probably are wondering why we advertise—"open a savings account with a dollar"—why we apparently make a stronger appeal for smaller accounts than larger ones.

There's a reason—a good, sound and sensible reason.

100 small accounts will grow into larger proportions in one year's time than any single account aggregating the total of 100 smaller ones.

100 small accounts will make the Tecumseh State Savings Bank a stronger institution, for these accounts are not subject to a sudden change as a larger account might be.

100 small accounts mean that NINETY-NINE more people are saving money—and it's a well known fact that the more Bank accounts—the more prosperous the community as a whole becomes

"The Trans-Forming Passion"

A TALE OF LOWER MICHIGAN

By W. B. Hartzog

CHAPTER I

The Prestons

In an early day Hiram and Mary Preston left their ancestral home in Chadtauqua County, New York, and joined a colony of settlers residing near the Village of Tecumseh, Lenawee County, Michigan. They had a little money with which they purchased forty acres of land on the bank of the river Raisin. Only fifteen acres were cleared. They lived in a log house having two rooms and a shed kitchen.

General J. W. Brown, who was greatly revered as the founder of the nearby village, was an enterprising man and owned a sawmill. He secured a contract from the government to furnish timber for bridge building. Hiram Preston sold the General his timber and with this money purchased an additional forty acres of timberland. By careful management and unremitting industry they succeeded in making themselves comfortable and happy. In the course of time the old house gave way to a substantial brick building and the old log stable was displaced by a large frame barn The long lane leading back from the main highway to the Preston home was shaded on either side by beautiful maple trees.

The Prestons were Baptists and every Sunday, no matter what the weather conditions were they attended the Baptist Church at the near by village. Their home was often visited by the minister who resided at Mooreville some miles away and every other Sunday conducted "Divine" services at the village of Tecumseh.

Three children were born to the Prestons, a daughter whom they named Eva and two sons whom they named Judson and John. Eva fell a victim to diphtheria in her ninth year. Judson answered the call to arms in 1861 and died in a Confederate prison. The father and mother set their hearts on their younger son, John, and determined to give him a liberal education, accordingly they sent him to Michigan University, where he proved to be an apt and brilliant student. He graduated from the law department, and his instructors predicted for him a great career.

On a neighboring farm lived Henry Hall whose daughter, Nancy taught the district school. John and Nancy were lovers and after his graduation they were married. Soon after their marriage they settled in the city of Detroit where John engaged in the practice of law.

An epedemic of typhoid fever carried off John's parents the following year. Three years later Nancy's parents, while visiting their old home in the state of New York, were killed by a runaway team. The farms were sold and the money was invested in property at Detroit.

The only child born to John and Nancy Preston was a son whom they named Charles H. Preston . They were fond and happy parents. Nancy was a very devout Christian and when she looked upon the face of her infant son for the first time, she then and there breathed a silent prayer to God that her son would grow to manhood and become a minister of the Gospel.

John, though he had been reared in a christian home, never dedicated his life to God. His associates at the University had been of the worldly class and unknown to Nancy, he had frequently indulged in the use of intoxicants. After their marriage he continued to associate with professional men who drank and gambled. John had money and friends.

Three years after their marriage, John was elected to the House of Representatives. He was a competent representative of the people, consequently when he came up for a second term, he was elected by a large majority.

Nancy realized that John was spending his money freely and one day he almost broke her heart when he asked her to agree to mortgage their home. She pleaded with him not to do so, but he said he had met with misfortune financially, and would have to do so. She submitted and signed the mortgage. Three months later John was killed in a drunken brawl at the State capitol. When the sad news reached her she received such a shock that it threw her into a vioent fever. In her delirium she constantly cried, "Poor little Charley, poor little Charley, what will become of you?" She never rallied and on Christmas day she died. It was found that John's debts and the mortgage were greater than the value of the home, which was sold to satisfy the creditors. Little Charley was ten years old when this dreadful catastrophe overtook him.

PIONEER PICNIC

About 100 Present at Adams Park July 4, 1916.

The Fourth of July was a typical holiday and from early in the morning until late at night autos and other rigs kept up their travelling to and fro on every street. Chicago street down town was quiet as most of the stores were closed.

At a little past noon hour, about 100, gathered around the tables at Adam's Park, where a bountiful picnic dinner was enjoyed. At the close of the banquet, the meeting was called to order by W. B. Keysor, President and all joined in singing America. Mrs. George Kidman of West Adrian gave a very fine recitation, "Land Poor" which was much enjoyed

Rev. W. B. Hartzog then gave a fine paper on the life of General Brown, founder and benefactor of Tecumseh. This paper was given in a conversational manner, a number asking questions and giving information on different points as they appeared in the course of his reading. In the course of his paper the fact was brought out that Adam's Park, when we were seated was at one time the center of the town. It was also the seat of our County buildings and later the Court House was used as a branch of the U. of M. and later still, as our high school. Horatio Keyser claims that while street commissioner in 1867-68 he set out nearly every tree now in the park. Mr. Keysor who has passed his 92nd birthday remembered many of the old land marks.

"Uncle Jimmy Hunter," as he is familiarly known, also made some very interesting statements, as a boy of 14 or 15 years he attended school in the old court house, when Joseph Estabrooks was principal of the school. Another interesting event that was mentioned was the first barn raising when the barn on General Brown's place, now known as the old Brazee home, one on the lot now occupied by Mrs. R. B. Gillespie's home, and one on the Dewey farm west of town were raised in three days by a gang of men from Monroe. Short talks followed by several in the audience. Mrs. Wm. Arner of Ridgeway told of her recollections of the old Michigan House that stood where the house now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Howard now stands.

A rising vote of thanks was given Dr. Hartzog for his painstaking kindness in preparing this very interesting paper and certainly the faithful few who met and arranged for this meeting deserve the thanks of all those who were present. And it is to be hoped that we may have a Pioneer meeting every year and between times if possible.

It was a matter of regret that Henry C. Conkling was detained at home by illness, as many came expecting to hear a few words from him and were much disappointed.

NORTH ADRIAN

Prof. Goodrich of Detroit gave a fine lecture at the Church last Thursday evening Subject, "Through Palestine on Horse Back." It was one of the Star Course lectures of last year, which was cancelled on account of a rainy night.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gove and son Leon and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Miller attended the funeral of their brother, Charlie Wooster at Raisin Center last Sunday. They also have another brother Cyrus Wooster who lays very low at the Hospital at Detroit with appendicitis

Miss Addie Armstrong entertained the Ladies Aid Society at her home Thursday afternoon with a good attendance, considering the busy time of the year. The meeting was called to order by the President, Mrs. Miller opened with singing followed with Bible reading and prayer by Prof. Obel. Their secretary report was read. After a short business session, refreshments were served to about 30.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Miller are entertaining their niece Miss Miller of Britton for a short time.

Frank Davis of Detroit is visiting his cousin Mrs Thomas Harris and family for a few days and calling on old friends

Ernest Brooks and Miss Edna Carbin, Francis Heath and Miss Brooks and brother Orra Brooks of Devils Lake, were guests of their aunt Mrs. E. H. Brown and family last Sunday. They also attended Sunday School at this place.

Mr. and Mrs. Clare Halsted entertained his mother and brother of Wolfburg last Sunday.

JOHN SONES

John Sones the subject of this sketch was born Sept. 12, 1845, and passed away at his home in Macon July 2nd 1916. His whole life was spent on the farm on which he died. Although he has been in failing health for several months he was only confined to his bed four days before his death.

John Sones was the son of Daniel and Alice Sones being one of the four children one sister surviving. Mrs Aten of Franklin.

On July 4, 1868 he was united in marriage to Miss Almeda Ellis. To them were born six children, five of whom are left to mourn his loss, Harvey of Clinton, Byron of Milan, Charles and Marvin at home and Mrs. C. F. Allen of Ypsilanti.

He was a man well known in the community and was a good neighbor, always willing to help or accommodate in any way possible and will be missed by all.

Making 1000 Per Cent. on a $2.00 Investment

If you can place your money where it will return to you a cash dividend of five hundred per cent, it is a good investment, isn't it?

What, then, about a trifling outlay which will return a dividend of one thousand per cent. in health, in wisdom, in increased effectiveness, in inspiration, in enjoyment—in all those things which go to make life worth living?

You can make a thousand per cent. investment today.

The Chautauqua committee has a limited number of season tickets to sell at $2 00 apiece. Every ticket opens the doors of opportunity. Every dollar spent for these tickets is an investment, not an expenditure.

A †two dollar ticket brings a five-day vacation to your door. It provides entertainment which is restful; lectures which are informative, inspirational, exhilarating; music which is beautiful, ennobling. It brings a tonic bath for tired nerves, a rejuvenating elixir for jaded brains.

The Chautauqua program is a program built by experts who have searched the markets of the world. The music, entertainment and lectures included therein are the finished product of master intellects.

For †two dollars you get what your forefathers could not have bought with the wealth of a Midas—the concentrated effort of a thousand minds correlated by the organizing genius of modern business.

For †two dollars you get the finished product of the life of master musicians, consecrated to your service since birth. You borrow the gifted brains of noted lecturers to search the libraries of the world.

For †two dollars you get a master's degree in the People's University—the canvas college which is remaking America. You get inspiration and encouragement for renewed endeavors which mean increased effectiveness and earning power. You get money value, plus power.

And, over and beyond the selfish increment to yourself, the †two dollar investment which you make in a season ticket brings the consciousness of association with the sort of thing which is making your home town a better place to live, building citizenship in the young, increasing business zeal and civic pride, multiplying opportunity for all and buttressing every good thing in the community with solid helpfulness.

†Two dollars spent today enrolls you with the Chautauqua Boosters and puts you in line to receive the thousand per cent. dividends in vim, vigor and joy-of-living which the Chautauqua pays.

Do it today!

CHAUTAUQUA NOTES

Fred G. Bale, the dramatic orator, who will speak on the subject, "The Fiddler and the Fire", at our Chautauqua, has something of interest to say to the patrons of this community. Mr. Bale's lecture grew out of his experience as public prosecutor in the juvenile court at Columbus where he learned much concerning the problems of the so-called delinquent child. It is a fact full of the things every parent needs to know and yet is wonderfully entertaining and attractive.

Everybody enjoys a good program of magic and when Marlo and his assistants come to the Chautauqua opportunity to see and hear the best will have arrived. Marlo has been a world traveller, seeking knowledge of magical art in many foreign lands and he presents a program at once striking and original. It will be one of the most talked of programs of Chautauqua week.

Do you believe in hypnotism? You'll have a chance to see one of the striking results of this little known art when Marlo comes to the Chautauqua. One of the striking features of Marlo's performance is called "The Levitation of Princess Karnac", and it is a mystifying and beautiful illusion in which a young woman is hypnotized and suspended asleep in the air. You don't believe it can be done? See Marlo do it. Seeing is believing.

BIRTHDAY HONORED.

At the close of the prayer meeting Thursday evening at the Methodist church about 150 of the friends of Rev. G W Jennings met in the parlors of the Church to honor his birthday.

The reverend gentlemen was a much surprised man when he realized the situation but accepted his honors in a be coming spirit. A short program was given.

Saxaphone solo—Glenn Tansley accompanied by Mrs. Hodges.
Vocal solo—Ernest Church.
Original poem—F. J. Temple
Vocal solo—Mrs. Routson
Trombone and piano duet—Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Waldron
Vocal solo—Miss Edna Taylor accompanied by Agnes McIntyre.

At the close of the program C. E. Williamson in behalf of the Men's class presented Rev. Jennings with a fine rocker which looked restful and inviting Brother Jennings reponded in a very feeling manner. A social hour passed with punch and wafers for refreshments.

Will You Lose Your Boy, Too?

This is a true picture of what is happening on thousands of farms each year. Breaking home ties. Young men, and young women too—leaving home for the attractions and conveniences of city life.

Young people in country homes have plenty to keep them busy and contented during the day. Evening is their time of leisure and recreation.

It is then that the depressing gloom of their poorly lighted homes strengthens their desire for the pleasures and comforts of good light which all city homes enjoy, rich and poor alike. For young folks crave companionship — good times — pleasant homes — cheerful surroundings.

Thirty years ago, it is true, only city homes enjoyed the advantages of gas lights and gas cooking but for the past fifteen years progressive home owners in the country have also enjoyed this greatest of city conveniences — good light — until today are supplying brilliant, inexpensive light to houses, barns, outbuildings and cooking fuel for the kitchen range on hundreds of thousands of up-to-date country places from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

Pilot-Carbide-Outdoor Lighting and Cooking Plants

These homes—situated just like your own—are lighted as well as the finest city house you ever saw.

The young folks in these homes are contented and happy. Their homes are cheerful, full of light and comfort, real homes of which young folks, and older ones too, can well be proud. City life has no attraction for them, because they know that with modern conveniences in the home, life in the country is better, happier and more enjoyable than the best the city has to offer.

What about your children? Are you doing your part to give them the advantages they desire and which their friends and neighbors enjoy? Or are you denying them the simple comforts and conveniences which you can well afford?

They may be just approaching the time when they will decide for themselves—whether they too will leave for the city or stay at home.

They may never have said anything about these things to you—but what are they thinking? What will they decide?

Their decision is largely in your hands. An attractive home is the strongest magnet in the world. The greatest factor in making the home cheerful, bright and attractive is good light.

BOYS ARRESTED

Camp of Boy Scouts near the Quaker Mill Molested July 4th

Rev. DeRemer and a bunch of Boy Scouts from Britton have been in camp near the Quaker mill and were having a fine time, until July 4 when a bunch of boys from town raided the Camp. The tent was overturned Stones and fire works were thrown into the camp and a general disturbance prevailed. Debt. John Smith was called and arrested Hollis Woodcock, Verl Blesing, Oris Bumpus, Iaving Shaw and Clarence Mitchell. The boys were taken before Justice Hosmer Wednesday morning and fined $5.00 each, and costs making rather an expensive 4th of July besides the disgrace that goes with it.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Montgomery and John J. Orr and wife called on friends in Ann Arbor, July 4th.

Miss May Farley of Buffalo is a guest of Mrs. R. B. Gillespie.

BARGAIN DAY

Bargain Day dawned bright and clear and we begin to think that the weather man has taken us into his favor. There was a very small crowd in town for the afternoon performance but in the evening they came from far and near.

The vaudeville acting consisted of a woman with her educated dogs which were smarter than some men, and did their part in a very fine manner, Marjorie Mack followed with singing and dancing. The card shark and his assistant had some very clever tricks with their cards. In the evening John Pennington gave two most delightful vocal selections The drawing card of the evening was the Adrian Imperial Band which favored the crowd with delightful music. The merchants were all kept busy until a late hour with their trade, and there was not a drop of rainfall day.

Miss Mabel Nevison leaves today for a visit of two weeks in Toronto and other Canadian points.

Fred Rector and his mother Mrs. F. D. Rector and Miss Alice Wimple attended the reunion of the Wm. Doty family in Holloway the 4th. It is remarkable that every member down to the youngest great-grand child was present. The party numbered 69 in all.

We are wondering who is the guilty party. When Rev. W. B. Hartzog reached home the other night from the Business Men's banquet at Wampler's lake, his hat did not fit and Wm. Palman discovered the mystical letters "W. B. Hartzog" in his hat. Now who's guilty?

Earl Updike met with quite a bad accident Thursday while helping in the hay field at the Witherell farm. He was on a load of hay and for some unknown reason fell off, striking on some stones, cutting quite a gash in his head which required ten stitches. He was made as comfortable as possible and was brought home where he is meditating on slippery places in general.

He Removed the Danger Signal

Frank W. Sherman, Laconia, N. Y., writes: "I suffered with kidney trouble, had a tired feeling in my back, did not have any ambition and felt all tired out. I used Foley Kidney Pills and in a few days began to feel better, and now I have entirely recovered and have had no return of my painful symptoms."

One cannot help becoming nervous and feeling tired and worn out when the kidneys fail to filter and throw out of the system the poisonous waste matter that causes kidney troubles and bladder ailments.

Backache is one of Nature's danger signals that the kidneys are clogged up and inactive. It is often followed by rheumatism, annoying bladder or urinary disorders, puffy swellings under the eyes, swollen ankles and painful joints.

Foley Kidney Pills get right at the source of trouble. They invigorate the kidneys to healthy action and when the kidneys properly perform their functions the poisonous waste matter is eliminated from the system.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

His Backache Gone

Just how dangerous a backache, sore muscles, aching joints or rhumatic pains may be is sometimes realized only when life insurance is refused on account of kindey trouble. Joseph G. Wolf of Green Bay, Wis., writes: "Foley Kidney Pills relieved me of a severe backache that had bothered me for several months." Take Foley Kidney Pils for weak lame back and weary sleepless nights. adv

The body of Ruth Pepley, Muskegon woman who deserted her husband for another only to be later cast aside by that man, and who committed suicide by jumping from a boat into Muskegon lake while accompanied by a third admirer, will probably find his resting place in the potter's field of a local cemetery.

Henry Ford denies a published report that employes of the Ford Motor company who join the National Guard will not be given their jobs back when they return to Detroit. He said only thirty-seven of his employes belong to the state troops and "that when they come back it certainly will be without prejudice."

Bulletin No. 5

The Bethlehem Steel Company's Offer to Serve the United States

At a time when the expenses of the Government are so enormous—

Isn't it worth while finding out the actual facts before plunging ahead into an expenditure of $11,000,000 of the people's money for a Government armor plant?

To clear up the whole situation, and to put it on a basis as fair and business-like as we know how to express it, we now make this offer to the Government:

The Bethlehem Steel Company will manufacture armor plate for the Government of the United States at actual cost of operation plus such charges for overhead expenses, interest and depreciation as the Federal Trade Commission may fix. We will agree to this for such period as the Government may designate.

The House of Representatives voted down a proposal to empower the Federal Trade Commission to determine a fair price for armor, and allow private manufacturers opportunity to meet that price before the Government built its plant.

Isn't our proposition fair and ought it not to be accepted?

The measure is now before the United States Senate.

"For Galls, We Want No Other"

"For sore breast and galls this does the business," wrote L. House, of Syracuse, N.Y. "In fact, we want nothing better than Hanford's Balsam of Myrrh."

Mr. House is one of several thousands who have found out for themselves that this liniment is best of all for external ills of man or beast. When applied by a man to domestic animals, it works wonders. When applied to humans by the mother of the household, it heals like magic, whether the ailment be one of the everyday little cuts or bruises, or whether it be a "hard case."

Do You Know Why
THE TECUMSEH STATE SAVINGS BANK
WELCOMES SMALL AMOUNTS?

Many people probably are wondering why we advertise—"open a savings account with a dollar"—why we apparently make a stronger appeal for smaller accounts than larger ones.

There's a reason—a good, sound and sensible reason.

100 small accounts will grow into larger proportions in one year's time than any single account aggregating the total of 100 smaller ones.

100 small accounts will make the Tecumseh State Savings Bank a stronger institution, for these accounts are not subject to a sudden change as a larger account might be.

100 small accounts mean that NINETY-NINE more people are saving money—and it's a well known fact that the more Bank accounts—the more prosperous the community as a whole becomes

COL. EDWARD H. GREEN

Son of Hetty Green Will Get Biggest Part of Her Estate.

STATE APPRAISERS FOILED

Mrs. Hetty Green Invested Millions to Evade Inheritance Tax.

New York, July 10.—New York state will not profit as heavily as expected from the $100,000,000 to $150,000,000 left by Mrs. Hetty Green. Her aversion to the inheritance tax led her to invest much of it beyond the jurisdiction of such appraisers in this and other states.

Mrs. Green's will leaves the bulk of her estate to her son, Colonel E. H. R. Green, and her daughter, Mrs. Matthew Astor Wilks. The rest is distrbuted in smaller bequests to old friends of Mrs. Green. So far as known there are no charitable bequests.

Universalists In Camp.

Muskegon, July 10.—Over a score of Chicago young women, members of the St. Paul's Universalist church of that city, are camping at Rood's farm, on Lake Harbor, the camp being under the general direction of F. E. Robinson, who has charge of the Community house at Chicago, assisted by Mrs. G. R. Alcott, parish worker of St. Paul's church.

Clew in Big Jewelry Theft.

Ann Arbor, July 10.—Local officers believe they have a clue to the identity of two men who were implicated in the $1,000 robbery of the Haller jewelry store. Someone wrote Chief of Police Frank Pardon a letter giving a description of two men seen hanging around the display window of the store late at night.

Kazoo Sheriff to Slaughter Dogs.

Kalamazoo, July 10.—Sheriff Ralph Chapman began the slaughter of eighty-four dogs that are running about the county without a license. Under the new state law, the sheriff must kill all dogs of which the tax has not been paid.

Mangled Body Found Near Jackson.

Jackson, July 10.—The horribly mangled body of a young man, presumably a tramp, and aged about twenty years, was found on the Michigan Central tracks at Hairg's station, a few miles south of Jackson.

May Have Died of Poison.

Owosso, July 10.—Physicians refused to sign the certificate of Mrs. Charles Parkhurst, thirty-six years old, who died suddenly at her home, near Bancroft, believing she was the victim of self-administered poison.

Landmark Is Sold.

Muskegon, July 10.—The grist mill at Hesperia, a landmark in that part of the county for half a century, has been sold by Duncan McCallum to Read & Speas of Whitehall, the consideration being $12,000.

Wayne's Valuation $1,000,000,000.

Detroit, July 10.—Valuation of Wayne county is placed at near the billion mark in the report which was recommended to the board of supervisors by the board's committee on equalization.

German Catholic Priest Dead.

Norway, July 10.—The Rev. Father Joisten, aged about forty-eight years, a German Catholic priest, is dead of appendicitis. He was pastor of St. Mary's church seventeen years.

Wm. Moore, Ypsilanti, Dies.

Dresden China.

It is to Frederick Bottger, a native of Saxony—1682-1719—that we owe the secret of making china or porcelain. It was in 1710 that a lucky accident revealed to Bottger the true nature of the required paste. Having noticed the unusual weight of some hair powder, he inquired what it was made of and found that it was a finely powdered clay from Aue. He forthwith procured some of the clay, made vessels of it and, to his infinite delight, learned that he had at last found the very material he wanted. In a word, he had made the discovery of porcelain.

To Win Notice.

Mrs. Greene—One does not like to be ignored. I wore a brand new gown at the reception last night, and I don't believe a soul noticed me. Mrs. Gray—There's where you made a mistake. Now, I wore my old black silk that has been turned twice, and everybody saw me fast enough.

GERMAN U-BOAT REACHES U. S.

Deutschland Foils British Blockade in Stirring Triumph.

BOBS UP OFF NORFOLK, VA.

International Questions Brought Up with Arrival of Merchant Submarine—U. S. Will Treat Diver as Merchant Ship—Great Britain Protests. Boat Is Without Armor.

Washington, July 10.—The U boat liner which passed through the Virginia capes will be treated by the United States government as a merchant ship.

The vessel will be permitted to discharge her cargo, to take on a cargo for the return voyage, and sufficient gasoline and other stores to enable her to reach home.

The program of the state department is based upon official reports that the German under-water boat is not armed with torpedoes and is not fitted with torpedo tubes. It also has been reported that she has no guns, but even if she has, and the claim should be advanced that they are intended for defensive purposes only, her status as a merchant ship will not be changed in the view of this government.

The British embassy is preparing to demand that the vessel be treated as a warship and required to leave American waters within twenty-four hours or interned.

The British contention proceeds on the assumption that a submarine is in character a war vessel and that it would be an easy matter for such a craft to equip itself with guns and torpedoes from a small vessel awaiting it at sea.

Carries Big Cargo.

Norfolk, July 10.—Carrying a cargo of 1,000 tons of dyestuffs, a quantity of mail and a message from Emperor William to President Wilson, the much-heralded German submrine merchantman, the Deutschland, arrived at Norfolk at 1:45 in the morning after an uneventful journey from a German port.

Unarmed and manned by a crew in marine uniforms in charge of Captain Kairig, the submersible proceeded up the bay for Baltimore, where it is expected to dock. The cargo is assigned to A. Schumacher & Co. at Baltimore, and it is expected that a cargo of toluol will be taken aboard there for shipment back to Germany.

Convoyed by U. S. Cutter.

The Deutschland was convoyed up the bay by the tug Thomas F. Timmins, with the coast guard cutter Onodaga, with Collector Norman Hamilton of this port on board, in her wake. The Deutschland was met at the capes on her arrival by the tug Timmins, which stood by until daylight, when the journey up the bay was started.

Henry G. Hilken, head of the Baltimore office of the Lloyd line, said the submarine is an unarmed merchant vessel, carrying medicines and dyestuffs, and would enter at the custom house there Monday morning as such.

The Deutschland left a German port June 23. She is commanded by Captain Kairig and carries a crew of twenty-nine men. The submersible flew no flag until arriving in the bay, when a German merchant marine insignia was run up.

The visitors will be kept under surveillance, as a matter of neutrality precaution, until questions touching on her status under international law are settled.

Expected at New York.

The arrival of the Deutschland had been heralded for the last month or more, and a week ago, according to an advertisement in a Baltimore Austrian newspaper, was said to be resting at the bottom of the Chesapeake.

First announcements from Germany said the diver would enter the port at New York. Its bobbing up anywhere along the Atlantic seaboard was therfore not unexpected.

Details of the great submersible's dimensions are lacking, but dispatches from Berlin have stated that the 390-foot length of the undersea merchantman exceeded all war purpose submesibles in size and qualities of endurance.

NINE DEATHS, 40 MISSING

Unconfirmed Reports Say Gulf Storm Fatalities May Reach Score.

New Orleans, La., July 10.—The positive death list from Wednesday's gulf coast hurricane and a series of storms and floods that followed in Albama and Georgia, stands at nine, with at least forty persons reported missing aboard small schooners in the gulf. Unconfirmed reports say that nearly a score of persons were killed in isolated villages near Mobile, but prostrated wire and rail communication prevents confirmation. There are reports also of deaths elsewhere.

Property damage probably will reach $5,000,000,000.

HOSTILE YAQUIS INVADE SONORA

American Property Reported to Have Been Looted.

UNFRIENDLY MEXICANS MARCH

Force of 1,000 Men, Former Carranzistas, Believed to Be Enemies of U. S. Forces, Are Moving North—International Mine Employes, who Escaped Mexican Captors, Are Still Missing.

Mazatlan, Mex., July 10.—Yaqui Indians, taking advantage of the withdrawal of Mexican troops from southern Sonora, are reported here to have crossed the Yaqui River and invaded the lands of American settlers and the Richardson Construction company, devastating all property except company headquarters at Esperanza, where a Mexican grarison is maintained.

Hostile Mexicans March North.

Presidio, Tex., July 10.—An armed Mexican force, approximately 1,000 strong and believed by the United States military authorities to be unfriendly, has reached La Mula Pass, thirty miles south of Ojinaga.

Friendly Mexicans have reported that the troops were formerly a unit in the Coahulia division of the Carranza army. They revolted ten days ago, when the first chief ordered the execution of General Santiago Ramirez at Saltillo.

Military officers assert there is reason to believe the former Carranzistas intend to co-operate with the Villista forces reported to be approaching the border near Ojinaga from Jiminez.

Americans Still Missing.

San Antonio, Tex., July 10.—Three Americans, employes of the International Mines Company, who escaped Mexican captors Saturday had not yet arrived at Boquillas Sunday morning, when Captain James E. Cabbott of the Sixth Cavalry reported to Colonel Joseph Gaston at Marfa.

Colonel Gaston transmitted this report to General Funston. Abbott states the Americans telephoned from the company's mine, seven miles below the Rio Grande, to Deemer's, near Boquillas, on the American side of the border. Their failure to arrive leads to the fear that they may have been attacked by Mexicans again.

Austin Swasey, Roy Swasey and N. O. McKnight are the three Americans. Captain Abbott's report states only that they were attacked and captured by armed Mexicans. Whether the Mexicans were Carranza soldiers or not was not known to Abbott.

Tells Nothing of Raid.

He says nothing of Mexicans having crossed the river and committed depredations on the company's property at what is known as the "Texas Terminal."

Captain Abbott was trying to get in communication with Carranza officers in an attempt to learn what had become of the mine employes. Austin Swasey and McKnight were in the party of Americans who were captured at the mine after the Glen Springs raid and who made a spectacular escape by overpowering their captors and making them prisoners.

ARREST WOULD-BE SUICIDES

Holland, Mich., Officials Hold Peoria Lawyer's Son and Latter's Bride.

Chicago, July 10.—Joseph Irwin, son of W. T. Irwin, a Peoria lawyer, was arrested following his failure and that of his bride of two weeks to end their lives by cutting the arteries in their wrists in the Macatawa hotel, Holland, Mich.

The attempted double suicide, they said, resulted from despondency. Irwin's father had refused to honor his draft for $107. Later friends paid their hotel bill, they were discharged from custody and left for the west, again finding life worth living.

ORPET SOON TO KNOW FATE

All Evidence In Helm Woods Tragedy Is in Jury's Hands.

Waukegan, Ill., July 10.—For the first time in five months Will Orpet went to bed with complete knowledge of every bit of evidence that has been unearthed to conect him with the death of Marion Lambert in Helm's woods last February.

It now rests with the Lake county jurors to decide his fate, guided, as they may be, by the closing arguments of counsel and the final instructions of the court. A motion to dismiss the case was overruled by Judge Donnelly.

SUES TO GET VETOED MONEY

Action Involves Items High Court Held Not Subtractable.

Springfield, Ill., July 10.—A mandamus proceeding was instituted in the circuit court here by the state on behalf of the state board of agriculture against State Auditor Brady and State Treasurer Russel to compel the latter to pay to the board $60,875, representing "parts of items" in an appropriation bill passed by the last legislature, which were voted by Governor Dunne.

PARABLE OF FOOLISH BUILDER IS RECALLED

Soo's New High School Rests on Quicksand.

Sault Ste. Marie, July 10.—Sault Ste. Marie's $105,000 Central high school, under course of erection, has been discovered resting on quicksand. Large cracks have appeared in the inner and outer walls of the building.

The city council, alarmed at its condition, invited the board of education into joint conference, which invitation was flatly refused. Mrs. L. L. Fleming, president of the board, declares that the council is taking too much responsibility upon itself, and for that reason the board of education will not consider a meeting with the aldermanic body.

Contractor Chausee declares he acquainted the school board with the state of affairs before actual construction was begun. He says a year ago he sunk a fourteen-foot iron pole into the ground on which the building now stands with his hands.

W. E. Davidson, a member of the board of education, when asked why piling was not put in as recommended by Mrs. Chausee, declared that such a step was considered by the board and Mr. Chausee instructed to sink the extra piling if found necessary.

Indignant citizens are talking of bringing in a disinterested engineer to make tests of the building's stability.

TRAIN KILLS JACKSON MAN

Jackson, July 10.—John Goodall, aged seventy-six, was struck by a passenger train on the Michigan Central railroad and literally smashed to a mass of pulp.

Goodall, with his aged wife, was engaged in picking up coal on the right of way, when the former stepped in front of the train.

PRESIDENT WILSON TALKS TO SALESMEN

Chief Magistrate's Visit to Detroit Devoid of Politics.

Detroit, July 10.—President Wilson, accompanied by Mrs. Wilson and Secretary Redfield, arrived by special train at the Michigan Central station to attend the first World's Salesmanship congress, which was opened in Detroit Sunday by a number of lay sermons in city pulpits.

The presidential party was met by an immense crowd and was escorted at once to Arcadia auditorium, where the president made his address to the delegates of the congress. At noon President Wilson held a reception to the delegates in the lobby of the Detroit Athletic club. This was followed by a dinner in the club gymnasium, to which 500 prominent citizens of the city, irrespectve of their poltical affiliations, were personally invited.

President Wilson left the club direct for his train, which returned immediately to Washington. The president would under no circumstances deliver a political speech. His reception here was wholly nonpartisan in character. Secretary Redfield remained in Detroit to address the delegates to the congress on Tuesday morning.

WOULD FAVOR LOAN TO CHINA

State Department Advises Bankers In Plan to Help Mongolians.

Washington, July 10.—Interested American bankers have been advised that the state department would look with favor upon their participation in a loan to China, providing such a loan were not made contingent upon concessions.

China is urgently in need of money, and advices from Tokyo Friday said the entente allies, having determined to exclude Germany from future participation in the quintuple coalition regarding China, had decided to sound out American financiers regarding their attitude toward a loan for the reorganization of the great far eastern republic.

LANSING BURGLAR IS POLITE

Wakens Victim and Entertains Them With a Gun.

Lansing, July 10.—A genteel and polite burglar entered and rifled three Lansing homes, getting considerable money and valuables. In each instance the burglar awakened some one of the family and carried on a conversation. A wicked-looking magazine gun in his right hand, however, prevented the conversation working to his disadvantage.

The police have some clews on which they are working.

Blotted Out "Lord Penn."

The first book of any kind published in Philadelphia was Atkin's Almanack for the year 1686. It was an unpaged pamphlet of ten leaves, only two copies of which are now known to be in existence. The first copy of the Almanack printed was sent to Colonel Markham, Penn's deputy, who reported to the council that the book had erroneously declared Pennsylvania to have been founded by "Lord Penn." The council disapproved such a high sounding title and directed the author and printer (William Bradford) to "forthwith and effectually blott out ye words 'Lord Penn.'" This had the effect of recalling the whole edition and the abolition of the obnoxious words.

Electrical Oscillations.

Starting with waves twenty feet long in air and oscillating 50,000,000 times a second, he worked down to waves one-tenth as long and ten times as rapid.

JUDGE'S RULING AIDS LORIMER'S CREDITORS

Dawes Bank Must Pay $1,250,000 with Interest.

Chicago, July 10.—Depositors in the defunct La Salle Street Trust and Savings bank will receive seventy cents on the dollar if the decision given by Judge Frederick A. Smith is upheld by the higher courts.

This estimate as to the amount that would be available to pay creditors was made by William C. Niblack, receiver of the Lorimer bank.

The big surprise of Judge Smith's decision was the decree ordering the Central Trust Company of Illinois, of which Charles G. Dawes is president, to turn over $1,250,000, plus interest amounting to $250,000, to the receiver to satisfy claims. This money, it is admitted, never belonged to the La Salle street bank, but was advanced to William Lorimer at the time the bank was changed from a national to a state institution in 1912.

Jacob M. Dickinson, Receiver, Accused of Unauthorized Expenditures.

Washington, July 10.—A petition was filed with the interstate commerce commission by minority stockholders of the Rick Island asking the commission to reopen its inquiry into the affairs of that railroad and to prevent if possible its sale at a foreclosure proceeding.

The petition was filed by Arthur L. Bowen of Washington, who charges that Jacob M. Dickinson, the receiver of the road, has made large and unusual expenditures without proper authority of law and that throughout his course he has been influenced by persons friendly to the Reid-Moore syndicate.

Subpoenas Are Asked for Auditor and Others In Fergus Suit.

Springfield, Ill., July 10.—Subpoenas were asked to compel the attendance before a master in chancery on July 10 of State Auditor Brady, State Treasurer Russel, Secretary of State Stevenson, Claiborne S. Close and Benjamin Savage to testify in two of the Fergus suits which would restrain the payment of certain sums appropriated by the state legislature.

The cases pending relate to the committee expense bill and the deficiency bill.

A Terrible Affliction.

At an exhibition of paintings a lady and her daughter took much interest in a picture which represented a soldier with hollow cheeks and staring eyes. It was called "After the Attack of Lutzen."

Mary Anne admitted that she did not know.

"Well, anyway," said Mrs. Crockett, with conviction, "it's a terrible disease. I can see that easy enough without anybody telling me."—Youth's Companion.

RIVERS FROM GLACIERS.

These Ice-Born Streams Gush Forth Milky White In Color.

Some rivers are formed by a rather slow process, fed by springs or small ponds; they issue forth as mere rivulets to be reinforced by other streams until they have reached a size that entitles them to be termed rivers. Some, like the St. Lawrence, having their source in some extensive lake, pass through no intermediate state, but proceed as full fledged rivers directly upon their course to the sea.

Others emerge with a rush and roar from the heart of glaciers located far up on the sides of lofty mountains. The waters of these glacier born rivers are not crystal clear, as many suppose, but are milky white, due to the lava dust and powdered scoria contained in the ice mass. This color the waters retain for miles as they flow through the lowlands, proclaiming their parentage to the observant eye.

From the rugged sides of Mount Rainier, which rises to a height of over 14,000 feet and which John Muir declares America's noblest mountain, twenty glaciers radiate like the arms of a gigantic starfish. From each of these springs a river.

The great Nisqually glacier, one of the largest on the mountain, is 400 feet in height. From a cavern in the ice mass a large stream, called the Nisqually, bursts forth with a boom and goes rushing down the valley and finally empties into the waters of Puget sound. It is seldom indeed that one witnesses the formation of a river under such favorable surroundings.—James G. McCurdy in St. Nicholas.

THE WHITE HOUSE SITE.

What David Burns Had to Say to George Washington About It.

When the land for the present capital was being secured the commissioners appointed by President Washington found it hard to persuade some of the local landholders to part with their fields. In "Walks About Washington" an old story good enough to be true is told about one David Burns, a canny Scot, who held out so long that President Washington personally undertook his conversion. After pointing out to the farmer what advantages he would reap from having the government for a neighbor the great man concluded:

"But for this opportunity, Mr. Burns, you might have died a poor tobacco planter."

"Aye, mon," snapped Burns, "and had ye no married the Widder Custis, wi' all her nagurs, ye'd ha' been a land surveyor the noo and a mighty poor ane at that."

However, when he learned that unless he accepted the liberal terms offered him his land would be condemned and seized at an appraisal probably much lower Burns met the president in quite another mood and to the final question, "Well, sir, what have you concluded to do?" astonished every one by his prompt response:

"Whate'er your excellency wad hae me."

On one of his fields now stands the White House, and an adjacent lot became Lafayette square.

The Early Drum.

Drums are probably an eastern idea introduced by the crusaders into Europe. They are frequently mentioned in accounts of the first crusade. When Edward III of England and his queen made triumphal entry into Calais in 1347 "tambours" were among the instruments which were played in their honor. Another of these was called a "nacaire," or kettledrum, taken, together with its name, from the Arabs. The poet Chaucer also mentioned this instrument in his description of the tournament in "The Knight's Tale." The king generally kept a troop of these bandsmen or minstrels in his employ, and we read that Edward II, on one occasion gave a sum of 60 shillings to Roger, the trumpeter; Janino, the nakerer, and others for their performances.

"Here," said an observer, "was a machine upon which appeared the name plate of the manufacturer, a small and not essential feature. But this plate had been set on true, and then the screws by which it was held in place had all been turned up until the slots in their heads all showed in precisely the same position, alike, uniform.

"Whoever put this plate on made a nice, finished job of it, and I should be inclined to think that a shop that had such pride in even the minor details of its work would do good work throughout."—Pittsburgh Press.

PRECIOUS PETROLEUM.

It Is a Priceless Resource That Can Never Be Replaced.

"How much petroleum there is in the United States no one knows," writes Franklin K. Lane in an article on "Economic Preparedness," published in the Scientific American. But at the present rate of consumption—265,000,000 barrels a year—it will soon be exhausted, for the geological survey's maximum estimate is 23,000,000,000 barrels.

"Whatever the supply," says Mr. Lane, "it should not be allowed in its crude state to compete with coal as fuel. Petroleum is a priceless resource, for it can never be replaced. Trees can be grown again on the soil from which they have been taken. But how can petroleum be produced? It has taken ages for nature to distill it in her subterranean laboratory. We do not even know her process. We may find a substitute for it, but we have not yet.

"It is practically the one lubricant of the world today. Not a railroad wheel turns without its way being smoothed by it. We can make light and heat by hydroelectric power, but the great turbines move on bearings that are smothered in petroleum. From it we get the quick exploding gas which is to the motor and the airship what air is to the human body. To industry, agriculture, commerce and the pleasures of life petroleum is now essential."

MUSK IN THE RAW.

It Looks Much Like Axle Grease, but Has a Worse Odor.

Musk in the raw looks a good deal like axle grease and smells worse. The popular notion that the musk of commerce is obtained from the muskrat is a mistake.

There is obtained a somewhat similar perfume from the muskrat, but most of the supply comes from the musk deer, a creature that is carefully reared in India for the sake of the secretion. The secretion is shipped in the crude state and is used not only in the manufacture of the liquid perfume sold as musk, but also in very small quantities to give strength and staying power to many perfumes made from the essential oils of flowers.

Curiously enough, the blossoms of two native plants have a noticeably musky odor. One is the small yellow blossom of a creeping vine known as the musk plant. Its odor is marked and is counterfeited in the commercial perfume called musk. The other is the bloodroot. The pure white blossom of that early spring plant has a distinct though delicate musky odor.

Curious Church Architecture.

The parish church of Ormskirk, in Lancashire, England, has a tower and a spire side by side. The tower is built over the porch at the west end, and the spire is placed as closely as possible to it. The origin of this architectural freak has not been ascertained, but there is a tradition to the effect that when Orme, the Saxon pirate from whom the town derives its name, decided to construct a kirk, or church, as an expiatory offering for his evil deeds his two daughters quarreled over the design for the structure. One determined to have a tower; the other was equally resolved to have a steeple. As neither of them would give way the pirate chief acceded to both their wishes, and the curious may see the tower and spire still keeping watch side by side on the surrounding country.

Origin of the Hackney.

The hackney horse has given quite a number of useful words to the language. He and his name came from Normandy originally—haquenee, really a corruption of the Latin for horse—and he was a riding horse. Being commonly hired out, the name came to be associated with hiring and in course of time also with drudgery. Today there are far more hackney carriages, within the meaning of the act, without horses than with. A literary hack is another form of the same name, and hackneyed is an obvious derivation from a common source. — London Chronicle.

English Injustice.

An Australian tourist traveling in the west of Ireland asked an old woman how far it was to the nearest town. She sadly looked at him, then sighed and said:

"It was five nice miles two years ago, but some English brute came over with chains and made it seven, and our hearts are broke walking it ever since. Bad luck to them!"

And she disappeared into the house, leaving him there.—Illustrated Bits.

A Sad Fact.

What we need in this sad world is not greater equality of opportunity, but a more stable equilibrium in labor. We either have nothing at all to do and starve to death, or have too much to do and work ourselves to death, until the chief aim of man would seem to be merely to shuffle off this mortal coil.—Judge.

Praise With a Purpose.

"Not under the circumstances. That was a new cook he was escorting out."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

The Shillalah.

The shillalah is no raw limb of a tree. It is almost as much a work of art as a well balanced cricket bat. The old shillalahs were as carefully looked after by their loving owners as is a rifle in the wilds. Cut from the sturdiest of young blackthorns and showing as little taper as an ebony ruler, it was weighted with lead or iron at the end nearest the grip so that its center of gravity was about four-fifths of the way from the hitting end. When properly seasoned by being kept in the neighborhood of the farm oven for a few months it became a thing of supple steel. And the proper pronunciation of the name of this fearsome weapon is the melodious one of "shillaily," with the accent on the "ail."—London Mirror.

Time to Make a Change.

Sir William Phips was appointed governor in chief of the province of Massachusetts Bay in 1692. During his administration the terrible war against witchcraft raged for some sixteen months. When his own wife, Lady Phips, was named as having exercised the powers of witchcraft Sir William began to view this whole terrible madness in a new light, and he put a stop to all trials and discharged the prisoners then awaiting trial.

ANNUAL SCHOOL MEETING

The annual meeting of School District No. 7, Tecumseh, County of Lenawee, Michigan, was held at the library rooms Monday evening with a fair attendance. The meeting was called to order at 7:30 by President J. H. Smith.

Sec'y C. F. Patterson gave the report of the meeting held in July, 1915. On motion the report was approved.

He then read the report for the year just ended with the recommendations for future use. On motion the report with recommendations was approved and accepted.

The treasurer, Dr. E. D. Brown, on being called upon, gave his report which was accepted and placed on file.

In the absence of the librarian, her report was presented by C. F. Patterson. This report was also accepted and placed on file.

Under the head of new business, Sec'y Patterson read a letter from Mrs. Chas. Bidwell who tendered her resignation as trustee. This was accepted with regret and Chas. Burridge was elected on second ballot to fill the unexpired term.

The term of office of F. B. Wood expired this year and he was elected to succeed himself on first ballot for the term of three years.

A motion to adjourn was next in order and the crowd dispersed.

The reports as given by the secretary and treasurer will appear in our next issue.

The teachers engaged for the ensuing school year are:

HARRY KNEELAND

We clip the following from the Herald-Democrat, published in Leadville Colo., July 1, 1916. This is surely one of the saddest records it has been ours to record of a former Tecumseh boy.

The earthly remains of one late Leadville pioneer were laid at rest yesterday afternoon, unostentatiously — in the way he had lived his life which had compassed the full history of Leadville, and yet left his earthly haunts barely a name. The Elks of Leadville Lodge No. 236 of which he was a member conducted the funeral services of Harry Kneeland who died early Monday morning last. They held the services at the chapel of the Moynahan & O'Malia Undertaking Co., 319 Harrison Ave., at 2 o'clock.

No relatives attended the services for all of the pioneer's relatives have died with the exception of the wife of his brother Frank who wired from St. Louis, Mich., that she was unable to come to Leadville. But the Elks attended, forming a chapel full of friends. Chris Hick, exalted ruler of the lodge, and Samuel Thomas, chaplain, conducted the Elks' burial services. Mrs. Thos. Crocombe, Mrs. R. H. James, Mrs. John Daniels, Miss L. Songster, Miss Christina Johnson, Miss Van-Schaack, Miss E. Johnson. E. W. Owen L. W. Figgen and E. R. Jennings sang "In the Hour of Trial" and "Jesus Lover of My Soul" at the chapel, and later sang "Abide With Me" at the grave in the Elks' Rest

The pall bearers were Frank Lomeister, John Knoche, William Campbell, Gene Sweninger, Emile Verner and H. C. Kalbfell.

There were many tributes of flowers on the casket at the little chapel. They showed that an old friend's memory was not forgotten; but few people who knew Harry Kneeland during his 38 years in Leadville knew of his life But few could recall where he had been employed.

When his spirit went out quietly early Monday morning after a hard siege of heart disease and pulmonary ailments, there was no intimate friend at his side. He died virtually alone as he had lived, virtually alone. Those who knew him best held him in high esteem, but there were not many who knew him well. He was of a reticent nature Trouble was met with in locating his only surviving relative after he died, and then it was believed that he had brothers living.

CHAUTAUQUA NOTES

At a recent meeting of the guarantors of the Chautauqua, the writer was chosen manager for this seeson. Somebody has to shoulder the responsibility of looking after this matter from year to year. It means anxiety and effort and I would rather be relieved of this task, but no one else appears to be willing to do it. I am convinced of the great value of such an institution to the community and believe that I am performing a real ministry when I am promoting it. For this reason only do I stick to it year after year.

This year the same company that furnishes the Chautauqua at Adrian will put on the program here July 26 and 30. They come with their tent and 1000 chairs. They pay all bills and provide for the advertising. The principal work of the local committee is to see that 400 tickets are sold at $2,00 each.

No season tickets can be purchased at the ticket office after the Chautauqua begins. They sell single admission tickets only. The single admission tickets are 25c for the afternoon and 50c for the evening. You will save $1.75 by buying a season ticket Programs may be had at the banks and stores. Tickets are on sale at many of the business places.

The Junior Chautauqua promises to be a valuable feature and parents will do well to see that their children have the Junior season ticket which costs $1 00. This ticket admits them to both tde junior and senior Chautauquas. The adult season ticket admits to both Chautauquas

Please do not wait to be solicited to buy a ticket. Make your purchase at once and encourage the local committee

W. B. Hartzog.

The Mothers Department of the Friends church will discontinue their meetings until September.

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Lowry of Ann Arbor visited his mother and other relatives in town for the weekend.

SPECIAL SCHOOL MEETING

Friday Evening, July 7, 1916.

Pursuant to a call given by the School Board of School District No 7, Tecumseh in the County of Lenawee, State of Michigan, to the voters of said district, a goodly number met at Grange hall, Friday evening for such business as was mentioned in said call, viz the purchase of a tract of land lying south of the present school site known as the Chaplin property.

The meeting was called to order by President Smith, [illegible] the business of the meeting and called for remarks by any one who wished to speak.

Atty. F. B. Wood presented a resolution that the School Board be authorized to purchase said site of land lying south of the present school site, known as the Chaplin property.

The president called for remarks on this resolution, no one responding tellers were appointed to pass ballots for a vote on the proposition those favoring vote yes, opposed no. The tellers were F. S. Anderson, C. A. Slayton and Dr. North. After each one had deposited their vote, a count was taken with the result 83 votes cast. Yes 74, No 9. The vote was declared in favor of the purchase.

Attorney Wood then spoke of the purchase of further grounds lying east of the present site. The Hoeg property can be purchased for $1550, four rods of the Gillen property for $500, Holdway and Gilbert expressed themselves as unwilling to sell and set no value on their property. An opportunity was given for remarks on this question, but met with no response.

A motion to adjourn was made and seconded and as the hall was like the furnace we read of as being seven times heated, the crowd dispersed at once.

Now that this question has been settled we hope that the work will begin at once and that the old structure that has served for so many years, be razed to the ground and our new school house be built as quickly as possible.

MIDSUMMER RECEPTION

On the afternoon of Saturday, July eighth, from two until five, Mrs. Theodore H. Crane received a large company of friends in honor of Mrs. Vernor W. Crane and Miss Julia Fuller of Chicago, her house guest and the fiancee of Professor Ronald S. Crane of Northwestern University

Masses of white and yellow flowers, lillies, daisies, and coreopsis, decorated the reception parlors; while in the dining room bachelor's buttons and candytuft formed a color scheme of blue and white.

The hostess and her guests of honor were aided in receiving by the Misses Ruth Keeney, Elizabeth Cupples, and Josephine Hayden. Tea was poured by Mrs. Theodore C. Harris and Miss Martha Caldwell. Assisting in the dining room were Mrs. J. Duaine Service and the Misses Geneva Satterthwaite, Camilla Hayden and Judith Crane. An air of delightful informality distinguished this charming midsummer reception.

TECUMSEH UNION SCHOOL

In looking over some old papers we find a dodger issued by Tecumseh Union school August 28, 1863 which reads as follows.

The autumn term of this school will open in each department on Monday the 7th of September next, under the superintendence of the following corps of teachers:

Prof. C. B. Thomas, principal high school.
Mrs. C B. Thomas preceptress.
Mr Samuel Rundell, assistant.
Miss Lucinda Sharp do
Miss Mary S. Bruce, Brownville primary.
Miss Maggie Rosebrough, West primary.
Miss Julia Hough, East primary.

The Board feel confident the school opens under flattering auspices of success, believing no better corps of teachers are engaged in any school of its grade in this portion of the State, than now announced and that foreign scholars will find no better opportunities than our school offers them.

To our former patrons, and all solicitious of educational advantages, both in the immediate and adjacent communities we extend an earnest invitation for co operation and patronage.

Mrs. Reed who hitherto has successfully conducted classes in drawing at a room in the higher school building, will continue her labors in that direction commencing with the term, and the board cheerfully bespeak for her the patronage of all desiring instruction in that department.

E. B. Wood, Director,
Tecumseh, August 28th 1863

SOME FISH

While Jonas Waldron was out to his farm last Friday, he lingered a few moments by the Creek, pitchfork in hand. Suddenly a hugh red horse fish displayed itself in the shallow water nearby.

The pitchfork proved a fine spear, and Jonas a good fisherman for he landed the fish in good order. It turned the scales at nine pounds. A big fish dinner was next on the program,

To Fatten the Goat.

"Where are you going with that goat, little boy?"

"Down to the lake. Come along if you wanter see some fun. This here goat has just et a crate of sponges, an' I'm going down an' let him drink!"—Exchange.

When the Window Sticks.

Take each window cord in hand at the same time and pull them out until the weights are up at the top. Let go suddenly and they will drop in place with sufficient force to start the window open, when no amount of pushing will do it.

THE OLD SCHOOL BELL

Clang, Clang, ding dong, the old school bell has pealed forth its notes to the scholars young and old, calling them to school for the past 60 years and more for it hung in the Court House before our Union School was built.

Some say, it was used on the Court House before the University school was inaugurated and now we wonder if it will be transferred to our new building.

'Tis a good old bell, and though its voice may be a little thin and wavering at times, yet we would miss it, for like the voices of our dear old friends, it takes us back to the long ago, when life was sweet and we were free from care.

Ring on old bell ring on,
Your voice is full of cheer;
Ring on, we love your mellow tone
Through all the glad school year.

DORCINA BOWEN

Dorcina the 10 months old baby of Mr. and Mrs. Claud Bowen passed away early Monday morning. The remains were taken to the home of its grandparents. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bunting of Tipton where the funeral was held this afternoon.

SPIENDID IMPROVEMENTS TO BE MADE ON PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

There was held a congregational meeting of the Presbyterian church after the morning service last Sunday to receive the report of the special committee on church repairs recently elected. R. A. Heesen chairman of the board of trustees presided.

C. A. Slayton as chairman of the committee asked Miss Gillespie the secretary of the committee to read the recommendations as decided upon by the committee. They were in substance recommendations for the installation of a toilet, four rooms to be partitioned off the north east and north west corners of the auditorium, with a gothic arch above the organ, floor of auditorium to be finished in natural wood with aisles and front of auditorium carpeted also the main room to be redecorated.

J. R. Nyland gave several estimates on the cost of the repairs and R M Moiles put the motion that the present committee go on with the work, the bills to be settled by the congregation

This motion was almost unanimously carried and the committee are to receive bids and go on with the work immediately.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood, and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

A little talk about

PLYMOUH HARD COAL.

How easy it is to say "We have the best coal." It is not so easy to explain how it happened when the customer makes his kick in the winter when he bought and paid for his coal in the summer.

To avoid this unpleasantness we for many years have purchased and sold the PLYMOUTH. The result is we have satisfied customers.

You will be equally well satisfied if you burn PLYMOUTH. You will find it burns to an even heat and lots of it. It burns to a white ash and little of it, next to no clinkers or foreign matter. On the whole is a little better than the majority of hard coals.

If you believe this is simply "Hard coal hot air", investigate and do it thoroughly. Talk with users who have burned this coal for years. We will then know the result of your decision.

We are now taking orders for July and August deliveries.

There is one thing you can depend upon in particular. Our scales are both sealed by the State and N.Y.C. Sealer. You will get 2000 of coal for a ton, none less or more.

ACCIDENTS

ACCIDENT IN DETROIT

L. P. Williamson was in Detroit Saturday on business and while standing on the street in front of the Majestic building, he was the unfortunate victim of an electric cable which broke and flew back into the crowd. Leon was the only one who was hurt. He was taken at once to the hospital where it was found he had a bad gash cut on his head, his lips were burned, also his hip seared.

At last reports he was doing as well as could be expected and may be able to come home the last of the week.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT

Mrs Lewis Priest was seriously injured Saturday evening and lies in a critical condition. She had been calling on Mrs. John Vedder who lives in the rooms over the 5 & 10 cent store. As she was leaving she stepped down from the doorway to the landing, thinking there was but one step, losing her balance she fell in such a way that a bad gash was cut in her throat through to the roots of her tongue. It required five stitches to close the wound. She bled profusely and was left in a very weak condition. With rare presence of mind Mrs. Vedder seized her by her feet thus preventing her falling down the long flight of stairs to the cement walk. Her escape was marvelons. It will be some time however before she will be up and around again.

Harold Snyder the 2½ year old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Snyder met with a serious accident Friday, while out at play he fell and cut a deep gash in his leg which required several stitches, also the tying up of an artery which was cut. The little fellow is doing as well as possible under the circumstances.

He Removed the Danger Signal

Frank W. Sherman, Laconia, N. Y., writes: "I suffered with kidney trouble, had a tired feeling in my back, did not have any ambition and felt all tired out. I used Foley Kidney Pills and in a few days began to feel better, and now I have entirely recovered and have had no return of my painful symptoms."

One cannot help becoming nervous and feeling tired and worn out when the kidneys fail to filter and throw out of the system the poisonous waste matter that causes kidney troubles and bladder ailments.

Backache is one of Nature's danger signals that the kidneys are clogged up and inactive. It is often followed by rheumatism, annoying bladder or urinary disorders, puffy swellings under the eyes, swollen ankles and painful joints.

DOUBLY PROVEN

Tecumseh Readers Can No Longer Doubt the Evidence.

This Tecumseh citizen testified long ago.

Told of quick relief—of undoubted benefit.

The facts are now confirmed.

Such testimony is complete—the evidence conclusive.

It forms convincing proof of merit.

Mrs. C. Stevenson, Wyondotte & Pottawatamie Sts., Tecumseh, says: "The first symptoms of kidney complaint in my case was a sharp, shooting pains across the small of my back, which made it almost omposible for me to lie down. Someone advised me to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial and I did, procuring my supply at C. A. Wright & Son's Drug Store. After I had taken this remedy a short time, the pains and aches left and gravel that had been a source of constant suffering no longer troubled me, in fact, I felt like a different person."

USES DOAN'S AGAIN

OVER FIVE YEARS LATER, Mrs. Stevenson said: "I am always glad to speak a good word in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills. Whenever I feel the need of a kidney medicine, I take Doan's Kidney Pills and they always give me the best of relief."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills the same that Mrs. Stevenson has publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

THE CANARY ISLANDS.

In Ancient Days They Were Thought to Form the Real Heaven.

You know, of course, that the Canary islands are northwest of Africa and that they belong to Spain. You may happen to remember, too, that three very interesting things have been given to the world by that group of islands—Canary wine, the Canary dance and the lovely little yellow song bird that has a place in so many homes. To be sure, they are the Canary islands, because that is where canary birds come from.

But hold! The horse is behind the cart. The birds got their name from the place of their nativity, and the group of islands took its name from the largest and most important member, Gran Canaria island. Curiously enough, the name means "big dog" instead of "little bird."

There was a time when these islands were of far more interest and importance than they are now, a time when they called forth a special government edict. It was the senate of Carthage that passed a law forbidding the citizens to make those islands the objective point of their summer vacation.

From time immemorial the world had believed that somewhere beyond the pillars of Hercules there was a group of islands so beautiful, so replete with everything to make men and women happy, that they constituted the real heaven. They were called "Islands of the Blest." When the Carthaginian fleet returned from its first expedition to the Canary islands there was danger that all the population of Carthage would emigrate to that realm of song birds and tempered sunshine; hence the edict.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

ODD LABOR SAVING DEVICE.

A Farmer's Ingenuity With a Clock and a Rat Trap.

On a farm in western New York it is frequently necessary to shut off a gasoline engine pump late at night. The pump is located more than a mile from the house, and the owner, after many weary midnight trips, decided to delegate the duty of shutting it off to a trusted family alarm clock.

The clock was first securely fastened to a support directly opposite and about a foot away from the switch of the engine. One end of a short piece of cord was attached to the switch and the other end tied firmly to the winding post on the back of the clock which revolves as the alarm rings. The clock was set at the desired hour but instead of ringing it wound up the cord on the revolving post, pulled open the switch and stopped the pump.

The arrangement worked perfectly except when the switch became clogged or jammed so that the mechanism of the clock was not sufficiently strong to pull it open. This difficulty was remedied by bringing into play an old fashioned spring rat trap. The pull of the clock is now used to snap the trap, and the strong throw of the trap spring shuts off the current without fail.

In another instance an alarm clock is used to open the small sliding door of a poultry house. In this case the clock winds up a string connected with a balanced weight. The pull of the string causes the weight to fall from its support and as it falls it pulls up the sliding door.—Country Gentleman.

Eggs That Can't Be Found.

The eggs of some common birds of the present day have never been found. There is the robin snipe; its eggs have never been seen. An English zoologist kept a man going up and down the coast of Labrador for weeks purposely to get a robin snipe's egg, but it was in vain. The bird is known by thousands of people, but it breeds so far north and so remote from any civilization that no scientific observer can ever get to its nest ere the young are hatched and have taken to wing. The frigate bird that is so commonly seen at sea on the Pacific and off the West Indies is such a solitary bird and is so seldom seen in its nest during the hours of daylight that its egg is rare.

An Ancient Die.

In the museum at Athens is shown what is probably the only genuine antique die used for coinage that is now extant. It was found in Egypt in 1904 and consists of bronze, engraved with the owl that was stamped on Athenian tetradrachma pieces, which contained about as much silver as three quarter dollars. The die is of scientific interest on account of the evidence it gives of the skill of the ancients 300 or 400 years before Christ in metallurgy. It contains about 22½ per cent of tin and nearly 70 per cent of copper. It is extremely hard, but at the same time possesses a certain malleability, due to the great purity of the copper and tin, which were carefully freed from all traces of lead and zinc to preserve the hardness and from arsenic and antimony to avoid brittleness.

Won by a Bluff.

When the armies of Napoleon were overrunning Europe, General Massena, with 18,000 men, suddenly appeared before the Austrian town of Feldkirch and demanded its surrender. Instead of complying, the burgomaster issued orders that the church bells were to be set ringing and that the burghers, their wives and daughters, clad in holiday attire, were to assemble in the market square and there make merry.

The result was exactly what he had hoped for. Massena heard the sounds of rejoicing, watched from the heights overlooking the town the gathering throngs in the streets and came to the conclusion that the townsfolk must have received intelligence that the Austrian army, which was believed to be somewhere in the vicinity, was advancing to their relief.

As to give battle there and then formed no part of Napoleon's general plan of action, Massena ordered a retreat. Feldkirch was saved, and by a bluff, for as a matter of fact no relieving force was anywhere near at the time.

Coming and Going.

One afternoon a cast down hobo timidly knocked on the door of a suburban home, and when the owner of the house appeared he meekfully asked for bread.

"I see," responded the proprietor, critically sizing up the tramp, "that the knees of your trousers are badly worn."

"Yes, sir," answered the hobo, in a subdued voice. "I wore them through kneeling in prayer."

A few minutes later the tramp was handed his fodder, and with many thanks he turned and started toward the gate.

"Just a moment," exclaimed the proprietor. "I notice that your trousers are also pretty badly worn in the back."

"Yes, sir," responded the tramp, steering for the gate. "I did that back sliding."—Philadelphia Telegraph.

His Remarkable Career.

Few careers have covered wider extremes of fortune than did that of John of Cappadocia. He was a Roman officer of very high rank under the Emperor Justinian in the sixth century. He was a very able man, and under his direction the finances of the government flourished wonderfully. Incidentally he amassed a great fortune for himself. But he was very corrupt, and the revenues were raised "on the deaths of thousands, the poverty of millions, the ruins of cities and the desolation of provinces." He lived most extravagantly and indulged in all sorts of wicked practices. But his life of ostentatious profligacy was suddenly changed into one of abject poverty. Though guilty of many crimes, he was accused of one of which he seems to have been innocent and was condemned to be scourged like the lowest of criminals. Nothing of his vast fortune was left him but one old ragged cloak, and it is said that for seven years he begged bread in the streets of cities that once had trembled at his name.

A Peasant Boy Philosopher.

Very remarkable was the boyhood of the celebrated James Ferguson, who was born at Keith, in Banffshire, Scotland, in 1710. His father, who was a day laborer, taught him to read and write and sent him to school for three months at Keith. At the age of eight he constructed a clock of wood that kept remarkably good time and afterward made a wooden watch with a whalebone spring. He began to earn his first money by cleaning and mending clocks in the neighborhood. His astronomical pursuits commenced soon afterward, his father having sent him to a neighboring farmer, who employed him in watching his sheep. While thus occupied he amused himself at night by watching the stars and during the day in making models. In 1747 he published his book on the phenomena of the harvest moon, and this was followed by other astronomical works His books received the approval of the Royal society, before which he frequently appeared.

How Boston Might Be Destroyed.

One of the most novel methods yet conceived of destroying a city is described in Popular Science Monthly. The author says:

"An enemy need not bother mustering battleships or waste his time bombarding from afar the intellectual hub of this land of ours. In time of peace let him have his spies build a big pumping station right in the middle of that city, and at the proper time start drawing indiscriminately from the ground below the water saturating the subsoil. You know a large number of Boston's big buildings rest upon floating foundations. Pump out the water in the supporting quicksand and down those structures would tumble into the yawning cavities so created. It would be far more effective in its demolition than the projectiles of a hostile fleet."

Ma's Loss.

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

Keep the Feet Dry.

Dr. Alvah H. Doty, formerly health officer of the port of New York, contributes some sound, common sense advice to the Medical Record on how not to catch cold. It is low resisting power, he says, that allows us to contract such infectious diseases as colds and grip, and those who escape such troubles are those whose organs are healthy and strong enough to resist the attacks of the germs that produce them.

"Nothing," writes Dr. Doty, "contributes more directly to predisposition to acute inflammatory conditions of the respiratory tract than wet feet. * * * Nine-tenths of the footgear worn by women offers no protection whatever against damp or wet streets. * * * Even the heavier shoes worn by men offer but little more protection. Besides, so called waterproof shoes exist chiefly in the imagination."

Dr. Doty insists that rubbers should always be worn in wet weather and says they will not draw or sweat the feet if removed immediately upon entering the house.

CLOTHES AND A SWIMMER.

A Word About Going Overboard at Sea While Fully Dressed.

Professor J. Joly sent to the London Times a letter on experiments he and Professor H. H. Dixon have conducted on the advantages and disadvantages of swimming in clothes—a subject which may be of importance to any one who travels by sea.

The popular notion is that clothes drag a swimmer down, but the maximum downward drag of an ordinary sailor's clothes in sea water was shown to be only four ounces. This was after all air had been expelled from the clothes. In practice the drag for a considerable time would be less. At first there would even be a sustaining force from the clothes. Of course, for a short and sharp burst of swimming clothes would obviously be a great impediment.

The most important result of the experiments, however, was to show that a clothed person in the sea loses warmth very much less rapidly than an unclothed person. The explanation is that fabrics placed against the skin stop the circulation and prevent the body warmth from being carried off by the water. With a great amount of clothing it might be possible to keep fairly warm even in very cold water. The moral is: Keep on your clothes, and if you have a life belt or life saving waistcoat keep on plenty of them.

Two Kinds of Emulsions.

Milk and butter are both emulsions. Professor F. G. Donnan of University college, London, defines an emulsion as a distribution of one liquid in another. A little oil shaken with much water gives an emulsion in which the particles of oil have a diameter of about a thousandth of a millimeter. Such an emulsion is milk. A little water in much oil gives particles of water even smaller; such an emulsion is butter.

Wigs.

The fashion of wearing wigs was due to a skin disease which produced bald patches on the august head of Francis I. of France. He got a wig, and his courtiers followed suit, just as they all whispered when he had an attack of laryngitis

Do You Know Why
THE TECUMSEH STATE SAVINGS BANK
WELCOMES SMALL AMOUNTS?

Many people probably are wondering why we advertise—"open a savings account with a dollar"—why we apparently make a stronger appeal for smaller accounts than larger ones.

There's a reason—a good, sound and sensible reason.

100 small accounts will grow into larger proportions in one year's time than any single account aggregating the total of 100 smaller ones.

100 small accounts will make the Tecumseh State Savings Bank a stronger institution, for these accounts are not subject to a sudden change as a larger account might be.

100 small accounts mean that NINETY-NINE more people are saving money—and it's a well known fact that the more Bank accounts—the more prosperous the community as a whole becomes.

"The Trans-forming Passion"

A TALE OF LOWER MICHIGAN

By W. B. Hartzog

Chapter II
A WAIF IN DETROIT

A busy city pays little attention to a child. For several weeks the child stayed with a neighbor. Finally it dawned on him that he was not wanted there, and early one Monday morning he set out to make his way in the world. It never occurred to him to make his way back to the village of Tecumseh, where friends of the family might care for him.

He went down town, and as he passed the office of the Free Press, a man motioned to him to come in. He entered the office and the man said, "Boy do you want a job?" Charley said he did. "Well," said the editor, "I will give you two dollars and fifty cents a week if you will remain and work for me." Charley promptly accepted the offer. The editor told him to begin at once filing papers, adding, "You are supposed to be here at seven o'clock every morning and work until five thirty." Dinner time came, he was hungry, but not having money he remained in the office during the noon hour. When five thirty came he was very hungry and he didn't know where to stay. The weather was very cold Ice covered the pavement and decorated the windows with millions of crystals. Charley started off and after walking a long distance reached the out-skirts of the city. As he crossed a railroad track he observed a dim light in a shanty. He approached the door and timidly knocked. The door opened and a one armed old man stood before him. "What will you have youngster?" said the old man. "Please, sir, may I come in? I am nearly frozen," Said Charley. "Certainly," said the old man, "I never turn any one away from my shanty if he is respectable." Charley stepped in. The shanty was a rude affair, about ten by twelve feet. At one end was a stove and at the other end was a bed. The light was furnished by a lantern. There was a small table, a box nailed to the wall for a cupboard and two old chairs. On the wall was a photograph of a woman and a little boy.

The wind roared and the fire in the old flat top stove crackled. "Youngster, this is a cold night, that north west wind is going to bring the thermometer down below zero tonight. Where be you going such a night as this?" "No where," said Charley, "I have no home and I don't know where to stay." "Well, then you better take off your hat and stay here, you are welcome to stay. Been to supper, I suppose?" "No," said Charley. "I haven't had anything to eat." "I haint got much but you are welcome to such as I have. See that picture on the wall," said the old man, as he began putting things on the table. "That is the picture of my little boy. He was about as old as you when he died. That is his mother sitting beside him, she died four years ago in this shanty. You see I am an old soldier and I lost this arm at Gettysburg. I get a little pension, that keeps me. I don't have to pay any rent. This shanty stands on the railroad company's land. One day I saved a train from being wrecked out there and the superintendent of the railroad said I could live here as long as I pleased. The train men know me and they throw off coal, so I don't have to buy fuel." By this time the meat was frying and Charley's sense of hunger made him desperate. "Now sit down to the table and help yourself," said the old man. Charley lost no time and soon was at the table.

"What is that noise at the door?" said Charley, as he was about to take the first mouthful of food. At that he opened the door and there stood a little yellow dog shivering. "May I let him in," said Charley. "Yes let him in, boys and dogs are always friends," said the old man. "Come in Laddie," said Charley, and the half frozen creature bounded in. "Mr., may I give him part of my supper?" said Charley. The old man's heart was touched by the plea of the hungry child for the hungry dog. "Never mind, youngster, I have something here in the box that he can eat." At that the old man lifted the lid and brought forth some food that was left from dinner. "May I give it to him, Mr.?" said Charley. The old man handed it to Charley, who in turn said "Come Laddie," and the grateful dog began to eat ravenously. "Say, Mr. can I give him some water, I know he has not had anything to drink for a long time, everything is frozen up all over town." The old man put some water in a pan for the dog. After the dog's wants had been supplied, the hungry boy ate his supper. He never relished a supper as he did this one.

"You were pretty hungry youngster," said the old man as he proceeded to gather up the dishes. "I always like to feed hungry people, they never kick about what I give them." "Say Mr.," said Charley, "Will you let me keep this dog inside tonight it is so cold outside?" Yes, he can stay in, I don't mind dogs in fact I, like dogs and boys."

This remark encouraged Charley to ask the old man if he might live with him. "Certainly," said the old man, "You can stay with me as long as you like." "Well I will be glad to do it," said Charley, "for I have no father or mother. I have a job at the Free Press office and I will get two dollars and fifty cents on Saturday and I will pay you. I haven't a cent of money now, so I will have to eat here morning and evening, I can do without my dinner." "No, you won't do without your dinner," said the old man, "I will fix you a lunch in the morning before you go to work. By the way, youngster what is your name?" "My name is Charley Preston." "Well my name is Bill Marvin, the boys call me Uncle Bill." "May I call you Uncle Bill?" said Charley. "Yes, you may call me Uncle Bill." "And I will call this dog Laddie," said Charley. "I wonder if he will run away while I am at work tomorrow?" "No, you couldn't drive him away after making such a fuss over him as you have," said Uncle Bill.

The dog curled down by the stove and was soon fast asleep. Charley began to show signs of sleepiness so Uncle Bill told him to go to bed and assured him that he would call him in time to go to work. In a short time Charley was sleeping soundly and dreaming of a better day when he would not have to walk the streets of the city half starved. The old man sat up and read the newspaper for a while, then he took off his glasses and glanced at the innocent face of the orphan child and said, "I wonder what tragedy is back of his life?"

The next morning the old man was up at five o'clock, and had breakfast ready for Charley when he awoke. "Get up Charley and wash, breakfast is ready." Charley arose and prepared himself for breakfast. After he had eaten Uncle Bill said, "Now let me slick up your hair and brush your coat, I want my boy to look neat today." Then he handed him a little box containing a lunch and Charley bade Laddie and Uncle Bill good by and hurried away.

The old man watched him as he hurried up the street. "Poor child" said he, "He hasn't any overcoat and he will nearly freeze. I am going over on the avenue and beg an over coat for him."

That evening when Charley was returning to the shanty he passed a large church. It was brilliantly lighted. He saw a man start up the steps and then turn back. "Say son do you go to Sunday School any where?" said he. "I use to" said Charley, "but I don't now, I am a tramp boy and I am afraid to go to church." "Well that don't matter, that is what the church is for, to help boys like you. What is your name?" "My name is Charley Preston." "Where is your home?" said the man. "I am living with a good man called Uncle Bill Marvin in a shanty down by the railroad." "When are you at the shanty?" "I am there in the evening," said Charley. "Well I will be there to see you some evening this week. I am the superintendent of the Sunday school here, this is the First Baptist church, Good night." Charley hastened on. When he drew near the railroad he saw Uncle Bill and Laddie looking down the street for him. Laddie bounded down the street to meet him for he knew he had an unfailing friend in the boy.

After supper was over Uncle Bill said "Charley I have been over on the avenue and begged an overcoat for you. I knew I could get one at No. 400, for there is a generous family living there. About a year ago they lost a little boy about your age. Try it on and see how it fits you." Charley tried it on, it proved to be just his size and he was greatly pleased with it.

Uncle Bill always enjoyed telling him about the war and Charley enjoyed hearing him. He was telling him a story of war times when they heard a knock at the door. Charley opened the door and in came the man whom he met at the church steps. Uncle Bill recognized him as Mr. Burke the superintendent of the railroad who told him to occupy the shanty as long as he desired to do so. "Take a chair, Mr. Burke." "I came to call on Charley," said the visitor. "I am interested in having him come to Sunday school." "I want him to go to Sunday school and be a good boy," said Uncle Bill. "By the way," said he, "I was over to your home today and begged an overcoat for Charley. I could not bear to see him go to work so thinly clad this cold weather." At that he held up the overcoat. Tears filled the eyes of the visitor as he recognized the coat which his little Willie had prized so highly when he was living. When he had mastered his deep emotion he said, "Uncle Bill I am glad you got that coat, does it fit Charley?" "It just fits me," said the grateful child. After talking about the Sunday school a little while Mr. Burke arose and handed Uncle Bill twenty-five dollars saying, "Uncle Bill take this and get Charley a nice suit of clothes and any thing else he needs." Then he turned to the child and handed him a bulletin of the Church saying, "This will tell you when the Sunday school convenes. I have another engagement in a few minutes so I must be going." After Mr. Burke went out, Uncle Bill said, "Mr. Burke is a good man, he is never so busy with his business that he can't find time to look after the boys and girls. The world needs more men like him."

Saturday evening came and Charley received his pay. As he went out of the office he found Uncle Bill waiting for him. "Well Charley we will go to the store and fit you out so you can go to Sunday school in the morning."

The next morning Charley was up bright and early. He dressed and watched the clock and appeared to be impatient. Finally the church bells began to ring and Charley said, "Uncle can I go now?" "Yes it is time and God bless you my boy." Charley hurried away, Uncle Bill watched him from the window until he disappeared far up the street, then he said to himself, "What a blessing that child has brought into my life, now I have something to live for."

When Charley arrived at the church, the first man he met was Mr. Burke who cordially welcomed him. How beautiful everything looked to his wondering eyes. How kind everybody seemed to him. After the opening exercises were over Mr. Burke assigned him to a class. To his surprise his teacher was the editor of the Free Press. The teacher was surprised also and heartily welcomed him. During the winter and spring months Charley was a regular attendant of the Sunday school.

One evening Charley and the editor were alone in the office and the editor said, "Charley what was your father's name?" "His name was John, some folks said he was killed at Lansing," said Charley. "Do you know what your mother's name was?" said the editor. "Papa use to call her Nancy, she died a few weeks after father died," said Charley. "Well that's too bad," said the editor. The editor told him that with the beginning of the following week he would double his wages. Charley went to the shanty that night with a happy heart.

Just as Charley left the office that evening Mr. Burke entered. "Mr. Burke," said the editor, "I have just been questioning Charley about his father and mother and I find that he is the son of Hon. John Preston who twice represented our county in the legislature." "You don't mean ie?" said Mr. Burke. "That's right," said the editor, "His father was a brillant man but he fell through drink. When he first came to this city he was pretty well off financially and they lived at No. 450 Woodward Avenue." "Well if that is the case," said Mr. Burke, "We will have to look after that boy." "Yes we must," said the editor, "For he is a good boy, and he is very bright. He ought to be in school."

ALLIES AND FOE MAKE ADVANCES

French Capture Heights Key to Peronne.

HILL 97 TAKEN BY STORM

Teutons Regain Lost Positions at Trones Wood, Barleux and La Maisonette Farm—French Start New Offensive at Champagne—Russ Crossing the Stokhod.

LONDON, ENG.—While the French stormed and occupied Hill 97, a height dominating the Somme southeast of of Blaches, as well as German positions near Barlieux, and the British made a new advance northwest of Contalmaison, the Germans also had victories to record in the recapture of the Trones woods, La Maisonette farm and the village of Barleux.

The retaking of the Trones woods, which the British captured Saturday night, came after a series of violent attacks. The attack that succeeded was the sixth in twenty-four hours and was made with all the power of the German machine.

More Prisoners Taken.

The British and French war offices each announce the capture of several hundred prisoners in the day's fighting. Several guns also were taken.

Without relenting in their drive on the Somme the French opened up a new attack in the Champagne. The capture of trenches over a front of 500 meters west of Mesnil was announced as a result. In the capture of the line of trenches near Barleux the French made 950 prisoners.

The British statement admits the recapture of the Trones Woods, but says it was accomplished at the cost of tremendous losses.

Russ Cross the Stokhod.

PETROGRAD. — The Russian forces advancing in Volhynia toward Kovel are crossing the river Stokhod at various points, closely pressing the Teutonic forces opposing them, says the war office statement.

The passage of the river is being accomplished under serious difficulties. The official communication says that the crossings have in most cases been destroyed by the opposing armies.

Rush Burning Bridge.

According to later reports regarding the crossing of the Stokhod at Ugli it declares, chief credit for the exploit must go to Colonel Kautseroff, commander of the Pavlograd regiment and chevalier of the order of St. George. Colonel Kautseroff, rushing forward at the head of his advance guards led them across a burning bridge under violent artillery and rifle fire.

Take 21,400 PPrisoners.

"The total number of prisoners taken by General Kaledines from July 4 to 8 is 341 officers and 9,145 unwounded soldiers," says the official report o the Russian war office. "He also captured ten pieces of artillery, forty-eight machine guns, sixteen bombthrowers, 7,930 rifles and sixty-two limbers and depots of engineering materials. These figures must be added to those given in the communication of July 8, which included 300 officers, 12,000 men and forty-five pieces of artillery."

Checked, Says Berlin.

BERLIN. — The Germans have checked the Russian forces which were advancing in Volhynia in the derection of Kovel, the war office announces. The Russian troops moving toward the Stokhod line were everywhere repulsed.

Ora Swartz, of Deshler, O., aged 21 was drowned under Fallasburg bridge at Lowell.

From hurts in an auto accident Orville Hyde, fifty years old, a resident of Morgan, died in the Hastings hospital.

CLEARANCE FOR U-MERCHANTMAN

Surveyor of Port Holds Deutschland Peace Ship.

BIG QUESTIONS ARE INVOLVED

Composition of Crew and Real Owner of Vessel May Determine Whether It Is Naval Auxiliary—Effect on Blockade Arouses Speculation by Naval Men.

BALTIMORE, MD. — The German merchantman-submarine Deutschland was formally entered at the Baltimore custom-house without opposition.

Guy V. Steele, surveyor of the port of Baltimore, made an official report to Collector Ryan advising that the Deutschland was an unarmed merchant vessel, entitled to all the privileges of any other peaceful ship sailing under the flag of a friendly nation.

Big Questions Involved.

WASHINGTON. — The fact that boarding officers found the German merchant submarine Deutschland wholly unarmed goes far toward simplifying any question as to her status as a merchant ship in American waters.

Officials realize, however, that the British and French enbassies, while interested little in what the Deutschland has brought over, are concerned over the cargo of rubber and nickel she purposes to carry back to Germany, and expect that nothing will be left undone by Germany's enemies to prevent or hinder her clearance.

Although the fact that the submersible is unarmed is of first importance, such factors as the composition of the crew and actual ownership will have to be established to determine whether the submarine could be classed as a naval auxiliary.

No Guns on Board.

Collector Ryan at Baltimore reported informally that the Deutschland did not carry guns, was manned by a merchant crew, carried a cargo and was not a warship. A written report is expected later.

Officials said they had no reason to believe a special examination of the Deutschland would be opposed and that as the submarine is a new ship in merchant trade the United States must be wholly satisfied that she is what she professes to be and not a warship. If objections are raised that the Deutschland is a secret type and nothing but a superficial examination can be allowed, the state department is expected to insist on a thorough examination, as has been done in the case of steamships.

Does It Weaken Blockades?

Naval officers, while attracted by the great size of the submarine and her long voyage, are interested most in the fact that she successfully ran the allied blockade. Some of them pointed out that if a successful means of running a blockade had been perfected one of the most potent measures of warfare had become a thing of the past.

Until the customs officials report is received Acting Secretary Polk said that no action was contemplated by the state department.

"We must await the investigation of the treasury department," he said "Until that is submitted the state department has no information upon which to proceed."

Mr. Polk said that for the time being, at least, details of the submarine were within the jurisdiction of the treasury department, aided possibly by the navy department.

Reports that the submarine is unarmed, Mr. Polk added, indicated that the state department's position would be much simplified.

CREDITORS CHEER LORIMER

Meet Former Senator and Enthuse Over His Promises.

CHICAGO, ILL. — Depositors who lost money in the crash of the LaSalle Street Trust and Savings bank, crowded the Second Regiment armory at 2543 West Madison street, when the meeting called by William Lorimer was called to order.

Senator Lorimer was there early and though hundreds who lost money in his bank were present the meeting was in nature of an ovation. He promised to pay all losses in full, and his hearers seemed enthused over his proposals.

Mr. Can't Afford, Attention!

OCCASIONALLY the Chautauqua Committee finds a man who says he can't afford to attend the Chautauqua. This advertisement is addressed to him.

When a man's house needs painting he paints it. It isn't a question of whether he can afford to paint just then. He borrows the money, if need be, to paint, for he knows he can't afford not to paint.

When a man is sick he gets a doctor. Even if his bank account is as sick as he is, he knows he can't afford not to have the doctor, even though he knows he can't afford to have him.

Day after day you stick to your job, wearing your brain thin with the ever-recurring monotony of labor. Your brain is your best servant. It needs repairs just as much as the house you live in needs paint. It gets sick just as much as your physical body gets sick, It gets tired, run down, dispirited

The Chautauqua will do more to tone up and put in running order your tired brain than a week at the seashore. It will plant new thoughts, stir new energies, awaken new inspiration. It will soothe with great music, rest with choice entertainment.

The †two dollars spent for a Chautauqua ticket isn't an expenditure—it's an investment. It brings returns as surely as a government bond. You tackle your job with renewed energy after you've been in attendance at the Chautauqua. Your increased horse-power soon returns the †two dollars ten-fold.

And the folks at home need a vacation, too. Mrs. Can't Afford gets just as run-down as you do. Try the season ticket panacea on her. She be a new woman when she comes home from the Chautauqua. She'll go singing about her work, like a woman ought to do.

The Can't Afford children need the Junior Chautauqua, too. A dollar takes care of them, and they will have the time of their lives.

Can't afford the Chautauqua! Why, man, you can't afford to do without it. Ten sessions for †two dollars. You can save it every day by cutting down on the little luxuries—and it will pay you a thousand per cent dividend in increased efficiency.

Get that season ticket today!

In view of the foregoing estimates the Board of Education recommends that there be raised by taxation upon the taxable property of this district as follows:

For teachers' wages fund	$5600 00
For general fund	4000 00
For building and site fund	1400 00
For library fund	1100 00
	$12100 00

The Board also recommends that the ensuing school year shall consist of 38 weeks, starting September the fourth and that tuition for foreign pupils shall remain the same as heretofore, viz: High school, $20.00; grammar grades, $16 00; and primary up to and including 4th grade, $12.00.

A high school catalogue of Tecumseh schools for 1916-1917 has just been published and a copy of same can be had by calling upon the librarian or one will be mailed to any interested person upon request.

The commercial course introduced in our schools the past year was a popular and well patronized course and will be continued the ensuing year.

The Board cannot at this time give any definite information as to how the pupils of the Central Building will be housed during the removal of that structure. But the Board wishes to say that it will use every endeavor to provide as comfortable and convenient quarters as possible and plans with that end in view are already under way.

The number of children of school going age in this district, according to the school census recently completed, is as follows:

Storekeepers Know Good Liniment and Recommend it

Storekeepers seldom praise goods, but now and then they can't help it. For instance, when a simple liniment has cured external ills for 68 years, honest dealers cannot help but confirm what Mr. A. Van Sickel of Sommerfield, Pa., said: "We have had calls for Hanford's Balsam of Myrrh for miles around, and have never had a bottle returned—not a one." adv

PLAYING AT DEATH.

The mother of Ivan Turgenev, the Russian novelist, was a trying person to live with, irritable, capricious and unreasonable. On the anniversary of Ivan's birthday in 1845, we are told in "Two Russian Reformers," after a day of festivities, Mme. Turgenev pretended to be dying.

"She sent for her confessor and, placing before her the portrait of her son Ivan, exclaimed: 'Adieu, Ivan! Adieu, Nicolas! Adieu, my children!' Then she ordered her forty servants and all the men employed about the house to say goodby to her. When they had filed out of the room Mme. Turgenev declared that she felt better and asked for tea. The next day the following 'order' appeared:

"'I give orders that tomorrow morning the disobedient servants, Nicolas Jacovlef, Ivan Petrof and Egor Kondratatief, shall sweep the court in front of my windows.'

"Those names were those of servants who had not appeared at her bedside, possibly because they were a little drunk that evening. 'Good for nothings! Drunkards!' exclaimed Mme. Turgenev. 'They rejoice at the death of their mistress!'"

Flight of a Swallow.

Francis Thompson, an English poet, was a great lover of birds. One day in autumn he fastened to one of the wings of a migrating swallow a small piece of oiled paper on which were written the words, "Swallow, little swallow, I wonder where you pass the winter!" The next spring the swallow came back to his nest in Thompson's garden at the usual time. The poet saw something tied to his leg. He caught the bird and found a small piece of oiled paper on which was this answer: "Florence, at the house of Castellari. Cordial greetings to the friends in the north."

Giant and Dwarf Honeybees.

In some of the East Indian islands and on the mainland of Hindustan are to be found the smallest species of honeybees in the world. These dwarf honey collectors are known to entomologists as Apis florea. Their honeycombs are no larger than a child's hand, and the cells are about the size of a small pinhead. This honey is excellent, as is the wax. The little creatures build the comb in the branch of a low tree, and as they have not to provide for winter, they work all the year through, raising broods like themselves.

In the same land there is a species of giant bees, Apis dorsata, as large as a field cricket. These monsters of the bee world build honeycombs that are from six to seven feet in length, four or more in width and weigh from 300 to 400 pounds each.

Vernet in a Storm at Sea.

Vernet, the celebrated painter of sea pieces, eager in the study of nature, made several long voyages in his younger days in order to observe the various scenes which the changeful elements exhibit. In one of these excursions undertaken merely for the love of the art a most violent gale of wind arose, when Vernet, without attending to the perils with which he was surrounded, desired one of the sailors to lash him fast to some of the rigging. Soon after this request was granted the storm increased, attended with thunder and lightning and with every circumstance that could add to the horror of the scene, and consternation and terror sat on every countenance, but in the young painter every emotion was lost in that of admiration, which so wholly engrossed his attention that he every now and then exclaimed in the most enthusiastic terms, "Good heavens, what a noble scene!"

A little talk about

PLYMOUH HARD COAL.

How easy it is to say "We have the best coal." It is not so easy to explain how it happened when the customer makes his kick in the [illegible] bought and paid for his coal in the summer.

To avoid this unpleasantness we for many years have purchased and sold the PLYMOUTH. The result is we have satisfied customers.

You will be equally well satisfied if you burn PLYMOUTH. You will find it burns to an even heat and lots of it. It burns to a white ash and little of it, next to no clinkers or foreign matter. On the whole is a little better than the majority of hard coals.

If you believe this is simply "Hard coal hot air", investigate and do it thoroughly. Talk with users who have burned this coal for years. We will then know the result of your decision.

We are now taking orders for July and August deliveries.

There is one thing you can depend upon in particular. Our scales are both sealed by the State and N.Y.C. Sealer. You will get 2000 of coal for a ton, none less or more.

Your Wife May Bank For You.

In many families, it is easier for the wife to look after the bank account than for the husband.

Thus should some way be provided whereby the wife may make the necessary withdrawals.

You may deposit your savings in a JOINT ACCOUNT at the Lilley State Bank and it will be subject to withdrawals by either yourself or wife.

Many families have their savings on deposit in this way at the Lilley State Bank and find it a great convenience.

We invite your account and urge you to call that we may more fully explain this plan to you.

OBITUARY OF BERT A. LEE

Bert A. Lee, youngest son of John and Mary Jane Lee of Tecumseh Mich. was born May 1 1870, and departed this life July 1 1916 age 46 years and two months.

On December 31 1896 he was united in marriage to Miss Mary E Lewis at Petersburg Michigan. To them were born three children Harvey, Leslie and Netta

Mr. Lee followed the occupation of farming until seven years ago when he removed to Toledo and entered the employ of the Willys—Overland Company.

He leaves to mourn his departure a wife, two sons, a daughter, father, mother, brother and a large circle of other relatives and friends,

When twenty two years of age he was converted and united with the United Brethren church. There he was Sunday School Superintendent and sang in the choir. Following his removal to Toledo he and his wife united with the Central M. E. church where he was one of the faithful members and officers He was regular in his attendance upon the Prayer meeting, the official board and church services.

"God of the living, in whose eyes
Unveiled thy whole creation lies.
All souls are thine; we must not say
That those are dead who pass away;
From this world of flesh set free,
We know them living unto Thee:

Released from earthly toil and strife,
With thee is hidden still their life;
Thine are their thots, their words, their powers.
All thine and yet most truly ours;
For well we know, wher'er they be,
Our dead are living unto Thee.

Not spilt like water on the ground,
Not wrapt in dreamless sleep profound,
Not wandering in unknown despair,
Beyond thy voice, thine arm, thy care
Not left to lie like fallen tree;
Not dead but living unto Thee.

O Breather into man of breath!
O Holder of the keys of death!
O Giver of the life within!
Save us from death, the death of sin,
That body, soul and spirit be Forever living unto Thee."

CLINTON MAN HURT

Lavern Socks in Path of Runaway; Head Is Cut

CLINTON, Mich., July 13—Lavern Socks, age 30, met with a painful injury Wednesday while unloading hay His father, Peter Socks, was driving a team on a hay fork. As he turned around one of the horses stepped over a tug and began to kick. The team broke away and ran, colliding with a wagon on which Lavern was standing. He was knocked to the ground, landing on his head. He sustained a deep gash in which it was necessary to take two stiches. The skull is not injured and he is resting comfortably today.

"CAPT. RACKET"

Three-Act Comedy by Home Talent

There will be presented at the opera house at an early date a breezy 3 act comedy entitled "Capt. Racket," which will be given by our own histrionic talent as a benefit for the Order of the Eastern Star.

The play is replete with most comical situations of refined comedy comprising an all star cast of eight in number and, judging from the general interest displayed on the start, the work promises to be a great success.

Miss Eva Hamilton Robards is directing and comes highly recommended as an artist in this line, she having had a wide and varied experience in promoting both operas and dramas

There will be charming specialties introduced between the acts: One feature from "Floradora" by 16 little boys and girls which is both classy and popular. A selection from "Time, Place and the Girl," by eight young ladies posing as the dream of the bachelor is another charming feature.

Altogether the program which is being rehearsed in the early morning and cool of the evening, is warranted to be one of the best entertainment features of midsummer. Watch for date and sale of tickets and do not forget this is an Eastern Star banquet.

BARGAIN DAY

Another day dawned bright and clear and decidedly hot. A very few gathered for the afternoon performance but the evening brought the usual big crowd, the street being packed.

The Milan band gave some very fine music throughout the evening and John Pennington sang twice much to the pleasure of his listeners.

The first on the program was a man in acrobatic feats, a table. a stand and five chairs piled one upon the other furnished the seat of his performance and he poised himself with ease on this lofty pedestal.

"La Viva" came next and she certainly showed wonderful skill in her wrist balancing and received much applause.

Messrs. Berry, Scott and Saxton a colored trio with mandolin and guitar, sang several very good selections.

The performance of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Sherman as "Jack and Jill" was extremely well given. In fact the whole program was exceptionally fine and reflected much credit on the committee in charge.

Business was good all the evening and merchants and clerks were kept busy until a late hour.

PICNIC SUPPER

Monday evening the clerks from the Webster Anderson Co. store met at the home of Mrs Oscar Lidke, honoring Miss Effie Simms who has resigned her position at the store to accept another with only one manager, in the near future. A picnic supper was enjoyed by the Misses Elizabeth Beamish, Effie Sims, Ione Sisson, Myrtle Foster, Hazel Stahlor, Alice Lowe, Lucy Harrison and Mrs. May Mobbs. Miss Simms was the recipient of two beautiful pieces of silver from her co-workers in the store,

SOAP POWDER AS A REMEDY FOR FOOT TROUBLES.

United States Marines suffered little from foot troubles on long hikes in the tropics, is attributed to the fact that they invariably sprinkle soap powder into their shoes, or soap their stockings just prior to the march, according to a naval surgeon just returned from Haiti.

In the Haitian campaign the United States Marines were sometimes forced to march thirty or more miles a day, over rough mountainous roads, and the cases of blistering, or painful swelling of the feet were almost negligible.

IN JUSTICE COURT

Two cases were brought before Justice Hosmer Wednesday on charges of intoxication, the complaints coming from Ridgeway where Mills Hatch and Frank Howe of Macon were in an intoxicated condition Sunday. They both pleaded guilty. Hatch was fined and $10 costs of $5 25 Howe was released on suspended sentence after paying the costs.

SUNDAY SCHOOL PICNIC

There were twelve auto loads of children for the picnic of the Episcopal Sunday School at Wamplers lake. A launch ride for the crowd, swimming, diving for pennies in the water, and other sports were indulged in. A bountiful supper was served later, and each one was given an ice cream cone to finish up the repast. A delightful ride home completed the days treat.

For Tired Women With Aching Heads

"They help me so much and I find relief as soon as I begin taking your Foley Kidney Pills." Mrs. Frank P. Wood, Morrill, Maine, R. F. D. No. 2.

Sometimes it seems as if you can't stand the pain across your back. It is just making your life miserable and robbing you of all energy and strength. When you are constantly tired, head always aching, nerves "on edge," kidney action painful and burning, then is the time to start in at once on Foley Kidney Pills.

They strengthen the weak, ailing kidneys, improve their action, enable them to throw off the poisons that cause your trouble. Your nerves grow peaceful, sleep becomes sounder, nervous headaches disappear. As Mrs. Wood says: "I find relief as soon as I begin to take your Foley Kidney Pills." Be sure you get the genuine Foley Kidney Pills, for they are purely medicinal and contain no harmful drugs.

DOUBLY PROVEN

Tecumseh Readers Can No Longer Doubt the Evidence.

This Tecumseh citizen testified long ago.

Told of quick relief—of undoubted benefit.

The facts are now confirmed.

Such testimony is complete—the evidence conclusive.

It forms convincing proof of merit.

Mrs. C. Stevenson, Wyondotte & Pottawatamie Sts., Tecumseh, says: "The first symptoms of kidney complaint in my case was a sharp, shooting pains across the small of my back, which made it almost omposible for me to lie down. Someone advised me to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial and I did, procuring my supply at C. A. Wright & Son's Drug Store. After I had taken this remedy a short time, the pains and aches left and gravel that had been a source of constant suffering no longer troubled me, in fact, I felt like a different person."

USES DOAN'S AGAIN OVER FIVE YEARS LATER,

Mrs. Stevenson said: "I am always glad to speak a good word in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills. Whenever I feel the need of a kidney medicine, I take Doan's Kidney Pills and they always give me the best of relief."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills the same that Mrs. Stevenson has publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

HEARST RANCH IS TAKEN BY MEXICANS

Carranza Takes Over Big Holdings at Barbicora.

COLUMBUS, N. MEX.—John C. Hayes, manager of the Hearst Babicora ranch, nearly 100 miles south of General Pershing's camp, passed through here on his way to El Paso.

He reported that the ranch had been taken over by the commander of the Carranza garrison in that district and that the property now is being operated by a manager installed by the military authorities.

Hayes left Babicora at the time the Americans quit Namiquipa for the retreat north. He brought 110 horses as far as Galonna to save them from seizure by Carranzistas, who were coming to occupy the territory abandoned by the Americans.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—A second warning that Villa bandits are headed for the Big Bend district of Texas was given to the state department by Elisie Arredondo, the Mexican ambassador designate. He told Acting Secretary Polk his government had given him definite information that the bandits were moving northward toward Boquillas, Texas, and premised the cooperation of Carranza forces.

A GENERAL SURVEY OF THE WAR.

Thursday, July 6.—Paris and Berlin both report the Germans on the offensive on the north of the Somme. Paris claims fierce German counter attacks repulsed and the French holding their entire seven miles of gain.

To the north the British continue to make slight gains in the face of furious fighting.

On the eastern front the Russians gain at all points. Vienna admits Austrians driven back nearly five miles on the Delatyn-Kolomea road. The Russians have cut the rail line at this point supplying Teuton forces defending Lemberg. On the extreme right the Rusians have taken several lines of the fortifications threatening German positions before Lutsk. Berlin admits that after repulsing Russ attacks, the Germans were obliged to occupy new positions.

Friday, July 7.—Three victories for the Russians at widely separated points on the eastern front with a general advance along practically the entire 900-mile line, mark the day in the east as one of the most important since the war began.

In the Riga, Baranovichi and Volhynian sectors the Rusians, according to official reports from Petrograd, supplemented in part by German and Austrian official statements have forced the Teutons back with great losses both in men and territory, while adjacent to the Kolki sector the advance was so marked that the Austrians and Germans abandoned their wrecked trenches entirely and fled in panic before the Rusian cavalry. This is the first time in months that the cavalry has taken an important part in action in this sector.

The British troops in their new advance have gained several important successes, among which are the capture of an immensely strong position known as the Leipsig redoubt, according to the official statement issued by the London war office.

East of La Boisselle the British have captured German trenches on a front of nearly 2,000 yards, to a depth of 500 yards. In other sectors the British gained over 500 yards of trenches.

Saturday, July 8.—French troops captured two villages and the British advanced half mile on the Somme. The attack on Peronne is brought nearer. The capture of Peronne was the main objective of the French offensive. The capture of Hardecourt wiped out the wedge in the allied line which was held by the Germans.

The Russians cut the line of retreat of an Austrian force of over 20,000 in Galicia; the Slavs gained ground against the Germans and Austrians in heavy fighting further north.

Sunday, July 9.—Carrying a cargo of 750 tons of dyestuffs, and a quantity of mail, the much-heralded German submarine merchantman, the Deutschland, arrived at Norfolk at 1:45 in the morning. A protest against her admission to port as a peace ship will be made by reresentatives of the entente, who charge that her general construction and character is naval.

The French gained from two-thirds of a mile to a mile and a half in a front of three miles, in the advance on Peronne. The most important advance of the day resulted in the capture of Beaches where the Germans had contructed fortifications deemed impregnable. Beaches was considered the Germans' strongest defense of Peronne from the south.

Petrograd reports the Russians occupying the railroad junction of Delatyn in the south, while in the north they are advancing on both sides of the Kovel railway toward Stokhod river.

The Russ statement Saturday says 12,000 more unwounded prisoners taken.

LETTER FROM CO. B. 32nd MICH. INFT.

The following letter reached us July 15. By this time the boys are on the border.

Grayling Mich.,
Camp Ferris July 11, 1916

Dear Friend:

I intended coming to [illegible] back but received my call early Tuesday morning and left on the 7 o'clock train for Adrian, was sorry to miss seeing you and the girls.

We left Adrian at 8:15 p. m. arriving in Jackson at 10:20. We had to wait seven hours before leaving for Bay City going through Lansing and Saginaw, arriving in Bay City at 7:42 where we changed on to the Michigan Central for Grayling, getting here about 12 o'clock. We ate dinner in town and then went out to the camp which is about seven miles from the town.

It certainly was some sight as we came over the hill overlooking the camp. As far as you could see were stretched rows of tents, I am told there are about 5,800 men here.

Portage Lake lies right in our camp grounds which includes about 15000 acres of land, this beautiful lake is about five miles long and from ½ to 1½ miles across being very shallow with a sandy bottom spring fed, so you see we get plenty of chances to go swimming. It has anything around Tecumseh beat for this purpose

We were mustered into the Federal service last week which means that there is no more M. N. G; we belong to good old Uncle Sam now.

We received our injection of typhus vaccine today and tomorrow we get our final examination. As to when we leave for the border no one knows for sure. The 31st has been ready for several days but we will be ready in about three days and there are rumors flying about camp that the 31st and 32nd will leave together (I hope so)

We will probably be on our way south before this reaches you.

This is all for this time with best regards.

MICHIGAN REGIMENT THREATENS MUTINY

32d Refuses Trip to Border In Day Coaches.

Muscatine, Ia., July 17.—Angered by the failure of the war department to provide sleeping coaches for the men, regimental officers of the Thirty-second Michigan infantry, which stopped here for two hours, announced their intention of pitching tents unless sleeping cars are obtained.

Lieutenant-Colonel Wealey said the men had absolutely refused to continue the trip to the border in day coaches.

J. Craig Healy, of Grand Rapids, Mich., a mess sergeant, suffered a broken leg when he fell in alighting from a coach.

ATTORNEY IS ASSAULTED

Bay City Man Resents Wife's Divorce Suit.

Bay City, July 17.—John Reid, forty, a carpenter, is charged with assault with intent to do great bodily harm, the complaining witness being Hurdis M. Ready, a well-known attorney.

The victim is suffering from three fractured ribs and is thought to have internal injuries. Ready represented Reid's wife in a divorce suit some time ago and the trouble is the outgrowth of the case.

AUTO GOES INTO RIVER

Three Rivers Man Uninjured When Caught Beneath Car.

Three Rivers, July 17.—While Arthur Jones was crossing Broadway bridge in an automobile, the machine went through the railing and fell sixteen feet to the water. Jones crawled out unhurt.

The car turned when the wheels struck the water. Jones extricated himself and was crawling out, uninjured when help came.

Port Huron Judge's Widow Dies.

INTERNATIONALLY FAMOUS ORCHESTRA OPENS BIG CHAUTAUQUA PROGRAM

LAURITANO'S ORCHESTRA.

IT is a master stroke of Chautauqua management which brings to our Chautauqua as the opening attraction Signor Celestine Lauritano and his internationally famous symphony orchestra, assisted by two sterling soloists—Gaetano Manno, tenor, and Mme. Anna Rodier, soprano—and featuring as a co-star with her gifted father the seven-year-old daughter of Conductor Lauritano, Miss Inez Lauritano, a child violinist who has been attracting the attention of musicians everywhere.

Lauritano's great musical organization won fame on the continent before coming to this country. Organized at the time of the great Italian exposition at Naples, where it won first place in the orchestra competition, the orchestra went on tour for some time, winning notable successes in the musical centers of Italy, France, Switzerland and Spain. Brought to New York at a later date, the organization repeated there the triumphs of its continental appearances.

As a leader Lauritano has been favorably compared to Frederick Stock of the Thomas Orchestra. He is not a freak, but a musician of deep poetic insight and splendid individuality. Under his magnetic direction his orchestra achieves most noteworthy renditions of great music.

Gaetano Manno is a tenor of remarkable power, whose solos will add materially to the strength of the program. Mme. Rodier is a most accomplished soprano.

Little Miss Inez Lauritano will appear in violin solos and will also evidence her musical skill in directing the orchestra in a special number.

FIVE SUSPECTS HELD IN M'DANIEL MURDER

Missouri Prosecutor Lured from Home and Wife Slain.

St. Joseph, Mo., July 17.—The police arrested five men, who are held pending investigation of the murder of Mrs. Oscar McDaniel, wife of the prosecuting attorney of Buchanan county.

Mrs. McDaniel's skull was crushed by assassins at her home about midnight, and she died at a hospital without having regained consciousness. An assassin fired five shots at her husband, who engaged in a pistol duel with the man. Neither was hit and the man escaped. The police connect the tragedy with an anonymous threatening letter received by McDaniel about a week ago.

McDaniel was summoned downtown by a telephone call about 11:30 p. m. The voice at the telephone said his brother was drinking in a saloon and he had better come and take him home.

McDaniel went in his automobile to the saloon designated and found the call was a fake. He hurried back home, and as he stopped his car in front of the house a man opened fire on him from behind a tree.

After his assailant fled, the prosecutor hurried into the house and upstairs to his wife's room, where he found her senseless on the floor, her head terribly crushed. She had been beaten with a heavy blunt instrument.

PROF. METCHNIKOFF IS DEAD

Noted Bacteriologist Expires in Paris After Long Illness.

Paris, July 17.—Professor Elie Metchnikoff, the famous bacteriologist, is dead.

Professor Metchnikoff had been in poor health for several months. The first news of his serious condition reached the country in January, when it became known that he was seriously ill with heart disease. His life was despaired of for a time, but he rallied. His physicians announced a few weeks later, however, that the affection had not yielded to treatment and in May they said there was no hope of saving the life of their famous patient.

$50,000 TO FIGHT PLAGUE

Rockefeller Foundation Aids in Combatting Infantile Paralysis.

New York, July 17.—The Rockefeller foundation has donated $50,000 for the fight on infantile paralysis. The sum will be spent under the direction of a committee headed by the mayor, with Dr. Simon Flexner as vice chairman.

The number of new cases of infantile paralysis again showed a falling off in a report issued by the health commmissioner's office.

PROHIBITIONIST HOPES HIGH

Foes of Liquor Expect to Become Third Party in Campaign.

St. Paul, Minn., July 17.—With confidence that they will outrank the Socialists and swing into line in November as the third political party of the county, representatives of the progressive element in the prohibition organization, who arrived in St. Paul for this week's national convention, announced their plans for a $1,000,000 campaign which they expect to net their ticket no less than 1,000,000 votes.

Dr. R. Leigh Colvin of New York, president of the Intercollegiate Prohibition association, and one of the leaders in the progressive element of the party, declared the coming campaign would mark an epoch in the history of the prohibition movement in America, and establish the party as a menace to the permanency of both the Republican and Democratic organizations.

BANDITS GATHER IN LARGE FORCE

Gen. Funston Gets Report of New Border Peril.

VILLISTAS CUT OFF TREVINO

Bands of Outlaws Ravaging Country Below Big Bend—Chihuahua Is Threatened—Right Ears of All Men Captured Are Cut Off by Outlaws, Report Says.

San Antonio, Tex., July 17.—General Funston states that all information reaching him indicates a rapid increase in the number of bandits in the region below the Big Bend country, and unusual activity on their part.

Villa Cuts Their Ears Off.

General Pershing wired to General Funston that officers of the de facto government had informed him they had recaptured seventeen of their soldiers from Villistas and that each o these men had his right ear cut off.

Menace American Side.

General Funston says that the location of one considerable band well below Ojinaga is fairly definitely established. Many smaller bands scattered along the Mexican side, safely back of the river, are reported by Mexicans. They are committing small depredations everywhere and living off the country which now affords a precarious existance for its population. General Funston does not hesitate to say that these bandits are a distinct menace to the American side.

Villa Cuts Off Trevino.

Chihuahua City, Mex., July 17.—All lines of communication from here southward have been cut off by Villa. Intense excitement prevails here. The bandit is believed on his way to take the city.

Villa's action isolates General Jacinto Trevino's large force here and prevents reinforcements being sent to the small Carranzista garrisons at Parral and Torreon.

Austria Puts to Death Socialist Leader from Trentino.

Berlin, July 17.—Word was received here from Innsbruck, Austria, that Dr. Cesare Battisti, former Socialist member of the Austrian parliament from Trent, has been put to death for treason. Dr. Battisti was captured while serving as an officer in the Italian army, during the offensive in the Tyrol, and was sentenced to death by a court martial.

Dr. Battisti was a leader in the movement for the union of Trent and Triest with Italy.

RUSSIANS ADVANCE IN RIGA

Artillery on Land and Sea Aid in New Slav Progress.

Petrograd, July 17.—The Russian official statement says:

"On the right wing of our Riga positions, supported by artillery on land and sea, we made some progress in the region west of Kemmern. On the remainder of the front there were local engagements which did not modify the general situation."

HEAT WARPS "Q" RAILS

Empty Baggage Car Leaves Track and Is Thrown Into River.

Aurora, Ill., July 17.—The excessive heat so warped the rails on the Burlington railroad tracks which cross the bridge at Riverside, the last car on the Omaha flyer, due to arrive in Chicago at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon, jumped the track and fell into the Desplaines river.

It was an empty baggage car.

KAISER STRIKES FOR LOST LINES

Recaptures Two Towns but Is Driven Out.

BRITISH QUIT FOREAUX WOOD

Russian Soldiers Mentioned for First Time in Western Campaign in French Report—French Improve Positions on the Meuse—Regain Part of Thiamont Positions.

London, July 17.—Desperate attacks by the Germans on the Picardy front in which they recaptured the village of Biaches and the height of La Maisonette from the French south of the Somme and reoccupied Foreaux Wood after it had been abandoned by the British, marked the fighting on the western front. Paris announces the recapture of both positions lost by the French, attributing their temporary retreat to the "surprise attack" of the Germans. The official report from Berlin, however, declares part of Biaches is still in German hands.

Neither the British nor the French claim any new advances of importance for the day, the battle apparently having settled down into a furious artillery duel through which the British are preparing for another onslaught such as that which carried them into the German third line of defense Saturday, imperiling the base of Bapaume and the entire German system over a front of fifty miles or more.

Russians in Action.

The entry of the Russian forces into action on the western front is revealed for the first time in the official report from Paris at midnight. The Czar's forces which arrived at Marseilles several weeks ago after a trip of 17,000 miles by way of Vladivostok and the Suez Canal, have been thrown into action on the Champagne front This is the first definite information as to their action since going into camp on French soil. Paris comments but briefly upon their work, ing that in the Champagne there was great activity by French and Russian patrols.

British Retreat Explained.

The British retreat from Foreaux wood is explained by the official statement as being the withdrawal of a detachment thrust forward into that position to cover the consolidation of the captured lines in the rear.

The outlook for the French at Verdun is slightly improved, according to both the afternoon and midnight communique from Paris, and the Berlin official report. All these attempts show that the French have started heavy counter attacks in this region. Berlin admits that the rFench penetrated some trenches southwest of Thiamont and attacked in force at Froide Terre. The latter attack, Berlin says, was repulsed. Paris claims "considerable progress" west and south of Fleury.

413 Convicted in Bay.

Bay City, July 17.—A report of Prosecuting Attorney James L. McCormick, to the attorney general at Lansing, shows that during the past six months there have been 413 persons convicted of lawbreaking.

Says He Is $1,000,000 Heir.

Kalamazoo, July 17.—Judge Albion Titus, in municipal court, bound Stanley Casebeer, who says he is heir to $1,000,000, over to circuit court for trial on a charge of assault in connection with a robbery.

COBBLER MADE RICH BY HETTY GREEN WILL

Aged Cousin of Rich Woman Gets $100,000

Grand Rapids, Mich., July 17.—Herbert A. Merrill, a resident of Charlotte, Mich., who has worked as a cobbler for fifty-two out of the sixty-eight years of his life, will be made wealthy out of the $100,000,000 estate of Hetty Green. Merrill plans to quit working as soon as he gets the $100,000 left him, and devote his time to investing the money.

He says his first act will be to provide for his daughter and her thirteen children. He is a cousin of Mrs Green and admits he has often been in want, never having made more than $15 a week at his trade.

Merrill came to Michigan from Batavia, N. Y., three years ago.

FIVE LOSE LIVES IN FLOOD

Great Loss of Property Also Is Reported in North Carolina.

Asheville, N. C., July 17.—Five persons are reported to have lost their lives and hundreds have been made homeless by a flood which carried away mills and homes along the banks of the French Broad River here. The damage is estimated at several hundred thousand dollars.

The flood waters invaded the Vanderbilt estate, Biltmore, and an unverified report was that Captain J. C. Sipe, Miss Mabel Foster and Miss Charlotte Walker had been drowned there.

AUTO PARTY STRUCK BY TRAIN, FIVE DEAD

Illinoisans Are Victims of Crossing Mishap.

Jacksonville, Ill., July 17.—Five persons were killed and one internally injured when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by a west-bound Wabash passenger train one mile west of this city. The dead are:

Mrs. Mary McSherry, Jacksonville, Ill.; Miss Ellen Groves, Jacksonville, Ill.; Elizabeth Allen, Springfield, Ill.; Allen Bernard, Springfield, Ill.; Mrs. Adolph Bernard, Springfield, Ill.

William Groves, driving the car, was internally injured. Allen Bernard is the son of Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Bernard of Springfield. The party had left the Groves farm on their way to church when the accident occurred. All the dead except Mrs. Bernard were instantly killed. She died several hours after being taken to a hospital. She sustained a fractured skull and a broken arm and leg.

Sentenced to Quit Smiling.

New York, July 17.—Magistrate Krotel, in the men's night court, sentenced Philip Levine, eighteen, of Brooklyn, never to smile or flirt with any girl in New York as long as he lives. Levine had been arrested on complaint of Dora Rubinowitz, thirteen, who lleged he smiled at her and blew smoke at her on an elevated train.

CHILD VIOLINIST, MUSICAL PRODIGY

MISS INEZ LAURITANO.

THE appearance of little Miss Inez Lauritano, seven years of age, with her father's celebrated symphony orchestra at the Chautauqua will be interesting to the students of precociousness. At an age when most children are scarcely able to distinguish between musical notes, this wonderful little girl is found fairly astounding musical critics.

Four years ago Signor Lauritano found in a Chicago music store an exceptionally fine small violin, and inasmuch as little Inez had asked for a violin for Christmas he purchased it for her.

When she got it the father saw at once, much to his amazement, that she executed the scales on the fourth string quite naturally. He began to teach her at once, and after three months she could play the three scales on different tones. Now, after four years, she plays difficult pieces with a drawing power, a fire and an expressiveness which bewilder and touch the heart with a sense of sadness and sympathy.

It is not extraordinary for a child of seven to play upon the piano, for there the sounds are already fixed and are drawn mechanically, but to see such a frail specimen of humanity draw from the violin such powerful tones is almost uncanny.

Most Unique Outgrowth.

What the county fair is to agricultural life, what the exposition is to manufacturing and industrial life, what the revival is to the church—that is what the Chautauqua is to educational and social life of the community. It is the most unique outgrowth of the twentieth century conditions, and it has come to stay.—Lincoln McConnell, Atlanta, Ga.

TECUMSEH CHAUTAUQUA

Tecumseh's Chautauqua opens a week from tomorrow, Wednesday, July 26 and lasts five days. The program is full of splendid lectures, entertainments and musical numbers. We have the same Chautauqua company this year that Adrian has been enjoying, The Coit-Alber Chautauqua, which has been unusually successful there this year, and the people were delighted with the course. The Chautauqua was a success financially and the committee not only were able to secure them for another year, but out of the profits that accrued were able to turn over to the hospital quite a sum of money.

Can we not do as well in Tecumseh? The price for the course tickets has been placed at $2.00 for adults and $1.00 for children. The ticket selling committee have been hard at work and good reports are coming in.

The citizen who buys a season ticket is assisting the local people in meeting the guarantee which they have pledged and are making the Chautauqua possible.

A large roomy tent will be provided with electric lights and comfortable chairs. This is your Chautauqua and if you want one for another year, give the committee your support by purchasing season tickets.

Tickets are on sale at several of the business places besides both banks and we have a limited number at this office. Buy your tickets early. By so doing you help the local committee.

HISTORY IN A CAP.

What the National Headdress For War In Montenegro Tells.

The round cap, or "kapa," worn by Montenegrin soldiers is a history of their country in miniature. The people of Montenegro, indeed, have a saying that "kapa talks," and they are not far wrong. It is the national headdress for war, and it is the same for prince and peasant. In color it is a vivid crimson, but it has a deep black border, which only leaves a small crown of the foundation color visible.

The black border is a sign of mourning for the terrible battle of Kossovo, when the old Montenegrin and Serb empires were overthrown by the Turks and their armies annihilated. The red crown signifies "the field of blood" of the same great fight.

On the red crown, in one corner, are five semicircles in gold. These have a double significance. They symbolize first the five centuries that have elapsed since Kossovo was fought, and, secondly, the five colors of the rainbow, the sign of hope that one day the glories of the old Montenegrin empire will be restored.

Furthermore, the different insignia of army rank are worn on the rim of the kapa, from the different combinations of crossed swords of the officer to the simple leaden star of the corporal. Also, the Montenegrin soldier wears his medals, if he possesses any, on the front of the cap instead of his tunic, as with the soldiers of all other nations.—Pearson's Weekly.

CALENDAR OF THE TURKS.

Its Oriental Simplicity Is Fairly Maddening to Strangers.

The Turks count their day from one sunset to the next sunset, dividing the twenty-four hours into twelves, as we do. This is plain sailing, but unfortunately sunset does not fall at the same hour day after day, and there ensue horrible complications to the innocent European.

By way presumably of jest the Turkish steamers follow Turkish and their railways Frankish time. Probably many a good man has ended his life in a lunatic asylum after a frantic attempt to reconcile the two. The pampered rich have watches specially constructed with two dials, one showing each time.

Apparently some enterprising Osmanli thought that the Turkish calendar erred on the side of simplicity and kindly invented a new complication. The Mohammedan year dates from the flight of the prophet in the seventeenth century. Each year the first month, Mahairan, comes eleven days earlier, so the months do not mark the season like ours.

There is one more section for the benefit of the Turkish peasant, who in his rural retreats knows nothing of months. For him the year is composed of two seasons—hidralis, beginning on May 6, and kassin, beginning Nov. 7—so to him April 20 is the one hundred and sixty-fourth day of kassin.—London Standard.

Would Count In the Score.

Two bitter rivals were playing in the final round of a golf tournament and were even on the eighteenth hole. One of them, a garrulous old gentleman, had talked incessantly during the match, to the great annoyance of his opponent.

"Look here, Logan," burst out the latter, "if you don't stop your infernal chatter I'll crack you over the head with this brassie."

"All right, Jones; swing away," was the calm response, "but remember this—it's going to cost you a stroke."—Ladies' Home Journal.

Changed Conditions.

"It used to please me," said the old man, "when the barber asked if I wanted a shave when I was a youngster."

"Indeed!"

"Yes, and now he sometimes flatters me by asking if I want a hair cut."—London Telegraph.

COMMUNICATIONS

Editor Herald:

The High school site having been settled, permits me through your valuable columns to suggest to the citizens of Tecumseh that the next important subject of public interest is the site occupied by the old Brewer foundry.

This property has long been unoccupied and is now offered at $3600. It is especially suited for a public park and no time should be lost in securing it.

Lying at the intersection of two of the main streets and situated between two of the most important buildings of the town, the Tecumseh High School and St. Peters church, this little spot of ground should be forever protected from the invasion of selfish interests or commercial enterprise.

The village needs such a park and with proper care, it can be made a veritable garden of joy and beauty, a place where friends can "drop down" for an hour in the summer evenings to chat and rest awhile. A band stand should be erected, walks laid out, seats and drinking fountain provided, and the grounds enclosed with an iron fence not too high with gates on the east and west entrance, thus permitting flowers to be raised in profusion. The gates to be closed each evening at midnight.

Scripps Park of Detroit is a veritable Garden of Eden and a riot of color from early spring until the frost comes. Just within the iron fence thousands of roses and other flowers form an inner enclosure of fragrant blossoms.

The Tecumseh Park could be laid out on a similar plan but smaller scale. To accomplish this enterprise, I suggest that a committee be organized consisting of J. H. Smith, President Tecumseh State Savings Bank, Percy W. Fitzsimmons and Fred Rosacrans to secure subscriptions and that the Tecmuseh State Bank be made sole trustee of the fund, the Park to be given to the village as a memorial to the pioneers and citizens of the entire surrounding country, who made Tecumseh the thriving, prosperous, influential center it is today.

The amount necessary to buy the land and provide for the improvements may be determined by the committee. No doubt Messrs Brewer & Co. will gladly contribute something to the fund, either by a reduction of the price of the property or by personal contribution. Possibly, also, the Tecumseh cemetery association would take perpetual care of the park for a reasonable sum.

Ten thousand dollars ($10,000) should be sufficient to carry out the project and no one need be asked to subscribe a large sum. I will subscribe five dollars to start the fund, the full amount to be raised by November 1st, 1916 and an option to be secured on the property within thirty days.

Yours very truly,
E. Cora DePuy.
Detroit, Mich., July 10, 1916

Bungalows.

A bungalow is primarily never more than one story high. In addition to this, it must be surrounded by verandas, and it must be built of either thatch or tile. The type was introduced into India from Bengal, and it was called a "bangla," or Bengal house, because that was the kind of modest homes the Bengalese erected. It is so well suited to the climate of India that it is generally used by even the better class of British residents. It is also used by the government for the accommodation of travelers along the public roads. Dak bungalows are erected at intervals of about fifteen miles, and here any traveler can get accommodation at 40 cents a day. At the end of twenty-four hours if his room is demanded by some later comer he is compelled to give it up and move on.—Exchange.

Music of the Nightingale.

But the nightingale, another of my airy creatures, breathes such sweet loud music out of her little instrumental throat that it might make mankind to think miracles are not ceased. He that at midnight, when the very laborer sleeps securely, should hear, as I often have, the clear airs, the sweet descants, the natural rising and falling, the doubling and redoubling of her voice, might well be lifted above earth and say, Lord, what music hast thou provided for the saints in heaven when thou affordest bad men such music on earth!—Walton's "The Complete Angler."

HUMOROUS LECTURER IS ANDREW JOHNSON

ANDREW JOHNSON, HUMORIST.

A LECTURE by Andrew Johnson, lecturer for the opening day at the Chautauqua, is a certified cure for blues. It beats a vacation at the seashore for the fellow who thinks he doesn't like lectures. It exterminates pessimism. It brushes the cobwebs off mental machinery and makes wheels of thought get under way. It fires up and blows the whistle for spiritual factories that have been shut down. It prods communities into concerted action and sets individuals barking on the trail of opportunity. It skins shams, swats hypocrisy and slams selfishness. It exalts virtue, glorifies labor, sows inspiration. It's as invigorating as a mental bath. In the language of the breakfast foods, "There's a reason."

First.—The lectures are pitched in that great middle range of thought where most folks reside. They are thoughtful enough to command attention, sound enough to defy criticism, entertaining enough to make folks listen and laugh. They embody the belief that a serious thought need not be enshrouded in gloom and that a laugh is not necessarily an indication of lightness.

Second.—They are the voice of no mere theorist. Johnson earned his right to speak with some authority in a school of wide experience. Left an orphan at twelve years, he won an education by the sweat of his brow and achieved success by deserving it. He won recognition of his talents in other fields before accepting the call to the platform, where he has won merited success.

Johnson has perhaps the greatest repertoire of point illuminating stories of any man in platform work, and he uses them with the judgment of a master craftsman. His wit and humor flow spontaneously. He surprises and convulses his hearers at one moment and in the next thrills them with the eloquence of a true orator. His stories are never used to decorate a lame thought, but rather to break the fallow ground for the planting of a great truth. Hear him!

TWO GREAT PHRASES.

Which One of Them Is It That You Are In the Habit of Using?

Did you ever reckon how many times a day you say "I can't" or hear it said?

Probably a much shorter stunt would be to count the number of times you hear or say, "I will."

These two sentences contain the whole story of character. They are the metal from which men shape success or failure.

We hammer and forge this metal daily.

With "I can't" we cast a weight which fastens us down. With "I will" we shape a marvelous spring which some day lands us at the height of our ambition.

After awhile we cannot move the weight at all, but in the end we cannot resist the spring. It raises us in spite of ourselves, for "I will" has become a habit.

Sometimes a man who has weighted himself down by repeating "I can't" says enviously, "Nothing succeeds like success." And this is true, but he forgets that back of the first success was an "I will" and then another and then another.

"I can't," "I will." There are the two most important sentences in any man's vocabulary.

Would we not better reverse the number of times most of us use them every day?—Illinois State Journal.

A Warning.

"What are you doing in my room?" asked the man who was awakened by a burglar.

"I'm robbing the place."

"You merely think you are. Everything here was bought on the installment plan, and if you take the property you'll be responsible for the balance. You're not robbing anybody. You're running into debt."—Washington Star.

A POLITICAL "BOOM."

How the Idea of the Expression Came to Its First User.

The word "boom," as applied to a political movement, so far as known, was first used by the editor of a Republican newspaper in St. Louis, Mo., pending the return of General U. S. Grant from the trip around the world undertaken by him in 1876, immediately following his retirement from the presidency of the United States.

The term was used so persistently and so cleverly that it soon began to lodge in popular thought and to take on the meaning which the editor intended to convey when he declared that the movement looking to a third term for Grant was "booming," or when he employed the invention as a noun and spoke of "the Grant boom."

The idea had come to him from a common expression used by the people along the Mississippi river. When that stream was at floodtide and sweeping everything before it it was said to be "booming." The St. Louis editor aimed to convey the thought that the movement for the nomination of Grant for the presidency in 1880 was like the onward sweep of a great river under such conditions, and therefore a boom.

The term soon came into general use and has been applied in the United States ever since, alike to spontaneous and preconcerted or organized movements looking to the placing of some person in an office of importance, not necessarily, but generally, the presidency.—Christian Science Monitor.

Repartee.

"Beauty is only skin deep," she sneered.

"Yes, my dear," retorted the other. "But wouldn't you like to change skins with me?"—Detroit Free Press.

Taken For Granted.

Nell—Did he ever ask you for a kiss? Belle—No, he's the sort of fellow who is apt to take things for granted.—Philadelphia Record.

In Sunday's Free Press was a cut of a splendid apartment house to be soon erected at the corner of Brooklyn avenue and Elm street. The Free Press gives the name of A. L. Wilson as the architect while the fact is that Roger Waring drew the plans unassisted. The huge building is to contain 21 small suites, is to be of brick and steel construction the walls having exterior surface of ornametal brick and cut stone. The work is certainly some honor to Roger and we are accordingly proud of his efforts.

CHAUTAUQUA NOTES

The Lyndon - Gordon Company, two talented young women, are said to be the cleverest team of entertainers on the Chautauqua platform. We are to be congratulated upon their coming to the local Chautauqua. Their program is unique and interesting from start to finish. Smiles and tears are close partners, and every once in a while somebody laughs until they have to be carried out of the tent. If there were 700 days in a year instead of 365 these talented young women would stil. have an entertainment engagement for each one of them. Their season for 1916-17 is already solid, and a hundred communities clammoring for them.

Hear Andrew Johnson when he comes to the Chautauqua with his humorous lecture, "Eli and Dennis." Johnson is perhaps the most versatile story teller on the platform. His repertoire is practically unlimited, and he has folks in a howl of delight most of the time. In addition to being a fun maker par excellence, Johnson is a real lecturer. He says things worth while in a way that makes them strike home.

The play, "Publicity," which will be seen at the local Chautauqua made New York loosen a million laughs. It is a screamingly funny treatment of one of America's prevailing fads, and is sure to please you. The company which presents it is a most capable one, specially coached for the presentation of the play on the Chautauqua platform.

C. E Williamson was a passenger for Detroit Monday night.

Dr. H. R. Conklin is now driving a six cylinder Studebaker car.

Miss Libbie Chase came from Hesperia Monday for her vacation with her mother and sisters

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ives are entertaining Mrs. George Harris and two children of Chicago this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Dickinson, Albert Clark and family spent several days of last week at the Rude cottage at Devils Lake, returning Thursday night.

Mrs Nina Welliver and two children who have been visiting her parents Mr. and J. W. Owen for several weeks went to Clayton Monday to visit her sister, Mrs. Cal Bovee and family.

Mrs. H. B. Tallman and Miss Edith Warner entertained fifteen girls of the Junior Westminster Guild at their home west of town Friday afternoon. Mrs. Allen Montgomery, Mr. Tallman and Rev Rex obligingly acted as chauffers and the whole party had a jolly afternoon A bountiful potluck supper was no small feature of the occasion.

Sample, soprano, and Roseith Knapp Breed, reader, appear at Chautauqua patrons of the People's University will have the opportunity of seeing and hearing an organization which has won a deserved popularity in the musical centers of the east, delighting several thousand audiences. It is an organization of real artists, each one competent to give an entire program unassisted, and the combination of talents is such that a program of great merit results.

Elmer Crawford Adams is teaching Americans a new appreciation of the possibilities of this country in the production of musical artists capable of standing with the best in the world. He is a violinist, plus. There is more than mere technical artistry in his work. He literally makes the violin to almost uncanny [illegible] the kind of violin music that takes hold of you and makes you realize the truth of the appellation bestowed upon the violin, the king of instruments. It is Adams' musical soul speaking through the medium of sound.

Minnie L. Sample is a soprano of superior merit. She sings the kind of songs the Chautauqua audience loves in the way they love it. Playing her own accompaniments with inimitable charm, she is just the artist to give individuality to her part of the program.

Roseith Knapp Breed is Boston's leading woman humorist. She reads humorous selections in a way all her own and is a sure cure for blues and grouches.

You'll like the Adams company. Be sure to hear them.

BACKACHE IS DISCOURAGING

But Not So Bad If You Know How to Reach the Cause

Nothing more discouraging than a constant backache. Lame when you awakn, pains pierce you when you bend or lift. It's hard to work or to rest. Backache often indicates bad kidneys. Tecumseh people recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Read this case:

W. C. Witherell, W. Pottawatamie St., Tecumseh, says: "I had acute pains across the small of my back and in my hips. Often, after stooping, a sharp twinge darted through my loins, obliging me to lie down. [illegible] and I believe that the trouble was caused by excessive stooping. When I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills, I got a supply at Wright & Son's Drug store and a few boxes restored me to good health. Since then, whenever I have felt in need of a kidney medicine, I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills and the results have been very pleasing."

AGAIN PRAISES DOAN'S AFTER A LAPSE OF MORE THAN FIVE YEARS, Mr. Witherell said: "I have had no reason to change my high opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills, which I expressed some years ago."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Witherell has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

ADULTERATED FOODS.

Simple Tests by Which Impurities May Be Detected.

Some simple tests for adulterants in food are given by S. Leonard Bastin in the Scientific American. Here are a few of them:

Put a small bit of butter in a teaspoon and boil it over a gas flame. Real butter boils quietly, producing a quantity of small bubbles; margarine crackles and sputters.

Rub dry tea leaves in a clean white cloth. Pure tea will leave no mark; dyed tea will leave a stain.

Make an almost saturated solution of sugar in water; place this in a clear glass tube and stand it in front of some print. If the sugar is pure it should be possible to read easily through the solution.

Put a piece of bread in a saucer and pour a solution of carbonate of ammonia over it. If alum be present the bread will turn black. If the bread be pure no change will take place.

Dilute a sample of jam or jelly with an equal quantity of water. Put a bit of cotton batting into it and boil for half an hour. Now try to wash out the stain. This will be easy if the jam be pure, impossible if it has been dyed.

Add a few drops of methyl aniline violet to some vinegar. If this be pure it will not change color; if adulterated, it will turn blue or green.

OUR AIR WILL NOT FAIL US.

No Need to Fear That the Nitrogen Will Ever Be Exhausted.

A student at the University of Washington, having read about making nitrogen from the air, entered the chemistry department and asked the professors there what would happen when all the nitrogen had been taken out of the air. The University of Washington News-Letter says that this is what they told him:

"The atmosphere over a square mile of land is estimated to contain 20,000,000 tons of nitrogen, which is enough to furnish all the world would require for fifty years at the present rate of consumption. Even if that were not so, there would be no danger, for there's a sort of 'dust to dust' process involved that is a safeguard in itself.

"Nitrates when they go into the soil are taken up by the roots of plants and utilized. After the plant decays the nitrogen is given off, and it returns again to the atmosphere.

Reinstated Warden Gets Rousing Reception on Return to Sing Sing.

Sing Sing, N. Y., July 17.—All the prison buildings here were decorated with American flags and green and white bunting, colors of the Mutual Welfare league, on the return of Thomas Mott Osborne as warden.

Sixteen hundred convicts mobilized under the leaders of the league lined up at the prison gate and gave Mr. Osborne a rousing welcome. A platform was erected from which Mr. Osborne and the retiring warden, George W. Kirchwey, addressed the prisoners.

CHARM OF ODD NUMBERS.

Ancient Superstition That Lingers In Present Day Customs.

Odd numbers have always and everywhere been held in peculiar reverence, and if that is mere superstition, then it only proves that, despite our civilization, we are still superstitious.

A hen is always given an odd number of eggs to be hatched. Why?

There is no reason at all except superstition. Salutes from warships, forts, etc., are always given in odd numbers, yet no valid reason can be adduced. It is a remnant of the old "odd numbers are lucky" superstition.

Virgil records all sorts of charms and spells practiced round odd numbers—never even ones. And we still, after two failures, make another attempt and murmur hopefully, "Third time lucky!" The odd number again, and the old superstition!

Seven is the favorite Biblical number, and old divines taught that it held a mystical perfection. It's an odd number. Three is the number of the Trinity—an odd number again.

Falstaff, in the "Merry Wives," is entrapped for the third time. He himself said, "They say there is a divinity in odd numbers" because of the old belief that the odd time would be lucky.

Physicians of other days always insisted that "bleedings" should be in odd numbers—one, three, five, etc., and never an even one.—Baltimore American.

COUGH THE RIGHT WAY.

It Is Safer For Yourself, Your Lungs and Those About You.

The following directions as to how to cough are given by Dr. A. A. Pleyte in the Journal of the Outdoor Life:

Fold your handkerchief so that it is about five inches square. Place it flat in the right hand, if you are right handed, and with this hand hold it tigtly over the mouth. Press the hand on the mouth, as to hold it loosely over the mouth will not accomplish the purpose. Now, instead of coughing and trying to muffle the sound in your throat or mouth, muffle it with your handkerchief. Practice it until a person ten feet away cannot hear you.

The sound made in coughing is due partly to air passing over the vocal cords, partly to air going through the bronchial tubes and trachea and partly to the resonance produced in the chambers above the trachea. This sound can be almost wholly avoided and the irritation to the lungs and air passages prevented by keeping the air passages open and letting your handkerchief do the muffling. Now, instead of expelling 120 cubic inches of air at each expiration, you will expel a smaller amount, with more comfort to yourself and to those around you and with much less harm to your lungs.

While bringing a cow to the [illegible] at Hillsdale, Alvin Houtz, a farmer living near Reading, was pulled off the wagon seat by the animal and fell beneath the wagon and was killed.

PRINCIPALS IN TRIAL

William H. Orpet and Marion Lambert.

ORPET FOUND NOT GUILTY

Jury Acquits Student Accused of Murdering Marion Lambert.

Waukegan, Ill., July 17.—William H. Orpet, the university student charged with murdering Marion Lambert, a high school girl and his former sweetheart, was found not guilty by a jury in Judge Donnelly's court after five hours' deliberation. The jury took three ballots, the first two standing 11 to 1 for acquittal.

The talesmen carried with them instructions from Judge Donnelly which James H. Wilkerson and Ralph F. Potter, Orpet's counsel, considered highly favorable to the defendant in their interpretation of reasonable doubt as applied to the series of circumstances which constituted the principal part of the evidence. Five superfluous counts of the ten in the indictment against the defendant were stricken out by the court.

LOFTY SAN MARINO.

The Only Nation In the World Without a Daily Paper.

San Marino is the smallest republic in the world and one of the most ancient, being over 1,000 years old. It is situated on a plateau 2,000 feet high, ten miles from the Adriatic sea and about sixty-five miles east of Florence. It is a walled city with watch towers and contains twenty-seven square miles.

The men quarry gray building stone, which is carried to the sea by oxen. The wine cellars are caves in the rock and outside the openings tables are placed and food and wine served. The women cook over charcoal stoves in the open street or square and people buy.

In the evening, after the stagecoach from Rimini brings the mail, all gather at the postoffice, while some better reader than the rest reads the news from an outside newspaper, for the nation of San Marino is the only civilized one in the world without a daily paper.

The nation maintains a standing army of nineteen, increased to thirty in time of stress. The government is by twelve elders chosen by the people. All legal cases are settled by an outside justice, who serves for three years and is never re-elected.

There are 12,000 inhabitants. Time is divided into four periods of six hours each. No clock marks more than six hours, this custom following the ancient Vigiliae of the Romans. The tiny republic commands one of the most wonderful views in Italy.—New York Times.

TRAVELS OF THE ORANGE.

At One Time It, With All Else Yellow, Was Barred From Holland.

Oranges were grown in Spain and Italy for centuries before they made their way to this country.

The first recorded appearance of the fruit in England is in 1290, when a Spanish ship arrived at Portsmouth with a cargo of fruit, out of which the queen, Eleanor of Castile, purchased fifteen citrons and seven oranges. The next notice is in 1399, when pomes d'orring figured among the dishes at the coronation banquet of Henry IV. By the sixteenth century they had become common enough. In 1509 the lords of the star chamber had oranges served daily at dinner at a cost of twopence a day. The first mention of their use as missiles occurs in the diary of Henry Machyn, who tells us that on May day of 1559 the revelers at the queen's palace at Westminster threw eggs and oranges at each other.

Oranges were for some years a prohibited fruit in Holland. When the Batavian republic was established the badge and color of the Stadtholder's family became so hateful to the popular party that, not satisfied with expelling their prince, they passed a law forbidding the sale of oranges and carrots and ordering all persons who grew lilies or marigolds in their gardens to pluck up the plants and destroy them. This prohibition remained in force until 1806, when Napoleon made his brother Louis king of Holland.—Exchange.

MUNICIPAL DANCES STOPPED

Battle Creek Chamber of Commerce Says "Never Again."

Battle Creek, July 17.—In spite of the success of Battle Creek's first municipal dance held about three weeks ago on Van Buren street, in front of Michigan Central grounds, with 5,000 people present, one can never be held again, according to Secretary Bennett, of the Chamber of Commerce.

At this dance, a ruling was made against negroes dancing with whites, and a petition has been filed with Mr. Bennett asking that such affairs be discontinued, as they tend to prejudice part of the population against another part. The petition was signed by 300 negroes, and Secretary Bennett says that there will be no more municipal dances under the sanction of the Chamber of Commerce.

Steam and the Home.

Steam shelled industry out of the home as one shells peas, and put it in the factory. The family, father, mother and the children, tagged after, and home survived merely as a place to eat and sleep.

Applied to transportation, though, steam did even more. It dissolved the population which had caked and clotted in one parish for 1,000 years and made it fluid to run uphill about the earth, uphill from low income to a higher. Nobody lives now where he was born if he can get away. We're here only till something better somewhere else turns up. The attics under the ancestral shingles, full of horsehide trunks that hold the brocaded satins in which our great-great-grandmothers danced with Lafayette—you just read about them in the story books; they don't exist.—Eugene Wood in Century.

A[illegible] Johnson, lecturer for the opening day at the Chautauqua, is a certified cure for blues. It beats a vacation at the seashore for the fellow who thinks he doesn't like lectures. It exterminates pessimism. It brushes the cobwebs off mental machinery and makes wheels of thought get under way. It fires up and blows the whistle for spiritual factories that have been shut down. It prods communities into concerted action and sets individuals barking on the trail of opportunity. It skins shams, swats hypocrisy and slams selfishness. It exalts virtue, glorifies labor, sows inspiration. It's as invigorating as a mental bath. In the language of the breakfast foods, "There's a reason."

First.—The lectures are pitched in that great middle range of thought where most folks reside. They are thoughtful enough to command attention, sound enough to defy criticism, entertaining enough to make folks listen and laugh. They embody the be-[illegible] enshrouded in gloom and that a laugh is not necessarily an indication of lightness.

Second.—They are the voice of no mere theorist. Johnson earned his right to speak with some authority in a school of wide experience. Left an orphan at twelve years, he won an education by the sweat of his brow and achieved success by deserving it. He won recognition of his talents in other fields before accepting the call to the platform, where he has won merited success.

Johnson has perhaps the greatest repertoire of point illuminating stories of any man in platform work, and he uses them with the judgment of a master craftsman. His wit and humor flow spontaneously. He surprises and convulses his hearers at one moment and in the next thrills them with the eloquence of a true orator. His stories are never used to decorate a lame thought, but rather to break the fallow ground for the planting of a great truth. Hear him!

A TALE OF LOWER MICHIGAN

By W. B. Hartzog

CHAPTER III

A few evenings after this conversation took place, Mr. Burke said to his wife, "Mary let us take a drive into the country." "I would be delighted to do so," said Mrs. Burke. They drove farther than they intended. Night overtook them. Dark clouds overspread the sky, and the rumblings of distant thunder warned them of an approaching storm. They drove into the city by way of the shanty where Charley and Uncle Bill lived. It was just about time for the fast train and Charley heard the noise of an approaching carriage.

"Uncle I believe I had better run out with the lantern and stop that carriage, it is just time for the fast train. Just as like as not they will drive on the track when that train comes. They can't see it until it is right on them because of the bend in the road." Charley seized the lantern and ran out. Just then he heard the shrill whistle of the locomotive and saw the glare of the headlight as the train rounded the curve. The carriage was within twenty feet of the track. Charley shouted and swung the lantern vigorously. The driver brought the horses to a standstill within three feet of the track as the train thundered by. The man in the carriage leaped out and shouted, "Who saved us?" Charley came up to the excited man and found, to his surprise that it was Mr. Burke. He thanked him heartily and went on his way. That night Mr. Burke told his wife who Charley was and they decided to invite him to dine with them the next evening. During the day Mr. Burke drove to the shanty and explained to Uncle Bill that he would have Charley at his home for supper and would see that he was brought back to the shanty. He then went to the Free Press office and invited Charley to his home, telling him that he had explained it to Uncle Bill and that he would send a carriage for him.

They had a delightful evening. Charley's manliness appealed to them and when the evening was over Mrs. Burke invited him back in the most cordial manner. The coachman was called and Charley was returned to the shanty and soon was sleeping soundly. But Uncle Bill did not go to bed, he was worried and he murmured to himself, "I am afraid Mr. Burke is going to coax Charley away from me." That night Mr. and Mrs. Burke agreed that they would adopt Charley. The next day Mr. Burke had a private talk with him and urged him to become their child. "We have no children," said he, "and Mary loves you and wants you to come." Charley said, "How can I leave Uncle Bill and Laddie, they have been my best friends." Mr. Burke told him he could bring Laddie with him and that he would make it right with Uncle Bill. Charley agreed to do it if Uncle Bill was willing. Late that afternoon Mr. Burke drove up to the shanty and went in.

Uncle Bill said, "I know what you are after, you want to take my Charley away from me," and he wept like a child. "I will tell you Uncle what I will do. I want Charley and I want to do right by you, for I know you have the first claim on him. You befriended him first, but I can do for him what you cannot do. I can give him a good home and a liberal education. I need a man around the house, so if you will give him up I will take you to my home and give you wages as long as you live." "But what will we do with Laddie I know Charley would not leave him," said Uncle Bill. "I have promised Charley that he might take Laddie." Uncle Bill consented and the next day they were transferred to the Burke home. Charley was placed in school at once, he proved to be an apt scholar. He became a leader in church work. When he was sixteen years of age he entered college at Kalamazoo. Four years later he graduated with honors. One evening he told them that his heart was set on being a minister of the Gospel and that he would like to enter the Theological Seminary at Rochester, N. Y. in the fall. "Nothing would please us better Charley," said Mr. and Mrs. Burke. After three years study at the Seminary he returned to Detroit. He was now past twenty-three years of age, strong in body, well poised in intellect, kindly spirited, high minded and well equipped for life's duties.

Mr. Burke suggested that Charley be ordained in the church where he started to Sunday school, accordingly on the first day of September of that year a solemn service of ordination took place in the great church on the avenue. Dr. Strong came from the Seminary to preach the ordination sermon. He spoke in glowing terms of Charley's character, ability and consecration to the ministry. That evening when they returned home they found Uncle Bill very ill. He lingered a few days and passed to his long home. It was his request that Charley conduct his funeral service. He did it with a depth of feeling and a power of self control that astonished every one It was a difficult duty to perform for he was the chief mourner that day. He took for his text, the significant words of the Savior, "I was hungry and ye gave me to eat, I was thirsty and ye gave me drink; I was a stranger and ye took me in." He told them of the night, when cold and hungry he knocked at the door of the old shanty and the old soldier welcomed him in.

Rev. Charles H. Preston,
Dear Brother:
The church at Tecumseh is desirous of securing a paster. Would you be willing to consider this field? If so could you preach for us next Sunday?
Cordially,
C. A. Fulton,
Church Clerk.

The following Sunday as the bells were ringing calling the people to enter the Baptist church at Tecumseh. He announced as his first hymn worship, Rev. Charles H. Preston "God moves in mysterious ways His wonders to perform." His text was Acts 10:31, "Thy prayer is heard." The discourse was beautiful and uplifting. It won him the pastorate, for immediately after his discourse was ended the church assembled and voted unanimously to ask him to be their pastor, which he accepted as the call of God.

Little did he realize however, the significance of the text which he used that day. After the services was ended an aged lady came up to him and asked him if he knew the history of his parents. He frankly told her that he did not, that he had been left a waif in the city of Detroit. The lady asked him if he could remember his father and mother's names. He replied that his father's name was John and his mother's name was Nancy. "Is that so?" said the lady "Then I can tell you the full history of your grandparents and your father and mother, suffice it to say for the present, that I was your Mother's nurse when you were born, and she told me her prayer to God in your behalf was that you would grow to manhood and become a minister of the Gospel, and now her prayer is answered.

REV. CHAS. E. EDINGER

Not so very many years ago Charlie Edinger was a school boy in our Tecumseh high school and later we hear of him as a graduate from Hillsdale college in 1912. From there he went to the Episcopal Theological school in Cambridge, Mass., where he finished his course in 1915. Since that time he has been doing missionary work in the northern part of the state and now we hear of him at St. Pauls Cathedral Detroit June 29 where he was ordained to the Deaconate of the Episcopal church. Chas. E. Edinger's Sr. was a Free Methodist preacher, and was known by many in this vicinity and Chas. Jr. will be remembered by his schoolmates, who will feel proud of the success and promotion of their friend.

Adams, Wizard Violinist, Heading Great Company

WHEN Elmer Crawford Adams and his assisting company, Minnie L. Sample, soprano, and Roselth Knapp Breed, reader, appear at Chautauqua patrons of the People's University will have the opportunity of seeing and hearing an organization which has won a deserved popularity in the musical centers of the east, delighting several thousand audiences. It is an organization of real artists, each one competent to give an entire program unassisted, and the combination of talents is such that a program of great merit results.

Elmer Crawford Adams is teaching Americans a new appreciation of the possibilities of this country in the production of musical artists capable of standing with the best in the world. He is a violinist, plus. There is more than mere technical artistry in his work. He literally makes the violin sing to you, inspiring his instrument to almost uncanny performance. It is the kind of violin music that takes hold of you and makes you realize the truth of the appellation bestowed upon the violin, the king of instruments. It is Adams' musical soul speaking through the medium of sound.

Minnie L. Sample is a soprano of superior merit. She sings the kind of songs the Chautauqua audience loves in the way they love it. Playing her own accompaniments with inimitable charm, she is just the artist to give individuality to her part of the program.

Roselth Knapp Breed is Boston's leading woman humorist. She reads humorous selections in a way all her own and is a sure cure for blues and grouches.

You'll like the Adams company. Be sure to hear them.

The committee have wisely taken charge of the movement of automobiles after our Wednesday entertainments and by following the directions of the committee but few accidents will occur. It is amusing to hear the remarks of some drivers who want to go some certain direction. The directing of autos is done for the safety of our guests and to avoid accidents, not to tell a driver to go north when he wishes to go south. These men serve without pay and are doing their best for the good of the town and the safety of their friends and we earnestly request that people follow their directions and thus avoid confusion and accidents.

It is some honor but a lot of work to be on the Bargain Day committees. The men on the committees are putting in a lot of hard work and gray matter on the proposition and the result of their labors is being shown by the big crowds of satisfied visitors who come to Tecumseh each week. The committee in charge of arrangements have no end of things to think of and attend to in order that the entertainments may be a success. Last Wednesday the main feature of the evening had an off date and could be secured only on the promise of the committee to get them out to catch a certain train so that they might reach their next town for Thursday's engagement and it was some job to make the transfer of all baggage to Raisin Center to connect with a Wabash train.

Nothing in American life is more encouraging than the Chautauqua movement. * * * The Chautauqua program, with its lighter features, its amusements, its music, its lectures, its opportunities for study and its strong moral tone fills a popular demand. * * * It is enormously to the credit of the Lyceum booking companies, as well as to the people to whom they appeal, that they have been able to maintain a high standard and that there does not appear to be the slightest tendency downward.—Dayton (O.) Now for 1917

Another new 3400 r. p. m. Chalmers, 7 passengers, 122-inch wheelbase, supreme beauty, $1280 Detroit
And the original 3400 r. p. m. Chalmers, doubly refined, amazing performance, 115-inch wheelbase, $1090 Detroit

Picture a giant of rare strength and ability, and clothe him in fine garments—and you have a mighty good picture of this new Chalmers—

the 1917 3400 r. p. m. Chalmers with the 122-inch wheelbase, double cowl body and French pleated upholstery.

A good day's work was done when they made it. They took as a base the 1916 3400 r. p. m. Chalmers. A car that had 1,000,000 miles of record behind it. And a service mark of 99.21 percent perfect.

They didn't touch the 3400 r. p. m. power plant. They stood pat there.

And on this magnificent chassis they laid a body that surpasses the ordinary man's power of expression.

To describe this gorgeous body is like trying to describe a Rocky Mountain sunset. It's impossible.

You get an optic sensation that fills the mind with a picture you'll never forget.

Lines—ladies, they're so severely modern that at first the Chalmers people thought they'd have to change them—too far ahead of the procession.

But Mr. Chalmers finally said to go ahead. And he was right, because the first one that sailed up the avenue stopped traffic.

She performs with a laugh. She has never refused me a hill. She has never failed to answer my every whim.

3400 r. p. m. is the reason.

But what I like most about her is the perfectly corking body.

I'm going to tell about one little feature of the body, and then you'll have to come and find the rest out for yourself.

It's about the upholstery. Now, there's been reams written and tons talked about upholstery. Some one once measured it in inches. Another described it in curlicue springs. Some one else reduced it to "real hair."

I don't know the thickness of it—and care less; but when I get in the tonneau and sit down I have a feeling that I never want to get out.

It fits the fat man as well as the thin man.

They're long pleats—French pleats—(which say good-by once and for all time to the "button and biscuit" kind).

She's a real car, gentlemen, and a wonderful value—$1280 Detroit. You put away in your wardrobe the equivalent of four good suits of clothes, a couple of pairs of ten-dollar shoes, and a Knox hat when you lay down the money for her. You save about $275.

Don't let me forget to call attention to her smaller sister—

Because she's a 3400 r. p. m.'r, great on the hill, smooth in traffic, full of spunk any time any day.

She's just like her 1916 predecessor. Neither you nor I could tell the difference. And you're dead sure when you buy her because her record is as clear-cut as a cameo—1,000,000 miles of use with a service record of 99.21 percent perfect.

Both cars are ready. If you haven't seen them you've missed a day's treat. Better than going to the art gallery.

WILL NOTIFY WILSON AUG. 5

Date of Formal Ceremony Is Tentatively Agreed Upon.

WASHINGTON. — August 5 was tentatively fixed as the date for the formal notification of the renomination of President Wilson, at conferences between the president, Vance McCormick, chairman of the democratic national committee; Postmaster General Burleson and Secretary McAdoo. The notification ceremonies will be held in the open air at Shadow Lawn, the president's summer home in New Jersey.

The president already has begun drafting his speech of acceptance, but will not complete it until after Mr. Hughes delivers his address to the republican notification committee on July 31.

KAISER SEES HIS MEN LOSE

Emperor Visits Somme Front and Confers Iron Crosses.

LONDON, ENG.—Kaiser Wilhelm was at the Somme front when his army retreated under battering British blows in Saturday's fighting, it has become known.

An official statement issued at Berlin confirmed previous reports of the kaiser's presence on the front of the Great Anglo-French offensive, where he has been visiting his troops and inspiring them to a more stubborn defense. The Berlin statement said that the kaiser conferred with his chief of staff and commanding generals, visited the hospitals and conferred several iron crosses.

NEW RUSSIAN FORCE LANDED IN FRANCE

Sixth Contingent of Slavs Disembarks at Brest.

PARIS. — A contingent of Russian troops has disembarked at Brest, France. The Russian troops will be sent to camp from Brest and later to the front.

This is the sixth contingent of Russian troops to arrive in France. Between April 20 and May 5 there arrived at Marseilles five bodies of Russian soldiers, after a land and sea journey of about 17,500 miles from Moscow, where they were assembled to Port Dalny, Manchuria, and thence by water through the Suez canal.

The number of men in the first five contingents has not been given officially, but it is believed to be about 25,000. These troops were quartered at Camp de Mailly, near Troyes, for several weeks, and then sent to the front. The official French communication showed that Russian troops were in the trenches in the Champagne

The Chautauqua fills a natural demand. It brings to the home town the best in the field of oratory and music. It implants ideals that are ennobling and enriching. It magnifies the virtues of the home town while widening the horizon of every citizen.

TWO NEW FEATURES AT THE CHAUTAUQUA

Among the new features to be introduced at the Chautauqua this season are Chronophotographs, showing the town and community in the camera's eye. An expert photographer will take many pictures of our town and people, and these will be shown on the screen, together with interesting incidents having to do with the opening of the Chautauqua. This will afford an opportunity for everybody to see themselves on the screen, for snapshots will be taken of the opening day parade, and all that will be necessary to become a screen star is to line up with the procession. The juniors, of course, will turn out in force on that day and help to make the occasion notable.

Another feature of the Chautauqua this year which is sure to prove interesting is the lecture to be given by Fred Riemann on "Music; Its Yesterdays and Tomorrows." In this lecture Mr. Riemann will present a brief history of music, taking up the development of instruments, the development of vocal music, classification and combinations of voices, American folk and early music, opera and oratorio, illustrating his talk with latest records on the Victrola. Whether you are deeply interested in music or not, you will find this lecture happily entertaining and instructive. It is a brief course in the fundamentals of music, and you will be able to grasp in a few minutes more definite and usable information concerning good music than you could gather in a month of reading.

The school offers a wide range of subjects and its faculty includes many well-known American teachers. During the session the Portmanteau Theatre Players will conduct their rehearsals in Wyoming. It is expected that the school will be visited by Dr. and Mrs. Andrew D. White, by the distinguished sculptors, Daniel C. French and Lorado Taft, by Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, and other notables.

BIG CROWD IN TECUMSEH WEDNESDAY EVENING

To Witness the "Bargain Day" Entertainment

4000 People on the Streets

We were much pleased to see the large crowd of people on our streets Wednesday evening and to see the many new faces among the throngs who came to enjoy our Bargain Day entertainment. It is gratifying to know that the people appreciate the efforts of the committees who have been working so hard to make these special days a success.

The afternoon entertainment was cancelled Wednesday because of the extreme heat. Early in the evening people commenced to pour into town. Every road leading into Tecumseh was well used and by 9 o'clock fully 4000 people were on the streets. Autos and rigs crowded the down town districts. While the weather was hot everybody seemed to forget the heat and thoroughly enjoy the evening.

People around Tecumseh have become used to our Wednesday entertainments and hardly appreciate them in the same sense as the strangers who come to town. It is very interesting to observe their appreciation and listen to their comments as to the quality of the different acts, and it is a fact that our business men are giving the people just as good an entertainment free as can be seen in any circus or theater in the city.

We had with us on Wednesday the Adrian Saxaphone Band which furnished splendid music for the evening.

Paul Barlow was first seen in his revolving hoop act. This act is planned for a two man act but an accident happened to Barlow's partner which made it necessary for him to pull off the act alone

The "Kilties" in their bounding wire act were next on the program. Here some fine work was witnessed. "Bounding" is a good word for it for our entertainer certainly bounded about on the wire like a rubber ball and his somersault was perfectly executed. In this act his lady partner was seen in some very clever Scotch dances

One of the best features of the evening was seen in the third act, The La Joes in their bicycle and unicycle riding act, two ladies and a man. There may be a few things that can be done on a bicycle which was not pulled off by the LaJoes but if there are we can't think of them. It was a very clever act

The last on the program was a song by Harry Hall of Adrian. Mr. Hall was accomanied by the Saxaphone band He has a fine voice and delighted his hearers, The entire program was repeated.

Next Wednesday July 26 will be a 'hummer' In the afternoon a four race matinee $125 will be given away in cash prices and the Tipton band will furnish music both at the track and in the evening.

The evenings entertainment will begin in good season so as to end promptly and not to interfere with the opening of the Chautauqua. The Chautauqua opens with Lauritanos Famous Symphyny orchestra No one will want to miss it

Don't miss coming to Tecumseh next Wednesday afternoon and evening. It will be worth coming a long distance to see and will get your money's worth.

NOTICE

I will be at the Lilley State Bank for the collectin of Village taxes, Wednesday, July 5,, and each Tuesday and Friday up to and including August 8.

Miss Myrtle Foster is taking a two weeks' vacation being with her parents at Marble lake.

Mrs. Vin Arner of Cleveland came Wednesday for a visit with the Misses Rhoba and Lou Arner.

Mrs. Chas. Vedder and son of Cleveland are guests of her sister Mrs. Lester VenNess and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Parks have been entertaining their niece Miss Vera Sloan of Homer this week.

Harry Rosacrans and family of Toledo were in town Thursday, enroute to the lakes for a week's recreation.

Miss May Farley returned to her home in Detroit Wednesday after a visit with relatives and friends in Tecumseh.

H. W. Stevens is tsill conned to his home, though he is surely on the gain and should we have some cooler weather soon he would be much better.

Mr. and Mrs. Rubolph Hiens and daughter May of Jackson were guests of friends in town for the week-end. Mrs. Hiens remained until Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Springer, who have been the guests of their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Pulver, returned to their home in Lansing Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. P. W. A. Fitzsimmons of Detroit were in town Wednesday, Mr. Fitssimmons coming for the meeting of the stockholders of the Uncle Sam's Macaroni Co.

TOURIST'S STRANGE EXPERIENCE

Tuesday night, a party of tourists in a seven passenger car were passing down Chicago street about 10:30 o'clock enroute to Detroit, when a punctured tire caused a dead panse, in their travel and turned pleasure into gloom.

The lights of Tecumseh were at that moment extinguished and to their dismay the streets seemed deserted. "There's a garage here somewhere," (They were at the corner of Pearl) and several of their party started in pursuit.

A scream rang out upon the night air a womans voice was heard exclaiming. "It was morphine" and then—"I'm a dead man," came from a masculine voice, as the dull thud of a heavy object that had fallen was heard and a chorus of voices in distress, chilled the beligerants and shivers ran down their spines

"Someone is attempting suicide,' one of them exclaimed, and leading the bunch he rushed down the alley from whence the voices came.

A door was opened in the rear of the Opera House a bright light disclosed the faces of a crowd of people who appeared very happy and then it dawned upon the tourists their fears were unnecessary.

"It sounded like the real thing," and upon investigation they discovered that this home talent crowd were going to present, "Capt. Racket" at the Opera House next Tuesday night July 25. "Ha, Ha, Ha! Some talent there," and to the amusement of one of the actors the joke was related.

We will be sure to take it in on our return the tourists remarked and, "I'd rather see a well trained home talent show then any other kind of entertainment."

Their car was soon adjusted and as they moved away, their merriment was at a high pitch as they were heard to remark, "Wasn't that great?' I'll take my hat off to Tecumseh Home Talent any time.

PTOMAINE POISONING

Mrs. Frank Dixon and little son of Plymouth, who are visiting her brother Floyd Freeman and wife, were taken suddenly ill on the street Wednesday. They were taken into the drug store of B. J. Pulver where Dr. Hendershott rendered what aid he could, finally taking them to the home of Mr. Freeman for further treatment. At first it was thought they were overcome by the excessive heat, but on investigation it was found they had been eating cold pressed corn beef and others of the family were afflicted. Mr. Freeman was taken quite ill at Holloway where he had to consult the doctor. For awhile it kept folks busy waiting on the sick ones, but last reports are to the effect that they are all much better. The extreme heat no doubt aggravated their bad feelings.

CULBERTSON SCHOOL REUNION

The committee are hard at work perfecting arrangements for the reunion of all teachers and scholars who have at any time taught or attended school in that District. All such as well as the people in the District are cordially invited to attend. Tuesday August 1st 1916 is the date and a very enjoyable time is expected

Pot luck dinner at noon followed by a good program and a jolly reunion of all old friends A large tent will be erected on the school grounds for shelter and plenty of tables and seats will be provided. Come and let us talk of the Auld Lang Syne.

BOY IN TROUBLE AGAIN

John Carey of Holloway who was sent up in 1910 for stealing from a store in Adrian and who is out on parole was in town Tuesday with George Messler the blind broommaker, acting as his guide, while in the Snell store on North Evans St. he purloined a sum of money from the cash drawer. He was later arrested and placed in jail awaiting the report from Lansing as to his disposal. His parole expires in August, 1917. The money was recovered. Word was received from Lansing last evening to return the boy to the reform school.

Mrs. Lewis Priest is recovering quite finely from her recent accident, the wound is healing nicely. The hot weather however geeps her from gaining strength very fast.

Miss Gertrude Boyd of Warsaw, Ind., is visiting relatives and friends in town this week.

For Tired Women With Aching Heads

"They help me so much and I find relief as soon as I begin taking your Foley Kidney Pills." Mrs. Frank P. Wood, Morrill, Maine, R. F. D. No. 2.

Sometimes it seems as if you can't stand the pain across your back. It is just making your life miserable and robbing you of all energy and strength. When you are constantly tired, head always aching, nerves "on edge," kidney action painful and burning, then is the time to start in at once on Foley Kidney Pills.

They strengthen the weak, ailing kidneys, improve their action, enable them to throw off the poisons that cause your trouble. Your nerves grow peaceful, sleep becomes sounder, nervous headaches disappear. As Mrs. Wood says: "I find relief as soon as I begin to take your Foley Kidney Pills." Be sure you get the genuine Foley Kidney Pills, for they are purely medicinal and contain no harmful drugs.

BACKACHE IS DISCOURAGING

But Not So Bad If You Know How to Reach the Cause

Nothing more discouraging than a constant backache. Lame when you awakn, pains pierce you when you bend or lift. It's hard to work or to rest. Backache often indicates bad kidneys. Tecumseh people recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Read this case:

W. C. Witherell, W. Pottawatamie St., Tecumseh, says: "I had acute pains across the small of my back and in my hips. Often, after stooping, a sharp twinge darted through my loins, obliging me to lie down. I was laid up in bed for several days and I believe that the trouble was caused by excessive stooping. When I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills, I got a supply at Wright & Son's Drug store and a few boxes restored me to good health. Since then, whenever I have felt in need of a kidney medicine, I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills and the results have been very pleasing."

AGAIN PRAISES DOAN'S

AFTER A LAPSE OF MORE THAN FIVE YEARS, Mr. Witherell said: "I have had no reason to change my high opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills, which I expressed some years ago."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Witherell has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

Best Midway In Fair's History.

The Midway at the 1916 State Fair will be the cleanest and best in the history of the exposition, according to General Manager Dickinson, who has completed arrangements for several of the attractions. Mr. Dickinson says the entertainment features will be worth while and that many new attractions have been contracted for.

1917 Models to Be Shown.

The auto show at the Michigan State Fair, which will be held at Detroit Sept. 4 to 13, will be the first opportunity Michigan residents will have to inspect the 1917 models. Practically all the leading manufacturers will be represented at the auto show.

Old Soldiers to Attend Fair.

G. W. Dickinson, general manager of the Michigan State Fair, announces that old soldiers of Michigan will again be invited to attend the big exposition in September as guests of the Fair management.

Children to Be Cared For at Fair.

Mothers who attend the Michigan State Fair, which will be held at Detroit Sept. 4 to 13, will have an opportunity to leave their children in the new Woman's Building, where they may be assured that the boys and girls will have the best of attention. General Manager Dickinson says that competent nurses will look after the children, who will be provided absolutely pure milk, to be kept in refrigerators. Mr. Dickinson says that mothers are heartily invited to attend the Fair, at which there will be many exhibits and attractions in which they will be particularly interested.

Big Tractor Demonstration.

A tractor demonstration and exhibition will be one of the features of the 1916 State Fair, according to G. W. Dickinson, general manager of the big exposition, which will be held at Detroit Sept. 4 to 13. Tractor manufacturers from all sections of the country have signified their intention of having tractors at the Fair, and practical demonstrations will be given on several acres of land set aside for that purpose.

Five Days of Horse Racing.

Five days of harness racing will be offered at the 1916 Michigan State Fair. The racing events will open on Labor Day and continue through the next four days. There will be four races each day, and some of the speediest trotters and pacers in the middle west will compete for purses. The race meeting will be conducted under the auspices of the short ship circuit.

25,000 MOOSE AT AURORA

Biennial Convention Draws Members from United States and Canada.

AURORA, ILL. — About twenty-five thousand persons from all parts of the United States and Canada are on a biennial pilgrimage to Mooseheart, four miles north of Aurora, where the Industrial and Agricultural School and Home for Dependent Children of Moose and the national headquarters of the society are located. Mayor Thompson and other Chicagoans are here.

Plans for the raising of a $10,000,000 endowment for the Moose school and home will be the principal matter to come before the conference which will last five days.

IOWA HAS ITS DROWNINGS

Three Lose Lives When Auto Plunges Through Rail on Bridge.

SIOUX CITY, IOWA.—An automobile carrying four residents of Jefferson, S. D., bound for Sioux City, to attend a circus, dashed through the railing of a bridge near the Sioux river here and three occupants of the car were drowned. The victims were George Fountain, aged thirty years; Florence Wakefield, aged seventeen, and Evelyn Wakefield, aged fifteen.

Allen Cates, the other occupant of the car, was rescued after he had made a heroic but futile effort to swim to shore with Florence Wakefield.

RURAL CREDITS BILL SIGNED

President Does Two Pen Act and Lauds Farmers' Measure.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—President Wilson signed the rural credits bill passed recently by congress. A group of senators, representatives and officers applauded warmly as Mr. Wilson affixed his signature.

Just before signing the measure, which creates a system of twelve land loan banks under direction of a federal board, the president made a short address, pointing out the benefits he believed both farmers and the investing community would enjoy under its operation.

APPEAL DIRECT TO RULERS

President Wilson Expected to Ask Aid for Poles in Personal Letters.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Personal letters probably will be sent by President Wilson to the king of England, the president of France, the emperor of Germany and the emperor of Russia, urging them to allow food to be sent by the United States to the starving people of Poland. The president has asked the state department to advise him as to the most desirable way to proceed.

So far all efforts to arrange for the shipment of food into the portions of Poland occupied by Germany have failed. It will be necessary to get permission for passage of supplies through the allied blockade, and assurances from Germany that they will be used by the Poles and not by the German army of occupation.

VIOLIN WIZARD HEADS COMPANY

Elmer Crawford Adams Company Will Give Chautauqua Patrons Entertainment at Its Highest Point of Development.

ELMER CRAWFORD ADAMS.

FOR several years a young American violinist has been fairly electrifying the musical critics of the east, being pronounced by competent musicians one of the most extraordinary performers on the king of instruments who has ever made his debut in America.

Elmer Adams is the young man's name—a good old fashioned American name, but not a whit more American than the fellow who wears it, for he fairly exudes Americanism. And just as the name is different from those usually associated with violin greatness so Adams is different from the ordinary violinist.

There is not about him the slightest trace of the usual or time worn traits employed by so many players. Some one hearing him for the first time might ask of another, "What is there about his playing that is so distinctly individual?" And the one addressed might answer, "I don't know." And yet it's all so simple. He possesses what others lack—genius—that's all.

Adams is one of those musicians of real ability who do not fear to injure their standing by playing the numbers so dear to the hearts of music lovers not ultra musical. One of the most interesting features of his program is his challenge to the audience to ask for any favorite selection.

ROSELTH KNAPP BREED.

Mr. Adams' accompanying artists are equally artistic. Mrs. Roselth Knapp Breed has for a number of years borne the deserved title of Boston's leading woman humorist. She has that unusual combination, true humor with refinement. Her clever sketches convulse an audience with laughter, yet leave it with a real admiration for her natural and brilliant presentation. Some of her monologues and character sketches are original, others written especially for her.

MINNIE L. SAMPLE.

Minnie L. Sample, soprano and accompanist, has a remarkable voice, sweet and clear, possessing a phenomenal range. Music critics call her one of the truly good sopranos of the year. She is also an exceptional pianist.

SHERIFF AND AIDS KILLED

BRITISH WIN ON 5-MILE FRONT

Wedge Driven Across Highway to Allied Objective.

POZIERES FORTS ARE TAKEN

Battle Is Believed to Have Been Unusually Bloody—Britons and Territorials Tear Up Barbed Wire Entanglement Artillery Failed to Level and Defeat Foe.

London, July 24.—British and Australian troops by a midnight thrust on a front of eight miles between Thiepval and Guillemont carried the German outer works for a stretch of five miles, penetrated into Pozieres and, wheeling around the village, have driven a wedge across the Bapaume high road, between Pozieres and Bapaume.

The German defense line between Pozieres and Guillemont bore the brunt of the attack, and it was here that the British registered the largest gains. More important than the seizure of terrain, however, is the fact that General Haig has forestalled the German counter stroke, which was in process of preparation and for which large Teuton reinforcements had been gathered behind the front.

Third Line Pierced.

The gain at Pozieres puts the English troops beyond the German third line. They are within two miles of the heights of Martinpuich, crest of the plateau.

The initiative is still firmly in the hands of the British, and it is theirs to say what the next move shall be.

That the British gains were attended with heavy losses is indicated in reports from the German grand headquarters and correspondents' dispatches from the front.

In one place, to the right of Pozieres, the artillery failed to level the wire entanglements erected by the Germans and the English troops attacking on that front were subjected to a furious machine gun fire, which cost them heavily.

Win Despite Barbed Wire.

Despite this they succeeded in penetrating into Guillemont and now hold sections of the outskirts. In addition, the British for a time regained complete control of Longueval, where there has been heavy fighting for the last week. Later, the official report states, they were forced to cede ground in the northern part of the village before a strong German counter-attack.

The Berlin statement says that the British attacks were met with a heavy fire and that the advancing troops suffered severe losses. Berlin concedes no retirement. Great numbers of British took part in the attack, says the Grand Headquarters, and the casualties were commensurate to the forces engaged. Especially heavy fighting, the statement says, took place west of Pozieres, in the Foreaux Wood and around Longueval.

General Haig's night dispatch, issued hours after the Berlin statement, reports, however, that further progress was made during the day in the Pozieres region.

On the front held by the French on both banks of the Somme a heavy artillery fire was directed against the Germans throughout Saturday night and during Sunday. A night attack by the Kaiser's troops south of Soyecourt is reported by the French war office to have been repulsed.

Take 26,223 German Prisoners.

The Central News makes the statement from "authoritative" information that the British and French in the three weeks of their offensive, have taken prisoner 26,223 Germans and that 140 heavy guns, 80 bomb throwers and several hundred machine guns have been captured.

SIR WM. RAMSAY IS DEAD

He Was Discoverer of Argon, Helium, Crypton, Neon and Xenon.

London, July 24.—Sir William Ramsey, K. C. B., the famous scientist, is dead. Sir William Ramsey was born in Glasgow and had been a professor of chemistry at the University College, Britol, since 1889.

After the discovery of argon, Sir William discovered helium in certain minerals. Next came crypton. He subsequently found neon, then xenon, only one part of which is to be found in 70,000,000 parts of air—a fraction so infinitessimal that the whole quantity Sir William was able to find during all his experience would only fill a thimble.

TO PAY FOR SUSSEX VICTIMS

Swiss Families' Victims Have Been Offered Settlement Plan.

Lucerne, July 24.—The Lucerne newspapers say that Germany and Switzerland have reached an agreement regarding the indemnities to be paid the families of Swiss victims of the sinking of the Sussex.

Each government has appointed an expert who will consider the cases separately and fix the amount to be paid.

EDWARD HINES IS CHOSEN

Named on Executive Committee of World's Salesmanship Congress.

Detroit, July 24—Following the closing of the last session of the World's Salesmanship congress, General Sales Manager Hawkins of the Ford Motor company was elected president of the World's Salemanship congress for the coming year, and Edward Hines, president of the Hines Lumber company of Chicago, was elected to a place on the executive committee.

Run Over by Binder.

Perry, July 24.—William Tillson, was killed while he was running a binder, A. J. Rader, who lives one mile west of Osseo and who is about sixty years old, was badly injured.

AUSTRIANS FLEE IN CARPATHIANS

Menace of Russ Attacks Causes Further Withdrawals.

GERMANS CLAIM FOE HALTED

Tell of Czar's Men Being Repelled in Two Sectors—Grand Duke Nicholas in Notable Gain in Asia Minor. Turks Claim Gains, Also—Petrograd Says German Attacks Fail.

Vienna, July 24.—Under menace of a heavy Russian assault, Austrians in the Carpathian region of southern Bukowina, southeast of Tatarow, have withdrawn toward the main ridge of the Carpathians, the war office officially announces.

Teuton Attacks Fail.

Petrograd, July 24.—Teutonic troops in Volhynia tried to break the Russian line along the River Stokhod near Bereznica, twenty-five miles northeast of Kovel, but failed and were compelled to retire, the war office announces.

German attempts to recapture lost positions northeast of Smorgon also were futile.

The statement follows:

"In Riga positions there has been an intense artillery duel.

"Northeast of Smorgon (fifty miles east of Vilna) near the village of Martyschi, the Germans tried to advance with the object of regaining positions we took from them yesterday, but under fire of our batteries were compelled to retire. All further efforts of the enemy to develop counter attacks failed under our rifle and artillery fire.

Capture Five Officers.

"On the Stokhod, in the district of Zaenenej-Bereznica, the enemy attacked at nine o'clock in the evening, but was compelled to retire.

"In the district of Vorokhty-Tatarow, on the road from Delatyn to Maramamorog-Sziget we have taken prisoner five officers, including a battalion commander, 483 men, three cannon and four machine guns.

Berlin Announces Check.

Berlin, July 25.—The breaking up of Russian attempts to advance southeast of Riga and of efforts of Russian troops to cross the Styr in Volhynia are reported in the official statement by the war office.

Russ Make Important Advance.

London, July 24.—An important advance in the Russian drive on Erzinan was the principal event in Asiatic Turkey.

The Russians have taken the town of Kelkid-Chiftlik, which is about midway to the west between Baiburt and Erzingan, the objective of the offensive from Erzerum.

Turks Report Russ Routed.

Constantinople, July 24.—The following statement on war operations was issued by Turkish army headquarters:

"We had success against the Russians in the region of Bane and at Revanduz, whence the enemy retired in disorder, leaving a quantity of equipment and provisions. The line of their retreat was littered with war stores. Our troops, in energetic pursuit, are in touch with the enemy twenty kilometers east of Revanduz.

SAZONOFF HAS RESIGNED

Ill eHalth Forces Retirement of Russia's Greatest Statesman.

Petrograd, July 24.—Sergius Sazonoff, minister of foreign affairs, has resigned. He is succeeded by Boris Vladimirovitch Sturmer, the premier, who has taken over the office.

M. Stumner retains the premiership. Alexi Khvostoff, the former minister of the interior, has been reappointed to that office, while M. Makaroff has been appointed minister of justice.

M. Sazonoff retired from the foreign ministry at his own request.

Stern Heads German Alliance.

Marshfield, Wis., July 24.—Leo Stern was reelected president of the Wisconsin branch of the National German-American alliance at its convention. Other officers re-elected are: Judge John C. Ludwig, first vice president; Otto Schilfrath, corresponding secretary; Hans Siegmeyer, recording secretary; Moritz Herling, financial secretary; Louis Aaron, treasurer. All officers are from Milwaukee.

Welsh Barred by Gophers.

Minneapolis, Minn., July 24.—Freddie Welsh has been barred from Minnesota rings as long as the present members of the athletic body remain in power, Commissioner Seiberlich states. The action will be formally ratified by the commission at an executive session next Tuesday, Seiberlich said.

Mrs. Pankhurst Quits U. S.

New York, July 24.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the English suffrage leader, who since Jan. 15 has been touring this country in the interest of destitute Serbians, left on the steamship Saxonia for Liverpool.

Much the Same Thing.

Gillet—Look here! Did you tell him I'd been swindled again?

Fillet—Well, I told him that you had made another of your characteristic investments.—Stray Stories.

Correct.

"What is an egoist, pa?"

"An egoist, my boy, is a man who insists upon talking about himself when you want to talk about yourself."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

SHOWED HIM HOW HE COULD MAKE $60,000

No Such Scheme as Farmer Thought He Was In.

Chicago, Ill., July 24.—The police of Hammond, Ind., and Chicago had another complaint on the activities of the so-called "Gary gang of wire tappers" to investigate.

This time it was Frank Jones, a bachelor farmer of Manchester, Mich., who claimed to have lost $6,000 on a California "horse race" at Battle Creek after he had sold his farm to get the money.

He told the police he had been promised a chance to "clean up" on $60,000.

DREDGING TO BE RESUMED

Manistee River Will Be Opened From Mouth to Lake.

Manistee, July 24.—As soon as the Ginzel dredge returns from Grand Haven, where another contract job has been commenced, dredging of Manistee river will be resumed and rushed to completion.

Work of dredging Manistee river has progressed satisfactorily since it was begun about a month ago. From the mouth of the channel to the bend on the north side sand has been removed to an increased depth of from two to four feet, and the south side is next in order for dredging.

Sentenced on Admission.

Bay City, July 24.—Roy Bower, the eighteen-year-old youth who was arrested at Lansing, after he, with two others, had held up Mrs. Charles H. Frantz in a drug store in Bay City, July 3, and robbed her of the day's receipts and some rings, entered a plea of guilty in the circuit court and was sentenced to from fifteen and thirty years in Jackson prison, with a recommendation of twenty-five years.

Crop Small, More Profitable.

Muskegon, July 24.—Although farmers of this part of the state are unanimous in their prediction that the peach crop this season will be considerably smaller than last year, they confidently look for a more profitable summer in the disposal of this fruit, as every indication points to a far better price for the product than was quoted a year ago.

Muskegon Man Is Injured.

Muskegon, July 24.—James Burson, thirty years old, an employe of the Continental Motors company, was badly hurt when, coming into contact with an exposed wire, he received a shock of 110 volts, and was thrown over on his lathe which was rapidly revolving at the time.

School Teacher Weds.

Manistee, July 24.—Miss Isa Hitchcock, a school teacher of Manistee, and Louis J. Huth, of Sidney, Montana, were married at the home of the bride's parents. Mr. and Mrs. Huth will make their home in Sidney Mont.

Urge Ford for Michigan Governor.

Port Huron, July 24.—Letters and telegrams flooded the offices of Democratic State Chairman A. E. Stevenson here, urging the candidacy of Henry Ford for the Democratic nomination for governor.

Life Long Resident Dead.

Hillsdale, July 24.—Edward Silvers, aged seventy-five years, a resident of Pittsford and vicinity for the past 33 years, died at the home of his son, Roy Silvers, one mile south of Pittsford.

Legislates Poor Men Out of Business.

Petoskey, July 24.—The Petoskey council passed an ordinance requiring the jitneys to furnish surety bonds to protect their passengers in case of injury. The jitneys have quit the run.

Owing to a dense fog the steamer Charles W. Hutchinson, with a cargo of 456,000 bushels of wheat from Fort William for Buffalo, sank off Cedar reef in upper St. Mary's river after being in collision with the steamer Lyman C. Smith. The Smith returned to the Soo with its stern smashed flat. No one was injured.

THORNTON DIXON OF MONROE
Candidate for Nomination for Representative in Congress, Second District.

WHAT HE IS NOT

He is not—a peanut politician; seeking advantage of competitor or opponent by craft, trickery or deception.

The tool of any clique, faction or trust or of those making fortunes out of the present European War.

Indebted to descent or marriage for the position he occupies in the business, professsional and social world.

THREE FOUND SLAIN BESIDE BRIDLE PATH

Man Probably Killed Wife and Babe and Suicided.

Chicago, July 24.—A man, his wife and their six-months'-old baby were found shot to death in Lake Forest. A coroner's jury found that the man killed his wife and child and committed suicide.

The police and coroner were unable to establish their identity. Laundry marks showed that the man's initials were "L. A. C." and that his first name was Lloyd. He claimed to have been in the employ of the Buick Motor Car company, and his hat bore the trademark of a Flint (Mich.) firm.

The bodies were discovered about 7 o'clock by Miss Jane Hollis, daughter of W. L. Hollis, and another society girl whose name was withheld. They were out riding and came upon the bodies beside the bridle path in Deerpath avenue, near the bridge over the Skokie river.

BUTLER "IN LINE OF DUTY"?

Wife of Slain U. S. Army Officer to Get Pension.

Washington, July 24.—Lieutenant Colonel M. C. Butler, victim with Mrs. Harry J. Spannell in the double shooting tragedy at Alpine, Tex., died "in the line of duty" and his wife will get a pension.

This was the result of a report by Colonel J. H. Gaston, sent by the war department to investigate the shooting of Butler and Mrs. Spannell by the woman's husband.

SAYS LIE CONVICTED MAN

Woman, Who Expects to Die, Makes Statement in Case.

Kalamazoo, July 24.—Clara Harris has made an appeal to officers to secure the release of Neil Davis from Jackson prison, declaring that the man was sent to that institution as the result of a lie she told.

"I lied when I made the charge against him and now I see where I did wrong. I am not going to live long and I want to do this man a justice before I die," she told Sheriff Chapman. The woman has recently become religious. Davis is serving a five-year term for assault.

The usual Wednesday street attraction will commence half an hour earlier, 7 o'clock and continue until 8 o'clock. At 8 o'clock the Tipton band will march to the Chautauqua tent where the evening program will be given consisting of a grand concert by the Symphony Orchestra and an illustrated lecture by Charles Sumner, showing the making of a magazine, colored views of of the workings of one of America's greatest industrial plants, and the display of pictures of our town and people.

Tickets are selling fast which shows that the people appreciate the Chautauqua. The number of farmers who have been purchasing tickets, even though they are very busy, would indicate that the Chautauqua is popular with them.

Everyone should have their season tickets before the Chautauqua opens, but in case it is impossible to do so, if they will 'phone to Dr. Hartzog before Wednesday evening, the committee will purchase their tickets for them.

MILITARY FUNERAL

The Commander of Beer's Post has issued a call to members of Beer's Post, Son's of Veterans and Spanish War Veterans to report and give, so far as possible, military honors to Private Edw. F. Martin, who died at El Paso, Texas, while in the service of his country.

All honor is due our Tecumseh boy and the call is a worthy one. Let Tecumseh people pay their respect to the boy who died while in the service of his country.

Private Martin is the first Michigan man to be taken since our Michigan boys left for the front.

The Tipton band will furnish music and our people are asked to help defray the expense of a military funeral. All those who wish to do so will kindly leave their contributions at Wm. Gaston & Son's, C. A. Wright & Son's drug store or the Barrett House.

Tecumseh has measured up to her full duty in the past, let her answer Commander Keyser's call and pay proper respect to the one who died while serving our great and glorious country.

Adrian has contributed to a fund for the support of the families of the boys who have gone to the front and her people have given freely. This is our opportunity, let us respond willingly. We are sure Tecumseh will do her duty.

HEAD OF STATE FAIR IS GOOD ROADS ENTHUSIAST

John S. Haggerty, president of the Michigan State Fair, is a firm believer in good roads and he has indorsed the action of G. W. Dickinson, general manager of the Fair, who has mapped out a good roads building program, which is to be carried out during the summer months.

Mr. Haggerty is a member of the Wayne county road commission, and many miles of macadam highways have been constructed under his supervision. The roads to be built at the State Fair Grounds will be of macadam and will be constructed by the State Fair management.

Mr. Haggerty's name stands for good roads throughout the state, and that the highways at the Fair grounds will be models of their kind is evident from the fact that Mr. Haggerty is assisting in supervising the construction work.

BARGAIN DAY PROGRAM FOR WEDNESDAY

The program for Wednesday, July 26, will consist of two acts—Duffy and May in their great novelty trapeze act and the Famous Russells in their knife throwing act.

Every one will want to see these two great acts. The entertainment will commence promptly at 7 o'clock and will last for one hour. The Tipton band will furnish the music for the evening.

At 8 o'clock the band will march to the Chautauqua grounds for the opening of the Chautauqua.

A week from Wednesday, August 2nd, the committee have a special attraction. An automobile will be driven up the stairway to the top of the platform. Don't miss this special attraction. Come to Tecumseh Wednesday.

NEVISON—HAZLETT

Miss Gertrude Hazlett of Detroit, formerly of Tecumseh, and Mr. Stephen Nevison of Tecumseh were united in marriage July 17, 1916, in the St. Paul's church of England in Lindsay Ont. Miss Leary of Lindsay played the wedding march.

GERMAN LINE IS DENTED IN WEST

British Deepen Salient on Front of Mile.

LOSS ADMITTED BY BERLIN

Artillery Bombardment Along Entire Western Front Is Reported—Preparing for Another Drive—Allies Capture Trench, Fortified Farm and Wood and Drive Foe from Two Villages.

LONDON, ENG.—Another mile of German second line trenches have been stormed and captured by the British on the Picardy front northwest of Bazentine-le-Petit. The last of the German defenders have been driven from their ruined positions in Ovillers and La Boisselle.

These advances announced in an early official report from General Haig's headquarters, are supplemented by an official report of the capture of 10,968 men and a vast quantity of big guns, howitzers and munitions in the spectacular British offensive since July 1. That the latest advances are merely incidental to another smashing onslaught against the entire German front in Picardy is indicated in the ocial report from Berlin, which announces furious artillery action against the entire German line from the Picardy front to the sea. This action is expected here to cease only with another general attack by the British, such as already has won them the greatest gains of the entire war.

Storm Hampers Infantry.

The heavy rain and fog have brought the infantry attacks to a standstill, but the big guns are steadily pouring their shells into the German defenses, reducing them to ruins in preparation for the moment when the infantry can again enter the action.

Berlin Admits Loss.

While the French reports announce no changes of movement on the Somme front, eBrlin admits the British penetration of Ovilliers wood, where, according to General Haig, the last menace from the remaining Germans has been eliminated by their capture or death.

FOUR DIE AS TRAIN AND AUTO COLLIDE

O. D. Cary, Wife and Two Sons of Butler, Ind., Killed.

BUTLER, IND. — Four persons, mother, father and two sons, were killed instantly when an automobile in which they were riding, near Butler, was struck by the Twentieth Century Limited of the New York Central lines.

The victims were Otto D. Cary of Butler, his wife, and Laughlin and Paul Cary.

The train, which was going at top speed, struck the automobile squarely in the middle, and carried it 200 feet along the right of way.

County officers placed a charge of manslaughter against John Musuadian, the taxi-driver, who ran down and killed August Green, sixty-two years old, a Muskegon carpenter.

Sault Ste. Marie's $105,000 high school, under course of erection, has been discovered resting on quicksand. Large cracks have appeared in the inner and outer walls of the building.

The body of a young man, presumably a tramp, and aged about twenty years, was found on the Michigan Central tracks at Hairg's station, a few miles south of Jackson.

Physicians of Owosso refused to sign the death certificate of Mrs. Charles Parkhurst, thirty-six years old, who died suddenly at her home, near Bancroft, believing she was the victim of self-administered poison.

Bud Morris, of the Grand Rapids aviation school, and Dr. E. W. Reynolds, riding as a passenger, narrowly escaped being killed, when their hydroaeroplane turned over when about fifty feet in the air.

Trustees of the Michigan institution for the blind, in making up the biennial budget, for the institution, included an item of $3,000 to establish a system of "home teaching" for blind people outside the institution.

Amendments recently adopted to the Flint local option ordinance prohibit any transportation company from delivering any intoxicating liquors to any one, except the person to whom they are shipped, and prevent the companies, which transport liquors, from allowing anyone else to sign receipts for liquors.

TO HONOR MISS THIELAN

Last Thursday evening Miss Carol Kemp most pleasantly entertained the members of the Sewing Club, about 20 young ladies being present. The rooms were very prettily decorated with flowers and from the chandelier ribbons were suspended leading to various parts of the room.

Miss Gladys Thielan, one of the guests, was selected to unravel the mystery which proved on close investigation to be numerous kitchen utensils which she will soon need for her new home. These were preliminary gifts for the club also presented her with several pieces of silver.

A contest [illegible] of "Marriage" was one of the stunts, each one to express themselves on this subject using the initials of their name in so doing.

Dainty refreshments were served and as the guests departed for their several homes, they left their best wishes for the future of their friend Gladys Theilan whose marriage to F. E. Ford a former teacher in our schools occurs to morrow.

Mrs. Wilfred Waldron entertained the Sewing Club at her home west of town Friday evening, some eighteen or twenty young ladies being present.

The entertainment was in the nature of a miscellaneous shower for Miss Gladys Theilan, the bride of this week. It is needless to say that all had a delightful time, as Mrs. Waldron is a royal entertainer. A fine supper was served. The presents were of a varied nature and well suited for her future use.

UPDYKE REUNION

The home and lawn of W. B. Keysor were gay with flags and bunting last Saturday in honor of the Updyke reunion which was being held there on that day. Autos and buggies were kept busy bringing the crowd together and meeting the several trains.

It was a merry company that met together for though there were many with grey heads and time worn faces, yet every one was young once more, as they reviewed the days of long ago.

A bountiful feast of good things was served both for dinner and supper on the lawn which was fully appreciated with some sixty in number. There have been three births since the last reunion which was held in Clinton last year, and not a death has been recorded.

The out-of-town guests were, Mr and Mrs. Dick Underwood of Tilbury, Ont., Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wheadon and daughter, Mr. and Mrs John Delano and Mr. and Mrs Marshall Hansey of Jackson, Mrs. Geo. Shellinger and daughter and Mrs Caroline Updyke of Hillsdale, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Whelan, Reed Updyke and family, Tipton, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Osborn and son of Palmyra, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Keysor and children, Dwight Hause and family Howard Hause and son and Clarence Hause of Clinton and Mrs. Kate Culver of Hudson.

TECUMSEH DOING THINGS

Tecumseh is being talked about a good deal these days and it is very pleasant to hear the travelling men tell of the many questions being asked by merchants in nearby towns and states, all wondering how we pull off our Bargain Day stunts in Tecumseh, not realizing that we have long been "the biggest little town" on the map. And as Kipling puts it

"And they asked me how I did it,
And I gave the Scripture text
'You keep your light so shining'
A little ahead of the next,
They copied all that they could follow,
But they couldn't copy my mind
And I left them sweating and stealing,
A year and a half behind."

ADRIAN, MICHIGAN

Manufacturer of High Grade Pianos, Player Pianos and Organs

Established Since 1850

The Chautauqua is a town builder. It centers community interests and develops commercial progress by bringing about a closer sympathy and understanding between the merchant and the farmer. It has a tendency to unite factions and cliques in the ordinary town and city. Hundreds of people come to town Chautauqua week. They are pleased and delighted. They go home happy, therefore the town has made a favorable impression upon them, and they continue to visit the town.

The rapid spread and growth of the Chautauquas is one of the wonders of America. In 1873 the first Chautauqua was started on Lake Chautauqua in western New York, from which it takes its unusual name, Bishop John H. Vincent and Lewis Miller being its founders. The idea spread rapidly, especially in the west, but only in recent years have Chautauquas multiplied rapidly in the east. Now the whole country from the Atlantic to the Pacific and from the lakes to the gulf, is covered.

The Name Quaker.

A London writer says that the name Quaker "sprang from the lips of a local Justice Shallow." This man was one Bennett of Derby. The name was a gibe at George Fox, who once declared in the justice's court that all ought to "quake" at hearing the name of God. The Society of Friends originally called themselves Seekers—a more beautiful and also more obvious but much less picturesque term.

Threshing Coal.

Why do nearly all of the leading threshermen recommend their patrons to buy RED BAND coal? For the simple reason they know the coal that makes the most steam, is the cheapest coal to buy as it lasts so much longer, in many instances goes twice as far on a job. If you doubt this, run a barrel of Red Band, then run a barrel of the ordinary coal you will then realize the great saving.

Don't get an idea that somebody's "just as good coal" will do the work of RED BAND as you will be disappointed there is only one RED BAND and we sell it.

It comes in two sizes, either will work all right for threshing:

6 in. LUMP, per ton..............$5.00
8 in. EGG, per ton..............$4.50

If you want cheaper priced coal we have some nice clean lump coal for $3.50 per ton, but if you want the most for your money by all means buy RED BAND.

These prices are undelivered, coal delivered costs more.

Last week was a busy one among the Doctors, so many were victims of ptomaine poisoning and overcome by the heat. John Watson was perhaps the most serios case of poisoning, but he came through all right after quite a tussle with the doctor. So far heard from everyone is doing well, and not one of them wishes to repeat the experience.

Sounded for Edward F. Martin, Co. B, 32nd Mich. Infantry, ElPaso, Tex., Sunday, July 23, 1916.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Packard have received a telegram from ElPaso, Texas, telling of the death of her son Edward F. Martin who succumbed to pneumonia Sunday morning. Hejoined Co. B, 32nd Reg., at Grayling about four weeks ago and was then in good health. When the regiment left Grayling he complained of not feeling well, having a slight cold, but it was thought that it was from the effect of the vaccination and other preparatory treatment. He was ill during the trip and was placed in the hospital as soon as they arived in ElPaso. His parents were notified at once of the death and teh body is expected to reach here Wednesday.

The young man was 18 years old the 6th of last April and was born on a farm on the Adrian road. He has spent most of his life in Tecumseh. He leaves beside his mother Mrs Ed Packard, his grandparents Mr. and Mrs, T. Kelly of Tecumseh, one brother Seaman Martin and a sister Mrs Etta Love and three half sisters Bertha Leila and Frances Packard.

Martin was the first Michigan man to give his life in the service of his country in this last call to arms.

Word was received this morning by Sec. Benner of the Adrian Club that the remains of private Edward F. Martin had been shipped direct to Tecumseh and would arrive Friday morning.

Noted Irish Orator In Thrilling Travel Lecture

"WITH an Irishman Through the Jungles of Africa," the lecture in which Gabriel R. Maguire cames to the Chautauqua, is a thrilling story of personal experiences told with matchless skill. Maguire was the first white man to go up the Kongo river after Henry M. Stanley came down. A priceless collection of curios is carried by Dr. Maguire and exhibited upon the platform. Maguire is not alone a story teller, but a real orator, with fire and "pep." He makes his great story fairly vibrate with personality.

For Tired Women With Aching Heads

"They help me so much and I find relief as soon as I begin taking your Foley Kidney Pills." Mrs. Frank P. Wood, Morrill, Maine, R. F. D. No. 2.

Sometimes it seems as if you can't stand the pain across your back. It is just making your life miserable and robbing you of all energy and strength. When you are constantly tired, head always aching, nerves "on edge," kidney action painful and burning, then is the time to start in at once on Foley Kidney Pills.

They strengthen the weak, ailing kidneys, improve their action, enable them to throw off the poisons that cause your trouble. Your nerves grow peaceful, sleep becomes sounder, nervous headaches disappear. As Mrs. Wood says: "I find relief as soon as I begin to take your Foley Kidney Pills." Be sure you get the genuine Foley Kidney Pills, for they are purely medicinal and contain no harmful drugs.

BACKACHE IS DISCOURAGING

But Not So Bad If You Know How to Reach the Cause

Nothing more discouraging than a constant backache. Lame when you awakn, pains pierce you when you bend or lift. It's hard to work or to rest. Backache often indicates bad kidneys. Tecumseh people recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Read this case:

W. C. Witherell, W. Pottawatamie St., Tecumseh, says: "I had acute pains across the small of my back and in my hips. Often, after stooping, a sharp twinge darted through my loins, obliging me to lie down. I was laid up in bed for several days and I believe that the trouble was caused by excessive stooping. When I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills, I got a supply at Wright & Son's Drug store and a few boxes restored me to good health. Since then, whenever I have felt in need of a kidney medicine, I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills and the results have been very pleasing."

AGAIN PRAISES DOAN'S

AFTER A LAPSE OF MORE THAN FIVE YEARS, Mr. Witherell said: "I have had no reason to change my high opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills, which I expressed some years ago."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Witherell has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

J. WHITCOMB RILEY

"Best Beloved Man In Indiana" Passes Away.

J. WHITCOMB RILEY, HOOSIER POET, DIES

Dialect Verse Peculiarly Endeared Him to Indiana.

Mr. Riley suffered from the extreme heat all Saturday, but was thought to be resting easy at night. He asked his nurse for a drink of water at 11 o'clock. When she returned with it he was dead. Death was due to a stroke of paralysis.

James Whitcomb Riley, born of the middle west, sang the joys, sorrows, fancies and humors of its folk, largely in its own dialect. The world was so touched by his inspiration and the realism of his homely symbols that he was one of the few, that, devoting their lives to poetry, gained a fortune.

Mr. Riley was peculiarly sensitive as to the advance of age and evaded inquiries as to the date of his birth, but the most accurate information available indicates that he was born in 1848.

"Should you ask his age," one of his friends said, "he would answer 'This side of forty,' and leave you to guess which side."

GOTCH RETIRES FROM MAT

Champion Wrestler, After Breaking Leg, Says He's Through.

Kenosha. July 24.—"I am done for good, I think it is time for any man to retire when he is forty and from now on I don't care who has the wrestling championship. Just as soon as I am able to leave the hospital I am going back to the farm." This was the ultimatum of Frank Gotch, the wrestling champion, at the Kenosha hospital here. Gotch is recovering from a broken leg under the careful attention of his wife and a couple of nurses.

"We want them all to know that we are through with the mat and the circus and the foot lights and everything else except the farm, and, oh, yes, I forgot the most important thing—the boy. And believe me," interrupted Gotch. "He is some kid. He is not going to be a wrestler or boxer, he is just going naturally to be the champion lawyer of the state of Iowa."

Vincent Never Guessed It.

Chautauqua was inaugurated by Bishop John H. Vincent, who transformed a Methodist camp meeting into a class for study of Greek and Roman history and sent an idea spinning down the corridors of time. John H. Vincent is a a great man, but he never guessed, even with his prophetic vision, the size of his idea. There is something in it that meets the needs of the people—all the people. Before the Chautauqua idea the famed New England Lyceum fades into futility.—Elbert Hubbard.

The Chautauqua is the most distinctively American thing in this country.—Theodore Roosevelt.

If your brain has that tired feeling try a week off and spend it at the Chautauqua. It will be good for what ails you.

Girl Found Hidden In His Room Says She Was Drugged.

Chicago, July 24.—Leila Tanner of Jackson, Mich., quarreled with her mother and ran away to Hammond on Saturday. She was found late that night by the Hammond police hidden in the room of John R. Polland, son of the Reverend I. Polland. She was drugged, the police say.

She declared that Palland, on a trip to Whiting, induced her to drink "some funny, fizzy stuff."

They SATISFY!

How America's largest cigarette manufacturer has accomplished "the Impossible" by producing a MILD cigarette that SATISFIES. It is the CHESTERFIELD Cigarette

ALMOST anybody can make a cup of coffee. But there are said to be not over a half-dozen restaurants in the United States where they know how to make it right.

Similarly, almost anyone can make a cigarette. Just roll up some tobacco in a piece of pure paper—and there you are.

There are, perhaps, over 800 brands of cigarettes sold in this country today. But not one of them does what Chesterfields do—for Chesterfields are MILD; and yet they SATISFY.

Some cigarettes may be mild, but they don't satisfy. Only one cigarette does BOTH—Chesterfield!

This truly unique cigarette has all of that refreshing taste-delicacy (or mildness) which any good cigarette must have. Yet, without sacrificing any of this delightful mildness, Chesterfields go one step further—they do more than merely "please your taste"—they let you know you've been smoking. They satisfy!

And yet they're mild!

A Step Forward in Cigarette-Making

WE are proud to be the firm that has brought about this important new development in cigarette enjoyment—for that is exactly what the Chesterfield blend* is.

This cigarette is an outgrowth of long, earnest effort on the part of this, the largest cigarette manufacturing concern in the United States.

The mild, yet satisfying Chesterfield blend is not the result of happy chance. It is one of the results of our many years of cigarette experience—of the heavy volume of our purchases of cigarette tobacco—of the prestige and advantage these enormous purchases give us in securing the choicest leaf from the tobacco fields of the world.

Chesterfields are an achievement.

A New Thing for a Cigarette to Do

CHESTERFIELDS do the one thing you have always wished a cigarette would do—they satisfy!

Smoke them and we believe you will find that ordinary cigarettes seem by comparison almost flat.

Give Chesterfields (20 for 10 cents) a trial. We believe you will be glad to learn what they can teach you about cigarette enjoyment.

* * *

You have been reading here some rather unusual, almost daring, statements about a cigarette. If Chesterfields were an untried cigarette—if we had not been observing their behavior in other cities—if we did not KNOW that they make good with smokers, we could not afford to make these statements to you over our signature.

But these statements, strong as they are, can mean little or nothing to you until you have actually smoked your first Chesterfield.

You will find that your own dealer has Chesterfields waiting for you.

Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

*The Chesterfield Blend contains the most famous Turkish Tobaccos—SAMSOUN for richness; CAVALLA for aroma; SMYRNA for sweetness; XANTHI for fragrance, combined with the best domestic leaf.

The Trans-forming Passion

A TALE OF LOWER MICHIGAN

By W. B. Hartzog

CHAPTER IV

The Ruling Passion

During the week following the eventful Sunday when the mysterious old lady told the new minister about his mother, the neighborhood was in a ferment of gossip. At a missionary meeting held at the home of Dr. Hamilton, the old lady told how his grandparents had settled on the bank of the Raisin and struggled as pioneers did to clear up the farm and build a comfortable home. She told of the death of little Eva who was only two years her senior; how she was her playmate and how sad she felt when they buried her in th little country graveyard half a mile south of the Preston farm.

She told of Judson Preston answering the call to arms in 1861, nad how he died in a Confederate prison. As she told of Judson her eyes filled with tears and her frame trembled with deep emotion. She related the career of John Preston, including an account of his marriage to Nancy Hall, and the tragic death of their parents. She related how, soon after that she removed with her parents to Detroit, where she met a young man by the name of Abner Lee and they were married. She told of John Preston's career in the Michigan Legislature and of the birth of Charles H. Preston. She even told of the naming of their infant son. She said they proposed several names, finally she ventured to suggest the name Charles Hall Preston which was adopted. She said that soon after the birth of Charles, she and her husband decided to go back to Lenawee County and they settled on a farm on the south side of Sand Lake. "Is your husband living?" inquired one of the ladies? "No, Abner died fourteen years ago. My daughter and her husband manage the farm and I am living with them." Just then a team drove up and Mrs. Lee said, "There is Henry now, I will have to go."

After Mrs. Lee left them, Mrs. Adams said, "Did you notice how deeply she was moved when she told about Judson Preston?" "Yes," said Mandy Smart, "I noticed it and I will bet anything they were lovers if the truth is known. I wonder how she came to be down here to church Sunday ? I never thought of ddd Sunday? I never knew of her being at our church before." Mrs. Hamilton explained that her husband had been their family physician and that Mrs. Lee occasionally visited them.

The real reason, however, Mrs. Hamilton did not know. Mrs. Lee had been attracted to church that day by reading the announcement in the Tecumseh Herald, that Rev. Charles H. Preston would preach. A woman's curiosity never dies out, she wanted to know who Charles H. Preston was.

On the following Sunday morning it was noticed that there were many old residents of Tecumseh and vicinity at church. Dr. Hamilton asked his wife on their return home, if she could account for it. "There were people at church today that I haven't seen at church in years," said the doctor. Mrs. Hamilton had not seen enough of the busy physician during the week to find time to tell of the strange history of their new pastor. She then related Mrs. Lee's revelations. "Well I wondered what brought Mrs. Lee down here last Sunday," said the doctor.

During the week the pastor called at Dr. Hamilton's residence and in the course of the conversation he asked about the lady who told him of his mother. Mrs. Hamilton told him who she was and where she resided. "Well, I will certainly have to visit her and find out more about myself," said the pastor. The following Wednesday he drove to Mrs. Lee's home near Sand lake. He started early thinking he would return the same day. It was about nine o'clock when he knocked at the door. Mrs. Lee opened the door and recognizing the young minister at once, gave him a cordial greeting. It was a beautiful old farm home, everything seemed cozy and cheerful. "I am glad you came ," said Mrs. Lee. "My son-in-law, Mr. Worthington and his wife have gone to Adrian to meet their daughter, she is coming home for Thanksgiving. My granddaughter is a student at Hillsdale College." After a brief conversation, Mrs. Lee said, "Mr. Preston will you put up your horse and I will prepare dinner." Charles put his horse in the barn, gave him grain and returned to the house. "Just make yourself at home and excuse me for a little while," said Mrs. Lee. "Certainly," said Charles. While he was alone he picked up a photograph album, as he turned the pages he came upon the picture of a young lady of fine presence, on the opposite page was the picture of a young man some where. He leafed on, and came upon the picture of a young man dressed in the uniform of a union soldier, opposite it was the picture of a young lady whom he recognized at once as the portrait of Mrs. Lee in her girlhood. On another page were two pictures that strangely attracted him. He gazed at them for a long time for he seemed to recall in them the countenances of his father and mother. Could it be possible.

Then he turned back and looked again at the picture of the young lady. Just as he closed the album Mrs. Lee came in. "I see you have been looking over the album, do you recognize any of the pictures? "I am not sure," said he. "Well, we will have dinner now and after dinner is over I will explain about those pictures," said Mrs. Lee. Charles enjoyed the dinner and the conversation of the interesting old lady. After dinner they went into the large [illegible] room. It had a grand old fireplace. There were comfortable chairs, old-fashioned pictures hung on the wall. The old fire-place had been closed, but the large mantel remained. "I am glad," said the graceful old lady, "that we can be alone for I have some interesting and romantic things to tell you." Mrs. Lee then gave a detailed account of his grandparents and when she came to the account of Judson Preston, she opened the album to the picture of the soldier boy "This, of course," said she, "is confidential. Judson and I were lovers when that terrible war broke out. He was the dearest young man, we were baptized the same day by Elder J. J. Fulton at Tecumseh. I have his last letter in my trunk sometime I will show it to you. Poor boy he perished of hunger in Andersonville prison." Then she told him of his father and mother and turning again to the album she said, "I have here the only picture of them in existence and you shall have them." Charles eyes filled with tears as he looked upon the faces of his father and mother. "Mrs. Lee I can never repay you for this gift. How strange indeed is the providence that has led you to keep them for me," said Charles. Then Charles related the story of his life as told in the former chapters. Mrs. Lee was many times in tears as the manly youth told the thrilling story. When he had concluded the account of his life from the time he set out to win his way in the world that cold winter day to the day he arived at Tecumseh to preach Mrs. Lee said, "How strange it seems that you should become the pastor of the church where your sainted mother dedicated her life to God." After a little silence prevailed, Charles opened the album and turned to the picture of the young lady. "Would you mind telling me who this young lady is, Mrs. Lee?" "Oh, that is my granddaughter, Lucy Worthington," and glancing at the clock she remarked, "it is about time for them to be here." Charles did not say it audibly, but he said it to himself, "I would like to see her." "May I inquire also, who this young man is," pointing to the picture on the opposite page. "That is a young man living near Hudson, his name is Will Carleton. He is a student at Hillsdale. He is quite a poet, he has written several poems for our county papers." "Well, I thought I recognized his countenance, I have seen his picture in some magazine." Charles wished he might have his picture in that particular place. "Mr. Preston," said Mrs. Lee, "I want to make one request of you. I want you to remain with us over Thanksgiving." "Well, I will if you will promise to call me Charles and let me call you mother." "We are agreed," said Mrs. Lee. At this Mrs. Lee glanced out of the window and said, "They are driving in the barnyard now."

Mrs. Worthington and her daughter entered, Mrs. Lee arose and introduced Charles as the new minister of the Baptist church at Tecumseh. "Mother is quite taken with you Mr. Preston. I expect she will go to church every Sunday," said Mrs. Worthington. "Why mother you are enough to embarrass anybody," said Lucy. Charles was grateful for this defense, for he scarcely knew what to say in reply to Mrs. Worthington, but he finally did manage to reply. "Your mother is one of my best friends." Mr. Worthington soon entered and was introduced to Charles.

"Mr. Preston has promised to remain over to-morow with us," said Mrs. Lee." We are certainly pleased to have you spend Thanksgiving with us. We seldom have a minister visit us out here. Mother tells us that she knew your people years ago," said Mrs. Worthington.

"Yes, she seems the nearest to me of any person in the world," said Charles.

Lucy pondered this saying for she was unacquainted with his history.

"He must mean that his parents are dead," said she to her mother while they were taking off their wraps upstairs.

"Yes, his parents died when he was a child about ten years old. Grandma can tell you quite a story about him," said her mother.

Lucy was a young lady of twenty years, healthy, graceful, cheerful, thoughtful, sympathetic, effectionate and pure in heart. She was the only child in the Worthington family. She never knew what hardships meant How different from Charles who had struggled great odds.

Charles had never enjoyed a Thanksgiving festival on the farm and this was a delighttful experience. During the day Lucy and Charles had a long conversation about college life, lectures and entertainments. She was impressed with the culture of the young man. He was capable of conversing intelligently on any subject she was a mind to bring up, in fact she felt her inferiority in his presence.

"Mr. Preston, I wish you might come to our colege and give us a lecture," said Lucy.

"I might give you an address sometime. I am to speak at Kalamazoo college the 15th of December," said Charles.

"That would be fine. I will see that you have an invitation," said Lucy.

The day passed rapidly and late in the afternoon he bade them all good-bye and drove to Tecumseh. Lucy took the first opportunity to hear her grandmother's account of Charles Preston. When she had finished her narrative, Lucy proposed that they drive to church the following Sunday. They agreed to do it.

When they arrived at the church the congregation was singing

"O Love divine, how sweet thou art!
When shall I find my willing heart
All taken up by thee?"

Grandmother never noticed those words [illegible] strange significance.

The young minister announced as his subject, "The Transforming Passion." His text being I John 4:19, "We love, because he first loved us." He told the congregation that the principle of love now existing in millions of human hearts was born of the Heavenly Father. That in Him Love was the ruling passion. Pagons gans hate each ather b x g.gfi gfi gans dread their Gods but Christians hate each other and cultivate violence, Christians love each other and cultivate peace. This Passion Transforms them. The cross of Jesus was the greatest exhibition of love and sacrifice humanity ever witnessed. "God loves" that is Theology, "We Love" That is Religion. "We love because He loved," that is Philosophy. Then they sang for the closing hymn,

"Love Divine all love exceling
Joy of Heaven to earth come down;"

It was a grand discourse. The Truth was so evident, the sentiment so lofty and inspiring that every soul was powerfully impressed.

Judge Stacy, the leading Universalist of the town, shook hands with Dr. Hamilton and said, "That is the best sermon I have heard in this town." Lucy overheard this remark and she thought it must be so, because she had often heard her father say "Judge Stacy, is the ablest man in Lenawee County." Best of all this sermon lodged a conviction in Lucy's mind which resulted in her consecrating her life to God. For a time she forgot the young preacher and thought only of her soul's need, and prayed taht Divine love might be the ruling passion of her life.

That night, when alone in her room, she fell upon her knees and thanked the loving Father for sending his spirit of holy love into her heart. Through all the future years love was the ruling passion with her. On her return to Hillsdale College she forgot what a delcate matter it was to write to a young man of such slight acquaintance and penned him the following letter,

Dear Mr. Preston:

I never had a glimpse of God's masterful love until I listened to your sermon last Sunday. I have been led to see my need and dedicate my life to God. The love which he has inspired in my heart through your discourse will ever be my ruling passion. I know you will be surprised to receive this letter, but I felt that I must tell you.

Truly,
Lucy Worthington.

The young minister was greatly cheered by this letter for so far as he knew Lucy Worthington was his first convert. Alone in his study he fell upon his knees and thanked God. He arose and acknowledged her letter, expressing his sincere gratitude to God that he had been used to help her to a personal experience of the Transforming Passion.

NEW BUILDINGS FOR STATE FAIR

Improvements Will Cost Over $150,000, Says Manager.

COLISEUM WILL SEAT 15,000

Floral Hall, Art, Woman's and Poultry Buildings, New Entrance, Sidewalks and Macadam Roads to Be Constructed During the Summer Months.

Improvements costing a total of more than $150,000 are to be made at the Michigan State Fair Grounds during the summer, and when the 1916 exposition opens for ten days on Sept. 4 the Michigan grounds will be superior to any similar grounds in the United States.

Through the efforts of G. W. Dickinson, general manager of the Michigan State Fair, new buildings will be erected on the grounds, as well as a large new entrance, additional bleachers, a lighting system, concrete sidewalks and macadam roads.

Will Seat Over 15,000.

The coliseum, which will be similar to the coliseum at the Indiana State Fair grounds, Indianapolis, will have a seating capacity of over 15,000. In addition to being used during the State Fair, it will undoubtedly be the meeting place of large conventions and similar gatherings which are not held in Detroit at the present time because of no suitable building. The coliseum will cost about $100,000 and will be constructed north of the Automobile Building, with which it will be connected.

Other buildings which will be constructed during the summer are an Art Building, Floral Hall, Poultry Building as well as a Woman's Building. Work upon the Woman's Building, Art Building and Floral Hall will be commenced at once, and all will be finished by the time the Fair opens. It is probable, however, that the Poultry Building will not be completed until later in the year.

Mr. Dickinson announces that the additional bleachers, which will seat several thousand people, will cost about $4,000 and will be erected for the convenience of many persons who do not want to pay for seats in the grand stand or the present bleachers and will be admitted to the new bleachers for 10 cents.

This will give every one an opportunity to see the speed events and the horse show at a nominal price.

New Entrance to Cost $5,000.

The new entrance to the grounds will cost about $5,000 and is to be located at the southwest corner of the Fair property. Mr. Dickinson says that with the additional entrance, congestion due to automobile traffic will be eliminated.

New sidewalks costing about $4.000 are to be built, as well as macadam roads, and the appearance of the grounds will be generally improved.

"With the new buildings and improvements completed the Michigan State Fair Grounds will provide a wonderful place for the holding of our annual exhibitions," said General Manager Dickinson. "We now have agricultural, dairy, automobile, executive, horticultural and main buildings as well as the machinery hall and grand stand, all of which are large and in good repair. Our horse barns as well as the buildings for the other live stock are being repaired and painted and will be in first class shape for the 1916 Exposition, which will be the greatest Fair of its kind ever held in the middle west.

"We are now making arrangements for many attractions and can assure Michigan residents that the amusement and entertainment features will excel anything brought to the State Fair in the past."

In the Days Before Coal.

People sometimes wonder how their forefathers got on in the days before coal became the staple heater. They fared ill. Wood was the chief commodity in use, both in its natural state and as charcoal, the latter being prepared in the country and suburbs of London and brought into the city in carts, the chief marts for its sale being at Smithfield and Cornhill. By an enactment of Richard II. it was decreed that the price of charcoal should be fixed at tenpence per quarter from Michaelmas to Easter and eightpence per quarter during the remainder of the year, the regulation of its sale, as well as that of firewood, being committed to the mayor and aldermen. Among the poorer folk fern, reeds and stubble served as fuel, and quite a common method of keeping warm was to sit over pots filled with hot water.—London Chronicle.

"A Genuine United Stateser."

If you want to find a genuine United Stateser you'll find him under the Chautauqua tent, says Frank Crane. And he's right. There's a ring of true democracy in the Chautauqua movement. Somehow it puts the emphasis on heart rather than clothes, and class fades in the spotlight of its informality. It brings the good things of life, in art and literature and music, to the feet of the average man and bids him come in his shirt sleeves and enjoy them. And he's doing it in about 5,000 towns and cities of America several millions strong. Your home town Chautauqua is attracting a lot of these real United Statesers. Hadn't you better join 'em?

Wholesome Entertainment.

The time has come when the community must provide all of its people, but especially its young people, with clean, wholesome and inspiring entertainment and instruction. No means is known that has been more universally adopted to accomplish this worthy and necessary end than the Chautauqua.

Good Watch.

Cleaning The Crack

Everybody used to be contented believing the world to be flat.

It takes a long time for human beings to think of things.

No one ever thought to clean out the crack which you have no doubt noticed on the flat side of every coffee bean.

And yet it is the bitter skin enfolded in the crack and around the coffee bean that makes much coffee unpleasant to the taste.

When you grind your own coffee, you grind also the bitter skin and the still more bitter contents of the crack.

Result, more poor coffee.

Your grocer has it at a popular price.

OUR GUARANTEE

Every package of Empire Coffee is fully guaranteed without reservation or restriction, and should the contents, FOR ANY REASON not meet with the approval of the purchaser, it may be returned to your grocer and he will refund the purchase price.

THE NEW WAY TO SPELL ECONOMY—
C-H-A-L-M-E-R-S

Men are buying better and better lawn mowers, and reapers, and printing presses, and gasoline engines and pumps.

Why? Because they find it pays.

Probably there's no better example of this in the case of automobiles than Chalmers cars.

Figures show that over 75% of men who have bought Chalmers cars this year previously owned a $500, $600 or $800 car.

And the great big increase in Chalmers sales (792% in six months) has come from towns just like this.

In the old days Chalmers cars were sold for the most part in towns like New York and Chicago.

You can find Chalmers cars most any time of the day in most any block in such towns even now.

But in the smaller communities Chalmers cars are most numerous today. Because the people in towns like this were quickest to see the value, note the endurance, and observe the wonderful performance.

Particularly of this 3400 r. p. m. Chalmers, which is, in our opinion, the most able car that ever came to this town.

Price $1090 Detroit, a car well worth $1400.

FACTS BY THORTON DIXON

This is the time of [illegible] when political roorbacks may be expected to blossom, in the minds of ward heelers and those who expect or have been promised favors from candidates.

I have at all times treated my rivals with courtesy; but I have not been so treated in return. From various parts of the District I am reliably informed that men interested in a rival candidate are personally abusing and vilifying me. In "wet" districts I am represented as a prohibitionest, in "dry" as a sot; it is said that I have made a stone trust, have defrauded one of my rivals, am a disreputable character and unworthy of confidence. These statements are lies; and the men who are telling them know they are lies.

Although offered a retainer by each side in the "wet" and "dry" campaign in this county I refused both and took no part in the contest. But whatever the people may decide to their will I yield prompt support.

Some years ago I was part owner of a small stone quarry. The France Stone Company of Ohio built at Monroe a quarter million dollar plant against which my little plant could not compete and I leased them my grounds. I have nothing whatever to do in setting the price of their product. I am not a stockholder in their concern. Where I am known anyone will bear witness to my character. I am a trustee and director in the Elkhart Manufacturing Company, The Monroe Piers Company, have been commodore and am a director of the Monroe Yackt Club, have been promoted to be a Director of The First National Bank of Monroe, the oldest, largest and most reliable bank in the county. I am vestryman of Trinity Episcopal church. Were I such a man as my detractor say would these business institutions and this church voluntarily bestow upon me such positions?

These are all campaign lies of the old style personal abuse kind. Ask any man in your county who personally knows me before believing the interested tales of paid workers.

These are facts and if any man can disprove them my check for five hundred dollars ($500.00) is ready to be contributed to any charity in the District. Are the people who tell these stories willing to do the same if they fail to prove their statement.?

Her Trousseau.

Frederick Lemaitre, the celebrated actor, was somewhat parsimonious. When his daughter was about to marry Lemaitre agreed to provide the "dot" and the trousseau. "Dot," it may be observed, is the French equivalent for the English "dower."

When the notary came to complete the contract and was reading the terms Lemaitre said: "The daughter of Frederick Lemaitre has not need of a dot. M. Le Notaire, strike out the dot."

The prospective son-in-law was present, and he had the courage to reply: "The daughter of Frederick Lemaitre can easily clothe herself with the fame of her father. M. Le Notaire, pray strike out the trousseau."

Threshing Coal.

Why do nearly all of the leading threshermen recommend their patrons to buy RED BAND coal? For the simple reason they know the coal that makes the most steam, is the cheapest coal to buy as it lasts so much longer, in many instances goes twice as far on a job. If you doubt this, run a barrel of Red Band, then run a barrel of the ordinary coal you will then realize the great saving.

[illegible] "just as good coal" will do the work of RED BAND as you will be disappointed there is only one RED BAND and we sell it.

It comes in two sizes, either will work all right for threshing:

6 in. LUMP, per ton..................$5.00
3 in. EGG, per ton..................$4.50

If you want cheaper priced coal we have some nice clean lump coal for $3.50 per ton, but if you want the most for your money by all means buy RED BAND.

These prices are undelivered, coal delivered costs more.

BARGAIN DAY

It is an oft repeated question now a days where do the people come from for our Wednesday evening entertainment. It is a fact that every week our streets are packed with people who are [illegible] the fame of the entertainments that are given them, without money and without price.

Wednesday of this week proved no exception and even after the Chautauqua claimed its part of the crowd, there being hardly any standing room left.

The Tipton band furnished the music. The entertainments for the evening were exceptionally good. The trapeze and balancing of Duffy and May being fine, many of the feats being new to most of the audience.

The Russels in the Knife Throwing were wonderful and while it made one shudder yet it had a fascination that it was hard to resist. Said one lady, after the throwing of the battle axes, There "I have had enough" but when her friends found her she was near the front watching every movement.

The leading attraction for next week Aug. 2 will be the automobile feat climbing the stairs to the platform.

Dr. Francis and wife and A. R. Arner motored through from Toledo Tuesday and spent the day with the Misses Lou and Rhoba Arner. The doctor and wife returned at night, Mr. Arner remaining for a few days' visit.

Leon Williamson and family have joined her parents and sister Miss Myrtle Foster at Marble lake where they will stay for a few weeks until Leon has regained his strength as he cis still very weak from his recent accident.

Mrs. C. A. Slayton is expected to arrive sometime Tuesday from California where she has spent several months with her son Percy, but Michigan still has charms for her and we will be glad to welcome her to Tecumseh once more.

Little Mildred Blesing, youngest child of Mr. and Mrs. John Blesing, was taken suddenly ill Wednesday. A doctor was called at once who pronounced it a case of ptomaine poisoning. Prpmpt action brought relief and she in now on the gain.

Mrs. George Routson was called to Hillsdale Saturday by the serious illness of her little 8 year old son, Wilbur who was visiting his uncle there. She found him suffering with appendicitis and he was operated upon at the hospital in that city Sunday. Mr. Routson went over Sunday returning Thursday. He reports the little son as getting along finely but will have to be in the hospital for two weeks at least.

The Chautauqua parade Wednesday was quite a pretty sight. It was led by a number of young girls on gaily decorated bicycles and each miss was bright with yellow bunting sashes and green caps with yellow trimmings. Then came the Tipton band, after which marched girls and boys in fancy costumes, Uncle Sam leading the march. If you want anything to succeed you have only to call on the boys and girls a dnit is done.

Mr. George Hawkes read us a letter from his son Milburn who is on the border with the Detroit company. He said it was very warm there during the middle of the day, but about 4 o'clock it began to be cooler and then they had their drill. Everybody was so kind and good to them, and the Mexicans who are in ElPaso are very quiet and peaceful. Lots of good eats and plenty of ice cold lemonade. Water piped into camp so they sprinkle the grounds twice a day. Personally he had suffered quite a little from vaccination in his right arm, and typhoid preventative in the left, but his whole letter was one of good cheer without a murmur.

THE CHAUTAUQUA

ENTERTAINMENTS SO FAR HAVE BEEN DELIGHTFUL

The first session of the Coit-Alber Chautauqua was on Wednesday afternoon and was some opening number! C. E Brown, the superintendent, was introduced by Dr Hartzog to whose efforts we are indebted mainly for such a splendid week of good things for the doctor has worked early and late, in season and out, "plugging" constantly for Tecumseh to have this Chautauqua.

The first on the program was the [illegible] by Andrew Johnson and really when he got through you didn't know whether to call Johnson a lecturer, entertainer, stoey teller or philosopher. The way he went at some of the faults of the nation, our manner of doing business and passed out good advice, always coated with that laugh and many stories right to the point, was great

"I you are fairly rganized you can steal anything you want. Don't steal a few hens for if you do you are liable to serve time, but make it a hen trust and steal them all and people will take off their hats to you as the great chicken king...Don't try to be a millionaire without a first-class lawyer....Don't leave school for a ten dollar job for you will be a ten dollar man all your days."

The Lauritano Symphony Orchestra of New York City furnished most delightful music both afternoon and evening. The musicians are mostly Italians and bring the exquisite musical charm of their people. The leader Signor Lauritano, has picked his musicians well and the result is a most harmonious collection of instruments and all handled by artists

The singers of the party were Miss Rodier of the Conservatory of St. Cecilia, Italy, and Signor Manno tenor, recently from the Hammerstein Opera Company. They were of the same excellence as the orchestra.

Little Inez Lauritano led the orchestra in place of her father for several selections and is truly wonderful. She can be but six or seven and plays her violin with ease. Naturally she evoked more applause than all the rest.

On Wednesday evening also came the chronophotograph of the home people. That camera man must be nearly omnipotent for otherwise how did he get them all. These brought gales of laughter for apparently some of his victims did not know when they were "took"

Another feature of Wednesday night was an illustrated lecture on "The Making of a Magazine" by Chas. Sumner Crossman. The plant of the Curtis Publishing Co. in "queer, quaint, Quaker Philadelphia" was shown and Mr Crossman told us of it so fluently you could easily see the whole course of the magazine from the big roll of paper until it reaches you. We all have our especial interest; of course Mr. Crossman's lecture appealed to us more than to the majority.

On Thursday afternoon was given a short lecture on "Music, It's Yesterdays and Tomorrows" by Fred Riemann. He illustrated some of the work of the old composers with the Victrola. The lecture was especially interesting to those who make music a study rather than to the average person, yet all good for one to hear.

The Concert Favorites gave the afternoon and evening concerts. The little Miss Andersen with the harp was certainly a great feature. Lorenz Bernhardt Andersen appeared in numbers on violin piano and saxophone, Chas. Cramer Hezen on piccolo, flute and saxophone, while the vocalists were Edna Lee Buxton and John Eberly, both making themselves favorites.

In the latter part of the evening the Boston Comedy Players amused the audience by presenting "Publicity" a comedy yet with a point. It pays to advertize anything from soap to eggs and here it was proven. Everybody laughed and laughed some more, and truly the blues were all driven out

The Junior Chautauqua is proving most successful and the youngsters are putting in a week of it. Miss Little their director, is working hard to entertain the little people and Mr Christ is caring for the boys, taking them swimming, etc.

This is our first year of the Coit-Alber Chautauqua and everyone seems to be more than pleased with their line of entertainment.

A CARD

I wish to express my gratitude ot those who assisted towards the support of the play. "Capt Racket' to the caste who served so faithfully, to Mr. Fred Rosacrans, Guy Belding, Miss Alice Owens, G U. Smith, Eugene Service, Ed. Marks, W. L Coller, Thomas McCann and Miss Edna Taylor all who so cheerfully extended courtesies, to these am I grateful.

BOUND TO OCTOBER TERM OF COURT

Venice Covell was brought over from Adrian jail Tuesday where he had been since his arrest a week ago after his arrest for the stealing of an automobile from the McIntyre—Marsh garage

He was arrainged before Justice Hosmer and after the examination of several witnesses was bound over to the October term of Curcuit Court under a bond of $1000.

So strong is the propensity for stealing that while in the jail in Adrian he stole a watch, a fountain pen and several other articles from his fellow prisoners while they slept. The articles were all found in his possession when the loses were reported to the officers in charge.

"CAPT. RACKETT"

HOME SHOW GREATLY ENJOYED TUESDAY EVENING

We have some very excellent dramatic talent in Tecumseh.

"Boquets" unnumbered have been thrown the various participants in the home talent show, "Capt. Rackett," which was given at the opera house Tuesday evening under the [illegible] the Order of the Eastern Star.

Eva Hamilton Robards had carefully performed her duties at rehearsals and the whole show spoke well of her art.

The cast could not have been more carefully picked, we are certain, and they can never more "hide their lights under a bushel," we know how well they can do and they have steady jobs hereafter in all amateur performances in Tecumseh

Frank Snell, in the title role, was spleedid. He had been sent by his uncle Obidiah Dawson, (Floyd Juckette) to see if a certain Clarice Dalroy (Camilla Hayden) was as beautiful as her picture which he had found. The captain found her charming and married her, writing the old uncle that she was homely, etc. The uncle went to Japan in a rage.

After a year the Rackets visit Mr. and Mrs Tymothy Tolman (Lester Waring and Mildred Boyce). Tolman becomes infatuated with Mrs. Racket and this leads to various heart breaking scenes between the Tolmans. Later Obidiah visits the home and Clarice hears of the letter and the description her husband had given of her. Then things become interesting

All the while Clarice's father (Burton Garlinghouse) keeps breaking in and the Rackets have much ado to keep him from telling all he knows.

The little French maid (Marjorie Rosacrans) is another interest engendering element, stirring up her full share of trouble when she carelessly puts morphine in the old gentleman's brandy and poor old Obidiah does "hoe it down" to keep awake. Little Tootsie Wootsie [Baby Katheryn Whaley) was the sweetest mite imaginable and filled her part with the rest. The waiter from the cafe (Harold Lowry) was not so slow either and in all it was one pretty good show.

Between acts were some excellent features. Seven couples of youngsters gave a beautiful song and drill from "Floradora." They were Mary and Beatrice Barrett, Maxine Wyril, Dorothy Clark, Bernice Austin, Marion Williamson, Doris and Dorothy Marsh, Esther and Clement McClelland, John Bell, John Alton McIntyre, George Becker and Donald Brown.

Another selection was "Blow the Smoke Away" from "The Time, Place and the Girl," with Harold Lowry the bachelor and his dream girls: Lillian Kennedy, Gertrude Peters, Muriel Halladay, Gladys Bowen, Zellah and Zorah Dickinson.

The attendance was not as good as it would have been, had it not been for the very hot weather and the fact that the Chautauqua began the next day. But those who did go certainly felt mauy times repaid for the effort and think a repetition would be far better attended.

RIGHT MERRY CLUB ENTERTAINED

Mr. and Mrs. Will Eccles right royally entertained the Right Merry Club at Willanna cottage at Wamplers Lake Tuesday afternoon and evening. The afternoon was spent in boating swimming and fishing. At seven o'clock a picnic dinner was served on the lawn in front of the cottage.

The out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs Will McGlashan of Buffalo, Ralph Bidwell of California, Miss Mary Hosmer of Freeport, Ill., Miss Bell Tyrone and Mr. Wade of White Plains.

Splendid Accompanying Artists Appear With Leonid Samoloff

VIVIAN HOLT
Mdme. JESSICA SYMONDS
LILIAN ROSEDALE

ARTISTS ASSISTING WITH LEONID SAMOLOFF.

IT is fortunate, indeed, that when Leonid Samoloff, the noted Russian tenor, comes to the Chautauqua he is to be supported by such an excellent ensemble of artists as Miss Vivian Holt, soprano; Mme. Jessica Symonds, violinist, and Miss Lillian Rosedale, pianist. Each of these artists is known most favorably throughout musical America, and is competent to give a satisfactory support to such a superior artist as Samoloff.

Vivian Holt has been heard with the Metropolitan Grand Opera Company, and is a soprano of splendid ability.

Jessica Symonds is not only a violinist of rare power, but a woman of commanding personality and charm, who endears herself to every audience.

Lillian Rosedale is a composer and pianiste of established renown, and as accompanist and piano soloist will add strength to a notable personnel.

If musical reputation can assure success then the appearance of these three splendid artists, with the world famous Samoloff, is destined to stand as the greatest musical event which this community has seen.

Old Folks Saved From Suffering

Mrs. Mary A. Dean, Taunton, Mass., in her 81th year, says: "I thought I was beyond the reach of medicine, but Foley Kidney Pills have proven most beneficial in my case."

Mr. Sam A. Hoover, High Point, N. C., writes: "My kidney trouble was worse at night and I had to get up from five to seven times. Now I do not have to get up at night, and consider myself in a truly normal condition, which I attribute to Foley Kidney Pills, as I have taken nothing else."

Mrs. M. A. Bridges, Robinson, Mass., says: "I suffered from kidney ailments for two years. I commenced taking Foley Kidney Pills ten months ago, and though I am 61 years of age, I feel like a 16-year-old girl."

Foley Kidney Pills are tonic, strengthening and up-building, and restore normal action to the kidneys and to a disordered and painful bladder. They act quickly and contain no dangerous or harmful drugs.

BACKACHE IS DISCOURAGING

But Not So Bad If You Know How to Reach the Cause

Nothing more discouraging than a constant backache. Lame when you awakn, pains pierce you when you bend or lift. It's hard to work or to rest. Backache often indicates bad kidneys. Tecumseh people recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Read this case:

W. C. Witherell, W. Pottawatamie St., Tecumseh, says: "I had acute pains across the small of my back and in my hips. Often, after stooping, a sharp twinge darted through my loins, obliging me to lie down. I was laid up in bed for several days and I believe that the trouble was caused by excessive stooping. When I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills, I got a supply at Wright & Son's Drug store and a few boxes restored me to good health. Since then, whenever I have felt in need of a kidney medicine, I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills and the results have been very pleasing."

AGAIN PRAISES DOAN'S AFTER A LAPSE OF MORE THAN FIVE YEARS, Mr. Witherell said: "I have had no reason to change my high opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills, which I expressed some years ago."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Witherell has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

THOMAS E. WALL
Ann Arbor, Mich.

Candidate for Representative in Congress Second Congressional District, Republican Ticket.

Mr. Wall is a man intimately acquainted with the needs of the District, having been in the postal service of the United States for several years—six of which were spent in the Second District.

Mr. Wall is a firm believer and an ardent advocate o fan adequate preparedness policy for this country, preparedness not for war but for peace.

His views on Americanism can best be expressed by the following: "Let it be borne on the flag under which we rally in every exigency, that we have one country, one constitution, one destiny."

He stands for an equitable revision of the tariff along constructive lines.

He opposes the needless waste of public funds and looks upon government as a business proposition in which the best and more lasting results are to be obtained through the application of business principles.

A square deal to all is his slogan.

Tom Wall can be elected in November, so vote for him at Primary election, August 29th, and it will be appreciated.

PUBLIC ATTENTION!

Owing to the increase in the expense of storing and delivering ice, it will be necessary for us to advance our price to residence customers to 40c per hundred, commencing August 1st We hope our customers will not think this advance unreasonable because we have had numerous chances to sell our ice to outside parties at a much higher price than we would ask here.

HOUSE WIVES TAKE NOTICE

Newport, R I, July—Because they use too much water and two little soap women do not get the same dazzling whiteness in their washed clothes as do the United States Marines, Sergeant Clarence Rhoades, of the Marine Corps told a party of society women visiting the battleship Utah today.

"The eye paining brilliance of our white clothes is due to the fact that we wash with our heads as well as our hands, and we let soap do its proper share of the work.

Just enough water to thoroughly wet the wash is sufficient," the sergeant continued, "and the less water and more soap one uses the whiter the washing will turn out.

The fair visitors seemed greatly impressed with the lesson given them in an art that is dear to every woman's heart.

NEW MILK RECEIVING STATION FOR TECUMSEH

New Building to be Built.

The Eastside Creamery Co. of Detroit have leased a piece of ground of the D, T. & I. R'y Co. near the oil tanks and will erect an ice house and a building 30 x 40 ft., which will be used as a receiving station The building will be erected as soon as plans are completed which will be in a week or two.

The Herald interviewed the representative of the company, C. E. Burr Monday morning. He stated that his company had already commenced buying milk and cream from farmers in this locality and had made a shipment that morning over the D, T & I to Detroit He also stated that farmers would receive top notch, city prices for their product and that his company stood ready to meet any competitive prices

This is a big thing for Lenawee County farmers as the company claim that they are ready to handle all of the milk and cream from this section of the county that can be placed on the market at better prices than the farmers have yet been able to receive.

W. J. Morse is doing the weighing for the company. No local capital is being invested in this undertaking. It is being financed and managed by the Detroit company solely to increase the supply needed for the Detroit market.

This will be welcome news to our farmers and will undoubtedly work out to the mutual benefit of both the farmers and the Eastside Creamery people.

GRANGERS PICNIC

Grangers from Six Counties Meet in Adrian Saturday.

Big Automobile Parade.

It is estimated that there were over 2000 Grangers in Adrian Saturday for the Grange Rally at the Fair Grounds. North, South, East and West a continuous stream of autos and other rigs led into the city. The automobile parade 250 cars was over five miles long.

The guests of honor were National Master Olivar Wilson and State Master John Ketchum.

A picnic dinner was followed by a program of music by the visiting bands and addresses by Grange notables after which sightseeing and visiting completed a big day for the Grangers.

From early morning until nearly noon Saturday, autos were going through town headed for Adrian for the six County Grange Picnic. They were decked with the yellow and the blue, American Flags, sheavess of grain all sorts.

An auto truck with canvas top and sides bore the legend, "Washtenaw Pomona Grange," and "A School out of School," and had a jolly crowd of men and women. On their return trip Mr. and Mrs. Ennis, Mr. Depue and son and daughter from the Depue farm on the Saline road near Ann Arbor stopped in town for a few moments and just in front of the Herald Office favored us with two selections with the fife and drum which of all music wakes the martial spirit best and quickest.

FUNERAL OF PRIVATE EDWARD MARTIN

The body of Private Edward E. Martin of Co. B, 32d Mich. Inft., arrived from ElPaso, Texas, Thursday afternoon and was taken to the home in Brownville.

Friday afternoon the funeral was held at the M. E. church which was crowded to its capacity. The G. A. R., S. of V. and Spanish War Veterans. with a large delegation of The Business Men's Battalion from Adrian were in attendance.

The service was in charge of George Keyser, commander of Beers Post, who made a few introductory remarks, after which Rev. G. W. Jennings gave a sermon taking for his texts: "Greater love has no man than this that he lay down his life for his friend" and "His sun has gone down while it is yet day."

He spoke most feelingly and paid tribute to our boys who have gone to the front to protect their native land and of the one who had given up his life while yet in his early manhood.

The choir sang several selections and at the close of the service the procession formed for the march to the cemetery, led by the flag borne by Color Bearer L. B Wood Next came the Tipton band, the various military organizations of Tecumseh and a squad of thirty of the Adrian Business Men's Battalion.

The active bearers were from the Sons of Veterans: Martin Frayer, Jas. McKinney, A B Harding, C. L. Butrick, H S. Waring and W J. Morse.

A guard of honor from Adrian walked by the hearse. As they approached the grave the companies formed in two lines, the casket and the friends passing through. Rev. Jennings made a few closing remarks and then three volleys were fired over the grave. The Adrian bugler sounded "taps" and the line reformed for the return to the homes of the mourners and the busy scenes of life. And the soldier boy was left to answer the reveille from the Great Commander

RING OUT THE CHEAP; RING IN QUALITY

I asked a shoe man the other day why it was that shoes were so much higher in price than they used to be.

"Shoe leather has gone up," he said. "Most people think that's the reason. But it's only one reason.

"People are buying better shoes than they used to. They want more comfortable shoes. Better fit. They want longer wear and more style. They want some individuality, too."

I thought to myself: Well here's a condition just like the one we are experiencing in the automobile business.

Nearly every 3400 r. p. m. we have sold this year has been to someone who has driven a lower priced car.

I know for myself that it pays to buy better shoes as well as a better car.

But it seems that the great big buying public has the same idea, too.

I'm particularly strong for the 3400 r. p. m. Chalmers because she's got tremendous endurance.

There are now more than 1,000,000 miles of use in owners' hands behind her—and that tells a lot.

Besides the factory writes me that she has a record of service of 99.21 percent perfect.

If you never had a run in her let me know. I want you to get this thrill whether you have any idea of buying or not.

ARMOUR'S BONE FERTILIZER

Has a larger sale around Tecumseh than all other brands combined. There is a reason. WHY?

Armour & Co. is the largest packing house therefore has the largest amount of Blood, Bone and Tankage.

If you buy ARMOURS you put back on the soil what you have sold off, to illustrate, you bury a horse or cow and watch the growth of the crop over the same, ARMOURS does the same for you only over the whole field.

If you wanted a good hearty dinner you would not go [illegible] meat market, then why not do the same for your soil food?

If you want the biggest results for your money by all means buy ARMOURS if you insist upon chemical fertilizer, we have it at $25.00 per ton.

Ask the farmer who has used both; ask him the results of the second crop on the same piece of ground; he is the man who buys Armour's year after year because he gets his money's worth and some more on top of that Place your order at once so we can surely have it for you when you want it.

We have 10 distributing points therefore you can get yours near your home with short haul.

L. E. TEMPLE & CO.

Mr. Farmer:

How are you paying your harvest hands? Have you a wad of bills tucked away in readiness for pay day?

That's unsafe and unnecessary. Open a checking account with us and pay for their services and for other things with checks. You will be better satisfied and so will they.

It costs you nothing to try.

COME TO TECUMSEH WEDNESDAY

We are unable to give the program for Wednesday night's entertainment, but the committee state that Manager Mack has promised good attractions for that night, something that will be equally as good as anything which has been shown here this season. One attraction will be the driving of an auto up a flight of stairs onto the stage. The Tipton band has been secured to furnish the music.

Our Bargain Day's entertainments have been a big success and everyone seems to enjoy them to the utmost. The crowds upon our streets Wednesday evenings have surprised us It was thought that the extremely hot weather would keep many away, but this has not been the case as each Wednesday seems to bring as many, if not more, than the preceding Wednesday. Don't forget the day. You are sure to be well repaid for your trip to Tecumseh and our merchants are sure to give you a hearty welcome

Come to Tecumseh! Trade in Tecumseh! And remember that Tecumseh is the town that is doing things.

Old Folks Saved From Suffering

Mrs. Mary A. Dean, Taunton, Mass., in her 87th year, says: "I thought I was beyond the reach of medicine, but Foley Kidney Pills have proven most beneficial in my case."

Mr. Sam A. Hoover, High Point, N. C., writes: "My kidney trouble was worse at night and I had to get up from five to seven times. Now I do not have to get up at night, and consider myself in a truly normal condition, which I attribute to Foley Kidney Pills, as I have taken nothing else."

Mrs. M. A. Bridges, Robinson, Mass., says: "I suffered from kidney ailments for two years. I commenced taking Foley Kidney Pills ten months ago, and though I am 61 years of age, I feel like a 16-year-old girl."

Foley Kidney Pills are tonic, strengthening and up-building, and restore normal action to the kidneys and to a disordered and painful bladder. They act quickly and contain no dangerous or harmful drugs.

Sold everywhere in Tecumseh adv

BACKACHE IS DISCOURAGING

But Not So Bad If You Know How to Reach the Cause

Nothing more discouraging than a constant backache. Lame when you awakn, pains pierce you when you bend or lift. It's hard to work or to rest. Backache often indicates bad kidneys. Tecumseh people recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Read this case:

W. C. Witherell, W. Pottawatamie St., Tecumseh, says: "I had acute pains across the small of my back [illegible] Often after stooping, a sharp twinge darted through my loins, obliging me to lie down. I was laid up in bed for several days and I believe that the trouble was caused by excessive stooping. When I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills, I got a supply at Wright & Son's Drug store and a few boxes restored me to good health. Since then, whenever I have felt in need of a kidney medicine, I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills and the results have been very pleasing."

AGAIN PRAISES DOAN'S AFTER A LAPSE OF MORE THAN FIVE YEARS, Mr. Witherell said: "I have had no reason to change my high opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills, which I expressed some years ago."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Witherell has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

Prince Albert gives smokers such delight, because

—its flavor is so different and so delightfully good;
—it can't bite your tongue;
—it can't parch your throat;
—you can smoke it as long and as hard as you like without any comeback but real tobacco happiness!

[illegible] Albert package you will read:

"PROCESS PATENTED JULY 30th, 1907"

That means to you a lot of tobacco enjoyment. Prince Albert has always been sold without coupons or premiums. We prefer to give quality!

PRINCE ALBERT

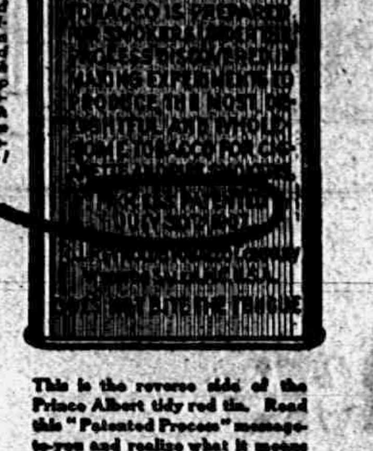
Copyright 1916 by R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co.

YOU'LL find a cheery howdy-do on top o' any matter how much of a stranger you are in the neck of the woods you drop into. For, Prince Albert is right there—at the first place you pass that sells tobacco! The toppy red bag sells for a nickel and the tidy red tin for a dime; then there's the handsome pound and half-pound tin humidors and the pound crystal-glass humidor with sponge-moistener top that keeps the tobacco in such bang-up trim all-the-time!

in goodness and in pipe satisfaction is all we or its enthusiastic friends ever claimed for it!

It answers every smoke desire you or any other man ever had! It is so cool and fragrant and appealing to your smokeappetite that you will get chummy with it in a mighty short time!

Will you invest 5c or 10c to prove out our say-so on the national joy smoke?



This is the reverse side of the Prince Albert tidy red tin. Read this "Patented Process" message-to-you and realize what it means in making Prince Albert so much to your liking.

PAY A LITTLE MORE AND GET A LOT MORE

Don't put a mortgage on your judgment in buying a car.

There's many a man in this county who paid too low a price for his car—and lived to regret the day.

I am not saying anything against low-priced cars. There are a number of good ones. They do the job well.

I am trying to get people to get a bird's-eye view of the motor car situation instead of a worm's-eye view.

Sometimes by paying a hundred or two hundred more you get $500 extra value.

I refer now to the 1917 3400 r.p.m. Chalmers. Here's a car that has been run more than 1,000,000 miles in the hands of owners, yet attained a service record of 99.21% perfect.

That is the mark of a great car. And though it costs, possibly, a little more than you ever paid for a car before—remember that extra little sum gets you from the zone of a fair car to the zone of a great car.

It is not only money in your pocket in the long run, but pride everywhere you drive. There's a pleasant and interesting satisfaction in driving a regular car.

Price $1090 Detroit — really a $1400 value.

A BUSINESS MAN

MERELY ONE OF LINCOLN'S "PLAIN PEOPLE"

For Congress

( ) MARK R. BACON

What a man says when he is not thinking of running for office is generally given more weight than opinions framed with a view of catching the popular vote.

Fifteen years before Mark R. Bacon ever thought of being a candidate for Congress in 1916, he was asked to appear before the Industrial Commission in Washington, D. C., and give his ideas as to Industrial Conditions, Railroad Regluations and Freight Matters. He appeared before the Commission on June 14th, 1900; his arguments cover fourteen pages of the Industrial Commission's Report; and the Commission in their general summing up referred to his arguments on sixteen different pages of its report. Mr. Bacon in speaking of trusts made these remarks:

> "No combination is right that would curtail the reasonable wages now paid for labor or that would be detrimental to the people. No combination is right that is organized to increase the cost of the necessaries of life or against the business interests of the country. No combination is right that would limit the resources of the country or that would have a tendency to stagnate the growth and improvement of the country. No combination is right that has for its object the annihilation of reasonable competition in any branch of business."

At a teachers' banquet seventeen years ago he in his address said: "And may the teaching of our teachers be an inspiration to all—and that inspiration should remind us that all men are equal—that the poor man is the equal of the rich man—that the laborer's heart beats as warm—that its milk of human kindness is as pure—that he is as human, as honest, as respectable as any class of people on earth, be they rich or poor—that clothes nor money do not make the man—that an upright life will be honored and respected by all worthy citizens."

"We must not forget to teach our boys and girls to respect and obey the law, to love their home, to love their work, to love the farm, to love the shop and factory, to love their country and their country's flag—that poverty of itself is no disgrace—that it is no disgrace to work, and that 'Honesty is the best policy'—whether rich or poor,— always remembering that all honesty is not clothed in fine broad cloth or clean linen, but beneath the soiled clothing of the laborer and the farmer, the workingmen of this country, is to be found fountains of pure honesty—jewels of great price."

Mark R. Bacon believes that the Government should be run as a business man would run his business;—economically and on business principles.

Please mark your ballot where it says Mark, that is, where it says ( ) MARK R. BACON. On Tuesday, Aug. 29th.

The Trans-forming Passion

A TALE OF LOWER MICHIGAN

By W. B. Hartzog

CHAPTER V

Wealth or Worth

[illegible] ton received a letter from the President of Hillsdale College asking him to speak every evening in the College Hall to the students during the first week of the New Year. He accepted and began the preparation of his discourses. During the holidays Lucy united with the church and Charles had the pleasure of leading her into the baptismal waters. It was a solemn and impressive scene. As they stood in the baptistry in the presence of the large congregation all hearts were touched at the modesty of the lovely girl and the manliness and faith of the strong young man.

When he arrived at Hillsdale Lucy met him. The president of the college was at the depot also. Lucy introduced them and then asked to be excused. The president entertained Mr. Preston. His discourses from day to day aroused great interest and the College Hall was filled with students and citizens.

On Tuesday Mr. Preston called on Lucy and they had a delightful visit in the college parlor. The following day they enjoyed a long walk across the city. On Saturday when they bade each other good-bye at the depot.

Charles said, "Miss Worthington, I would enjoy keeping up a correspondence with you, with your permission I will write you on my return home."

With a look that Charles Preston never forgot to his dying day, Lucy said, "Mr. Preston I will welcome your letters."

There was a frequent exchange of letters during the next five months and it is difficult to say which one enjoyed them most. In June Lucy returned home. The following week Charles visited the Worthington home. They spent the day roaming through the woods and boating on the beautiful lake on whose bosom many an Indian maiden had been wooed before the white man made his appearance in the land. Their evident fondness for each other was a source of pleasure to her parents and especially to her grandmother.

Not long after this Charles received a letter from Mr. and Mrs. Burke inviting him to visit them. He accepted the invitation. He arrived in Detroit about four o'clock and went directly to Mr. Burke's office. They had a pleasant visit, Mr. Burke being especially interested in hearing of his work with the Tecumseh church.

"Well, we will take the car and go out to our home now," said Mr. Burke.

"I am ready for I am anxious to see mother," said Charles.

"By the way," said Mr. Burke, "I will have the pleasure of introducing you to a very gracious young lady who is visiting us, Miss Bertha Deviling, of Cleveland, Ohio. Her father is wealthy being a large stockholder in the Lake Shore Railway Company. She is the only child. She is a graduate of Oberlin college.

"I will take pleasure in meeting her. I am on the hunt of just such a girl," said Charles jokingly.

"My I am so glad Charles is coming to-day, I have been just sick to see him. He hasn't been here for months. This is his picture," said Mrs. uBrke, handing Miss Deviling a photograph.

"He certainly is a fine looking young man. What is his business?" inquired Miss Deviling.

"He is a minister and is now pastor of the Baptist church at Tecumseh," said Mrs. Burke. "There they come now. Excuse me, Miss Deviling." And she hurried into the hall and welcomed him. Leading him into the parlor she introduced him to Miss Deviling. The evening was spent in delightful conversation. Miss Deviling proved to be clever and entertaining. Charles had long desired to visit Oberlin College. So he took this opportunity to ask many questions about the institution and about its distinguished president, Charles G. Finny. Her replies were luminous and informing. Miss Deviling was well educated, possessed a strong personality, a splendid physique, a wealth of dark hair and searching black eyes. A first class student of human nature would have sized her up in one sentence, "winsome but wicked." She had many admirers but had never had time to fall in love. If she did fall in love, woe be it to her rivals. She was well named, Deviling.

That night when she retired she was restless and sleepless. Charles had made a powerful impression on her. He was her ideal of what a man should be.

Said she, "I must win him. I wonder what impression I have made on him, they say first impressions are lasting."

Under the same roof Charles was sleeping soundly, and dreaming of boating with Lucy on Sand lake. He thought they saw a dark-haired woman standing on the shore looking at them and he heard Lucy say, "Charley, let us row to the other side."

During the four days he spent at the Bruke home, Charles and Miss Deviling saw much of each other. He rather enjoyed her presence, she was so interesting and her physical charms appealed to him. Once he said to himself, "I wish I had never met Lucy."

Early in the morning of the fourth day Miss Deviling expressed a desire to go on an excursion up the Detroit river. Accordingly Mrs. Burke, Miss Deviling and Charles went aboard. Mrs. Burke found a friend and excused herself.

"Isn't this a charming summer morning?" said Miss Deviling.

"It certainly is," said Charles.

"Have you ever been in Cleveland, Mr. Preston?" asked Miss Deviling.

"No, I have never had the pleasure of visiting that city. I have heard so much about it, I think I would enjoy a visit there," said Charles.

"Mr. Preston, I would be delighted to have you come to our home and when you come make arrangements to stay a long time. When do you have a vacation?" she inquired.

Charles replied that it would be in August.

"Then promise me that you will visit us," said Miss Deviling.

"Let me see," said Charles, taking a diary from his pocket, "August comes in on Monday this year."

"That comes just right. You can leave for Cleveland on Monday morning and be sure and arrange to stay a long time," said she.

As she said this she looked straight into his eyes. Charles never had seen such a display of passion. He refused her. That evening when he was about to leave, she slipped a sealed envelope into his pocket and bade him an affectionate good-bye.

After the train left the city, Charles opened the envelope. In it was one hundred dollars in gold and this brief note:

"I have had more than a hundred dollars worth of pleasure this week. Think of the good time we will have in August.-Bertha."

It was days before the spell of her presence and passion was broken. Charles now had something to think about. He had promised Miss Deviling to visit her in August. What would it lead to? What would Lucy think of him if she knew it? Charles was never deceitful, his word was out and he must go. He was certain as to Lucy's worth. Bertha was wealthy but mysterious. He made up his mind that if he went to Cleveland, he would make no further promises.

He saw Lucy the following Sunday. She asked him if he had a good time in Detroit.

He said, "Yes, but I wish I had stayed out at Sand lake." He told the truth.

Lucy was down to the Sunday-school picnic on Friday of that week. "I hear you are going to have a vacation in August. If you like it at Sand lake so well, you had better come up and spend the month with us," she said.

"Lucy, I will do it. I will be there the eighth day of August and stay until the first of September. I am going to Cleveland for a few days the first week in August, then I will come direct to Adrian on the eighth," said he.

"Then I will meet you and bring you over to our place," said she.

Lucy was supremely happy. Charles was unhappy and wished he would get sick on the last day of July and remain sick for a week. He condemned himself and said he deserved to be sick for a month. He wished he had never gone to Detroit. He wished it a thousand times. Finally in his desperation he made up his mind to write to Miss Deviling and positively refuse to go. Accordingly he sent her the following letter:

Miss Bertha Deviling:

I am troubled over the promise I made to visit you at Cleveland in August. Your kindness and beauty I acknowledge but I cannot, I must not do it. I will have to ask you to excuse me. Enclosed you will find the $100.00 in gold which you gave me the day I left Detroit. I do this in the interest of honesty and honor.

Sincerely,
Charles H. Preston.

The following Sunday he saw Lucy in the congregation and during the interim between the preaching service and the Sunday-school, he told her that he had decided not to go to Cleveland and would go to Sand lake with her after the evening service on the last day of July.

During the week he received a letter from Miss Deviling expressing her surprise at his letter and pleading with him to reconsider his decision. In his reply he stated that it would not be fair to her for him to do so. This led her to the conclusion that here was a woman in her way. He did not hear from her after that and congratulated himself that his troubles were at an end, but he misjudged her. His troubles were about to begin.

PETROGRAD MENACED BY ANARCHISTIC FIRE

Bridge, Large Steamers and Gun Works Destroyed.

BERLIN — Reports of a great conflagration at Petrograd, in which a bridge across the River Neva, twelve large steamers, including several trans-Atlantic liner, and the Putiloff gun works and other establishments were destroyed, are printed in the Lokal Anzeiger. In its account of the fire the newspaper says:

"On Tuesday the wooden palace bridge across the Neva took fire at several places. Immediately flaming pontoons drifted to Vassili Ostrov (Basil Island), where a huge fire broke out, and also to the port where twelve large steamers, including several trans-Atlantic liners, a floating dock, the Putiloff works and other establishments took fire.

"The police suspect that the conflagration was the work of anarchists, who planned to burn all public buildings being used for military purposes."

Frank, the eighteen-year-old son of William Garrow, of Cadillac, was run over and killed by a Grand Rapids & Indiana passenger train. The young man was deaf and was walking on the tracks.

FIRE ALARM

There are many ways of announcing the arrival of a new baby in the home, by the fond parents by announcement cards by the mother by passing out of box of cigars by the father, but Dale Hodges took a novel way to announce the arrival of Jean Eleanor, calling out the fire department Tuesday p m who rushed to the house in fine order.

Some rubbish had been fired in the back yard, and soon ran into the dry grass, in close proximity to the surrounding buildings. However prompt work by Mr Hodges and the neighbors saved the situation and when the department arrived all danger was over.

Owing to conditions prevailing in the house occasioned by the arrival of the baby the night before. The neighbors were quite anxious and one lady had the misfortune to stub her toe and sustained a badly bruised nose. However all's well that ends well.

ALBERT E. SLEEPER

OF BAD AXE, FOR GOVERNOR

Because

He's a Michigan man, grown from a New England boy.

He has western vision and strength to do big things; and

Yankee common sense and thrift.

Where he's known he is the trusted friend and advisor of the community.

If you want to know about him, ask the boys he's helped through school, the people whose homes he's saved from foreclosure, the business men he's started—and those he's carried through financial troubles.

They are as one for "Uncle Bert"—24 hours a day. Ask them.

Also remember he cleaned up the Glazier mess in the State Treasury.

He kept each dollar where it belonged.

He made the depository banks give bonds to secure our money.

He issued public statements, so you and I could tell what money we had in Lansing.

The people of the "Thumb Country" are for Sleeper, not because he lives there, but because they know the man, his friendliness, his common sense, his integrity, his ability.

Vote for him Aug. 29th.

You will be glad you did when you know him—[Besides, he's a winner.]

EMORY B. ROOT

Candidate for Republican Nomination

FOR COUNTY CLERK

Emory B Root of Morenci, who has served Seneca township three years as supervisor and also as deputy sheriff for a number of years is well qualified for the office of County Clerk and he is deserving of a handsome recognition from his party in the primaries August 29.

Mr. Root is an energetic young man, has an eye for business, which the people of Morenci and Seneca township learned shortly after he took up his permanent residence in Morenci. He began his career as a public servant by being elected as a member of the village council shortly after his arrival in Morenci, and his services have been such that he was retained on the board.

His township he has served three years as supervisor and his colleagues on the county board soon recognized his ability. As deputy sheriff he has done his duty fearlessly and law-breakers learned to respect his prowess.

Mr. Root is particularly well qualified to serve the county in the capacity of clerk and there is no doubt that he will receive a large vote at the primaries. At the November election the opposition party will find him a strong candidate and one hard to beat at the polls. adv

Eugene Cosestino, aged 28, of Chicago, was drowned at Flint while trying, it is said, to escape from the police after an altercation in a restaurant during which a companion shot at a waiter. BRITISH RECOVER APPAM

U. S. Court Holds German Can't Bring In American Waters.

NORFOLK, VA. — Federal Judge Waddell decided that the captured British liner Appam should be restored to its former British owners. The decision is against the German prize crew which captured the vessel and brought it here. The case will be carried to the supreme court by the German prize crew.

The court held the German government lost all legal claim to the Appam and its cargo as prizes of war when Lieutenant Berg and his prize crew on Feb. 1 last brought them into the neutral waters of Hampton roads with the intention of "laying up" the vessel indefinitely.

The peach crop this season will be considerably smaller than last year, but the farmers of Michigan confidently look for a more profitable summer in the disposal of this fruit, as every indication points to a far better price for the product than was quoted a year ago.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

By local application as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by ctaarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Cattarh Cure. Send for circular, free.

If you buy ARMOURS you put back on the soil what you have sold off, to illustrate, you bury a horse or cow and watch the growth of the crop over the same, AR- [illegible]

If you wanted a good hearty dinner you would not go to the drug store for some chemical, you would go to the meat market, then why not do the same for your soil food?

If you want the biggest results for your money by all means buy ARMOURS if you insist upon chemical fertilizer, we have it at $25.00 per ton.

Ask the farmer who has used both; ask him the results of the second crop on the same piece of ground; he is the man who buys Armour's year after year because he gets his money's worth and some more on top of that.

Place your order at once so we can surely have it for you when you want it.

We have 10 distributing points therefore you can get yours near your home with short haul.

BARGAIN DAY

Matinee in the Afternoon — Band [illegible] the Evening

5000 PRESENT

One of the largest crowds that have yet visited Tecumseh this season was that of Wednesday evening August 2

A good crowd was present in the afternoon for the matinee, in fact it was the largest ever to attend a matinee in Tecumseh ever reported, it being estimated that there were 1200 on the ground

The day was a good one for the horses, and the track record was broken in the third event, "The free for all pace" when Susie Pachin driven by Henderson clipped off a fast mile in 2.12¼ The events by heats wer e as follows.

CLASS B

2-Gerthaline, Davis	1 1 1
1-Tuxedo King, R. Terry	2 2-2
3-McKinney Bond, Service	3-3 3
5-R. F. D , Ross Phelan	4 4-5
4 McCann boy, Homer Marslr	5 5-4
6-Queen, Ousterhout	Dead

Time, 1.12¼, 1.14¼, 1.18¼.

CLASS A, Slow Mile

2-Belle Medium, Henderson	2-1-1-1
1-Golden Jim, Geo. Anderson	1-2-3-4
3-Gov. Tom Marshall, Wm Stark	4-4-2 2
4-John D., Snell	3 3 4-3

Time, 2.23¼, 2 24¼, 2 24¼, 5.23¼.

FREE FOR ALL PACE

5-Susie Patchin, Henderson	1-1-2-1
1-Donald S., Smith	3-3-1-2
4-Rex, Bert Service	2 2 3 3
3-Libbie Wood, Myers	4-4 4-4
2-C. O. D , Mead	Drawn

Time, 2 19¼, 2 12¼, 2.20¼, 2.24¼.

RUNNING RACE

Irish Jim, Otis	1-1
Red Boy, Bradle	2-2

Time, 56¼. 54¼.

Starter—Robt. Elliott

Timers—Orville Brisbin, Albert Deming

Judges—John McIntyre, Thos Mc Cann, Geo. Lancaster.

In the first race and first heat Queen a horse owned by Vern Ousterhout of Britton dropped dead while coming down the back stretch.

The start was a poor one and starter Elliott rang for the horses to go back for a new start, but someone in the crowd yelled "go" and the driver thinking it the signal started round the track as the horses rounded the curve and straightened out for the back stretch

The Ousterhout horse was seen to shy and rear upon its haunches losing its balance and falling backward They were unable to get it upon its feet, the horse dying soon after. It was thought it was struck by another horse and in falling bursted a blood vessel. The horse was a colt and valued by its owner at $300. The sulky was somewhat broken up, Ousterhout escaping with only a slight bruise on his hip.

The evening performance commenced on schedule time, and perhaps the largest crowd that we have had were here to witness the attractions.

It is estimated that there were 700 automobiles and a crowd of 5000 people.

The down town portion of the village was a mass of people and rigs. The Tipton band furnished music for the evening. The first attraction was Carson the juggler. The second the Haseltines in their barrel jumping act and third Foli the heavy juggler.

Following these acts State Agent Bastion who is handling the Metz cars drove his car up a flight of Stairs leading from the ground to the platform.

The program was repeated. The best act on the program was the heavy juggling by Foli who pulled off some very good work.

The traffic committee had a busy time of it for half an hour after the entertainment in directing the autos as they passed off the street

It is quite remarkable that there has not been an accident worthy of mention since our entertainments commenced which fact is due to the efficiency of the Committee in Charge.

It was midnight before the last of our visitors left for home.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Kies and son Joe have been spending the past week at Sand Lake. Mr. Kies returned to his home in Elkhart Thursday.

Dr. and Mrs. Hendershott are entertaining their daughter Vveia who is home from her school work in Detroit.

Born, Tuesday, August 1st, 1916, to Mr. and Mrs. W. Becker, a son.

Born, Tuesday, August 1st, 1916, to Mr, and Mrs. James Marsh, a daughter.

Mr. Hand visits 26 herds of cattle during the month, testing the milk for production, keeping a record of cost and being able at the close of the year to show which animal is the profit producing one and which ones should be weeded from each herd.—Onsted News.

BUSINESS MEN'S BANQUET

Monthly Meeting Held at Sand Lake Thursday Evening

The regular monthly meeting and banquet of the Tecumseh business men was held at Holel Putnam, Sand Lake, Thursday evening. Covers were laid for 100 and a fine chicken dinner was served at 7-30 o'clock.

The business men had for their guests about 40 farmers who live in this vicinity, also representatives of the East Side Creamery Company of Detroit, General Passenger Agent Geo. M. Henry, of the [illegible] and Inspector Chilson of Detroit, head of the Dairy and Milk Department of the Detroit Board of Health.

We heard many favorable comments on the excellence of the spread and the service given. After the dinner Mr. F. S. Anderson called the meeting to order and asked that a chairman be selected. Mr. Chas. Burridge was chosen chairman and John Gaston secretary.

Chairman Burridge in a very pleasing manner presented the object of the meeting and called on various ones to address the meeting taking for their subject "Our Bargain Day Entertainments."

It was the unanimous opinion that they had been a big success and a general sentiment prevailed that they be continued. There was some discussion as to whether or not the afternoon program should be put back on. It was decided to leave it in the hands of the committee in charge and they to continue the afternoon attraction when the weather would permit.

The question of continuing the Wednesday attractions past the 13 weeks agreed upon by the merchants was discussed and a motion was made and supported that they be continued longer than the 13 weeks and that the matter be left in the hands of the committee, that the attractions should be carried so long as the interest continued and the weather would permit.

Chairman Burridge then took up the Creamery proposition next and called on General Freight Agent Henry to make a few remarks.

Mr. Henry went into the matter in detail and spoke for General Manager Roggeband of the East Side Creamery, who because of a decided foreign accent having recently come to this country from Holland refrained from addressing the meeting.

Mr. Henrys remarks were of great interest to our business men and to the farmers present. Mr. Henry touched on the improvements his company had made to their road and improvements which they hoped to make which would benefit Tecumseh people and the farmer living in this community. He stated that the East Side Creamery of Detroit was a growing concern and were one of the largest in the City of Detroit, financially able to take on any additional business that they deemed advisable He declared that it would work out to the mutual advantage of all interested, farmer, railroad, creamery and to this Village.

Next to speak was Inspector Chilson of Detroit who told of the work of his department. He said the idea was broad cast that he and his department workers were detectives spying on the farmers, etc. The object of his department was more along the lines of Co-operation. They wanted to co-operate with the farmer to show him how to feed their cows, prepare their milk so it would pass inspection and b eaccepted in the City Market and how to fit up their barns so as to make them sanitary. He thought if the farmers would co-operate with them along these lines they would be dollars ahead at the end of year.

Dr. Hartzog gave a report on the Chautauqua stating that the Chautauqua cost the people of Tecumseh about $840.00 against $1100.00 a year ago, $750.00 worth of tickets were sold this year. The question of having one for next season was left open Dr. Hartzog expressing his opinion that we should put it on again. He had the names of about 18 who expressed themselves willing to guarantee the Chautauqua for next season most of these being farmers.

The trip was made by autos and the party reached home about 11:30 o'clock. It was on eof the most pleasant meetings which has yet been held.

REUNION

Culbertson School Disrtict August 1st, 1196, 250 Present

Tuesday afternoo August 1 1916 was held a reunion of the Culbertson School District with about 250 present of the old teachers and pupils and residents of the district, coming from the East and the West to join in the good time.

The men of the District had been busy several days in preparing the grounds putting up a large tent and [illegible] one. A bountiful picnic dinner was served.

After this a very entertaining program was given.

Singing of "America" by all.

"Welcome"—Fred Goheen chairman of the day.

Greetings from Absentees—Mrs. Jennie Waring. From over a hundred invitations sent out. She had received many regrets but a good number were present.

A paper by John Boyce on the "Culbertson District," was full of interest. He gave the history of the district from the time the first schoolhouse was built n the woods to the present tim e.

Reminescences by Miss Julia Hough were well worth listening too.

Mrs. Dresser (Hattie Moon) told of "Some things we used to do" which were extremely funny.

The singing of the Multiplication Table reminded the "children" of the olden time,

Singing, "Auld lang Syne" was followed by a paper by Miss Nannie Kyle on, "My Pupils Who have made Good".

There were many in the seven years of Miss Kyle's work in the district who had made good, not just in wealth but n life's battles for the right.

Remarks followed by Mr. Bonnelli Mrs B. Coller, F. M Goheen. Arthur Hall, Mrs Sylvia Davidson, John Kishpaugh, Miner Davidson, James Cupples and others.

Those from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Weed and daughter Bessie of Battle Creek, J. P. Bonnell, Ft. Wayne, Ind., Albert Boyce, New York,, Mr and Mrs. John Kishpaugh, Weston , Mr. and Mrs. B. Coller, Detroit , Mrs Dresser, Litchfield , Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hall, Toledo., Fremont Goheen and family, Eaton Rapids Mr and Mrs Saunders and family of Lansing, Miss Ella Miller, Detroit,, A, D Macham and wife, Adrian., Thos Butler and sister and Raynor Benedict and wife, Britton , Mrs. Peter Waldron Detroit , Agnes Kehoe, Toledo . Mrs, Hattie Robison, Saline.

In one group who ate dinner together were seven ladies whose combined age was 599 years

An organization was formed and the officers of the present time were re-elected

President—Fred Goheen

Secretary and treasurer—John Boyce

Corresponding sacretary—Mrs. Jennie Waring

LOST—A CHILD'S CART

Not many days ago a certain man in town purchased a cart for his children, and took it home, where it was much admired. Later the cart was missing, and the good wife telephoned to her husband to know if he had put it away, or knew of its whereabouts but he knew nothing about it. A search began, not finding it, he notified Dept J B Smith.

Late in the afternon the cart was discovered in the front yard, and it was thought whoever took it had heard of John and didn't wish to be caught.

It developed later, that a neighbor woman, wishing to carry some packages from one house to another saw the cart standing idle, and knowing how willing her neighbor would be to loan it to her took it and after her work was done returned it safe and sound and as silently as she had taken it.

Old Folks Saved From Suffering

Mrs. Mary A. Dean, Taunton, Mass., in her 87th year, says: "I thought I was beyond the reach of medicine, but Foley Kidney Pills have proven most beneficial in my case."

Mr. Sam A. Hoover, High Point, N. C., writes: "My kidney trouble was worse at night and I had to get up from five to seven times. Now I do not have to get up at night, and consider myself in a truly normal condition, which I attribute to Foley Kidney Pills, as I have taken nothing else."

Mrs. M. A. Bridges, Robinson, Mass., says: "I suffered from kidney ailments for two years. I commenced taking Foley Kidney Pills ten months ago, and though I am 61 years of age, I feel like a 16-year-old girl."

Foley Kidney Pills are tonic, strengthening and up-building, and restore normal action to the kidneys and to a disordered and painful bladder. They act quickly and contain no dangerous or harmful drugs.

BACKACHE IS DISCOURAGING

But Not So Bad If You Know How to Reach the Cause

Nothing more discouraging than a constant backache. Lame when you awakn, pains pierce you when you bend or lift. It's hard to work or to rest. Backache often indicates bad kidneys. Tecumseh people recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Read this case:

W. C. Witherell, W. Pottawatamie St., Tecumseh, says: "I had acute [illegible] and in my hips. Often, after stooping, a sharp twinge darted through my loins, obliging me to lie down. I was laid up in bed for several days and I believe that the trouble was caused by excessive stooping. When I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills, I got a supply at Wright & Son's Drug store and a few boxes restored me to good health. Since then, whenever I have felt in need of a kidney medicine, I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills and the results have been very pleasing."

FRANCE APPEALS TO WORLD

Declares Germans Take Citizens from Homes to Work in Fields.

PARIS — The French government has formally appealed to the sentiments of justice and humanity of the neutral countries and public opinion in all nations in behalf of the inhabitants of the invaded cities of northern France, who, the appeal says, have been taken from their homes and transported to other regions, where they are compelled to work in the fields. Through Spain, acting as intermediary, France already had protested to Germany, but the protest was unheeded.

Germany, according to the appeal, attempts to justify the measures taken by her because of the attitude of Great Britain in rendering more and more difficult the feeding of her population.

Exports to Russia on Big Increase.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Exports to Russia from the United States reached a value of $28,000,000 the first three months of this year, as compared with less than $1,040,000 the same period last year, the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce reports.

A GENERAL SURVEY OF THE WAR.

Tuesday, July 25—Gains by the Russians in the Riga sector, where the broke the German line on a thirty-mile front, and a further advance south of Derestehk, Volhynia, where they tore a new gap in General von Linsingen's line, were reported by the Russian war office.

North of Pozieres the British and Australian troops made further gains, as well as in the village itself, while south of Estrees the French straightened and strengthened their lines by seizing a group of strongly fortified houses.

It is believed in diplomatic circles at Washington that the submarine merchantman Bremen, sister ship of the Deutschland, has been destroyed by British war vessels or that some accident has happened to her.

Wednesday, July 26.—The Russians captured Erzingan a strong Turkish fortress and military base in Asia Minor; Moslems are now driven from Armenia.

Pozieres, a strongly fortified post of the German defensive against General Haig's drive in the Somme region, fell to the British.

Russians pushed the Teutons back in the campaign for Kovel and Lemberg; Germans checked Slav offensive in north.

Thursday, July 27.—British infantry continued to batter the German lines in the Somme sector.

An Austrian withdrawal before superior Russian pressure north of Brody, in northeastern Galicia, is announced by the Austro-Hungarian army headquarteds in its report of July 26.

In the battle on Tuesday on the Russian western front, 6,250 Teutons were taken prisoner, says the official statement issued by the Russian war department. The Russians also captured five guns and twenty-two machine guns.

Friday, July 28—The town of Brody, key to Lemberg, has been occupied by Russian troops. The city was found in flames.

Austro-German forces have been driven from the line of the Rivers Slonevka and Boldurovka in southern Volhynia. Berlin admits a retirement in this sector. The Russian forces have also broken the entire Austro-German line west of Lutsk, according to a Reuter dispatch from Petrograd The Austro-Germans were routed. The Russians captured 9,000 men, including two generals.

The British gained three positions in Picardy—cleaning the Germans from Longueval and Delville woods and gaining further positions about Pozieres.

Russ soldiers in France captured a German trench in Champagne.

Saturday, July 29.—The Russians have advanced on the whole Kovel-Brody line, threatening big rail centers. The Slavs drove the Austrians back on Stanislau in southern Galicia. The Teutons lost over 20,000 prisoners. Since the Russ offensive began, Petrograd reports that 350,000 prisoners have been taken.

The British repelled violent German counter attacks in the Somme sector with heavy losses to the Teutons. London reports continued progress.

Austrians raided Italian ports on the Adriatic. Five persons were killed and many maimed. Thrilling air battles on the French front are reported.

Anger in England over the Fryatt case grows when it was learned the kaiser gave his O. K. to the execution. Reprisals may be ordered.

RUSSIANS BREAK TEUTONIC LINES

Slavs Victorious South of Brody Along Sereth River.

SIX MORE VILLAGES CAPTURED

Teutons Lose 3,000 Prisoners in New Russian Smash—Entire Ridge Commanding Positions in Czar's Hands. Russ Also Defeat Turks in Caucasus.

Petrograd, Aug. 7.—Russian attacks along the Sereth and Graberka rivers, south of Brody, in northern Galicia, broke the Teutonic resistance and resulted in the capture by the Russians of six villages and the entire ridge along which they are located, according to a war office announcement. More than 3,000 prisoners were taken.

"Western front—South of Brody, on the banks of the rivers Graberka and Sereth, abstinate fighting continued during the whole day for the possession of villages and heights. The enemy offered determined resistance and made several counter attacks. In the streets of the villages fierce fighting took place and it was necessary to drive the enemy out from house to house.

Capture 3,000 Prisoners.

"Our attack was crowned with success, all counter attacks of the enemy being repulsed and his resistance broken. Our troops have taken the villages of Zvyjin, Ratische, Tchistopady, Meldzigory, Gnidava and Zalvoce and the entire ridge of heights between them.

"One of out gallant Cossack regiments made a cavalry attack on an enemy infantry battery to the southwest. In these engagements ninety-five officers and more than 3,000 men were taken prisoner.

"In the region of Dora, Yaremche and Tablonitsa, on the River Pruth, to the south of Delatyn, the enemy took the offensive, but was brought to a standstill by our fire.

"Caucasus front: In the basin of the River Kialkit-Chia our troops continued their offensive and wrested new positions from the enemy which in some places were protected by five lines of trenches. They took prisoner seven officers, including the commander of the Fifty-second regiment, and 108 Askaris. They also captured four machine guns. Enemy counter attacks were repulsed.

Take Two Trench Lines.

"To the south of Erzingan we captured two lines of trenches, four officers, fifty Askaris and two machine guns. The enemy suffered severe losses.

"In the region west of the village of Ognut we advanced several versts and captured two heights.

"In the region of Mush and Bitlis the enemy assumed the offensive, but is being held by our fire.

"In the Black sea our torpedo boats destroyed forty-two small sailing craft off Kerasun and bombarded boats and store houses at Samsun."

Berlin Admits Russ Gain.

London, Aug. 7.—The Berlin official report admits that the Russians have captured the western bank of the Sereth river, as was stated in the Petrograd report.

The successes of the Germans on the Stokhod are continuing, according to the Berlin statement, and Russian counter attacks repulsed. Teuton successes in the Carpathians also are claimed.

WOULD EXTEND INCOME TAX

Senate Committee Votes to Include $2,000 for Single Persons.

Washington, Aug. 7.—The Democratic members of the senate committee on finance voted by a narrow margin to lower the exemptions under the income tax law so that the tax will be imposed hereafter on incomes of $2,000 and over in the case of single men and $3,000 and over in the case of heads of families.

Member of the committee said afterward that this result probably would not stand.

OPPOSE WEST INDIES SALE

Part of Danish Newspapers Against Transfer to United States.

Copenhagen, Aug. 7.—A number of provincial papers, organs of the Left party, are against the sale to the United States of the Danish West Indies.

Some of the Left party's members of the parliament also are opposed to the sale, but owing to the fact that the Left party favored the sale in 1902 it is expected a majority of the party will indorse it.

Has Pancho Dead Again.

El Paso, Tex., Aug. 7.—Francisco Villa, wounded in the right side in a skirmish with the troops of General Matias Ramos at Hacienda San Juan, Durango, July 16, ordered his men to scatter to save themselves and then committed suicide after he had been pursued into the nearby foothills, according to a story printed in La Radical, a newspaper of Torreon, July 29, a copy of which reached here.

RODENBERG SMELLS A RAT

Illinoisan Sees Relation in Dodge Visit to Lansing and Embargo Lifting.

Washington, Aug. 7.—A resolution demanding an investigation of a visit paid by Cleveland H. Dodge, New York millionaire, on Secretary Lansing a few days after the Parral battle was introduced in the house by Representative Rodenberg, Republican.

Representative Rodenberg charged that the day after Dodge called on Lansing the secretary of state announced the arms embargo had been raised and that General Carranza would be allowed to import 1,000,000 leged, is a member of the Phelps-Dodge company, which, he stated, is interested in small arms manufacture.

Dexter Section Hand Killed.

Dexter, Aug. 7.—Because some cars had been derailed at Barton dam, just west of Ann Arbor, blocking the eastbound track, Charles Hoffmire, fifty-six years old, was killed walking on the west-bound track after having worked as a section hand for twenty-five years.

Fifth Heat Victim.

Mt Clemens, Aug. 7.—Another heat victim died at the Wissington hospital. Bartholomew Kohler, seventy-two years old, was overcome a week ago at his home. It is the fifth death in the city due to the recent hot weather.

State Approves Lake Harbor.

Muskegon, Aug. 7.—The first of the Muskegon county summer resorts to be inspected by the state authorities, Lake Harbor, has just been approved. Conditions were found good although over 5,000 resorters are guests of hotels about the lake.

Drinks Poison for Liquor; Dies.

Kalamazoo, Aug. 7.—Officers were notified that Anthony Pulmantier, fifty years old, was dead in Alamo township as a result of drinking Paris green. The man thought he was drinking whisky.

WILSON CIRCLES SEE RAIL PEACE

Think Strike of 400,000 Will Be Averted.

BOTH SIDES ARE CONCILIATORY

Representative of Federal Mediation Board After Conferences Makes Report—Union Men Think Peril of Congressional Action Aids Cause. Hope for Street Car Settlement.

Washington, Aug. 7.—There is an optimistic feeling in administration circles that plans are developing to avert the great railroad strike that would tie up the interstate commerce of the country.

This feeling is based on favorable reports received from Federal Commissioner Hanger of the board of mediation and conciliation, who is in New York conferring with the railroad managers and the heads of the labor unions.

General Conference Holds Key.

The issues in the dispute between the managers and the railroad unions affecting 400,000 employes and 225 roads, will be brought to a head at a general conference to be held in New York between their representatives.

In the meantime Commissioner Hanger is working with influential leaders on each side along some line of arbitration that may prove acceptable should no agreement be reached at the general conference.

Union Men Think Strike Averted.

Prominent union labor men here also incline to the belief that there will be no general strike, and that some way will be found to adjust the differences pending further negotiations for a settlement of the wage and hour of labor questions raised by the railroad employes. They think the most powerful factor to this end will be the fear of federal interference.

Hope for Car Strike End.

New York, Aug. 7.—Following the arrival of William B. Wilson, secretary of labor, it was rumored that a settlement of the street car strike would be reached within seventy-two hours.

This settlement involves recognition of the union, it is stated. Questions of wages and working conditions will be arbitrated.

Progressives for Wilson.

San Francisco, Aug. 7.—President Wilson was unanimously indorsed here at a conference of California Progressives who also completed the organization of the Woodrow Wilson Progressive league. Francis J. Heney was elected president.

CHALMERS · MOTOR · CO. Detroit, Mich. U.S.A.

Quality First

ECONOMY IS THE WORD AND IT'S DEFINED

3400 R. P. M.

It's cheaper in the long run to buy a car like the 3400 r. p. m. Chalmers—at $1090 Detroit.

A low-priced car often doesn't pay.

Somewhat like the man who wanted to fence his farm and said he wouldn't spend more than a certain sum of money.

"Well, for that price I can build you a fence two feet high that will keep the pigs out," said the hardware man.

"Now, for just so much more I can build a fence three feet high that will keep the sheep out. And for this amount I can build a 5-foot fence that will keep anything out."

You had better pay a couple of hundred more, and get a regular car. Get a car that fulfills exactly every wish.

One that does a good workday on Monday; that takes you anywhere on Tuesday; runs you 200 miles on Wednesday; does the errands on Thursday; takes the family to call on Friday; one that's not only got the 5-year endurance, but gives you a feeling of pride as well.

That, sir, is my definition of Economy.

This new 1917 Chalmers with the 3400 r. p. m. engine—the car that increased Chalmers sales 792% in six months—is one that'll lure you the minute you sit behind the wheel.

New York Central R. R.—"The Water-Level Route"

To provide for the service demands of the future, large sums will be needed by all American railroads.

These sums must be provided from earnings, the issue of capital stock, or borrowed, and for railroads to borrow large sums or market their stock requires unquestioned credit.

By either method the funds can be secured only by co-operation of the public, which should see that railroads are granted fair rates, insured just regulation, equitable taxation and reasonable demands from labor.

The ability of all the railroads to continue to serve the public is the problem of the public quite as much as the problem of the railroads. A splendid railroad is the greatest industrial asset a community or state can possess

GENERAL JOSEPH JOFFRE

French Commander Who Says Victory Is Sure.

In an order of the day to the French army General Joseph Joffre says to his men: "The moment is approaching when, under the strength of our mutual advance, the military power of Germany will crumple. Soldiers of France, you may be proud of the work you already have accomplished. You have determined to see it through to the end. Victory is certain."

NEW YORK JARRED BY ANOTHER EXPLOSION

Blast Is Near $35,000,000 Disaster of Last Week

New York, Aug. 7.—An explosion wrecked two oil tanks of the Standard Oil company in New Jersey near the scene of the Black Tom blast of a week ago. The detonation was heard and felt in New York. Windows rattled and buildings were shaken. Loss of life and property damage have not yet been determined.

In the explosion of munitions a week ago on Black Tom Island, an area of reclaimed land that extends into New York bay from the Jersey shore, the property loss was estimated up to $35,000,000, with the loss of life never exactly determined.

Twenty-eight Who Accused Officers Make Apology for Act.

Columbus, N. M., Aug. 7.—Military authorities here announce they have received apologies from twenty-eight men whose names were affixed to a statement, which, it was asserted, vouched for the truth of a story published in a Holyoke, Mass., newspaper making allegations against the officers of Company D, Second Massachusetts infantry, for the writing of which Private Hugh Clarke is held in custody here.

The men, who are all members of the national guard organization, asked that they be allowed to withdraw their names from the paper, asserting they had signed it at Clarke's solicitation.

Native Islander Is Appointed Governor of Mountain Province.

Manila, P. I., Aug. 7.—Joaquin de Luna, former member of the assembly, has just been appointed governor of the Mountain Province, inhabited almost entirely by the so-called head hunters. De Luna, a native Filipino, succeeds an American of many years' experience and will have authority over several other Americans, who will remain as subgovernors of the various districts.

His appointment is in line with the administration's policy of Filipinization of the government of the islands.

FRENCH AND GERMAN FLIERS IN HOT DUELS

Two Hundred Air Bombs Dropped on Teutons' Positions.

London, Aug. 7.—The most extensive air raids in weeks marked the fighting on the western front. The Paris official statements report six bombardments of important German positions by flotillas in force, besides numerous sorties. A total of 200 air bombs were dropped in the Combles region and on the stations in Noyon, Stonay, Sedan, Conflans and Metz-Sablons, and on the military depots at Rombach, north of Metz.

The midnight official statement from Paris announces that two German aeroplanes were brought down on the Verdun front, and another, of new type, was captured unharmed at Moyenville.

The German report states that two French aircraft were brought down, one north of Promelles and another northeast of Bapaume.

THRIVED BY BUNCOING WOMEN AND FARMERS

Judge Finds Charlevoix Rock Concern Is Fraud.

Bay City, Aug. 7.—That the Standard Portland Cement and Lime company, later known as the Charlevoix Rock Products company, was conceived in fraud, is the statement of Circuit Judge Coumans in an opinion filed in teh case of Sampson Osborn and wife, Hampton township farmers, against Ralph L. Aldrich and Elbert L. Buell, of Detroit; Henry E. Hunt, Dyce B. Hunt, Maud M. Gilbert and Levi R. Brumbaugh of Kalamazoo.

The Osborns exchanged farming lands worth $24,500, their life savings, for stock in the company, and the court directs that such of the lands as are still in the hands of any of the defendants shall be returned to the Osborns and that a personal decree be entered against all of the defendants for any balance due.

The court finds that Aldrich, Buell and the Hunts fraudulently organized the company, turning in as worth $1,000,000, assets of a bankrupt company in which they were interested and which Aldrich bought for $45,000, to be paid for in bonds of the new company.

The court found the company's stock was sold chiefly to farmers and widows.

FIRMS DOUBLE THEIR GUARD

Repetition of Detroit Holdup Is Feared by Muskegon Factories.

Muskegon, Aug. 7.—Fearing lest some one might emulate the daring robbery of the Detroit bandit gang which obtained $33,000 from the Burroughs Adding Machine company guards, Muskegon factories, paying their employes almost $500,000 in cash doubled their forces of guards handling the money.

Half a dozen people were relieved of their purses at the Union depot, the total amount secured by what is believed to be a gang of Chicago pickpockets being about $300.

LIEUT. DUNSMORE HAS CLOSE CALL.

Nephew of Mrs. Paul Bowen of the Canadian Engineers Wounded While in action at Flanders.

Word comes to Mrs. Paul Bowen from her sister Mrs. R. J. Dunsmore of St. Thomas Ont., that her son Lieut. R. Lioned Dunsmore of the Canadian Engineers in Flanders had been slightly wounded but remained on duty

The bullet struck the magizine of a Ross rifle he was carrying and glancing off inflicted a slight wound in his side. The force of the blow smashed in the magizine and bent the steel nose of the bullet right over like a hook. Dunsmore was nearly knocked down but aside from a flesh bruise of about four inches square with a cut in the center was uninjured. The rifle had saved his life.

Lieut Dunsmore was one of the first to leave for the seat of the war, from St. Thomas

He was united in marriage just a short time ago to Miss Rose Voaden of Peterborough, Ont., in England.

The cut shows the bridal party as they are leaving the Church. Mrs Dunsmore has visited in Tecumseh and her friends will be interested in her son.

MRS. RANSOM MILLS

The funeral of Mrs. Ransom Mills was held at the Baptist church Monday afternoon, Rev. W. B. Hartzog officiating. He preached most feelingly, speaking words of comfort and cheer to those who were called to mourn the loss of their loved one. Mrs. Ed Heilman sang two beautiful selections. The T. B. A., of which Mrs. Mills was a member, was present in a body to pay their last tribute of love to their departed sister.

Mrs. Mills has been a resident of Tecumseh and this vicinity for many years and had a wide circle of friends who mourn her sudden death. Only 65 years old life seemed so bright and fair and but few realized that she was suffering day by day with heart trouble that took her away so suddenly. A husband, three daughters, Mrs. Josephine Thatcher of Ottawa Lake, Mrs George McNeil of Tecumseh and Mrs. George VanNatta of Cincinnati, and one son John Middlebrook of Troy, N. Y., and two brothers of her immediate family, with a lots of other relatves are left to grieve for their loved one.

The bearers were from the G. A. R.: J. D. Shull, George Keyser, J. C. Pritchett, Jas. Ingersoll, Al. Morseman and H. H. Smith.

A large number of friends were present from Tipton for the funeral of their friend. The friends from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Philo Mills, Mrs. Mertie Campbell and son Roy of Toledo, Mr. and Mrs. John Mills of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. John Middlebrook of Troy, N. Y., Mr. and Mrs. George VanNatta of Cincinnati, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Cotterell of Adrian.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Miss Frances Lewis returned to her home in LaFayette, Ind., today. For several weeks she has been a guest of her cousin Mrs. Robt. Stuckey.

While the program for Wednesday cannot be announced at this time, the committee state that they will have a "bang-up" good show for Wednesday. The Tipton band will furnish music and a good time is assured for our friends in Tecumseh Wednesday.

In Gaston's window are displayed some postcards taken in Mexico, a remembrance from S. J. Southworth. They show several executions and the burial of American soldiers. Also on display are several Mexican bills sent to Mrs. Hascal Worden by her husband who is on the border with the Jackson company.

Rumors come to us that free mail delivery may be in store for Tecumseh. Postmaster Brown tells us that he has referred the matter to the department at Washington and they will send an inspector here to look into the matter. Naturally this will be hailed with delight by the residents.

A couple of men and one woman with four ponies, two monkeys and several dogs drifted into town yesterday and last night gave an exhibition on the four corners. They had been with carnival companies for several weeks and now are touring around waiting for the fairs to begin. The show was not half bad and pleased the little people immensely.

F. J. Temple and Dr. E. E. Hendershott received telegrams Saturday requesting them to attend the National Campaign Committee meeting consisting of Republicans and Progressives, to meet C. E. Hughes at Hotel Pontchartrain, Detroit, Monday, August 7th, at 10:30 o'clock. The invitation covered all delegates and alternates to the Progressive National Convention.

Circuit Judge Flannigan at Menominee has issued a temporary injunction restraining employes of the Prescott Iron foundry from picketing. The three mills have resumed operation as open shops.

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 7.—Returns show Kentucky's delegation in congress, nine Democrats and two Republicans, were renominated at the statewide primaries as candidates for another term.

REMINGTON REUNION

The seventy-seventh reunion of the Remington family was held at the pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. Hovey Needham of Saline August 2 1916. Those present were Mr and Mrs. Hunt, Dr and Mrs. Herbert Conklin, Mrs. Erwin Conklin and daughters of Tecumseh, Peter and Clyde Knight and children of Bridgewater, Mr. and Mrs Fred Allen and family, Mr. and Mrs Chas. Allen and baby of Clinton, Mr. and Mrs Will Pennington and family of Rives Junction, Mrs Wesley Pennington and Mr. and Mrs Ray Gilmore and family of Macon. On account of the busy season many were not able to be present. Plans were made to meet at an earlier date in the future. The time was set for the third Tuesday in June. A pot luck dinner was served at 12:30 followed by ice cream and cake

FROM THE CIRCIUT COURT

At the opening session of the circuit court yesterday after a month's vacation several matters came up which were of interest to Tecumseh people

Lester Sloan charged with violating the Pray law by keeping 22 bottles of beer and a bottle of whiskey in a barn at A. O. Howard's, pleaded guilty. He will receive his sentence later

G. A. Rathbun, as attorney for Mrs. Agnes M. Lee, petitioned to have the bill of complaint filed against her by Harry S. Lee dismissed. Judge Hart took the motion under advisement. Some time ago Mr. Lee had filed a petition for divorce and the bill was denied. He has now filed a new bill and the defendant claims it covers the same ground previously determined and asks to have it dismissed

IN JUSTICE COURT

Meyer (Pete) Dermyer of Tecumseh and Frank Howe of Macon were assisted on our street Saturday evening, for creating a disturbance of the peace, and were locked up in the village jail Saturday night. The arrest was made by Dept. John Smith. Sunday morning they were taken to Adrian and placed in the County jail. Monday morning they were brought back and arraigned before Justice Hosmer. They pleaded guilty and the Judge sentenced them to pay a fine of $5 and $8.05 costs each, or twenty days in the County jail. They paid their fine

FARM LOAN ACT

System for Loaning Money on Farm Lands at Reasonable Interest for Relatively Long Periods.

The Federal farm loan act, popularly called the "Rural credits law," was signed by the President and became a law on July 17, 1916.

The primary purpose of this act is to promote agricultural prosperity by enabling farmers to borrow money on farm-mortgage security at a reasonable rate of interest and for relatively long periods of time. To attain this object, two farm-mortgage systems are provided: (1) A system operating through regional land banks, and (2) a system operating through joint-stock land banks.

To attract money to the farm-loan field the act provides a method whereby those who have money to lend can find safe investment in the form of debentures or bonds, of small and large denominations, issued by the banks and based on the security of mortgages on farm lands.

These two systems are to be under the general supervision of a Federal Farm Loan Board in the Treasury Department, composed of the Secretary of the Treasury, as cahirman ex officio, and four members appointed by the appraisers, examiners, and registrars, who will be public officials.

Federal Land-Bank System.

Under the Federal land-bank system the act provides for Federal land banks which make loans, for the first 12 months, exclusively through local national farm-loan associations composed of borrowers. These associations shall be shareohlders in the banks and in that way the members who are the borrowers will share in the profits of the bank. The money for the loans is to come partly from the capital of the banks and partly from the sale by the banks of bonds secured by first mortgages on farm lands. The act defines strictly the purposes for and the conditions under which loans are to be made, and requires that the rate of interest charged on farm loans shall not exceed 6 per cent per annum.

Twelve Federal Land Banks.

The United States shall be divided into 12 farm-land districts, and a Federal land bank with a subscribed capital stock of not less than $750,000, each share $5, shall be established in each district. Each Federal land bank may establish branches in its district. Within 30 days after the capital stock is offered for sale it may be purchased at par by anyone. Thereafter, the stock remaining unsold shall be bought by the Secretary of the Treasury for the United States. It is provided, however, that the Government shall not receive any dividends on its stock. Ultimately, it is intended that all the stock in the banks shall be owned by the associations of borrowers, and provision therefore is made in the law for transferring the original stock at par to these associations.

CIRCUS COMING

General Contracting Agent E. F. Lampman, of COOP and LENT'S UNITED MONSTER SHOWS, THREE RING CIRCUS, MUSEUM and MENAGERIE, visited the city last Friday accompanied by an assistant, to prospect local conditions at first hand for the initial appearance here of these monster shows.

Before leaving Mr. Lampman expressed his gratification in stating the information he had gathered pointed to a splendid reception for his exhibition; it was his firm belief that not all the country's prosperity was confined to the big ciites, and he was pleased to announce now, definitely, the big circus would spread its acres of canvas in Tecumseh, August 22.

This bare announcement will hardly fail of bringing joy to the hearts of our kiddies and to some few of the grownups for the matter of that, for are is the anti-circus home. And when the great magnitude of this important combination is considered—its trains are made up of special double length cars to the actual number of forty—it is safe to predict this will be the mecca for unusual circus crows when the big show arrives.

G. P. OSBORN

Gideon Perry Osborn of Sioux City, Iowa, passed away Saturday of last week after an illness of three months during which time he was in the hospital. His early life was spent in Tecumseh. He was a nephew of the late Wm. H. Osborn and of Rev. Gideon Perry for whom he was named. His wife is a sister of Mrs. Sam'l Shutts.

$350 and a FORD makes a guaranteed One Ton Truck

Cuts Overhead Out of Selling Price

Furniture dealers all over the country are finding the Smith Form-a-Truck such an economical form of delivery that they can mark down the retail prices on the goods they sell through effecting a saving in their delivery costs.

It is the first completely guaranteed one ton truck on which the cost of operation can be safely set at four cents a ton mile or less. And the original investment is only $350 and the price of any Ford chassis—less than half the original cost of any other guaranteed one ton truck.

Competition in the furniture business is severe. Every possible saving must be made in order that the retail price may be one which will enable you to successfully meet all forms of competition.

The average delivery department shows greater possibilities of reducing overhead than any other department in the business.

The reason is many furniture dealers have put up with expensive horse drawn service rather than take the risk of buying heavy over sized trucks too large and too expensive for economical service.

The Smith Form-a-Truck relieves all this difficulty, and it costs less than a good pair of horses and a wagon—does its work four times as fast—and four times as well—increases the radius of delivery from thirty to sixty per cent—and is large enough to carry the biggest loads you will ever deliver.

The Smith Form-a-Truck is a rear end attachment which fits over the frame of any Ford car. The frame of the Smith Form-a-Truck attachment is channel steel section four inches deep. It gives a 125 inch wheelbase and a nine foot loading space back of the driver's seat.

The drive system is double side chain type with rear axle of the Ford as jackshaft. Tires are solid Firestone truck type 32x3½. Any two men can install a Smith Form-a-Truck attachment on a Ford chassis in a few hours.

Special Lubrication Feature

To guarantee trouble-proof, efficient lubrication for Ford motors used in connection with the Smith Form-a-Truck, we are furnishing as regular equipment with every Smith Form-a-Truck sold, a Strong Sight Feed Oiler. This is a force feed system with guage on the dash and a system that insures a positive, even flow of oil to all the working parts on the motor. It reduces the amount of oil consumed—prevents burned out connecting rod and crankshaft bearings and cylinder troubles, increases the life and efficiency of motor.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

By local application as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by ctaarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Cattarh Cure. Send for circular, free.

Your Other Wheat Field

THE VALUE of your wheat field lies in its YIELD. Raising wheat is not a matter of acres but of bushels. A 15-acre field yielding 30 bushels per acre will bring as great a money return as a 30-acre field yielding 15 bushels per acre.

If you could in some way double the yield you are now getting from your wheat field, it would mean as much to you as the possession of another wheat field of equal acreage and value. In fact, it would mean more, for you would be getting double returns without additional expense for seed, labor, [illegible] etc., which another wheat field would require.

By the use of ARMOUR'S FERTILIZERS, many farmers have more than doubled the yields previously secured from their unfertilized fields. Without additional acreage they now have two bushels of wheat where they had one before—and the extra bushel is all PROFIT save for a small expense for fertilizer. The increased yield, caused by proper use of ARMOUR'S FERTILIZERS, means as much to you as another wheat field—it is truly "Your Other Wheat Field." Thousands of progressive farmers have learned this truth—that the PROFIT in wheat raising lies in the increased yields brought about by proper use of ARMOUR'S FERTILIZERS, sold by

FELL FIFTY FEET

R. V. Wilson Met Serious Accident This Morning While at Work on Occidental Farm.

This morning Richard Wilson met with a cruel accident at the Occidental Farm. He had gone up to the loft in one of the big barns to shove his scaffolding out through a window and did not see a shoot which was covered over with hay. He stepped into it and went down the 50 feet, landing on some barrels and ladders on the floor below.

He was brought home and Dr North called at once He found no bones broken but Mr. Wilson's face badly cut and bruised and the left arm paralized—temporaliy, let us hope. The wonder is that the injuries are not worse. Mr. Wilson is resting comfortably at this writing.

FATAL ACCIDENT

The 7-year-old Son of Earl Derby of Adrian meets Sudden Death in Tipton

MONDAY, AUGUST 7, 1916.

Tipton was the scene of a very sad accident Monday forenoon when the little son of Earle Derby of Adrian met his death. He was riding on a stock-wagon from Adrian which had two animals in it. One of them became restive and made a sudden leap that jostled the little fellow off the seat, throwing him to the ground, the team starting on a run, when found the boy was lying in a pool of blood, from the cruel wounds, where the wagon had passed over him. He lived but a few moments. The body was taken into Thos. Conklin's home and Dr's Rice and Hardy were soon on the spot but life was extinct before they reached him.

Biliousness, Sick Headache, Sour Stomach Appendicitis, all Start in Inefficient Bowel Action. Foley Cathartic Tablets the Reliable Relief.

Never let the bowels get irregular. It's dangerous and unnecessary. A bottle of Foley Cathartic Tablets will provide ready relief at all times

They clear the stomach, liven up the liver, stimulate the secretion and flow of the bile, have a good tonic effect on the whole intestinal tract.

Of Foley Cathartic Tablets, Mr. E. J. Hudson, a dealer of Cross Keys, Ga., says: "I believe for a thorough cleansing movement of the bowels, without the slightest inconvenience or sickening, I believe the Foley Cathartic Tablet the best on earth. It's a perfect cathartic, with no bad effects. My customers are highly pleased with them. They always satisfy beyond their expectation."

BACKACHE IS DISCOURAGING

But Not So Bad If You Know How to Reach the Cause

Nothing more discouraging than a constant backache. Lame when you awakn, pains pierce you when you bend or lift. It's hard to work or to rest. Backache often indicates bad kidneys. Tecumseh people recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Read this case:

W. C. Witherell, W. Pottawatamie St., Tecumseh, says: "I had acute pains across the small of my back and in my hips. Often, after stooping [illegible] through my loins, obliging me to lie down. I was laid up in bed for several days and I believe that the trouble was caused by excessive stooping. When I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills, I got a supply at Wright & Son's Drug store and a few boxes restored me to good health. Since then, whenever I have felt in need of a kidney medicine, I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills and the results have been very pleasing."

AGAIN PRAISES DOAN'S AFTER A LAPSE OF MORE THAN FIVE YEARS, Mr. Witherell said: "I have had no reason to change my high opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills, which I expressed some years ago."

Price 50c; at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Witherell has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

ENDS LIFE TO QUIT WORK

Boarder Hands Landlady Life Insurance Policies and Takes Poison.

Grand Rapids, Aug. 7.—"Good bye; I'm not going to work any more," said Samuel Potter, fifty years old, a boarder. Then he handed his landlady two insurance policies, calling for $215 and went upstairs, leaving his freshly packed dinner pail on the kitchen table

A few minutes later the landlady heard groans in Potter's room and went to investigate. He died a few minutes later. Coroner Hilliker said death was probably caused by poison.

Ferris Calls Conference.

Lansing, Aug. 7.— In an effort to gather information that will enable him to recommend changes in the law in his ex-augural message to the legislature, Governor Ferris has summoned heads of the various state institutions to meet with him in Lansing August 16.

Literacy Test is Defeated.

Oklahoma City, Aug. 7.—According to present indications, the proposed literacy test amendment to the state constitution has lost by a large plurality. Late returns added considerably to the defeat of the amendment.

U. S. MANUFACTURED 24 BILLIONS WORTH

Census Bureau Issues Its Report for 1914.

Washington, Aug. 7.—The value of manufactures in the United States was $24,246,323,000 in 1914, the census bureau reported in annnouncing preliminary statement of general results of the latest census of manufactures. In the five year period from 1909, the date of the previous census, manufactures increased $3,574,271,000 in value, or 17.3 per cent. In the period since the 1914 census manufactures have made rapid increases, but no estimate of their value for this year has been made by the census bureau.

Increases were found in all items except proprietors and firm members, which decreased 3.1 per cent. Salaries increased 37.2 per cent; capital, 23.7; salaried employes, 22; primary horse power, 20.7; wages, 19; materials, 18.3; value of products, 17.3; value added by manufacture, 15.8; wage earners, 6.4; and number of establishments, 2.7.

JAIL BREAKERS ARE FUILED

Ionia Sheriff Waits for Pair to Start, and They Repent.

Ionia, Aug. 7.—An attempted jail break was frustrated by the nervousness of the two men trying to make their getaway from the county jail, neither having the nerve to start after completing their preparations.

Harry Randolph and Howard Fulger had removed the heavy wire screen from the window and began whispering as to which should go first and the sheriff heard them. The sheriff and a deputy sat outside the window for two hours, but the men had lost their nerve.

CHAPTER VI

Dark Days Ahead.

On Sunday evening July 31st, Rev. Charles H. Preston delivered a sermon on the text "My deadly enemies that compass me about." Psa., 17:9. He coupled with it another text "And they, that watch for my soul take counsel together." Psa., 71:10.

He said, "We all have deadly enemies. They fix their eyes on us to completely prostrate us. It behooves us to be on our guard and implore God's help daily lest we be ruined." With many apt and vivid illustrations he enforced the truth of the text. He was not aware however, that enemies were in the audience who would try his soul and bring into his life an epoch of sorrow.

While they were singing the first hymn, an old woman entered leaning on the arm of a strange man. The old woman was crippled and bent. She was heavily veiled. The man wore a full beard. They took a back seat and listened intently. During the singing of the last hymn, they retired. After the service ended, Charles went to the rear of the church, put his valise in Lucy's carriage and drove around to the west side of the church. Lucy thought she saw a dark form peering around the corner of the church, but said nothing about it. They then drove westward on the Chicago turnpike.

It was a dark night, clouds over spread the sky. They conversed about many matters. Once Charles thoughts turned to the mysterious old couple who sat on the rear seat at the church and he said,

"I wonder who these old people were who came in during the singing of the first hymn. They went out before the services ended, so I was unable to speak to them. I always aim to meet the strangers who come to our services."

Lucy said, "I noticed them and wondered who they were, they acted so queer."

They heard the noise of a carriage behind them. They thought nothing strange of that as travelers were going and coming on the main highway at all hours of the night. When they turned off the main highway and went north, the carriage followed them. Then they thought it a little strange. As they drove up to Lucy's home, the carriage passed them. Mr. Worthington was at the gate with the lantern.

Lucy said, "Charley, they are the old people who were at church this evening. I wonder who they could be?"

During the evening Charles said "What are you going to do to-morrow, Mr. Worthington?" "Why, do you want a job?" said Mr. Worthington.

"Yes, I must have some vigorous exercise every day," said Charles.

"Well you can go with me to Springville in the morning. I want to get some lumber and have some grain ground for feed. Our pasture is getting short."

Accordingly they drove to Springville the next morning. They went to Albert Howard's sawmill, then tarried for a short time at the grocery owned by Thomas Mosher.

"This is Rev. Charles Preston of Tecumseh, Mr. Mosher," said Mr. Worthington.

"Excuse me for a little while, Mr. Preston. I want to go over to the hotel where Mr. Hand, the carpenter, is making some repairs," said Mr. Worthington.

"Hello, Mr. Worthington," said Mr. Groger, the proprietor, "what can I do for you?"

"I am looking for Mr. Hand, I have a job of carpentering for him when he gets through here."

"You will find him at the barn Henry," replied Mr. Croger.

As Preston walked about the quaint little village, he met a pleasant man who impressed him as one who was possessed of more than ordinary intelligence. Charles inquired about the history of the old village.

"Well," said the man, "this village was founded in 1832, eight years after the first settlers appeared on the bank of the Raisin River at the point where Tecumseh is now located. That was forty-nine years ago. It has not grown much in those years for we only have one hundred and thirty inhabitants. It is a pretty good trading point, however. The old hotel there does quite a business for this is the old stage coach road. In the summertime, strangers come here and spend their time hunting and fishing. Two strangers just came in from Ohio Saturday."

At that Charles glanced across the street and saw a dark haired lady looking at him from the upstairs window.

"My name is Preston, I am the pastor of the Baptist church at Tecumseh," said Charles.

"My name is Julius Vaughn. I am the village physician," said the man.

At that Mr. Worthington came up. "Good morning, Doctor. I am glad you have taken Mr. Preston in hand, for I fear he might get lost in our city."

They drove home by way of the old grist mill north of town. "This is a fascinating country, I like these hills and lakes," said Charles.

"You wouldn't be so fascinated by it if you had to farm it for twenty-five years. That takes the poetry out of life around here," said Mr. Worthington. "However," he continued, "it is an interesting country. We have twenty-six lakes in these hills. About four miles west of here is Cambridge Junction, where the two turnpikes meet, one coming from Detroit, the other coming from Monroe by way of Tecumseh. We will have to go up to Cambridge Junction sometime."

On returning home they found dinner ready. "You will have to excuse my appearance, this is wash day and I have been helping mother," said Lucy.

"You certainly have no reason to make excuses, Lucy," said Charles. He wanted to say what was in his heart, but he thought he had better reserve it for some future date. She never had appeared so charming as on this beautiful August day. Her cheeks were flush and her whole frame was pulsating with vitality.

"To-morrow we will wander down through the woods to the lake," said she, as they stood alone on the porch after dinner.

"That will be fine," said Charles.

The next day they went down the lane and through the woods to Sand Lake and taking a boat they crossed to the woods on the North side. On this elevation they gathered wild flowers, and seated there on a log fanned by the soft breezes, they conversed for a long time.

"How strange it seems that you and I should have met and become such fond friends," said Charles.

"I have thought of it often," said Lucy, with a modesty that thrilled Charles' soul.

"If any thing ever happens and we are separated and are unable to communicate with each other, remember I am not to blame. Lucy, I will never leave you nor forsake you," said Charles.

At that they heard the noise of the cracking brush and in another instant the sharp cracking of a pistol and the bark was torn from the tree against which Lucy was leaning her head. "Mercy, some hunters must be shooting recklessly," said Lucy.

Charles looked grave and said "Lucy, we had better take to the boat."

It was long after the dinner hour when they reached home, Charles said he was not hungry. "The truth is, Lucy, I am alarmed. Have you any enemies? I fear that shot was aimed at you."

"Why Charles, I don't think I have an enemy in the world," said Lucy.

They both agreed not to say anything to the folks about it if nothing further developed. Nothing further occurred for several days. On Saturday afternoon they went boating and as they came within about two hundred feet of the shore on the northwest side, Lucy saw a dark haired young woman standing in front of a clump of bushes looking at them and pointing a pistol directly at her.

She said, Charley, let us row to the other side."

Charles, remembered his dream, wheeled the boat and rowed rapidly to the other side.

"I think we had better go home now, I don't feel well," said Lucy.

"What is the matter Lucy, you look so pale," said Charles.

"Oh, I had a terrible scare, maybe it was all a delusion but I can't get over it. I surely am not mistaken. I saw a darked haired woman standing on the shore pointing a pistol at me. Oh my! it is terrible," said Lucy half weeping.

"Come Lucy we will go straight home," said Charles, "and when you get there, tell your mother about it. get there, tell your mother about it. There is something wrong here." Charles was a good deal alarmed himself, but for her sake, he kept up his courage.

On reaching home she was so exhausted that she had to retire to her room which was one of two bed chambers down stairs, the other was occupied by her parents. She told her mother about the shooting and about seeing the dark haired woman on the shore pointing a pitsol at her.

Darkness came, her door was open leading into the sitting room. A light was burning low in her room. The window shade was not drawn down. Charles was seated so that his eyes rested on the window. Suddenly all in the household were frightened by a terrifying scream. Lucy saw the face of the dark haired woman at the window and Charles saw it also. When they reached the bedroom Charles jerked the window shade down. It was found that Lucy had fainted. Then came two shots in quick succession in front of the house Mr. Worthington seized the double barrel shotgun, rushed out but the darkness was so intense that he could not see a foot ahead of him. He heard the noise of a horse and buggy, going rapidly westward. He fired both charges.

As he entered the house he said, "I scared somebody anyhow." After Lucy revived she told of seeing the face of the dark haired woman at the window.

Charles said, "I saw the same face."

They agreed that the matter must be investigated. Early the next morning Charles and Mr. Worthington set out to follow the track of the horse and carriage. A little rain had fallen about dark the evening before, so it was an easy matter. The tracks led them to the old Hotel. When Mr. Worthington and Charles entered they found Mrs. Groger.

"Where is Mr. Groger?" said Mr. Worthington.

"He has gone on the hunt of our horse and carriage. They were stolen during the night. Two of our boarders are gone. A woman and a man who came here Saturday by stage. They rented our horse Sunday night and did not get in until very late. There is something very mysterious about them," continued Mrs. Groger. "They asked me all sorts of questions and drew a map of this region. They asked about you, Mr. Worthington."

Just then Mr. Groger drove up with his horse. He said he found his horse and carriage at a farm house about two and one-half miles south of Springville. That the man and woman had lost their way and stopped to inquire the way to Adrian. They gave the farmer twenty-five dollars to get them to Adrian in time to meet the eleven-thirty train bound for Toledo. Mr. Worthington and Charles went to the postoffice. Charles received a letter post marked Springville, it read as follows:

"I will give you just one week to leave the country. If you linger I will take Lucy Worthington's life." No name was signed. But Charles knew what it meant.

On their return to the Worthington home they found Lucy had rallied and was able to sit up. Charles asked the family to remain together while he explained the significance of the letter. He told them frankly about his experience with Miss Devilling. He described her and Mr. Worthington declared she was the woman he saw at the Hotel. Charles said he recognized her face at the window. He felt that it was necessary, for Lucy's safety and health to leave the country. He promised to correspond with her over the name of John Hall.

While Lucy and Charles were alone, she said, "What did you mean when you said, 'If anything ever happens and we are separated and unable to communicate with each other, remember I am not to blame. I will never leave you nor forsake you!"

Charles told her that he had been fearful that something would happen and he wanted her to know that he would forever remain true to her. Biding her good-bye affectionately, Charles returned to Tecumseh, packed his effects and shipped them to Detroit. He mailed his resignation to the chairman of the trustees of the church and took the next train for Detroit.

Arriving there he went direct to Mr. Burke's office and explained all to Mr. Burke. Mr. Burke wrote him a check for five hundred dollors.

"Take this," said he, "and keep me informed of your whereabouts and I will keep you informed as to the movements of Miss Deviling. I am inclined to think that she is insane. I will put one of our detctives on track of her and you may rest assured that Lucy Worthington will not be injured."

"I will write you over the name of John Hall," said Charles. That night he started for Chicago.

EPWORTH LEAGUE ENTERTAIN MEMBERS OF M. E. CHURCH

The Epworth League were hosts Tuesday evening for the members of the M. E. church, over one hundred responding to their invitation. The party was held on the lawn west of the church and the place was made beautiful with Japanese lanterns and electric lights.

Miss Vie Snedicor, the League president, announced the program which was truly delightful. The numbers were as follows:

Welcoming Address— Rev. G. W. Jennings.
Selection—Epworth League orchestra.
Vocal solo—Ernest Church.
Vocal solo—Miss Lillian Kennedy
Piano duet—Misses Florence Linton and Agnes McIntyre.
Trombone solo—Wilfred Waldron.
Vocal solo—Miss Ella Routson.
Vocal solo—Miss Edna Taylor.
Selection—Orchestra.

Following the program the guests were served with ice cream and cake.

The two-year-old child of Martin Fitch, living at Sturgis, nearly severed its head in falling from its high chair at the breakfast table and grasping a class dish, upon which the child fell.

Henry Porter, race follower, from Memphis, was drowned at Kalamazoo when he went in swimming in the river. He stepped into a deep hole and went down before aid could reach him.

ALBERT E. SLEEPER

OF BAD AXE,

FOR GOVERNOR

Because

He's a Michigan man, grown from a New England boy.

He has western vision and strength to do big things; and

Yankee common sense and thrift.

Where he's known he is the trusted friend and advisor of the community.

If you want to know about him, ask the boys he's helped through school, the people whose homes he's saved from foreclosure, the business men he's started—and those he's carried through financial troubles,

They are as one for "Uncle Bert"—24 hours a day. Ask them.

Also remember he cleaned up the Glazier mess in the State Treasury.

He kept each dollar where it belonged.

He made the depository banks give bonds to secure our money.

He issued public statements soyou and I could tell what money we had in Lansing.

The people of the "Thumb Country" are for Sleeper, not because be lives there, but because they know the man, his friendliness, his common sense, his integrity, his ability.

Vote for him Aug. 29th.

You will be glad you did when you know him—[Besides, he's a winner.,

HARRY A. WISHARD CANDIDATE FOR REELECTION TO ASSEMBLY AS REPUBLICAN.

Assemblyman Harry A. Wishard will be a candidate on the Republican ticket for the assembly in the Sixty-first district to succeed himself.

In discussing his candidacy Mr. Wishard said:

"Well, I will go after it and I am perfectly willing that my record as a member of the California legislature shall be the criterion as to whether I should be reelected."

Mr. Wishard was known as "The Baby" of the 1915 legislature and the boy orator of the assembly. He was the author of the mother's pention bill and a bill doing away with court costs for a poor litigant or, as Mr. Wishard says, "opening up the courts of justice to the poor man"

Mr. Wishard is a young attorney and is a strong and forceful speaker. He is president of the Davis County Iowa society, and was also one of the high school representatives commissioned by Senator Cummins to the inauguration of Theodore Roosevelt in 1904.

We are being criticized right and left for not taking a stand against the local ice company for their raise in price of ice from $3.00 to $4.00 per thousand.

Upon investigation we find from reliable authority that the $3.00 per thousand rate in the Village of Tecumseh was not sufficient to pay a fair return upon the money invested. The Tecumseh Lake Ice Co, has not since its organization been a money making scheme.

In view of this information we refrain from making any criticism and believe they have a perfect right to advance the price and that the rate they ask is just.

If it comes to us from reliable authority that any public service corporation or others engaged in selling to the public are charging an exhorbitant rate for their commodities, we would only be to glad to fight the cause of the people.

If any reader feels they have been grievously used and will send in a written communication, we will be glad to publish the same over their signature.

BIG VICTORY IS WON BY LATINS

Italians Take Austrian Lines and Capture 3,600 Men.

FIGHT RAGES ON LONG FRONT

Rome Announces Most Important Single Day's Advance in Month—Russ Continue to Gain—Only Fourteen Miles from Lemberg Railway—Driven Back at Two Points.

LONDON, E. G.—The capture of 3,600 Austrian prisoners and several lines of trenches in the Monfalcone region, announced by the Italian war office, marks the greatest single day advance by the Italians since they turned back the Austrian drive and recaptured most of their lost territory more than a month ago.

The fighting rages along the entire Italian front from the peaks of the Tyrol to the sea. An Austrian offensive on the Setti-comuni Plateau was broken and hurled back and an Austrian position commanding the communication routes from the Travenanza to the Gader Valley was recaptured, and in addition to the Monfalcone gains other advances were chronicled.

Russ 14 Miles from Goal.

LONDON, ENG—A Reuter dispatch from Petrograd says:

"Their successes to the south of Brody bring the Russians within fourteen miles of the Tarnopol-Lemberg railway. It is reported that the Austrian forces at Tarnopol (on the route to Lemberg, the capital of Galicia) already are retiring in the direction of Zlochoff."

Russians Lose Heights.

BERLIN — Efforts of the Russians to force the passage of the Carpathians are proving futile, according to advices received from Vienna. The army of the czar in the southern campaign, of which General Letchitzky has command, has not only been stopped, but has actually been forced back. The Austrian troops of Archduke Charles Francis, heir to the dual monarchy, have retaken the heights of Plaik and Deeskowata, on the Cheremoch river, the Muscovites being unable to withstand the impetus of the new initiative.

Take Fortified Posts.

PETROGRAD — Former successes for the Russians along the Sereth and Graberka rivers in northern Galicia, south of Brody, were announced by the war office. The Rusians captured strongly fortified positions in the region of the villages of Zvyjin, Kostiniec and Reniuv.

THORNTON DIXON OF MONROE

Candidate for Nomination for Representative in Congress, Second District

The Second Congressional District of Michigan has been normally Republican ever since the Republican party was organized within its present boundaries in 1854. Its representatives have been men who made their mark at Washington and command the respect of the nation. They have been such men as the forceful Waldron, the watchful Beaman, the learned Willits, the eloquent Allen, the patriotic Spalding, the brilliant Smith, the statesman Townsend and the vigilant Wedemeyer. It is now represented by Beakes. And WHY IS BEAKES?

Four years ago owing to an unfortunate schism in the Republican party, many Republicans refrained from voting and Beakes defeated the talented Wedemeyer by a few votes. But two years later the District should have been restored to the Republican ranks as the faction no longer existed; but the Republican nominee lacked force and failed to command the confidence of the Republican voters of the District. He was defeated by a small margin. Hence Beakes. And if the Republican party would again invite defeat all that is necessary is to again put up the defeated nominee of 1914, Mark R. Bacon; Beakes will "get his bacon," sure and the District will have Beakes for two years more. But if at the Primary election the Republican voters shall nominate Thornton Dixon, an able, resourceful, vigorous business man, who will make a successful campaign, as he always has done; there will be no occasion after March 4th. 1917 to inquire: "Why is Beakes?"

PREPAREDNESS BILLS GET BY CONFERENCE

Measure Carrying $267,000,000 Is Agreed To.

WASHINGTON — National defense legislation took a long stride toward completion at an early date when conferees on the army appropriation bill reported a complete agreement and the conference committee on the naval appropriation bill reached an agreement on increased personnel for the navy.

Agreement on the personnel increases by the naval conferes came as a surprise, as it had been expected that this disputed section of the bill would have to be returned to the house for further consideration. Details of the agreement were not announced, but a compromise is said to have been reached between the senate and the house totals and on the methods of promotion.

The bill carries $267,000,000 reduced from $313,000,000 as passed by the senate. The last previous army bill carried $101,000,000.

FEAR FOR KUT PRISONERS

Apprehension Felt in Britain for Men Whom Turks Captured.

LONDON — Apprehension exists as to the fate of the British prisoners taken at the time of the surrender of Kut-el-Amara to the Turks Lord Robert Cecil said in the house of commons that repeated inquiries had been made through the American embassy at Constantinople to ascertain the whereabouts of these prisoners but that no reply had been received from the ports.

This, he said, inspired considerable misgivings, as the prisoners were compelled, after the fall of Kut-el Amara, to cross the desert at the worst time of the year.

HUGHES SWINGS AROUND CIRCLE

Candidate Puts in Busy Day at Chicago.

DELIVERS SPEECH AT NIGHT

Republican Leader Opens Campaign at Detroit—Makes Six Speeches—Attends Bally Game—Poses for Movies With Lajoie, Cobb, Crawford and Jennings—Talks to Workers.

CHICAGO, ILL. — Charles Evans Hughes reached Chicago at 8 o'clock a. m. He arrived over the Michigan Central railroad from Detroit. A reception committee escorted Mr. and Mrs. Hughes to the Blackstone hotel, where they breakfasted.

At 10 o'clock Mr. Hughes visited Republican national headquarters in the Conway building, where he held a conference with western leaders of the party.

Starting at 12 o'clock, Mr. Hughes shook hands with as many persons as could crowd into the rotunda of the Conway building. The reception was under the auspices of the Hamilton club.

Persons entered the building at the south door on Commerce court (which is between the Conway building and the Chamber of Commerce building) passed through the rotunda, met Mr. Hughes and went out the Clark street door.

A receiving committee occupied places with Mr. Hughes on the platform which was erected in the rotunda. An orchestra played during the reception.

At 3 o'clock in the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Hughes were taken for an automobile ride over the boulevard system. He dined privately at the Blackstone hotel, and in the evening made his only speech of the day at the Coliseum.

Hughes Opens at Detroit.

DETROIT, MICH—Charles Evans Hughes delivered six speeches in Detroit, the first day in his campaign for the presidency.

Mr. Hughes addressed a delegation of Welfare Workers and, in order, representatives of the Woman's party, employes of the Dodge automobile plant and the workers at the Cadillac plant.

To the suffragists Mr. Hughes reiterated his stand favoring the Anthony federal amendment, to which he said he had nothing to add.

Poses With Lajoie, Cobb, Etc.

In the afternoon he attended the ball game between the Athletics and the Tigers and posed with Sam Crawford, Nap Lajoie, Hughey, Jennings and Ty Cobb for the movies.

Witt, shortstop for Connie Mack's team, shook hands with Mr. Hughes, then went to bat and knocked out a home run.

Booming Cannon Greets Him.

Booming cannon and cheers from 100,000 persons greeted Mr. Hughes when he arrived in the morning. With Mrs. Hughes he rode at the head of a street parade immediately after their arrival.

Workers Not Mere Units.

At noon Mr. Hughes addressed a group of manufacturers and welfare workers, pleading for protection for working men. He said:

"It is an awful mistake to think of the men through whose activity production is possible as mere economic units. They are human beings. We are all working men in this country We are in different spheres of activity, but we ought to have a sense of co-operation, so that every man takes pride in what he is doing and is doing it to the best of his ability because he is working alongside of every other man for the good of the country."

KAISER MUST GRIP BELGIUM

Von Tirpitz Quoted as Saying Germanism Must Be Maintained.

LONDON — A Reuter dispatch from Amsterdam says the Hamburg Nachrichten quotes Admiral von Tirpitz of the German navy as having sent the following reply to a congratulatory telegram from a friend:

"May the knowledge grow in our fatherland that Germanism can be maintained and make its way only if we emerge from this war in a firm position as regards Anglo-Americans. We gain this position if Germany and not England becomes predominant in Flanders."

FRENCH SPY IS PUT TO DEATH

German Reported to Have Joined Enemy and Returned in Plane.

AMSTERDAM — According to the Koelnische Volkszeitung, a courtmartial at Muelhausen, Alsace, sentenced to death David Blach, a German subject, charged with joining the French army and landing in civilian clothes from a French aeroplane behind the German lines for the alleged purpose of espionage. He already has been put to death, the newspaper declares.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

By local application as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by ctaarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Cattarh Cure. Send for circular, free.

Your Other Wheat Field

THE VALUE of your wheat field lies in its YIELD. Raising wheat is not a matter of acres but of bushels. A 15-acre field yielding 30 bushels per acre will bring as great a money return as a 30-acre field yielding 15 bushels per acre.

If you could in some way double the yield you are now getting from your wheat field, it would mean as much to you as the possession of another wheat field of equal acreage and value. In fact, it would mean more, for you would be getting double returns without additional expense for seed, labor, taxes, etc., which another wheat field would require.

By the use of ARMOUR'S FERTILIZERS, many farmers have more than doubled the yields previously secured from their unfertilized fields. Without additional acreage they now have two bushels of wheat where they had one before—and the extra bushel is all PROFIT save for a small expense for fertilizer. The increased yield, caused by proper use of ARMOUR'S FERTILIZERS, means as much to you as another wheat field—it is truly "Your Other Wheat Field." Thousands of progressive farmers have learned this truth—that the PROFIT in wheat raising lies in the increased yields brought about by proper use of ARMOUR'S FERTILIZERS, sold by

A Woman's Bank

Women seem to like this Lilley State Bank.

Perhaps it is the courtesy with which we endeavor to care for their needs or it may be the readily accessible conveniences which we have furnished for them, that gains their favor.

At any rate we appreciate the patronage which they have accorded this bank.

We shall do our best to encourage its continuance and to justify any praises which they may pay our service in recommending this bank to their friends.

Big Time Next Week.

CARNIVAL AT MONUMENT PARK, AT THE CORNER OF EVANS AND SHAWNEE STREET, ALL NEXT WEEK

Seven Shows, Merry-Go-Round, Ferris Wheel, etc.

Next week the Crescent City Shows now holding a carnival in Adrian so successfully, come to Tecumseh and give us a six days' Old Home Coming and Gala Week, beginning Monday night, August 14 They will place their attractions in Monument Park corner of Evans and Shawnee streets.

These attractions consist of seven shows, a $10,000 Merry-go-round, a $5,000 Ferris wheel, and some 15 or 20 concessions.

One of the shows to attract the most attention is the 'Fight for Life' in the Lion's Den.' Here Capt. Pastella puts up a fierce fight with Topsy, a lioness, who has killed several people. We expect more than one will 'shin' up the tent pole to get out of the fracas The usual Wednesday night performance and band concert will be given just the same.

A contest will be conducted for the most popular girl in town, the tickets to cost one cent and to be on sale at the Webster Anderson Co's and Jones & Son's Vote for your favorite—a penny a vote.

BARGAIN DAY

Another large crowd attended the Bargain Day performances Wednesday evening. The two acts were of a superior class, about the best seen in Tecumseh this season. A musical act by the DeWitts was excellent. They played a number of different instruments and were accompanied by the Tipton band who proved themselves no mean accompanists. The lady with the cornet was exceptionally good. Orville and Frank in their foot balancing act were splendid. He balanced a huge table and spinned a great hoop by his feet. In the latter were many American flags making a beautiful display. The really difficult feat was the preformanee of the little lady on the high trapeze which all the time was balanced on the man's feet.

As we mingled with the crowd we heard many express themselves as highly pleased and that we would see nothing better in the best circuses in the country.

The performances will be given next Wednesday just the same, in addition to the Carnival to hold forth all the week.

TAKEN VIOLENTLY INSANE

The whole town was painfully shocked Wednesday evening to hear that our friend Eugene Harris has been taken violently insane in the afternoon. For several months Mr Harris has been in poor health but not confined to the house. This condition seemed to worry him so that relatives have noticed frequent strange actions and speeches from him and probably the long stretch of hot weather has had much to do with aggravating his malady.

Wednesday in the absence of his wife he beame raving It took several men to hold him to keep him from harming himself or others. As a last resort Deputy Sheriff John Smith was called and took him to Adrian where he left him in a half dazed condition as the strength of his delirium had worn away. He left one of Mr. Harris' brothers and Ed Sales with him

We learn that Mr Harris is to be committed to Kalamazoo today.

PAST MASTERS OF LENAWEE HOLD BANQUET

Last evening was held the first gathering of the Past Masters of the 13 Masonic lodges of Lenawee county. The meeting was held at Hotel Putnam at Sand lake and eleven lodges were representated, plates being laid for 72 at the banquet which was splendidly served.

G. Roscoe Swift of Adrian acted as toastmaster at the informal affair afterward and speeches were made by several of the representatives. The oldest in attendance was David Woodward of the Clinton lodge who is 91 years old and had as jolly a time as the rest

The Tecumseh P. Ms there were John VanVleet, Minor Davidson, J. H Smith, F. J. Temple, G. B. Garlinghouse R A Heesen, C. B Mize, J. R. Nyland, C F. Patterson, H. S Temple and G. E. Nemire two of the P. M. of the Tecumseh lodge being out of the jurisdiction Geo Wilson and E. B. Rector.

BRODERICK SHOE STORE SOLD

The deal has been consummated whereby Charles Broderick sells his shoe business to Mr. McComb of Ann Arbor. This is the long established business which belonged to J. J Belcher The Belcher home which Mr. Broderick bought last winter and has since occupied also goes to Mr. McComb. The Brodericks plan to return to Ann Arbor.

IMPROVEMENTS AT THE MULVANEY YARDS.

The Lenawee Lumber and Supply Co are building an addition to the south side of their office which when completed will double the office space. They have long been cramped for room and this addition will greatly increase the efficiency of the office They have also added to the mill equipment a Universal planning machine which combines the work of several machines.

LOW FIRE LOSS IN TECUMSEH.

The fire department made a record run to the home of Mrs. G R. Gillespie Wednesday evening, in fact getting there before the fire whistle stopped blowing. The trouble was all over before the laddies reached there however, Do we ever stop to appreciate the excellent work of this volunteer company? They have answered 13 fire alarms in 1915 and 1916 with a total loss of but $340 Of these the more important ones have been that of the Smith estate, Isaac Sloan's and Chas. Hastings properties. This low loss value is quite remarkable for a town of this size and much of it may be laid to the efficiency of our fire department.

There's Danger in Sluggish Bowels

Never let the bowels get irregular. It's dangerous and unnecessary. A bottle of Foley Cathartic Tablets will provide ready relief at all times

They clear the stomach, liven up the liver, stimulate the secretion and flow of the bile, have a good tonic effect on the whole intestinal tract.

Of Foley Cathartic Tablets, Mr. E. J. Hudson, a dealer of Cross Keys, Ga., says: "I believe for a thorough cleansing movement of the bowels, without the slightest inconvenience or sickening, I believe the Foley Cathartic Tablet the best on earth. It's a perfect cathartic, with no bad effects. My customers are highly pleased with them. They always satisfy beyond their expectation."

BRITISH TRAP ENTIRE BRIGADE OF MOSLEMS

Cavalry Draws Them into Net; 3,145 Captured.

LONDON, ENG.—The number of unwounded Turks captured by the British at the battle at Romani was 3,145, according to an official statement issued by the war office.

The statement says the Turks were pursued beyond Kati, which is twenty-three miles east of the Suez canal. Among the prisoners were seventy Germans, including thirty-six officers. A complete battery of German guns also was taken.

A description of how the Turks were drawn into a trap by British cavalry is given in a Cairo dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company. The dispatch says the cavalry was sent out to entice the enemy, who had shown a disposition to assume the offensive. The British horsemen fought an admirable rear guard action, says the dispatch, drawing on the Turks until their flanks were turned by the mounted division. A whole brigade was compelled to surrender.

INTERESTING HISTORY WRITTEN BY JOHN T. BOYCE.

The following interesting paper was read by John T. Boyce at the reunion of the Culbertson School a couple of weeks ago.

To my old time companions, teachers and others gathered here: It is with pleasure that I greet you on this happy occasion. My memory goes back to a bright spring day in the year—well, never mind the year—but I have a very distinct recollection of Julia Kehoe, long removed from the district, calling for me and together we arrived at this school, the same frame you now see standing before you. And, friends, the teacher who taught me my first lesson was one whom we are pleased to have with us today and whom we are proud to honor, Miss Julia Hough.

This is the only school I ever attended and many pleasant memories come to my mind of the happy days spent around this old schoolhouse. As I write the first verse of the old song entitled "Twenty Years Ago" comes to my mind:

"Ive wandered by the village, Tom,
I've sat beneath the tree
Upon the school house shady ground
That shelter you and me,
But none were there to greet us, Tom,
And few were left to know
That played with us
Upon the spot some twenty years ago."

Some events have come into our lives to sadden them since that happy time long ago, but the memory of old friends and old times will always be with us.

Perhaps a little history of this school district will not be amiss at this time, I am sorry I have not had the time to give this history that it should have, but will try and present a few facts taken from an old record of this school district. The first entry I find is this very interesting one. "At a meeting of the qualified voters of School District, No. 6 in the Township of Tecumseh held pursuant to legal notice on the 13th day of May, 1839, 79 years ago at the house of Olmsted Hough in said District, Olmsted Hough was appointed moderator, William Holloway director, John Culbertson assessor

"Resolved unanimously that the district board purchase a site for a school house in the N E corner of Section 23 belonging to James Culbertson if the same can be had at a fair compensation." The N E corner of Section 23 is now the land owned by Will Schreder, the N E corner of his west 40 acres just south of Mr. Whitmore's, Miss Hough informs me that before this action was taken school was held in some kind of a building (a blacksmith shop I believe) on the farm of Garret Aten where Frank Winterstein now lives. Small amounts were required in those days to run the school for in the fall of 1837 the following resolutions were passed at the annual school meeting

"Resolved unanimously that a school be kept for seven months in said district the ensuing year.

"Resolved unanimously that the sum of seventy-five dollars be levied on taxable property in said district for support of a school the ensuing year."

The matter of building a school house was taken up by the district board in the winter of 1838 as the following will show.

"At a meeting of the district board of School District No. 6 at the house of Olmsted Hough on Thursday, the 18th day of January, 1838, it was resolved unanimously, that the director give notice of a special meeting of the freeholders and inhabitants of said school district at the dwelling house of Mathias Aten on Saturday, the 27th instant, at one o'clcok p. m. for the purpose of changing the site for a school house in said district, also to increase the sum heretofore voted for the erection of a school house.

John Culbertson, idrector."

At a special meeting called by the board at the house of Mathias Aten, it was resolved that one hundred dollars be raised by a tax on the property in said district in addition to the sum previously voted to build a school house.

"Resolved unanimously that the site for school house be moved and located by the district board at or near the quarter part of section 23 and 24 where the school house now stands.

It seems that Simeon Davidson father of Minor Davidson, built the school house and that they had some trouble about it for at the annual meeting of the school district held October 6, 1845, it was voted that a tax of $16.00 be raised to meet the Davidson law suit. The report of this meeting was signed by Peter Aten, director, and Calvin Robertson, assessor. The following year in the annual school report I find the following, "To so much paid P. Bills on the Davidsson law suit, $13.00."

They must have been Chesterfields in manners in those days as the following acceptance of office of assessor will show.

"To the Directors of School District No. 6, Tecumseh, Sir: You are hereby notified that I accept the office of Assessor for school District No. 6, in the township of Tecumseh, for which I was chosen on the 27th inst Calvin Robertson, Director for the year 1846."

I want to at this time show some of the munificent salaries that were paid former teachers of this school district. Among them we find the names of Miss E. Baldwin, who taught 18 weeks in the year 1850, for $16.25 or $1.25 per week; Jane DePuy $30.00 for summer school, about 4 months; Peter Coller taught 4 months in winter of 1853 for which he received $81.00; July 11, 1854, paid Miranda Goheen $18.00. Miranda taught 12 weeks. Miss Josephine Clarkson commenced teaching school May 7, 1857, taught [illegible] for $2.00 per week, Mary Jane Culbertson commenced teaching school the first Monday in May 1856 and and taught 18 weeks at 15 shillings per week of six days. And along about 1837 or possibly later and I think it was later—Nancy Kyle, that is the the name as written in the records, was paid $14.00 per month for 3 months school. A great many of us know Nancy and I think she is here today.

It appears from the records that the inhabitants of the district were not well satisfied with the school house for at the annual meeting of 1856 a resolution was passed to build a new school house also voted to raise $300.00 in part to build the house.

At an adjourned meetnig they voted to build a brick house. That vote was afterward reconsidered and it was voted to build a frame or wooden house. The dimensions of that house were 32x24 feet, with 10 foot walls, and a wood shed 9x12 ft. The frame of that building stands before you today, but it has since been resided and repaired outside and in. My old schoolmates will remember that the house used to be sided up with pine planks running up and down.

The old original school house was sold to Isaac Adams in the spring of 1857 for $17.50 and removed to his farm, now owned by A. W. Mills. And I have a very distinct recollection of seeing that old building many times on that farm.

The manner of getting fuel for warming the house in those days was somewhat different from the way we do at the present time as the following resolution passed at the annual meeting of 1860 will show.

"On motion resolved that each inhabitant sending scholars to school shall be required to furnish one-fourth of a cord of wood prepared for the stove, to each scholar they shall send to school and to deliver the same within 10 days from the time of being notified by the director."

At the annual meeting of 1867, a resolution was passed that the school district should be known by the name of the "Pine School House" and that a board be placed on the school house bearing that name. That I think was never done and the District is still known as the "Culbertson District."

At the annual meeting of 1871 it was resolved to build a belfry on the school house and a little history in regard to that bell and belfry may be interesting to my old schoolmates as well as others. The older ones here will remember the various entertainments we used to give, "Exhibitions" we called them. In course of time we had quite a sum of money on hand and we proposed to the district if they would build a belfry we would buy a bell. They accepted our offer and the bell now used is the one we had many a good time paying for. It was put on the school house early in the winter of 1871-1872 and many a time when I hear its famliar sound my mind goes back to those happy carefull days of the long ago.

We now come to the last repairs made on this school house at the annual meeting held Sept. 2, 1878, 20 years after building the second house it was voted to raise $300.00 for repairs.

The job was finally let to Isaac Hendershott for $393.00 and $45.00 for extra work making a total cost of $438.00 and you have the school house as it now stands.

In concluding this wandering bit of History I want to speak of some of the people whose names appear in the records of this district. Among those who have long passed away I find the names of Olmsted Hough who lived where John G. Murphy now lives. The house is just the same now as when I was a boy. Geo. Duryea, who owned the farm now owned by Will Gibson; Garret Aten, on farm now owned by Frank Wintersteen; Christian Coller on farm now owned by James Johnson; Ezra DePuy lived where now does Geo De-Shettler; J. V. DePuy where Sam Boyce does now; Jonas Kishpaugh where Don Cleveland lives; John and Elliott Culbertson where Mr. Whitmore now ownes; E. W. Goheen, J. V. Gohen; Peter Aten, C. W. Culbertson sr., John Margeson, Jehiel Davidson, Deacon Fisher, P. Kehoe, Dougal McCaughn and others. The majority of these I have mentioned were York State people, coming here in an early day and were splendid citizens. Well do I remember them all.

In conclusion I want to speak about some of the good times we used to have in this neighborhood. Instead of the dinner parties we have in this district in the daytime nowadays, the men used to be busy in the woods in the day time, but great suppers used to be served in the evening and jolly good times they had. There were no cliques in those days. Everybody who was respectable was alike. Instead of autos we used to ride to church in lumber wagons, I have a very good recollection of going to the old Presbyterian church in Tecumseh (the old abandoned macaroni factory, now) in a lumber wagon with a board across the box for a seat and a bed quilt for a cushion and an old span of horses, one of them with a bad case of the heaves, to draw the vehicle. It did not suit my proud spirit but I had to go and the Sunday-school we used to have in this school house, superintended by that good old man who few who are here will remember, Mahlon Sherd, who lived where Harry Abbott now lives, and the big union picnics we used to have. I wonder if any one here will remember the big picnic held on Israel Pennington's grove at Macon at the close of the war. The girls all made paper caps to wear and went in one big jolly load and as the Great Rebellion had just come to an end everybody was [illegible]

I wonder if my old friends Dick Goheen, Joe Bunnel, Al. Macham, C. W. Benedict, Charlie Culbertson, Geo. Benedict and others will remember the new barn dedications we used to celebrate. Whenever a new barn, corn house or other building big enough was built we were pretty sure to oper the same by a jolly dancing party. And the Literary society—My! wasn't that an event every two weeks through the winter season. The house would be jammed to the doors whenever B. F. DePuy and R. R. Hall were pitted against each other in debate. But of those who took part in those, to me, good times many I am sad to say have passed to the Great Unknown. Our members are growing less as time rolls on and we of the old crowd who are here today will in time be called to our last rest and known only in the memory of a few. I thank you for your attention.

WATCH!—WAIT!

Coop and Lent's Big,
Free Street Show.

For with all its joys the parade is IT,—when the Circus comes to town. And, what a parade is this! Surely it is prodigous, like has never before been seen. Impossible of emulation, paralleled by only itself, its adequate description could be no better phrased, than, "fairyland with the worlds modern wonders passing in review."

The owners of these great united shows have ever held closely to the successful policies of their famous forefathers and the traditional glories of their brilliant processional street display has remained undimmed, standing second to none for more than a half a century. In those fortunate locals of Coup and Lent's regular coming, this spectacular pageant is a recognized, warmly anticipated event when it glowingly foretells of the exhibition whose advent is announced, whose wonders will be revealed in Tecumseh, August 22, 1916.

BRITISH ADVANCE ON FRONT OF ONE MILE

French Continue Hand-to-Hand Fights with Foe.

London, Aug. 14.—An advance of from 300 to 400 yards on a front of nearly a mile was made by the British northwest of Pozieres, according to the official report. The German official report claims a repulse of heavy allied forces between Thiepval and the Somme, but admits the French are returning constantly to hand-to-hand attacks just north of the river.

The afternoon report from the British headquarters in France follows:

"On the plateau northwest of Bazentin Le Petit we gained ground toward Martinpuich and captured enemy trenches. Northwest of Pozieres we also made a further important advance of 300 to 400 yards on a front of nearly a mile. Our losses were slight in spite of the heavy artillery barrier fire of the enemy."

WAR CUTS DOWN SOCIALISTS

Membership Has Been Reduced 52 Per Cent During Conflict.

Berlin, Aug. 14.—The membership of the Socialist labor unions of Berlin has been reduced more than half as a result of the war. On Jan. 1, 1914, there were 301,986 members, and the number had fallen to 144,259 on Jan. 1. 1916, a decline of 52 per cent. For the six months since elapsed figures are not available, but it is probable that further calls to the colors have left not more than 40 per cent of the members at home.

The membership totals given include, however, a large number of female members, so that the decrease of men members was considerably greater than the percentages indicate.

Wife of Sheriff Drowns.

Hillsdale, Aug. 14.—While spending the day with the Ladies Aid society at Boot lake which adjoins her husband's farm, three miles south of Hillsdale, Mrs. Addie Keas, wife of Sheriff A. M. Keas, was drowned. Mrs. Keas went for a pleasure ride alone and it is believed accidentally fell overboard.

RUSS SWEEP ON; FOE IS FLEEING

Slavs Capture Seven Towns; Establish New Line.

ADVANCING IN CARPATHIANS

General Sakharoff Drives Teutons Out of Fortified Positions on Upper Sereth—New Line from Zvjen to Bialkovei—Dniester Reached at Another Point—Cavalry Takes Town.

Petrograd, Aug. 14.—The Russians have made sweeping advances at various points on the entire German-Austrian front, according to the official statement of the war office. General Sakharoff has developed his successes on the upper Sereth by driving the enemy out of strongly fortified positions and occupying a line, Zvjen-Bzovica-Bialkovce.

Further south the Russians have reached the Dniester and cavalry has captured Mariampol.

Seven towns and villages are reported taken in the actions of the past two days. A summary of the number of prisoners, most of which have been taken since August 1, places them at more than 80,000.

Seven Miles from Halicz.

Russian forces have taken Mariampol, a town seven miles southeast of Halicz, the key to Lemberg, and farther north the town of Podarcy.

Official Russian Report.

The afternoon official report of the Russian war office says:

"On the upper Sereth the troops of General Sakharoff, developing their success, drove out the enemy from a series of fortified positions and reached the line Zvjen-Aleuv-Bzovica-Bialkovce.

"Our break through on the Strypa forced the enemy to abandon strongly fortified positions.

"Pursuing the enemy, Genera. Tcherbacheff captured the town of Ezerna and continuing along the whole front reached the upper Sereth from the village of Plaxucha-Velska up to Plotyche, where he is crossing to the western bank.

"Southwards of Plotyche we reached the line Loboda-Zlota-Uvse and arrived before the towns of Podgalcy and Kholkhoche.

Reach Dniester River.

"Crossing the River Koropiec by the lower stream, we captured a strongly fortified position on the heights between the Koropiec and the Zlota-Lipa and took Horozanka.

"Further south we reached the Dniester and Mariampol,

"Latest advices from headquarters state that our crossing of the Stripa, Koropiec and Zlota-Lipa rivers is continuing and that we occupied Podgalcy.

"On the Dniester our cavalry captured Mariampol.

"In the region of the Bystritza the enemy has been driven to the left bank. On this river, near Solotwina, we captured twelve officers and 1,000 men, as well as seven machine guns and a trench gun.

"In the Carpathians our advance near Worochta, Magura and Jablenica continues. We consolidated our positions on several heights. Attempts by the enemy to resume the offensive were everywhere repulsed."

DAM BREAK PERILS TOWNS

Flood, of Water Menaces Many Habitations in North Carolina.

Asheville, N. C., Aug. 14.—The Southern Railway agent at Lake Taxaway reports that the big dam there has broken and that a flood of water is racing down the valley.

Messages have been sent from Asheville warning Greenville, Anderson, Seneca and other South Carolina points of the danger.

Substitute for Briar Sought.

Washington, Aug. 14.—American pipe makers, confronted with scarcity of French briar are looking to the forest service for substitutes. The government laboratories are experimenting with various native woods, including chaparral of the west. A large quantity of mountain laurel roots have been sold from the southern Appalachian reserve for pipe making.

Pick McCombs for Senator.

Saratoga, N. Y., Aug. 14.—Delegates to the state conference of Democrats went on record as favoring Judge Samuel Seabury of the court of appeals as the candidate for governor and William F. McCombs, formet chairman of the Democratic national committee, as candidate for United States senator.

Ambassador Page Returns.

New York, Aug. 14.—Walter Hines Page, U. S. Ambassador to Great Britain, accompanied by Mrs. Page, has arrived here from Liverpool on board the American line steamship Philadelphia. They will remain in this country several weeks.

Wilson and Hughes at Fair.

Chicago, Aug. 14.—Both President Wilson and Charles E. Hughes will be in Illinois state fair week, if the plans of the Democratic and Republican campaign managers are carried out.

WHITE ROBIN AT LANSING

Albino Bird Stirs Interest of People at Capital.

Lansing, Aug. 14.—The presence on the lawn of the state capitol of a "White robin"—a robin with a white breast and a white head—has caused more comment than the Detroit speech of Candidate Hughes.

The freak bird made its first appearance on the lawn in the middle of the week. Since that time it has been the object of survey after survey. According to Justice Joseph H. Steere, of the supreme court, who is the capitol's authority on birds and animals, the albino robin is a freak but by no means such a rarity as one would expect.

RUSS SAVINGS DEPOSITS SOAR

Petrograd, Aug. 14.—Russian savings banks deposits thus far in 1916 are considerably greater than for all the previous year.

In the first quarter of 1916, direct taxation produced more than $51,500,00000, exceeding the yield of 1915 by more than $15,250,000. Indirect taxation produced $87,250,000, which is $39,250,000 more than in 1915. Returns from domains and securities owned by the financial administration amounted to $133,000,000, which is $32,500,000 in excess of last year. Ordinary revenue altogether amounted to $390,722,000.

TROLLEY WRECK KILLS 23

Traction Cars Crash Head-on Near Johnstown, Pa.—Cause a Mystery.

Johnstown, Pa., Aug. 14.—Twenty-five persons were killed and sixty-three injured in a head-on collision between two crowded trolley cars on the Southern Cambria Traction company's line between Echo and Brookvale, seven miles from here.

Fourteen were killed outright. The others died in or on the way to hospitals here. Several injured are in such serious condition their deaths are expected. The cause is a mystery.

NATIONAL PARTY OF WOMEN FOR HUGHES

Will Try to Prevent Election of Democrats.

Colorado Spring, Col., Aug. 14.—A plan to center campaign activities in the twelve suffrage states and address appeals to the 4,000,000 women voters of those states for support of the cause of national aqual suffrage was adopted at the closing conference of the national woman's party.

A rearrangement of party organizers and speakers in the different states was announced. These were assigned to Illinois: Mrs. Robert Baker, Miss Maude Younger and Miss Frances Frothingham.

In accordance with the plans agreed upon the campaign workers were instructed to use their best efforts to prevent the re-election of President Wilson, and in states where women are entitled to vote for members of congress to work for the defeat of Democratic candidates.

MINER GETS BRITISH ESTATE

Houghton Laborer Is Heir to Victim of European War.

Houghton, Aug. 14.—F. B. Wilson, a miner working in the Mass mine here, received word that he has fallen heir to the fortune of his uncle, Colonel G. B. Wilson, who has just been killed while serving with the British army in France.

Ira Ashley is assisting at the postoffice in place of Tom Elliott who is enjoying a short vacation at the lake.

Mrs. Pierce, son and daughter, who were week-end guests of Miss Emma Rogers, returned to Adrian Sunday.

Thos. P. Morten, who has been with his daughter Mrs. Jas. Cupples since May, went to Colon yesterday to visit old friends.

The many friends of Albert Van Doren will be glad to hear he has decided to remain in Tecumseh, he having assumed the management of the repair department of the Garlinghouse Garage. We understand that Mr. VanDoren intends to give the automobile owners of Tecumseh and vicinity something a little above the average in automobile repair service which should prove of interest to all motorists. This arrangement will doubtless be of mutual benefit to both he and Mr. Garlinghouse.
